I think that people have the right to jailbreak anything from iPods to tablets to video game consoles. I am a user of the jail breaking community and people have the right to jailbreak. The USA is suppose to be a free country and now people are saying it isn't because of all these rules I get you need rules but for jail breaking isn't breaking a rule in any copyright issues. People have the right to jailbreak what they want and how they should use it maybe one day a jailbreak can help a sick person in need or a hospital because we develop new technology if we jailbreak many things like a car with Kinect or a rocking pillow with your iPod.
