

I support the jailbreaking of smartphones/tablets and video game consoles.

I have background as a developer, hobbyist and user.

I would like to ensure that all devices remain legal and within the consumer/developer/hobbyists freedom to choose what is done and installed on their own devices.

Jailbreaking the device opens up many new possibilities as well as capabilities that these devices offer that is in the owners own decision to do with what they choose and is not provided for by the original creator/developer.
