

Brandon Martella
Class of works: 5

Hello and thank you for reading my response to this important item that is currently part of the DMCA. I would like to ask you to please extend the smartphones jailbreaking exemption and extend that to also include tablets. As a college student getting ready to graduate this spring, my fellow students and I have spent countless hour learning and programming these powerful computers in our pockets. Without jailbreaking we would be shackled to manufactures and carries rules and restrictions, without being able to invent brilliant masterpieces that would be seen by the masses. Thank you for your time.