

I support smartphones/tablet and video game console jailbreaking because if you purchase an item you should be allowed to modify it in any way you would like to because you paid your money for it.

I am a small time developer and in High School.

I would like us to have the right to jailbreak/modify iDevices and Playstation 3's.

I would like to be able to jailbreak/modify these items because there are very many capabilities that are not being allowed to us from the makers and jailbreaking/modifying them makes them more fun and educational to developers.

Thank You for allowing me to speak to you.
