I have been a user of smartphones for the last 3 years.

I have been using Apple's iPhone 3GS for 1.5 years and an iPhone 4 for the last 1 year.

I jailbroke my phone after it was cleared to be legal.

The reason I jailbreak my phone is so that I can customise it and make it much more efficient.

The manufacturer at times wants to control its users in which ever way it deems fit. However, once I have bought my phone, it is mine, I have paid for it and therefore I control it.

There are so many areas that are not perfect in Apple's original official software.

The jailbreak community try to enhance Apple's software and "tweak" it so that it works flawlessly and much much more efficiently.

There are for some reasons, many restrictions that manufacturers put on their devices. I like jailbreaking so that I can remove these restrictions.

I should be allowed to do what I want with my property.
