

Andy Barry
2250 Broadway #17A
New York, NY 10024

Subject: Exemption to Prohibition on Circumvention of Copyright Protection Systems for Access Control Technologies

As a developer and business analyst I need flexibility with hardware configurations, and the ability to use the best tool at any given time on that hardware. To accomplish that I support jailbreaking on all device types; smartphones, tablets and video consoles. If I have paid for the hardware I want the right to modify it.

In my opinion preventing developers, hobbyists and researchers exploring and modifying their devices hinders progress in the software and hardware development arts.

Regards

Andy Barry