

The Juice of the Forbidden Fruit

THE JUICE OF THE FORBIDDEN FRUIT 5034 B3

Mr. and Mrs. R.I. Lewis Shiloh, N. J., 1941

'Twas Adam's intention to make an invention
He got it up simple and cute
In an old-fashioned mill he managed to distill
The juice of the forbidden fruit.

And ever since then all manner of men
The lame and the blind and the mute
The bankers and clerks, politicians and Turks
Drink the juice of the forbidden fruit.

In the garden of Eden old Eve climbed a tree
An apple tree long fore the war
And threw down the core that made her so sore
For her henpecked husband to chew.

And ever since then all manner of men
The lame and the blink and the mute
The bankers and clerks, politicians and Turks
Drink the juice of the forbidden fruit.

Frank James, so they said, ...bed, ... and ate like a brute
And Charles and Bob Ford, drank out of a gourd
The juice of the forbidden fruit.
