[ca. 1982]

figure out how to live with high technology, how to avoid nuclear war, then there are at this moment a million advanced civilizations in the Milky Way.

This place was built to help get us through this dangerous time. It would be good to know if there are other civilizations out there, if their United Nations have succeeded. It's something to think about when you stare up at the stars on a clear autumn night.