Structure

924 Patterson at Argyle-Alamo Heights. Stone and wood, five-bay front, three stories, gable roof. An original stone, two-story, cross-plan structure was built in 1859; the third story, wood facade, and flat-roofed portico are late 19th-century additions which adapted "the Argyle" for use as a hotel from 1893 to 1940. It is now a private club. 7 ext. photos (1936); 1 data page (1936).
