

To whom it may concern,

I think jail breaking should be allowed. I think it follows in the direction given to us by our forefathers with respect to freedoms. When we purchase an item we should be able to freely choose what applications we want to run on them. Items like iPads and iPhone and iPad Touches should be allowed to be jailbroken if a purchaser chooses to do this. It allows for a lot of new creative developers to have the freedom to design new programs.

Please choose to extend this "right" which I feel should be allowed to continue for those who wish to jailbreak their phone or personal device.

Very Respectfully,
Josh Meador