HISTORIC AMERICAN BUILDINGS SURVEY

WA-165

UNION DEPOT AREA STUDY

The Union Station Area Study was conducted in the summer of 1979. Its purpose was to propose a plan for rehabilitating a neglected area adjoining the central business district of Tacoma. The photographs in this survey serve as a partial inventory for the purpose of giving the viewer a brief look at this area. In order to more fully understand the material included in this survey we recommend that researchers consult the following:

Tacoma, The Union Depot District, Tacoma, Washington 1979 Rehabilitation Study, NPS Project Report, United States Department of the Interior, National Park Service, October 1981.
