I support being able to root or jailbreak a device.

It is very important for me to be able to root my phone. I use rooting to protect my device from theft. I use an app called (Avast antivirus on Android market) that tracks my phone using gps if it is stolen. The software is stealthy and survives a reset which is only possible with root access. Also, community support for a device can long outlast support from the manufacturer giving new life to the consumers device and fixing bugs. Please allow us to continue rooting our devices and tablets leagally without fear of litigation.
