

DETACHMENT OF THE SEVENTH REGIMENT, NEW YORK, RECENTLY RETURNED FROM SERVICE IN TEXAS, AS GOVERNOR WHITMAN'S ESCORT OF HONOR AT HIS SECOND INAUGURATION ON NEW YEAR'S DAY.

(Photo © by Underwood & Underwood.)

GOVERNOR WHITMAN AND HIS GUEST, GOVERNOR SAMUEL W. MCCALL OF MASSACHUSETTS, FLANKED BY THEIR STAFFS, REVIEWING THE INAUGURAL PARADE FROM A STAND IN FRONT OF THE EXECUTIVE MANSION, ALBANY.

(Photo © Internat'l Film Service.)

COL. JOSEPH E. WILLARD, American Ambassador to Spain, and His Only Grandchild, Kermit Roosevelt, Jr. From a Photograph Taken at Christmas Just Before Col. Willard Returned to His Post in Madrid.

(Photo © by Walter Scott Shinn.)

MRS. WHITMAN AND GUESTS SEE THE INAUGURAL PARADE FROM A VERANDA OF THE EXECUTIVE MANSION.

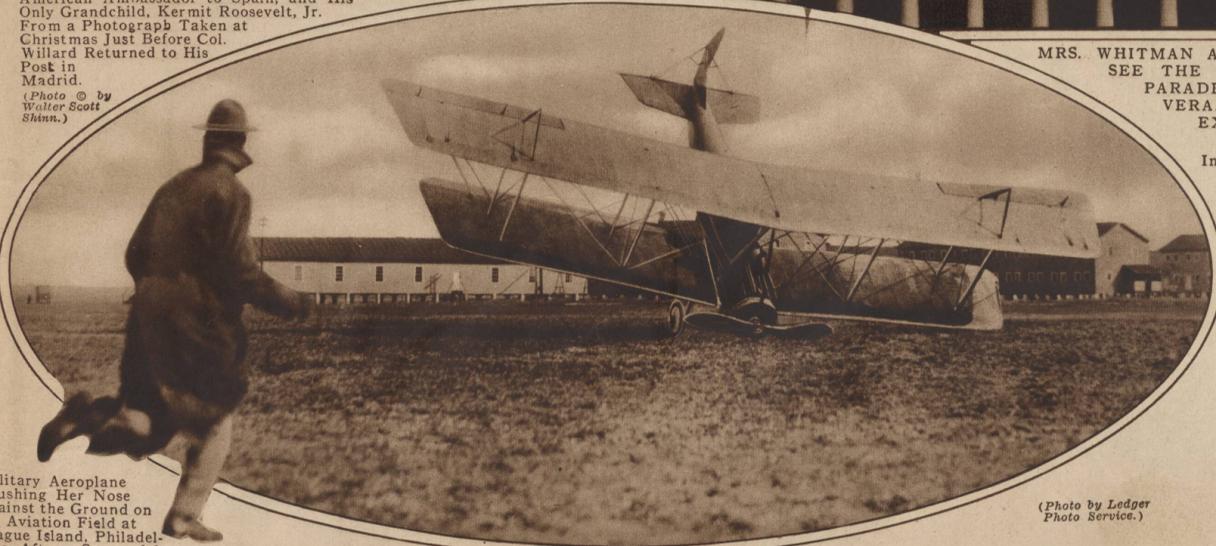

In the Group, Left to Right, Are: Mrs. Stuart Duncan, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Mrs. McCall, Wife of the Governor of Massachusetts, Mrs. Whitman, and Her Little Daughter, Olive.

(Photo © International Film Service.)

MISS MURIEL OAKES, Of New York, Sailing Away on the Rochambeau to Enter the American Ambulance Service in France as a Red Cross Nurse.

(Photo by Central News Photo Service.)

Military Aeroplane Crushing Her Nose Against the Ground on the Aviation Field at League Island, Philadelphia, After a Successful and Continuous Flight From Hempstead Plains, Long Island, on Dec. 30, When Eight Out of the Twelve Fliers Which Started Made the Trip of 115 Miles.

Sergeant Blakeley, U. S. A., Pilot, and C. H. Reynolds, Instructor, Fell With the Machine, But Their Straps Held, and They Escaped Injury.

(Photo by Ledger Photo Service.)