DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Agricultural Marketing Service

7 CFR Part 907

[Navel Orange Reg. 663]

Navel Oranges Grown in Arizona and Designated Part of California; Limitation of Handling

AGENCY: Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: Regulation 663 establishes the quantity of California-Arizona navel oranges that may be shipped to market during the period December 11 through December 17, 1987. Such action is needed to balance the supply of fresh navel oranges with the demand for such oranges during the period specified due to the marketing situation confronting the orange industry.

DATES: Regulation 663 (§ 907.963) is effective for the period December 11 through December 17, 1987.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Raymond C. Martin, Section Head, Volume Control Programs, Marketing Order Administration Branch, F&V, AMS, USDA, Room 2528-S, P.O. Box 96456, Washington, DC 20090-6456; telephone: (202) 447-5120.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This final rule is issued under Marketing Order 907 (7 CFR Part 907), as amended, regulating the handling of navel oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California. This order is effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, hereinafter referred to as the Act.

This final rule has been reviewed under Executive Order 12291 and Departmental Regulation 1512-1 and has been determined to be a "non-major" rule under criteria contained therein.

Pursuant to requirements set forth in the Regulatory Flexibility Act (RFA), the Administrator of the Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS) has considered the economic impact of the use of volume regulations on small entities as well as larger ones.

The purpose of the RFA is to fit regulatory actions to the scale of business subject to such actions in order that the small businesses will not be unduly or disproportionately burdened. Marketing orders issued pursuant to the Act, and rules issued thereunder, are unique in that they are brought about through group action of essentially small entities acting on their own behalf. Thus, both statutes have small entity orientation and compatibility.

There are approximately 123 handlers of California-Arizona navel oranges subject to regulation under the navel oranges marketing order, and approximately 4,065 producers in California and Arizona. Small agricultural producers have been defined by the Small Business Administration (13 CFR 121.2) as those having annual gross revenues for the last three years of less than $100,000, and small agricultural service firms are defined as those whose gross annual receipts are less than $3,500,000. The great majority of handlers and producers of California-Arizona navel oranges may be classified as small entities.

This action is consistent with the marketing policy for 1987-88 adopted by the Navel Orange Administrative Committee (Committee). The Committee met publicly on December 8, 1987, in Visalia, California, to consider the current and prospective conditions of supply and demand and recommended, by a 6 to 4 vote, a quantity of navel oranges deemed advisable to be handled during the specified week. The Committee reports that the market for navel oranges is fair.

Based on consideration of supply and market conditions, and the evaluation of alternatives to the implementation of prorate regulations, the Administrator of the AMS has determined that this final rule will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities.

Pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 553, it is further found that it is impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice and engage in further public procedure with respect to this action and that good cause exists for not postponing the effective date of this action until 30 days after publication in the Federal Register because of insufficient time between the date when information became available upon which this regulation is based and the effective date necessary to effectuate the declared purposes of the Act. Interested persons were given an opportunity to submit information and views on the regulation at an open meeting. To effectuate the declared purposes of the Act, it is necessary to make this regulatory provision effective as specified, and handlers have been apprised of such provision and the effective time.

[Lemon Reg. 591]

Lemons Grown in California and Arizona; Limitation of Handling*AGENCY: Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA.ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: Regulation 591 establishes the quantity of fresh California-Arizona lemons that may be shipped to market at 300,000 cartons during the period December 13 through December 19, 1987. Such action is needed to balance the supply of fresh lemons with market demand for the period specified, due to the marketing situation confronting the lemon industry.

DATES: Regulation 591 (§ 910.891) is effective for the period December 13 through December 19, 1987.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Raymond C. Martin, Section Head, Volume Control Programs, Marketing Order Administration Branch, F&V, AMS, USDA, Room 2523, South Building, P.O. Box 96456, Washington, DC 20090-6456; telephone: (202) 447-5697.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This final rule has been reviewed under Executive Order 12291 and Departmental Regulation 1512-1 and has been determined to be a "non-major" rule under criteria contained therein.

Pursuant to requirements set forth in the Regulatory Flexibility Act (RFA), the Administrator of the Agricultural Marketing Service has determined that this action will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities.

The purpose of the RFA is to fit regulatory action to the scale of business subject to such actions in order that small businesses will not be unduly or disproportionately burdened. Marketing orders issued pursuant to the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act, and rules issued thereunder, are unique in that they are brought about through group action of essentially small entities acting on their own behalf. Thus, both statutes have small entity orientation and compatibility.

This regulation is issued under Marketing Order No. 910, as amended (7 CFR Part 910) regulating the handling of lemons grown in California and Arizona. The order is effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act (the "Act", 7 U.S.C. 601-674), as amended. This action is based upon the recommendation and information submitted by the Lemon Administrative Committee and upon other available information. It is found that this action will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act.

This regulation is consistent with the marketing policy for 1987-88. The committee met publicly on December 8, 1987, in Los Angeles, California, to consider the current and prospective conditions of supply and demand and recommended, by a 10 to 1 vote, a quantity of lemons deemed advisable to be handled during the specified week. The committee reports that the demand for lemons is good for smaller sizes, somewhat weaker for larger sizes.

Pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 553, it is further found that it is impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, and engage in further public procedure with respect to this action and that good cause exists for not postponing the effective date of this action until 30 days after publication in the Federal Register because of insufficient time between the date when information became available upon which this regulation is based and the effective date necessary to effectuate the declared purposes of the Act. Interested persons were given an opportunity to submit information and views on the regulation at an open meeting. It is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared purposes of the Act, to make these regulatory provisions effective as specified, and handlers have been apprised of such provisions and the effective time.

Agricultural Loan Loss Amortization; Extension of Comment Period*AGENCY: Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.ACTION: Final rule with a provision for public comment; extension of comment period.

SUMMARY: The Board is extending from December 3, 1987, to January 8, 1988, the period for receipt of public comment on this rule which was published in the Federal Register at 52 FR 42087 (November 3, 1987). The regulation implements Title VIII of the Competitive Equality Banking Act of 1987 ("CEBA") which permits state member agricultural banks to amortize losses on qualified agricultural loans. Title VIII of CEBA requires regulations implementing Title VIII to be issued not less than 90 days after enactment, that is, by November 9, 1987. Therefore, the Board published the rule as a final rule effective November 9, 1987, for the Call Report for December 31, 1987, but allowed interested parties to comment through December 3, 1987. After receiving several requests for an extension of the comment period, the Board acting through authority delegated to its Secretary (12 CFR 265.2(a)(4)) has decided to extend the closing date to January 8, 1988.

DATE: Comments must be received by January 8, 1988.

ADDRESSES: All comments should refer to Docket No. R-0615 and should be mailed to William W. Wiles, Secretary, Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, Washington, DC 20551, or delivered to Room B-2223, 20th Street and Constitution Avenue, NW., Washington, DC, between 8:45 a.m. and 5:15 p.m. weekdays. Comments may be inspected in Room B-1122 between 8:45 a.m. and 5:15 p.m. weekdays.

Federal Aviation Administration

14 CFR Part 39

[Docket No. 86-ASW-35; Amdt. 39-5796]

Airworthiness Directives; Aerospatiale (Societe Nationale Industrielle Aerospatiale) Model AS355 Series

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This action publishes in the Federal Register and makes effective as to all persons an amendment adopting a new airworthiness directive (AD) which was previously made effective as to all known U.S. owners and operators of certain Aerospatiale AS355 series helicopters by individual letters. The AD requires the installation of a placard on the instrument panel of these helicopters which sets forth new operating limitations associated with flight operations in certain atmospheric conditions. The AD also requires a revision to the corresponding helicopter flight manuals to specify the use of engine ice protection for operations in visible atmospheric moisture below +5 °C. The AD was needed to prevent engine failure and a subsequent emergency landing which could be hazardous.

DATES: Effective Date: January 27, 1988, as to all persons except those persons to whom it was made immediately effective by priority letter AD 86-24-02, issued November 21, 1986, which contained this amendment.

Compliance: Required within the next 10 hours' time in service after the effective date of this AD, unless already accomplished.

ADDRESSES: The applicable service bulletins may be obtained from Aerospatiale Helicopter Corporation, 2701 Forum Drive, Grand Prairie, Texas 75053-4005, telephone (214) 641-0000, or may be examined in the Regional Rules Docket, Office of the Regional Counsel, 4400 Blue Mound Road, Fort Worth, Texas.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Wilbur F. Wells, FAA, Southwest Region, Aircraft Certification Division, Fort Worth, Texas 76193-0111, telephone (817) 624-5123.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On November 21, 1986, priority letter AD 86-24-02 was issued and made effective immediately as to all known U.S. owners and operators of all Aerospatiale Model AS355 series helicopters. The AD required the installation of a placard on the instrument panel to prohibit flight operations in certain ambient conditions where ice formation and subsequent ingestion into the engines may cause engine flameout. The AD also required a change to the Rotorcraft Flight Manual (RFM) Operating Limitations to specify that the engine ice protection system must be operated for flight in visible moisture when outside air temperature (OAT) is below +5 °C.

The AD was prompted by a report of nine aircraft incidents or accidents involving engine failures (flameouts) in certain atmospheric conditions which were conducive to engine inlet icing. On February 2, 1985, four flameout events occurred in the Gulf of Mexico in moisture conditions near 0 °C OAT. Two days later, two dual-engine flameouts occurred with helicopters of this type operating in the same region under similar ambient conditions. Additionally, three engine failure events (flameouts), one of which involved both engines, occurred in the United Kingdom while operating in precipitation at near 0 °C ambient temperature.

Since issuance of AD 86-24-02, Aerospatiale has developed an automatic engine reignition system which has been shown to accomplish almost instantaneous restart of the engine(s) and effective restoration of power in event of the moisture-induced flameout mode of engine failure, thus preventing the need for an emergency landing. This system is factory installed on all AS355 series helicopters beginning with Serial Number (S/N) 5362 and is eligible for retrofit in earlier helicopters if installed in accordance with modification AMS 07.1823 or corresponding Aerospatiale Service Bulletin No. 80.02 approved July 8, 1987. Accordingly, the applicability of the AD is revised to exempt these helicopters. Certain rotorcraft flight manual data are required with these systems. Certain other systems for assuring that hazardous loss of power will not occur during flight operations in these same atmospheric conditions have been approved specifically as alternate means of compliance with paragraph (a) of AD 86-24-02. These approvals, which involve continuous ignition devices, remain valid.

Since it was found that immediate corrective action was required, notice and public procedure thereon were impracticable and contrary to public interest, and good cause existed to make the AD effective immediately by individual priority letters issued November 21, 1986, to all known U.S. owners and operators of Aerospatiale Model AS355 series helicopters. These conditions still exist, and the AD is hereby published in the Federal Register as an amendment to § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations to make it effective as to all persons.

The FAA has determined that this regulation is an emergency regulation that is not considered to be major under Executive Order 12291. It is impracticable for the agency to follow the procedures of Executive Order 12291 with respect to this rule since the rule must be issued immediately to correct an unsafe condition in aircraft. It has been further determined that this action involves an emergency regulation under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034; February 26, 1979). If this action is subsequently determined to involve a significant/major regulation, a final regulatory evaluation or analysis, as appropriate, will be prepared and placed in the regulatory docket (otherwise, an evaluation or analysis is not required). A copy of it, when filed, may be obtained from the Regional Rules Docket.

Adoption of the Amendment

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator, the Federal Aviation Administration amends § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations as follows:

PART 39—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

1. The authority citation for Part 39 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 49 U.S.C. 1354(a); 1421, and 1423; 49 U.S.C. 106(g) (Revised, Pub. L. 97-449, January 12, 1983); and 14 CFR 11.89.

§ 39.13 [Amended]

2. By adding the following new AD:

Aerospatiale (Societe Nationale Industrielle Aerospatiale) Applies to Aerospatiale Model AS355 series helicopters constructed prior to S/N 5362, fitted with debris guards, Part Numbers (P/N) 355A58-0519-0201 and 355A58-0519-0301, and certified in any category except those helicopters equipped with an automatic engine reignition system installed in accordance with Modification AMS 07.1823 or with corresponding Aerospatiale Service Bulletin No. 80.02 approved July 8, 1987, and with basic flight manual revisions and instrument flight rules (IFR) flight manual supplements (if IFR equipped), or later FAA-approved flight manual revisions, as follows:

For the Model AS355E, basic rotorcraft flight manual, Revision 4, Code Date 87-10.

For the Model AS355F, basic rotorcraft flight manual, Revision 3, Code Date 87-10 and IFR rotorcraft flight manual supplement 11.4, Revision 3, Code Date 87-12.

For the Model AS355F1, basic rotorcraft flight manual, Revision 2, Code Date 87-10 and IFR rotorcraft flight manual supplement 11.4, Revision 1, Code Date 87-12.

Compliance is required within the next 10 hours' time in service after the effective date of this AD, unless already accomplished.

To prevent ice accumulation in the engine inlets which could result in engine flameout, accomplish the following:

(a) Permanently attach a placard, stencil, or decal to the instrument panel in full view of the flightcrew which includes the following limitation statement: ALL FLIGHT OPERATIONS BELOW +5 °C IN ICE CRYSTALS, RAIN, MIST, DRIZZLE, CLOUDS, OR SLEET ARE PROHIBITED. FLIGHT OPERATIONS IN SNOW ABOVE -5 °C ARE PROHIBITED. IMC FLIGHTS BELOW +5 °C ARE PROHIBITED.

(b) Accomplish a pen-and-ink addition to the RFM Operating Limitations, Section 2.1, paragraph 1, to read as follows: ENGINE ANTI-ICE MUST BE OPERATED IN VISIBLE MOISTURE WHEN OAT IS BELOW +5 °C.

Upon request, an alternate means of compliance which provides an equivalent level of safety with the requirements of this AD may be used when approved by the Manager, FAA, Southwest Region, Aircraft Certification Division, ASW-100, Fort Worth, Texas 76193-0100.

This amendment becomes effective January 27, 1988, as to all persons except those persons to whom it was immediately effective by priority letter AD 86-24-02, issued November 21, 1987, which contained this amendment.

Issued in Fort Worth, Texas, on November 25, 1987.

Airworthiness Directives; Boeing Model 737 Series Airplanes

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This amendment adopts a new airworthiness directive (AD), applicable to certain Model 737 series airplanes, which requires certain modifications to improve the Instrument Landing System (ILS) immunity to electromagnetic interference (EMI). This amendment is prompted by reports of several airplane models in which EMI generated by various digital electronic equipment has been shown to be a source of false localizer signals, which can cause apparently normal operation of the localizer deviation bars when no ILS signal is present. This condition, if not corrected, could lead to erroneous ILS deviation displayed to the flight crew and abnormal operation of the autopilot.

EFFECTIVE DATE: February 1, 1988.

ADDRESSES: The applicable service information may be obtained from the Boeing Commercial Airplane Company, P.O. Box 3707, Seattle, Washington 98124. This information may be examined at the FAA, Northwest Mountain Region, 17900 Pacific Highway South, Seattle, Washington, or the Seattle Aircraft Certification Office, 9010 East Marginal Way South, Seattle, Washington.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mr. Kenneth J. Schroer, Aerospace Engineer, Systems and Equipment Branch, ANM-130S; telephone (206) 431-1943. Mailing address: FAA, Northwest Mountain Region, 17900 Pacific Highway South, C-68966, Seattle, Washington 98168.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: A proposal to amend Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations to include an airworthiness directive which requires the replacement of the weather radar receiver-transmitters, replacement of certain model VHF Navigation Receivers, and modification of the airplane wire bundle on certain Model 737 airplanes, was published in the Federal Register on July 2, 1987 (52 FR 25024).

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this amendment. Due consideration has been given to the single comment received.

The commenter requested that the compliance period be extended from twelve months for total compliance to twelve months for aircraft modifications, and to twenty-four months for the required Line Replaceable Unit modifications. The commenter stated that this change would allow operators to maintain existing interchangeability of parts among an airline's entire fleet of aircraft and not just those affected by this AD. The FAA does not concur. The FAA appreciates the concern an operator may have in wanting to modify not only the airplanes affected by this AD action, but to modify affected spare parts and similar units installed on other airplane models in its fleet. However, the FAA has identified an unsafe condition affecting those Model 737 airplanes in service, listed in the applicability statement of this AD. The FAA has determined that 12 months is an adequate time to obtain required modification kits and accomplish the modification of the affected airplanes without compromising the safety of flight. Individual operators who decide to modify all the units to maintain interchangeability of parts in its fleet should first establish appropriate procedures to modify those planes affected by this AD within the 12-month compliance period; any further modification of its fleet or spares can be accomplished outside of this compliance period, if necessary.

In addition, the commenter pointed out that Boeing Service Bulletin 737-34A1208, Revision 1, describes the attenuator installation on non-EFIS equipped airplanes as optional. Therefore, the commenter requested that the FAA not include the installation of attenuators as part of the proposed rule for those aircraft in which such installation is listed as optional in the service bulletin. The FAA does not concur. The FAA has determined it is necessary to install a coaxial attenuator in the affected airplanes. Even though the accomplishment instructions in the service bulletin do not reference the attenuator for each airplane group, the attenuator is part of each airplane installation. Boeing has been delivering these airplanes over a period of time in various states of modification while the final solution was being developed. Many of those airplanes were delivered with the attenuator already installed. The determination for the need for attenuators in all affected airplanes was the result of ground tests, which indicated the margin between detecting interference and being interference-free was minimal, and the confidence of interference-free operation under all possible conditions without attenuator installation was low.

After careful review of the available data, including the comments noted above, the FAA has determined that air safety and the public interest require the adoption of the rule as proposed.

It is estimated that 230 airplanes of U.S. registry will be affected by this AD. For 228 of the affected airplanes, it is estimated that an average of 4 manhours per airplane will be necessary to accomplish the required actions. For the remaining 2 affected airplanes, it is estimated that 74 manhours per airplane will be necessary to accomplish the required actions. The average labor cost will be $40 per manhour. Based on these figures, the total cost impact of the AD on U.S. operators is estimated to be $42,400.

For the reasons discussed above, the FAA has determined that this regulation is not considered to be major under Executive Order 12291 or significant under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034; February 26, 1979); and it is further certified under the criteria of the Regulatory Flexibility Act that this rule will not have a significant economic effect on a substantial number of small entities because few, if any, Boeing Model 737 airplanes are operated by small entities. A final evaluation has been prepared for this regulation and has been placed in the docket.

Adoption of the Amendment

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator, the Federal Aviation Administration amends § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR 39.13) as follows:

PART 39—[AMENDED]

1. The authority citation for Part 39 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 49 U.S.C. 1354(a), 1421 and 1423; 49 U.S.C. 106(g) (Revised Pub. L. 97-449, January 12, 1983); and 14 CFR 11.89.

§ 39.13 [Amended]

2. By adding the following new airworthiness directive:

Boeing: Applies to Model 737 series airplanes, specified in Boeing Service Bulletin 737-34A1208, Revision 1, dated May 14, 1987, certificated in any category. Compliance required within the next year after the effective date of this AD, unless previously accomplished.

To minimize the possibility of misleading localizer deviation indication to the flight crew caused by electromagnetic interference, accomplish the following:

A. Replace the existing weather radar receiver-transmitters with modified receiver-transmitters; install; 10 db attenuators in line with the localizer coaxial cables; if Benedix VHF navigation receivers are installed, replace with modified receivers; and, for Model 737-300 airplanes equipped with electronic flight instrument system (EFIS), modify specific wire bundles and their routing, in accordance with Boeing Service Bulletin 737-34A1208, Revision 1, dated May 14, 1987, or later FAA-approved revision.

B. An alternate means of compliance or adjustment of the compliance time, which provides an acceptable level of safety, may be used when approved by the Manager, Seattle Aircraft Certification Office, FAA, Northwest Mountain Region.

C. Special flight permits may be issued in accordance with FAR 21.197 and 21.199 to operate airplanes to a base for the accomplishment of the modification required by this AD.

All persons affected by this directive who have not already received the appropriate service documents from the manufacturer may obtain copies upon request to the Boeing Commercial Airplane Company, P.O. Box 3707, Seattle, Washington 98124-2207. These documents may be examined at the FAA, Northwest Mountain Region, 17900 Pacific Highway South, Seattle, Washington, or the Seattle Aircraft Certification Office, 9010 East Marginal Way South, Seattle, Washington.

This amendment becomes effective February 1, 1988.

Airworthiness Directives; British Aerospace Model BAe-146 Series Airplanes

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This amendment adopts a new airworthiness directive (AD), applicable to certain British Aerospace Model BAe-146 series airplanes, which requires modification of the Direct Current (DC) electrical distribution control system. This amendment is prompted by reports of an unanticipated failure mode of the DC busbar system, which resulted in the discharge of the battery without warning, and subsequent loss of both the Essential DC and Emergency DC busbars.

EFFECTIVE DATE: February 1, 1988.

ADDRESSES: The applicable service information may be obtained from British Aerospace, Inc., Librarian for Service Bulletins, P.O. Box 17414, Dulles International Airport, Washington, DC 20041. This information may be examined at the FAA, Northwest Mountain Region, 17900 Pacific Highway South, Seattle, Washington, or the Seattle Aircraft Certification Office, 9010 East Marginal Way South, Seattle, Washington.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

A proposal to amend Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations to include an airworthiness directive, which requires modification of the DC power distribution by deleting 2 wires and adding 3 wires to the auto cutout control on certain British Aerospace Model BAe-146 series airplanes, was published in the Federal Register on July 29, 1987 (52 FR 28276).

Interested parties have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this amendment. Due consideration has been given to the two comments received in response to the proposal.

Both commenters agreed with the proposal, but one stated that the compliance time should be shortened from 6 months, as proposed, to 30 days. The FAA disagrees, and has determined that a 6-month compliance time is appropriate when consideration is given to the nature and history of the unsafe condition and to orderly accomplishment of the modification.

Paragraph B of the final rule has been revised to require the concurrence of the FAA Principal Maintenance Inspector in requests by operators for use of alternate means of compliance. The FAA has determined that this change will not increase the economic burden on any operator, nor will it increase the scope of the AD.

After careful review of the available data, including the comments noted above, the FAA has determined that air safety and the public interest require the adoption of the rule as proposed, with the change previously mentioned.

It is estimated that 15 airplanes of U.S. registry will be affected by this AD, that it will take approximately 1 manhour per airplane to accomplish the required actions, and that the average labor cost will be $40 per manhour. The estimated cost for parts is $75 per airplane. Based on these figures, the total cost impact of this AD to U.S. operators is estimated to be $1,725.

For the reasons discussed above, the FAA has determined that this regulation is not considered to be major under Executive Order 12291 or significant under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034; February 26, 1979) and it is further certified under the criteria of the Regulatory Flexibility Act that this rule will not have a significant economic effect on a substantial number of small entities because of the minimal cost of compliance per airplane ($115). A final evaluation has been prepared for this regulation and has been placed in the docket.

1. The authority citation for Part 39 continues to read as follows:

§ 39.13 [Amended]

2. By adding the following new airworthiness directive:

British Aerospace (BAe): Applies to Model BAe-146 series airplanes listed in BAE Service Bulletin 24-30-00757A, Revision 1, dated September 5, 1986, certificated in any category. Compliance is required within 6 months after the effective date of this AD, unless previously accomplished.

To prevent battery depletion and subsequent loss of Essential DC and Emergency DC busbars accomplish the following:

A. Modify the DC power distribution in accordance with British Aerospace BAe-146 Aircraft Modification Service Bulletin 24-30-00757A, Revision 1, dated September 5, 1986.

B. An alternate means of compliance or adjustment of the compliance time, which provides an acceptable level of safety and which has the concurrence of an FAA Principal Maintenance Inspector, may be used when approved by the Manager, Standardization Branch, ANM-113, FAA, Northwest Mountain Region.

C. Special flight permits may be issued in accordance with FAR 21.197 and 21.199 to operate airplanes to a base for the accomplishment of the modifications required by this AD.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This amendment adopts a new airworthiness directive (AD), applicable to certain British Aerospace Model H.S. 748 airplanes, which requires initial and repetitive inspections for fatigue cracks of the hydraulic accumulators and for proper function. This amendment is prompted by reports of hydraulic accumulators cracking in service. This condition, if not corrected, could lead to structural damage to the airplane.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: A proposal to amend Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations to include an airworthiness directive, which requires initial and repetitive inspections for fatigue cracks of the hydraulic accumulators on British Aerospace Model H.S. 748 airplanes, was published in the Federal Register on September 23, 1987 (52 FR 35725).

Interested parties have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this amendment. No comments were received in response to the proposal.

After careful review of the available data, the FAA has determined that air safety and the public interest require the adoption of the rule as proposed.

It is estimated that 2 airplanes of U.S. registry would be affected by this AD, that it would take approximately 1.25 manhours per airplane to accomplish the required actions, and that the average labor cost would be $40 per manhour. Based on these figures, the total cost impact of the AD on U.S. operators is estimated to be $100 a year. This figure applies to the visual and non-destructive test (NDT) inspections only.

For the reasons discussed above, the FAA has determined that this regulation is not considered to be major under Executive Order 12291 or significant under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034; February 26, 1979); and it is further certified under the criteria of the Regulatory Flexibility Act that this rule will not have a significant economic effect on a substantial number of small entities, because of the minimal cost of compliance per airplane ($50). A final evaluation has been prepared for this regulation and has been placed in the docket.

Adoption of the Amendment

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator, the Federal Aviation Administration proposes to amend § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR 39.13) as follows:

PART 39—[AMENDED]

1. The authority citation for Part 39 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 49 U.S.C. 1354(a), 1421, and, 1423; 49 U.S.C. 106(g) Revised Pub. L. 97-449, January 12, 1983); and 14 CFR 11.89.

2. By adding the following new airworthiness directive:

British Aerospace (BAe): Applies to all Model H.S. 748 series airplanes, pre-modification 7205, certificated in any category. Compliance required as indicated, unless previously accomplished.

To prevent structural damage to the airplane due to fatigue cracking of the hydraulic accumulators, accomplish the following:

A. Within 300 hours time-in-service after the effective date of this AD, conduct the inspections of the hydraulic brake accumulator, as specified in Paragraph 2.B(1) of BAe H.S. 748 Service Bulletin 29/42, dated February 10, 1986. Any discrepancies detected must be corrected prior to further flight.

B. Within 1,000 hours time-in-service or one year after the effective date of this AD, whichever occurs first, and thereafter at intervals not to exceed 1,000 hours time-in-service or one year, whichever occurs first, conduct the inspections of the hydraulic brake accumulator as specified in Paragraph 2.B(2) of BAe H.S. 748 Service Bulletin 29/42 dated February 10, 1986. Any system defects found must be corrected prior to further flight.

C. Within 2,500 hours time-in-service, or two years after the effective date of this AD, whichever comes first, and thereafter at intervals not to exceed 2,500 hours time-in-service or two years, whichever occurs first, conduct the inspections of the hydraulic accumulator as specified in Dunlop Service Bulletin 29/175, dated February 4, 1986. Replace, prior to further flight, any units that do not meet the limits specified in the service bulletin.

D. An alternate means of compliance or adjustment of the compliance time, which provides an acceptable level of safety, may be used when approved by the Manager, Standardization Branch, ANM-113, FAA, Northwest Mountain Region.

E. Special flight permits may be issued in accordance with FAR 21.197 and 21.199 to operate airplanes to a base for the accomplishment of inspections and/or modifications required by this AD.

All persons affected by this directive who have not already received the appropriate service documents from the manufacturer may obtain copies upon request to British Aerospace Group, Weybridge Division Greengate, Middleton, Manchester M24 1SA, England; and Dunlop Limited, Aviation Division, Dunlop House, Ryder Street, St. James's, London SW1Y 6PX, England. These documents may be examined at the FAA, Northwest Mountain Region, 17900 Pacific Highway South, Seattle, Washington, or the Seattle Aircraft Certification Office, 9010 East Marginal Way, Seattle, Washington.

This amendment becomes effective February 1, 1988.

Issued in Seattle, Washington, on December 2, 1987.

Airworthiness Directives; British Aerospace Model H.S. 748 Series Airplane

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This amendment adopts a new airworthiness directive (AD), applicable to British Aerospace (BAe) Model H.S. 748 series airplanes, which requires modifying the overwing escape hatch locking mechanism. This amendment is prompted by reports of hatches not being properly closed and locked or the hatch locking mechanisms being strained by mishandling. This condition, if not corrected, could lead to escape hatches opening and becoming detached from the airplane during flight.

EFFECTIVE DATE: February 1, 1988.

ADDRESSES: The applicable service information may be obtained from British Aerospace, Inc., P.O. Box 17414, Dulles International Airport, Washington, DC 20041. This information may be examined at the FAA, Northwest Mountain Region, 17900 Pacific Highway South, Seattle, Washington, or the Seattle Aircraft Certification Office, 9010 East Marginal Way South, Seattle, Washington.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: A proposal to amend Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations to include an airworthiness directive, which requires modifying the overwing escape latch locking mechanism on British Aerospace Model H.S. 748 series airplanes, was published in the Federal Register on September 28, 1987 (52 FR 36275).

Interested parties have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this amendment. No comments were received in response to the proposal.

After careful review of the available date, the FAA has determined that air safety and the public interest require the adoption of the rule as proposed.

It is estimated that 2 airplanes of U.S. registry will be affected by this AD, that it will take approximately 33 manhours per airplane to accomplish the required actions, and that the average labor cost will be $40 per manhour. Based on these figures, the total cost impact of this AD to U.S. operators is estimated to be $2,640.

For the reasons discussed above, the FAA has determined that this regulation is not considered to be major under Executive Order 12291 or significant under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034; February 26, 1979); and it is further certified under the criteria of the Regulatory Flexibility Act that this rule will not have a significant economic effect on a substantial number of small entities, because of the minimal cost of compliance per airplane ($1,320). A final evaluation has been prepared for this regulation and has been placed in the docket.

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator, the Federal Aviation Administration amends § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations as follows:

PART 39—[AMENDED]

1. The authority citation for Part 39 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 49 U.S.C. 1354(a), 1421 and 1423; 49 U.S.C. 106(g) (Revised Pub. L. 97-449, January 12, 1983); and 14 CFR 11.89.

2. By adding the following new airworthiness directive:

British Aerospace: Applies to Model H.S. 748 series airplanes, as listed in British Aerospace Service Bulletin 52/127, dated May 29, 1985, certificated in any category. Compliance required within 5 months after the effective date of this AD, unless previously accomplished:

To prevent the loss of the overwing escape hatch during flight, due to improper locking, accomplish the following:

A. Replace the escape hatch locking mechanism with P/N 10D14062 locking mechanism assembly, in accordance with the instructions in British Aerospace Service Bulletin No. 52/127, dated May 29, 1985.

B. An alternate means of compliance or adjustment of the compliance time, which provides an acceptable level of safety, may be used when approved by the Manager, Standardization Branch, ANM-113, FAA, Northwest Mountain Region.

C. Special flight permits may be issued in accordance with FAR 21.197 and 21.199 to operate airplanes to a base for the accomplishment of inspections and/or modifications required by this AD.

Airworthiness Directives; Fokker B.V. Model F28 Series Airplanes

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This amendment adopts a new airworthiness directive (AD), applicable to Fokker B.V. Model F28 series airplanes, which requires inspection for cracks, and replacement, if necessary, of all cargo door fuselage mounted hinge lugs. This amendment is prompted by several reports that cracks have been discovered in the hinge lugs. This condition, if not corrected, could result in sudden decompression and loss of the cargo door.

EFFECTIVE DATE: February 1, 1988.

ADDRESSES: The applicable service information may be obtained from Fokker Aircraft, 1199 North Fairfax Street, Alexandria, Virginia 22314. This information may be examined at the FAA, Northwest Mountain Region, 17900 Pacific Highway South, Seattle, Washington, or the Seattle Aircraft Certification Office, 9010 East Marginal Way South, Seattle, Washington.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Ms. Judy Golder, Standardization Branch, ANM-113; telephone (206) 431-1967. Mailing address: FAA, Northwest Mountain Region, 17900 Pacific Highway South, C-68966, Seattle, Washington 98168.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: A proposal to amend Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations to include an airworthiness directive, which requires an inspection, and replacement if necessary, of all cargo door fuselage mounted hinge lugs on Model Fokker F28 series airplanes, was published in the Federal Register on September 18, 1987 (52 FR 35273).

Interested parties have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this amendment. Due consideration has been given to the single comment received.

The commenter, the Air Transport Association (ATA) of America, stated that its one affected member operator had already inspected 45 airplanes and that, if the FAA can determine that the remaining 6 airplanes in the U.S. have been inspected in accordance with the Fokker service bulletin, the proposed rule should be withdrawn. The FAA does not concur. In the event that additional Model F-28 series airplanes are imported to the U.S. in the future, an AD is necessary to ensure that the required inspection will be accomplished.

Paragraph B of the final rule has been revised to require the concurrence of an FAA Principal Maintenance Inspector in requests by operators for use of alternate means of compliance. The FAA has determined that this change will not increase the economic burden on any operator, nor will it increase the scope of the AD.

After careful review of the available data, including the comment noted above, the FAA has determined that air safety and the public interest require the adoption of the rule as proposed, with the change mentioned previously.

It is estimated that 51 airplanes of U.S. registry will be affected by this AD, that it will take approximately 1.5 manhours per airplane to accomplish the required actions, and that the average labor cost will be $40 per manhour. Based on these figures, the total cost impact of this AD to U.S. operators is estimated to be $3,060.

For the reasons discussed above, the FAA has determined that this regulation is not considered to be major under Executive Order 12291 or significant under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034; February 26, 1979) and it is further certified under the criteria of the Regulatory Flexibility Act that this rule will not have a significant economic effect on a substantial number of small entities because of the minimal cost of compliance per airplane ($60). A final evaluation has been prepared for this regulation and has been placed in the docket.

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator, the Federal Aviation Administration amends § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations as follows:

PART 39—[AMENDED]

1. The authority citation for Part 39 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 49 U.S.C. 1354(a), 1421 and 1423; 49 U.S.C. 106(g) (Revised Pub. L. 97-449, January 12, 1983); and 14 CFR 11.89.

§ 39.13 [Amended]

2. By adding the following new airworthiness directive:

Fokker B.V.: Applies to Model F-28 series airplanes, as listed in Fokker B.V. Service Bulletin F28/52-a/100, Revision 1, dated June 19, 1987, certificated in any category. Compliance required within 120 flight hours after the effective date of this AD, unless previously accomplished.

To prevent sudden decompression of the airplane as a result of failure of a cargo hinge lug, accomplish the following:

A. Visually or dye penetrant inspect the cargo door hinge lugs for cracks, in accordance with Fokker Service Bulletin F28/52-a/100, Revision 1, dated June 19, 1987. Any lugs found to be cracked must be replaced with a serviceable part prior to further flight, in accordance with limitations set forth in the service bulletin.

B. An alternate means of compliance or adjustment of the compliance time, which provides an acceptable level of safety and which has the concurrence of an FAA Principal Maintenance Inspector, may be used when approved by the Manager, Standardization Branch, ANM-113, FAA, Northwest Mountain Region.

C. Special flight permits may be issued in accordance with FAR 21.197 and 21.199 to operate airplanes to a base for the accomplishment of the modifications required by this AD.

[Docket No. 87-ASW-39, Amdt. 39-5795]

Airworthiness Directives; Messerschmitt-Bolkow-Blohm GmbH (MBB) Model BO-105 Series Helicopters

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This amendment adopts a new airworthiness directive (AD) which requires inspection and repair or replacement, as necessary, of main rotor pitch links on MBB Model BO-105 helicopters. The AD is prompted by a report of a structural fatigue crack which could cause main rotor pitch link failure and possible loss of control of the helicopter.

DATES: Effective Date: December 31, 1987. Compliance: As indicated in the body of the AD.

ADDRESSES: The applicable service information (Alert Service Bulletin No. ASB-BO-105-10-103) may be obtained from the MBB Helicopter Corporation, P.O. Box 2349, West Chester, Pennsylvania 19380. These documents may also be examined at the Office of the Regional Counsel, Federal Aviation Administration, Southwest Region, Room 158, Building 3B, 4400 Blue Mound Road, Fort Worth, Texas.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mr. John Varoli, Manager, Aircraft Certification Staff, FAA, Europe, Africa, and Middle East Office, c/o American Embassy, Brussels, Belgium, APO NY 09667, telephone number 513.38.30; or R.T. Weaver, Rotorcraft Standards Staff, ASW-110, Federal Aviation Administration, Fort Worth, Texas 76193-0111, telephone (817) 624-5122.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The FAA has determined that there has been a report of fatigue cracking in a main rotor rotating control rod (pitch link) on an MBB Model BO-105 helicopter which could result in pitch link fatigue and cause loss of the helicopter. Since this condition is likely to exist or develop on other helicopters of the same type design, an airworthiness directive is being issued which requires inspection of the main rotor pitch links for freedom of bearing operation and for cracks, and repair or replacement, as necessary, on MBB Model BO-105 series helicopters.

Since a situation exists that requires the immediate adoption of this regulation, it is found that notice and public procedure hereon are impracticable and good cause exists for making this amendment effective in less than 30 days.

The FAA has determined that this regulation is an emergency regulation that is not considered to be major under Executive Order 12291. It is impracticable for the agency to follow the procedures of Executive Order 12291 with respect to this rule since the rule must be issued immediately to correct an unsafe condition in aircraft. It has been further determined that this action involves an emergency regulation under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034; February 26, 1979). If this action is subsequently determined to involve a significant/major regulation, a final regulatory evaluation or analysis, as appropriate, will be prepared and placed in the regulatory docket (otherwise, an evaluation or analysis is not required). A copy of it, when filed, may be obtained from the Regional Rules Docket.

Adoption of the Amendment

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator, the Federal Aviation Administration amends § 39.13 of Part 39 of the FAR as follows:

PART 39—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVE

1. The authority citation for Part 39 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 49 U.S.C. 1354(a), 1421, and 1423; 49 U.S.C. 106(g) (Revised Pub. L. 97-449, January 12, 1983); and 14 CFR 11.89.

§ 39.13 [Amended]

2. By adding the following new AD:

Messerschmitt-Bolkow-Blohm (MBB):

Applies to Model BO-105 series helicopters, certificated in any category, equipped with main rotor blade rotating control rod ends, P/N's 105-13141.01 and 105-13142.01.

Compliance is required as indicated unless already accomplished.

To detect and prevent fatigue cracks in the threads of the main rotor pitch links rod ends, accomplish the following:

(a) Before the first flight of each day after the effective date of this AD, check the main rotor control rods for binding of the spherical bearings as follows:

(1) Check the bearings on each control rod by rotating the rod about its longitudinal axis by hand.

(2) Inspect and rework control rods containing a binding bearing in accordance with paragraphs (b)(1) through (b)(7) before further use.

(b) Within the next 50 hours' time in service after the effective date of this AD, conduct the following main rotor control rod inspection for cracks and spherical bearing torque determination:

(1) Remove the control rods from the helicopter.

(2) Remove the rod ends from the control rods.

(3) Measure the force required to rotate the inner race of the rod end bearings in the circumferential direction around a bolt centerline (ref. figure No. 1).

(4) If the bearing torque (force X moment arm) required to rotate the bearing inner race is more than 1.5 NM (13.3 in-lbs), accomplish either of the following—

(i) Replace the affected bearing and repeat the step in paragraph (b)(3); or

(ii) Reduce the bearing friction by installing a bolt through the bearing inner race and tighten with a nut. Then, using a drill, spin the bearing at 60 to 100 RPM for 1- or 2-minute periods until friction torque is reduced to 1.5 NM (13.3 in-lbs) or below. Monitor temperature constantly to avoid overheating. (Bearing axial and radial play is not allowed.)

(5) Inspect the rod end threads as follows:

(i) Wrap the spherical bearing and rod in suitable adhesive tape to prevent cleaning solvent and wet developer from entering the bearing (ref. figure No. 2).

(ii) Remove residual sealing compound, grease, and dirt from the threaded area of the rod ends.

(iii) Visually inspect the threaded area of the rod ends for corrosion.

(iv) Inspect the threaded area of the rod ends for cracks by fluorescent magnetic particle or fluorescent dye penetrant inspection methods.

(6) Replace before further flight any rod ends found to be cracked or corroded. Install serviceable parts.

Note: Operators are asked to submit rod ends removed as a result of this AD to MBB, Department LV52, together with the helicopter serial number, flight hours, and service time, if known.

(7) Install serviceable main rotor control rods in accordance with the applicable maintenance manual instructions.

Note: MBB ASB No. BO-105-10-103 dated October 28, 1987, pertains to this inspection and rework.

(c) Repeat the inspections of paragraphs (b)(3) through (b)(6) after each rod end bearing replacement.

(d) Report pitch link cracks found by the inspections of paragraph (b) of this AD to the Manager, Aircraft Certification Division, Federal Aviation Administration, Fort Worth, Texas 76193-0100 within 10 days of the inspection. Provide aircraft serial numbers, total time, and time since the last pitch link rework, if any. [Reporting is approved by the Office of Management and Budget under OMB No. 2120-1156.]

(e) Upon request of the operator, an FAA maintenance inspector, subject to prior approval of the Manager, Aircraft Certification Division, Federal Aviation Administration, Southwest Region, may adjust the repetitive inspection intervals specified in this AD to permit compliance at an established inspection period if the request contains substantiating data to justify the increase for that operator.

(f) An alternate method of compliance which provides an equivalent level of safety with the requirements of this AD may be used when approved by the Manager, Aircraft Certification Division, Federal Aviation Administration, Fort Worth, Texas 76193-0100 or by the Manager, Aircraft Certification Staff, AEU-100, Federal Aviation Administration, Europe, Africa, and Middle East Office, c/o American Embassy, Brussels, Belgium, APO NY 09667.

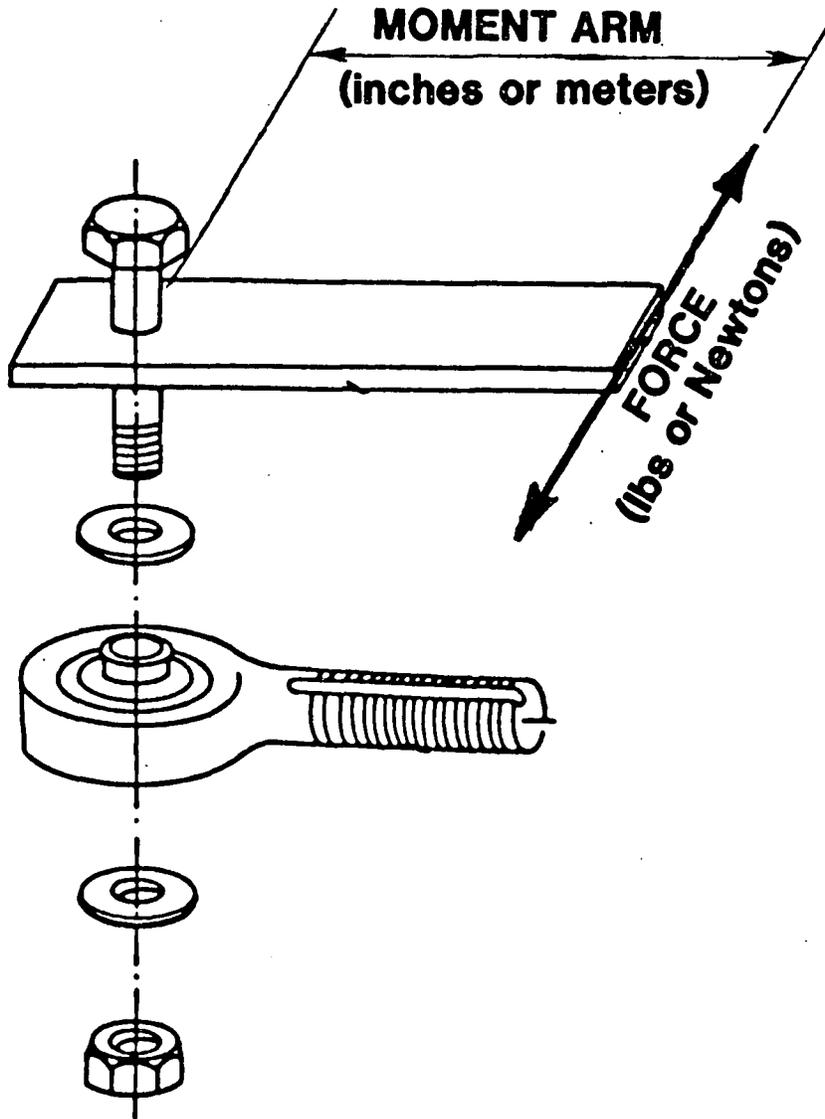

(g) In accordance with FAR 21.197 and 21.199, flight is permitted to a base where the inspections required by this AD may be accomplished.

This amendment becomes effective December 31, 1987.

Airworthiness Directives; Short Brothers LTD Model SD3-60 Series Airplanes*AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This amendment amends an existing airworthiness directive (AD), applicable to the Short Brothers Model SD3-60 series airplanes, which currently requires an increase of the threshold temperatures from 4°C to 10°C for activation of the ice and rain protection systems. That action was prompted by reports of engine flameouts or uncommanded power reduction occurring in icing conditions. Since then, the manufacturer has determined that the incidents were caused by excessive water in the fuel, due to the configuration of the fuel low pressure (LP) booster in the forward and aft fuel collector tanks. A modification has been developed which will improve the system's ability to continuously purge water from the collector tanks without degradation of engine performance. This amendment requires installation of the modification and eliminates the requirement for the higher threshold temperature for activation of the ice and rain protection system.

EFFECTIVE DATE: February 1, 1988.

ADDRESSES: The applicable service information may be obtained from Short Aircraft, 1725 Jefferson Davis Highway, Suite 510, Arlington, Virginia 22202. SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: A proposal to amend Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations to include an airworthiness directive, which requires modification of the fuel low pressure (LP) booster pumps in the forward and aft fuel collector tanks on Short Brothers LTD Model SD3-60 series airplanes, was published in the Federal Register on September 23, 1987 (52 FR 35726).

Interested parties have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this amendment. No comments were received in response to the proposal.

The final has been revised to update the format to conform with present formatting requirements. Paragraph B. has also been changed to reflect the correct contact point for submission of applications for alternate means of compliance. The FAA has determined that these changes are merely editorial in nature, and will not increase the scope of the AD or the economic burden on any operator.

After careful review of the available data, the FAA has determined that air safety and the public interest require the adoption of the rule as proposed.

It is estimated that 55 airplanes of U.S. registry will be affected by this AD, that it will take approximately 21 manhours per airplane to accomplish the required actions, and that the average labor cost will be $40 per manhour. Based on these figures, the total cost impact of this AD to U.S. operators is estimated to be $46,200.

For the reasons discussed above, the FAA has determined that this regulation is not considered to be major under Executive Order 12291 or significant under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034; February 26, 1979) and it is further certified under the criteria of the Regulatory Flexibility Act that this rule will not have a significant economic effect on a substantial number of small entities because of the minimal cost of compliance per airplane ($840). A final evaluation has been prepared for this regulation and has been placed in the docket.

2. By amending AD 84-24-52, Amendment 39-4992 (50 FR 3885; January 29, 1985), to add a new paragraph C., as follows:

Short Brothers, Ltd.: Applies to all Model SD3-60 airplanes, certificated in any category. Compliance required as indicated, unless previously accomplished.

To reduce the potential for engine flameouts, accomplish the following:

A. Before further flight, incorporate the following information into the Airplane Flight Manual and provide this information to flight crews. This may be accomplished by including a copy of this AD in the Airplane Flight Manual and Operating Manual:

"Increase the threshold temperatures from 4°C to 10°C on Page 37, Section 4, Systems Operation, Ice and Rain Protection Systems (as fitted)."

B. Alternate means of compliance which provide an acceptable level of safety may be used when approved by the Manager, Standardization Branch, ANM-113, FAA, Northwest Mountain Region.

C. Within one year after the effective date of this amendment, modify the fuel low pressure booster pumps in accordance with Parts B and C of Short Brothers Service Bulletin SD350-28-17, dated November 1985. Accomplishment of these modifications constitute terminating action for the increased temperature threshold required by paragraph A., above.

All persons affected by this directive who have not already received the appropriate service documents from the manufacturer may obtain copies upon request to Short Brothers Aircraft, 1725 Jefferson Davis Highway, Arlington, Virginia 22202. These documents may be examined at the FAA, Northwest Mountain Region, 17900 Pacific Highway South, Seattle, Washington, or at the Seattle Aircraft Certification Office, 9010 East Marginal Way South, Seattle, Washington.

[Airspace Docket No. 87-ANM-25]

Amendment of Transition Area; Eagle, CO*AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This action amends the Eagle, Colorado, 1,200 foot transition area to provide controlled airspace for a new approach procedure and associated holding pattern at the Eagle County Airport.

EFFECTIVE DATE: 0901 UTC, January 14, 1988.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

History

On October 30, 1987, the FAA proposed to amend Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Part 71) to amend the Eagle, Colorado, transition area to provide controlled airspace for aircraft executing a new approach procedure to Eagle County Airport, Colorado (52 FR 41732).

Interested parties were invited to participate in this rulemaking proceeding by submitting written comments on the proposal to the FAA. No comments objecting to the proposal were received. Except for editorial changes, this amendment is the same as that proposed in the notice. Section 71.181 of Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations was republished in Handbook 7400.6C dated January 2, 1987.

The Rule

This amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations amends the Eagle, Colorado, 1,200 foot transition area. A new approach procedure required additional controlled airspace to encompass the new procedure.

The FAA has determined that this proposed regulation only involves an established body of technical regulations for which frequent and routine amendments are necessary to keep them operationally current. It, therefore—(1) is not a "major rule" under Executive Order 12291; (2) is not a "significant rule" under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034; February 26, 1979); and (3) does not warrant preparation of a regulatory evaluation as the anticipated impact is so minimal. Since this is a routine matter that will only affect air traffic procedures and air navigation, it is certified that this rule, when promulgated, will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities under the criteria of the Regulatory Flexibility Act.

[Airspace Docket No. 87-ASW-29]

Amendment of Transition Area; Chickasha, OK

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This final rule will amend the transition area located at Chickasha, OK. The relocation of the Oklahoma City VORTAC and the subsequent cancellation of the VOR/DME RWY 17 Standard Instrument Approach Procedures (SIAP) to the Chickasha Municipal Airport necessitated this amendment. The intended effect of this amendment is to return that controlled airspace no longer required for the VOR/DME RWY 17 SIAP, due to its cancellation. A new VOR/DME-A SIAP, to the airport has been published, and this amendment will provide adequate controlled airspace for all SIAP's now serving the Chickasha Municipal Airport.

EFFECTIVE DATE: 0901 UTC, March 10, 1988.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Bruce C. Beard, Airspace and Procedures Branch, Air Traffic Division, Southwest Region, Department of Transportation, Federal Aviation Administration, Fort Worth, TX 76193-0530, Telephone (817) 624-5561.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

History

On June 30, 1987, the FAA proposed to amend Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Part 71) by amending the transition area located at Chickasha, OK (52 FR 27224).

Interested persons were invited to participate in this rulemaking proceeding by submitting written comments on the proposal to the FAA. No comments objecting to the proposal were received. Except for editorial changes, this amendment is that proposed in the notice. Section 71.181 of Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations was republished in Handbook 7400.6C, dated January 2, 1987.

The Rule

This amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations will amend the transition area located at Chickasha, OK. The cancellation of the VOR/DME RWY 17 SIAP, to the Chickasha Municipal Airport due to the relocation of the Oklahoma City VORTAC has necessitated this amendment. The intended effect of this amendment will revise the existing 700-foot transition area by eliminating that area beyond 6.5 miles northeast of the airport. This amendment will provide adequate controlled airspace for all SIAP's now serving the Chickasha Municipal Airport.

The FAA has determined that this regulation only involves an established body of technical regulations for which frequent and routine amendments are necessary to keep them operationally current. It, therefore—(1) is not a "major rule" under Executive Order 12291; (2) is not a "significant rule" under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034; February 26, 1979); and (3) does not warrant preparation of a regulatory evaluation as the anticipated impact is so minimal. Since this is a routine matter that will only affect air traffic procedures and air navigation, it is certified that this rule will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities under the criteria of the Regulatory Flexibility Act.

Adoption of the Amendment

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority delegated to me, Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Part 71) is amended as follows:

PART 71—[AMENDED]

1. The authority citation for Part 71 continues to read as follows:

§ 71.181 [Amended]

2. Section 71.181 is amended as follows:

Chickasha, OK [Revised]

That airspace extending upward from 700 feet above the surface within a 6.5-mile radius of the Chickasha Municipal Airport (latitude 35°05'47" N., longitude 97°58'08" W.), and within 2.5 miles each side of the 180° bearing from the airport extending from the 6.5-mile radius to 7.5 miles south of the airport.

ACTION: Correction to final rule.

SUMMARY: This action corrects the description of Federal Airway V-374 as published in the Federal Register on November 4, 1987. The description of V-374 that was published inadvertently omitted the Deer Park 308° radial. This action corrects that mistake.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:*History

The correction to final rule was published in Docket 87-AWA-18 on November 4, 1987, to correct the description of V-374 as originally published. Inadvertently, the description of V-374 omitted the Deer Park 308° radial. This action corrects the description to include that portion.

The FAA has determined that this regulation only involves an established body of technical regulations for which frequent and routine amendments are necessary to keep them operationally current. It, therefore: (1) is not a "major rule" under Executive Order 12291; (2) is not a "significant rule" under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034; February 26, 1979); and (3) does not warrant preparation of a regulatory evaluation as the anticipated impact is so minimal. #### Medicare and Medicaid Programs; Entities Performing Quality of Care Review of Services Provided by Risk-Basis Health Maintenance Organizations and Competitive Medical Plans; Correction

AGENCY: Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA), HHS.

ACTION: Correction of final rule with comment period.

SUMMARY: This document corrects technical errors that appeared in the final rule that was published in the Federal Register on October 7, 1987 (52 FR 37454). The final rule provided for review by Utilization and Quality Control Peer Review Organizations (PROs) of the quality of care furnished by risk-basis health maintenance organizations (HMOs) and competitive medical plans (CMPs) under 24 CFR Part 417, Subpart C. It also provided for this same review by non-PRO entities and identified the requirements that these non-PRO entities must meet.

issue of October 7, 1987, we redesignated paragraphs (c), (d), and (e) of § 466.70 as paragraphs (a), (b), and (c), respectively of new § 466.71. We inadvertently overlooked paragraph (f) of § 466.70, which we would have redesignated as paragraph (d) of § 466.71.

In addition, in the time between preparing the final rule and publishing it, we published another final rule (Federal Register document 87-19988) on September 1, 1987 (52 FR 33034) that revised paragraph (e)(2) of § 466.70, which we overlooked when we published the October 7, 1987 final rule. We have also noted two minor editorial corrections that should be made to the final rule. Therefore, the following corrections must be made to the October 7, 1987 final rule:

PART 466—[AMENDED]

1. On page 37457, in the first column, item 2 should read: "Section 466.70 is amended by revising the section heading, paragraphs (a) and (b), and redesignating paragraphs (c), (d), (e), and (f) as paragraphs (a), (b), (c), and (d), respectively, of new § 466.71, which is added to read as follows:"

§ 466.71 [Amended]

2. On page 37457, in the second column, paragraph (b) of § 466.71, the first sentence should read "On the basis of the review specified under paragraphs (a)(1), (3), (6), (7), and (8) of this section, the PRO must determine whether payment may be made for these services."

3. On page 37457, in the third column, paragraph (2) of § 466.71(c) should read "The PRO must review every change in a DRG assignment that is a result of a review made under the provisions of § 412.60(d) if the change results in the assignment of a higher-weighted DRG and the PRO has not previously reviewed the case. The PRO must verify that the diagnostic and procedural information supplied by the hospital is substantiated by the information in the medical record."

4. On page 37457, in the third column, following § 466.71(c)(2), add:

(d) Coordination of sanction activities. The PRO must carry out the responsibilities specified in Subpart C of Part 1004 of this title regarding imposition of sanctions on providers and practitioners who violate their statutory obligations under section 1156 of the Act.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This document, at the request of Wendell A. Triplett, allocates Channel 63- to Athens, Ohio, as the community's first local television service. Channel 63- can be allocated to Athens in compliance with the Commission's minimum distance separation requirements with a site restriction of 3.9 miles north to avoid a short-spacing to unused and unapplied for Channel *63 at Bluefield, West Virginia. Canadian concurrence in the allotment has been received. However, by Order, 52 FR 28346, July 29, 1987, the Commission instituted a temporary freeze on the filing of applications for new allotments to communities located within the required minimum co-channel separation distance to certain metropolitan areas. Athens is located within the proscribed distance to two such metropolitan areas, Cincinnati and Columbus, Ohio. Therefore, no applications will be accepted for Channel 63- at Athens until further notice by the Commission. With this action, this proceeding is terminated.

DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE

48 CFR Part 232

Federal Acquisition Regulation Supplement; Provisional Delivery Payments

AGENCY: Department of Defense (DoD).

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Defense Acquisition Regulatory Council has approved revisions to Part 232 of the Defense Federal Acquisition Regulation Supplement (DFARS) to specify authority and procedures for provisional delivery payments to contractors for supplies and services delivered to and accepted by the Government.

EFFECTIVE DATE: November 30, 1987.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Lt. Col. Richard J. Wall, USAF, ODASD (P)/CPF, Room 3C800, The Pentagon, Washington, DC 20301-3062, telephone (202) 695-7249.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

A. Background

The Defense Acquisition Regulatory (DAR) Council has modified DFARS 232.102 to specify authority and procedures for provisional delivery payments to contractors for supplies and services delivered to and accepted by the Government. Coverage for such payments was included in Appendix E of the Defense Acquisition Regulation but had not been carried forward to either the Federal Acquisition Regulation or the DFARS. The DAR Council and the Civilian Agency Acquisition Council are aware that Provisional Delivery Payments is a subject of interest throughout the Federal acquisition community. The Councils have agreed to consider coverage on Provisional Delivery Payments for future incorporation in the FAR.

A proposed rule was published in the Federal Register for public comment on March 18, 1987 (52 FR 8481). In general, the comments received supported the revision. Therefore, the proposed rule is issued as a final rule without modification.

B. Regulatory Flexibility Act Information

The proposed rule published in the Federal Register on March 18, 1987, contained initial Regulatory Flexibility Act information. The notice included an expectation that the proposed provision would benefit small businesses but there was not enough information available within DoD to make a thorough assessment. The notice requested comments, particularly from small entities. No comments were received.

C. Paperwork Reduction Act Information

The proposed rule published in the Federal Register on March 18, 1987, contained a statement that the Paperwork Reduction Act did not apply because the rule did not impose any additional requirements that would necessitate OMB approval.

There were no comments received on the Paperwork Reduction Act statement.

Executive Secretary, Defense Acquisition Regulatory Council.

Adoption of Amendments

Therefore the DoD FAR Supplement is amended as set forth below.

PART 232—CONTRACT FINANCING

1. The authority for 48 CFR Part 232 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 5 U.S.C. 301, 10 U.S.C. 2202, DoD Directive 5000.35, and DoD FAR Supplement 201.301.

2. Section 232.102 is amended by adding paragraph (S-70) to read as follows:

232.102 Description of contract financing methods.

* * * * *

(S-70) Provisional Delivery Payments. The contracting officer may establish provisional delivery prices to pay contractors for the costs of supplies and services delivered to and accepted by the Government on undefinitized contract actions. Such delivery arrangements are restricted to (1) letter contracts contemplating a definitive fixed-price type of contract, (2) orders under basic ordering agreements, (3) spares provisioning documents annexed to contracts, and (4) fixed-price contracts for increases in contract price for unpriced equitable adjustments. The provisional delivery prices shall not prejudice the price subsequently definitized between the contracting officer and contractor. They should be used sparingly and priced conservatively to cover no more than a reasonable estimate of the costs of items to be included in the provisional delivery arrangement and shall not include any amount for profit. Provisional delivery payments shall not exceed funds obligated for the undefinitized contract action and shall be reduced by liquidating previous progress payments made on the items delivered to and accepted by the Government in accordance with the provisions of the Progress Payments clause.

[APD 2800.12 CHGE 49]

General Services Administration Acquisition Regulation; Prompt Payment Discounts

AGENCY: Office of Acquisition Policy, GSA.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The General Services Administration Acquisition Regulation (GSAR), Chapter 5, is amended to revise sections 532.111(a)(1) and 552.232-8(g) to delete the words "beginning with" and to subordinate the word "from." The intended effect is to provide uniform procedures for contracting under the regulatory system.

EFFECTIVE DATE: December 24, 1987.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Ms. Shirley Scott, Office of GSA

Acquisition Policy and Regulations on (202) 523-4765.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This rule will not have a significant impact on contractors or offerors. Therefore, it was not published for comment in the Federal Register. The Director, Office of Management and Budget (OMB), by memorandum dated December 14, 1984, exempted certain agency procurement regulations from Executive Order 12291. The exemption applies to this rule. The General Services Administration (GSA) certifies that this document will not have a significant economic effect on a substantial number of small entities under the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq.). The rule merely revises language in the GSAR regarding Discounts for Prompt Payment clauses to be consistent with the wording in the Federal Acquisition Regulation and OMB Circular A-125. Therefore, no regulatory flexibility analysis has been prepared. This rule does not contain any information collection requirements which are subject to OMB approval under the Paperwork Reduction Act (44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.).

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Ms. Shirley Scott, Office of GSA Acquisition Policy and Regulations on (202) 523-4765.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This rule will not have a significant impact on contractors or offerors. Therefore, it was not published for public comment in the Federal Register. The Director, Office of Management and Budget (OMB), by memorandum dated December 14, 1984, exempted certain agency procurement regulations from Executive Order 12291. The exemption applies to this rule. The General Services Administration (GSA) certifies that this document will not have a significant economic effect on a substantial number of small entities under the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq.). The rule provides for the use of updated versions of GSA forms which are already in use and which do not have a significant impact on contractors. Therefore, no regulatory flexibility analysis has been prepared. The rule does not contain any information collection requirements which are subject to OMB approval under the Paperwork Reduction Act (44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.).

Office of the Secretary

49 CFR Part 1

[OST Docket No. 1; Amdt. 1-222]

Delegation of Powers and Duties Under CERCLA

AGENCY: Office of the Secretary, DOT.
ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This rule amends Title 49, Code of Federal Regulations, to include the delegation of authority from the Secretary to the Commandant of the U.S. Coast Guard with respect to certain functions under the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act of 1980 (CERCLA), as amended by the Superfund Amendments and Reauthorization Act of 1986 (SARA). President Reagan's Executive Order 12580 of January 23, 1987, assigned these functions to the Secretary.

EFFECTIVE DATE: December 11, 1987.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: LCDR G.F. EPLER, Office of Marine Safety, Security and Environmental Protection (G-MER-2), Room 1203, U.S. Coast Guard Headquarters, 2100 2nd Street SW., Washington, DC 20593-0001 (202-267-0434) between 7:00 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, except Federal holidays.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Since this amendment relates to departmental management, procedures, and practice, it is excepted from the notice and public procedures requirements and it may be made effective in fewer than 30 days after publication in the Federal Register.

Drafting Information

The principal persons involved in drafting this document were William R. Register, and Frederick Presley, Office of the Chief Counsel, U.S. Coast Guard.

Discussion

The Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act of 1980 (CERCLA) provided for liability, compensation, cleanup and emergency response for hazardous substances released into the environment and the cleanup of inactive hazardous waste disposal sites. By virtue of Executive Order 12316 of August 14, 1981, the President assigned responsibilities for functions under CERCLA to Federal departments and agencies, including DOT. The Secretary of Transportation in turn, delegated most of these functions to the Commandant of the Coast Guard for activities related to: Certification of financial responsibility for vessels; responses to releases or threats of releases from vessels; immediate removal actions concerning releases or threats of releases at facilities other than active or inactive hazardous waste management facilities; and, to a somewhat more limited degree, immediate removal actions concerning releases or threats of releases at active or inactive hazardous waste management facilities. In addition, as allowed by Executive Order 12316, the Secretary redelegated the remainder of the functions which had been delegated to him relative to removal and remedial actions to the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

CERCLA was amended by the Superfund Amendments and Reauthorization Act of 1986 (SARA), which was enacted on October 17, 1986. Thereafter, President Reagan signed Executive Order 12580 on January 23, 1987, assigning responsibility for functions under CERCLA, as amended. Section 11(h) of Executive Order 12580 revoked Executive Order 12316.

This document revises the CERCLA delegations to the Coast Guard, as published in Part 1 of Title 49, CFR, to include the Secretary's delegations to the Coast Guard under CERCLA, as amended by SARA, and Executive Order 12580. A copy of the revised redelegation of functions from the Secretary to the EPA is also included.

The redelegation is authorized under section 11(g) of Executive Order 12580.

(2) Sections 2(e)(1), 2(e)(2), 2(i), 2(j)(1), 2(j)(2), 2(k), 3(a), 4(b)(1), 4(b)(2), 6(c), 9(d), 9(i), and 11(b)(2) of Executive Order 12580 relating to facilities and vessels under the jurisdiction, custody, or control of the Coast Guard.

(gg) Carry out the functions, relating to releases or threatened releases involving the coastal zone, Great Lakes waters, and ports and harbors, vested in the Secretary by sections 2(f), 2(i), 2(j)(2), 2(k), 4(c)(1), 4(c)(2), 5(b), 6(c), 9(d), 9(i), and 11(b)(2) of Executive Order 12580 insofar as they relate to:

(1) Responses to releases or threats of releases from vessels;

(2) Emergency action concerning releases or threats of releases at facilities other than active or inactive "hazardous waste management facilities" (as defined in 40 CFR 270.2); and

(3) Emergency action concerning releases or threats of releases at active or inactive "hazardous waste management facilities" only when the Coast Guard On-Scene Coordinator determines that such action must be taken pending the arrival on scene of an Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) On-Scene Coordinator (OSC). Unless otherwise agreed upon by the EPA and Coast Guard, this authority will not be exercised unless the EPA OSC is scheduled to arrive on scene within 48 hours of notification of the release or threat of release.

As used in this paragraph "emergency action" includes any removal action which, in the view of the Coast Guard On-Scene Coordinator, must be taken immediately to prevent or mitigate immediate and significant danger to the public health, welfare, or the environment. Situations in which such actions may be taken include, but are not limited to, fire, explosions, and other sudden releases; human, animal, or food chain exposure to acutely toxic substance; and the contamination of a drinking water supply. All functions listed in this paragraph include the authority to contract for, obligate monies for, and otherwise arrange for and coordinate the responses included within such functions.

National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration

50 CFR Part 652

[Docket No. 70617-7148]

Atlantic Surf Clam and Ocean Quahog Fisheries

AGENCY: National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS), NOAA, Commerce.

ACTION: Notice of adjustment of surf clam fishing time.

SUMMARY: NOAA issues this notice to increase the allowable fishing time for surf clams to 48 hours for the fourth quarter of 1987 for vessels harvesting surf clams in the Mid-Atlantic Area of the exclusive economic zone. This action will provide flexibility to operators in the use of fishing time during the period. The intended effect is to match fishing effort to the available quota for the area.

EFFECTIVE DATES: December 10, 1987, through January 1, 1988. Fishing trips must be scheduled with 10 days' advance written notice.

ADDRESS: Send request for fishing time to the Surf Clam Coordinator, NMFS, 2 State Fish Pier, Gloucester, MA 01930.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: John G. Terrill, 617-281-3600, ext. 252.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Regulations implementing the Fishery Management Plan for the Atlantic Surf Clam and Ocean Quahog Fisheries contain at § 652.22(a)(3) a provision allowing the Regional Director to revise allowable fishing times to promote fishing for surf clams throughout the year with a minimum of changes. The Regional Director during the first quarter of 1987 decided, with the unanimous support of the Council, to exercise his authority under § 652.22(a)(3) to allocate fishing time by quarter and allow each operator the maximum flexibility possible to schedule that time to best advantage.

Based on the rate of harvest and utilization of available quota through the first half of the fourth quarter, the Regional Director has decided to increase the allocated fishing time from 42 to 48 hours. That time must be scheduled 10 days in advance in fishing trips of six hours' duration each, which may be taken on any eight separate days during the normal daily and weekly fishing times established in § 652.22(a)(1), (2), and (3). If effort were to remain at 42 hours, a surplus allocation of approximately 80,000 bushels is projected. The additional 6 hours' fishing time will bring in an expected catch of 55,000 bushels. Additional landings will be realized through the reporting log, bringing the catch up to the total allocation.

Other Matters

This action is taken under the authority of 50 CFR Part 652 and is taken in compliance with Executive Order 12291.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

This rule has been reviewed in conformity with Executive Order 12291 and Departmental Regulation 1512-1 and has been classified as "non-Major." This action does not constitute a review as to the need, currency, clarity, and effectiveness of these regulations under those procedures. A complete review is in process.

Milton J. Hertz, Administrator, ASCS, has determined that this action is not a major rule since implementation of the proposed rule will not result in: (1) An annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more; (2) major increases in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, Federal, State, or local governments, or a geographic region; or (3) significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or the ability of U.S. based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

The information collection requirements proposed by this rule will not become effective until they have been approved by the Office of Management and Budget in accordance with the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980. Such approval has been requested and is under consideration. Comments concerning the information collection requirements contained in these proposed rules may be addressed to the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs of OMB, Attention: Desk Officer ASCS/USDA, Washington, DC 20503, Telephone (202) 395-7340.

Milton J. Hertz, Administrator, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), has certified that this action will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities because: (1) This action imposes only moderate economic costs on small entities; and (2) the use of the service is voluntary. Therefore, no regulatory flexibility analysis was prepared.

This rule is not expected to have any significant impact on the quality of the human environment. In addition, this action will not adversely affect environmental factors such as wildlife habitat, water quality, or land use and appearance. Accordingly, neither an environmental assessment nor an environmental impact statement is required and none was prepared.

This action will not have a significant impact specifically upon area and community development, therefore review as established by Executive Order 12291 (February 17, 1981) was not used to assure that units of local government are informed of this action.

Background

The U.S. Warehouse Act (7 U.S.C. 241 et seq.) [the "Act"] provides that warehousemen who apply to the Secretary of Agriculture and who meet certain statutory and regulatory standards may be federally licensed. The primary objectives of the Act are to: (1) Protect producers and others who store their property in public warehouses; (2) assure the integrity of warehouse receipts as documents of title, thereby facilitating trading of agricultural commodities in interstate commerce; and (3) set and maintain a standard for sound warehouse operations.

The Department of Agriculture has sought to attain these objectives by: Research and development of basic standards for good warehousing practices; requiring original and continuing examinations of applicants and licensees; establishing financial and bonding requirements; and establishing licensing and regulatory requirements.

The issuance of a warehouse receipt by the warehouseman and its delivery to the depositor is the best legal evidence that the bailment contract, i.e., the storage obligation exists. However, a warehouse receipt is acceptable only when the original depositor or a subsequent holder of a receipt has reasonable assurance that the product covered by the warehouse receipt will be delivered upon surrender of the receipt and a valid request for delivery. If the depositor or holder of the receipt fails to receive return of the product, they must have the assurance that the warehouseman is able to compensate them for this breach of contract.

Historically, the responsibility of licensed warehousemen to fulfill their obligations to depositors has been supported by requiring the warehousemen to have and maintain a certain level of allowable total net assets and a corporate surety bond. The levels of both the assets and the bonds have been generally fixed by the maximum number of bales of licensed capacity.

The present asset and bonding requirements have been in place since 1953, and during this period cotton has doubled in value. In recent years an increasing number of cotton warehouse firms have experienced financial difficulties as reflected by the number of insolvencies and reorganizations.

In addition, changes in the marketing operations of warehousemen increase the risk of loss to depositors. Some licensed cotton warehousemen also operate a cotton market or commission merchant business which buys cotton from producers through the same facilities used for the storage of cotton. The businesses of storing and marketing often become inseparable and funds available to the total business often cannot be segregated. The use of "forward" contracts as a marketing tool also has contributed to the possibility of increased losses.

This proposed rule would increase the protection available to depositors to compensate for these changes in the nature of the warehouse industry. This proposed rule would increase the minimum net worth requirements of warehousemen and would require a minimum level of working capital. It will also increase the minimum and maximum bond required.

We recognize that these increases in financial and bonding requirements will require adjustments in the operations of some warehousemen. To alleviate the impact of these changes on any warehouseman, this rule also proposes to add some flexibility to the bonding and net worth requirements. The proposed changes are summarized below.

1. Definitions

This proposed rule would add definitions for: (a) Net assets, (b) capacity, (c) current assets, and (d) current liabilities.

2. Changes in Financial Requirements and Net Asset Requirements for Licensing and Continuation of License

This proposed rule would require that cotton warehousemen licensed or applying for license under provisions of the United States Warehouse Act (7 U.S.C. 268 et seq.) provide the Secretary with an annual financial statement that has at least been audited or reviewed by an independent public accountant.

The net asset requirements for licensing would increase.

Total net assets generally are associated with the ability to withstand losses and carry the business through seasonal fluctuations. Current net assets, as compared with current liabilities, are a measure of the company's ability to carry on day-to-day operations (cash flow). When either total net assets or current net assets are too low or impaired, the risk of insolvency increases.

Significant changes in net asset and bonding requirements were last made in June, 1953 when the net asset requirement rate was raised to $5.00 per bale of licensed capacity and the minimum to $10,000. The bonding rate was raised to $5.00 per bale of licensed capacity with a minimum of $5,000 and a maximum of $100,000. This rule proposes that the minimum total net asset requirement be raised from $10,000 to $25,000 and that the per bale rate be increased to $10.00. The minimum amount of the surety bond would be increased to $20,000 with a maximum of $250,000 and the per bale rate of $10.00.

The warehouseman would also be required to have and maintain or demonstrate access to total current assets equal to or exceeding total current liabilities (Working Capital) in addition to total net asset (Net Worth) requirements.

3. Acceptable Form of Bond

The United States Treasury Department (31 CFR Part 225) allows the deposit of security with the bond-approving officer in lieu of bond. United States bonds, Treasury notes or other public debt obligations of the United States or obligations which are unconditionally guaranteed as to both interest and principal by the United States are acceptable.

ASCS proposes to amend 7 CFR 735.11 to permit acceptance by the Secretary of a deposit of United States debt obligations in lieu of the bond. The use of such a deposit would eliminate the cumulative protection presently provided by the surety bond.

The deposit will not be released until one year after the license is terminated and the storage obligations of the warehouse have been liquidated or otherwise satisfied. The deposit could be released earlier if the warehouseman is able to show that all storage obligations of the warehouse have been satisfied or that no depositors object. In the event that the amount of deposit required is reduced, the obligation will be released to the extent of the reduction after the next satisfactory warehouse examination which confirms the reduction of obligation. Interest on the obligation will accrue to the benefit of the warehouseman unless the Secretary has reason to believe that claims may exist against the obligation in excess of their value. In that event, interest will be used to satisfy outstanding claims.

ASCS further proposes to amend 7 CFR 735.11 to accept a continuous form of surety bond. This would remove the cumulative protection presently provided by the surety bond since the aggregate liability of the surety under this bond for any one or more defaults of the principal would be restricted to the penal sum for liabilities accrued during the term of the bond.

Experience has shown that claims against more than one bond are the exception and the acceptance of these forms of surety would not be expected to adversely affect depositors.

4. Letter of Credit

This proposed rule would permit acceptance of a letter of credit for a deficiency in net assets but only to the extent of the warehouseman's net asset requirement above $25,000. A surety bond (or Treasury deposit) would still be required for the statutory performance bond requirement. The letter of credit must be issued for not less than two years and coincide with the term of the bond. The letter of credit must be clean; irrevocable; issued by a commercial bank and insured as a deposit by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation; and payable to the Secretary by sight draft.

5. Waiver of Requirements for Individual Financial Statements

The proposed regulations would require that each warehouseman making application for a license and each warehouseman licensed under the regulations provide a financial statement meeting the requirements of 7 CFR 735.5 (b) and (c) and further have total net assets and working capital at least equal to the minimums required by 7 CFR 735.5(d). Some warehousemen applying for or holding licenses are wholly owned by other business entities (parent). These warehousemen may have difficulty producing a statement meeting the financial requirements of the regulations, while the parent is willing to guarantee all storage obligations of the warehouseman and could furnish an acceptable statement on behalf of the wholly owned subsidiary. Under these circumstances, preparing individual statements and maintaining required assets by each individual warehouseman would be costly and unnecessary duplication of effort. This rule proposes to accept on behalf of the warehouseman financial statements of the parent when such statements are supported by a guaranty of all storage obligations that the licensed warehouseman may incur.

6. Appraisals of Real or Personal Property

Generally accepted accounting principles preclude valuing depreciable fixed assets at other than cost less depreciation values. The regulations now require that all financial statements be prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. Because of the age of many warehouses and the attendant depreciation schedules, oftentimes fixed assets are listed in the financial statement at less than the value that could be realized upon the sale of the assets on the open market. To remedy this, ASCS proposes to accept appraisals which give warehousemen credit for the actual market values of the fixed assets.

To be acceptable, narrative market value appraisals of land, buildings, and equipment must be made and prepared by independent appraisers certified by a recognized appraisal society or by a professional appraisal organization. This rule also proposes to accept land only, value appraisals which are prepared by local professional realtors provided that the appraisal report includes a minimum of two citations of recent sales of similar properties in the near geographical area and is accompanied by a statement of the appraiser's qualifications.

Although not spelled out in this proposed rule, the Secretary contemplates acceptance of appraised values of all fixed assets subject to the following limitations:

- (1) Appraisal values for depreciable fixed assets would be limited to values actually insured;
- (2) Appraisal surpluses would be discounted 30 percent;
- (3) Warehousemen would be required to have a positive working capital position; and

(4) Recent acquisition of assets by warehousemen through arms length contracts between disinterested parties would not be eligible for consideration at appraised values (the transaction itself is the best indication of value).

7. Continuous Bond and License

ASCS proposes to amend 7 CFR 745.14 to issue a continuous form of license provided that the warehouseman files a bond with the Secretary which meets the requirements outlined in 7 CFR 735.11(a), i.e., required amount and with the approval of the Secretary. The proposed rule clarifies the Department's long held position that failure of a warehouseman to provide a bond results in automatic revocation of the warehouseman's license.

8. Transfer of Stored Cotton

The statutory amendment which mandated this change became effective March 20, 1986. The amendment allows a federally licensed warehouseman to transfer receipted stored agricultural products from one licensed warehouse to another licensed warehouse in accordance with regulations to be issued by the Secretary and subject to such terms and conditions as the Secretary may prescribe. This transfer was previously prohibited by the Act.

This change will help facilitate storage operations of primary receiving warehouses by enabling them to forward cotton to other licensed facilities. Receiving warehouses will continue to be responsible for the safekeeping of cotton.

Proposed Rule

Accordingly it is proposed to amend 7 CFR Part 735 as follows:

PART 735—COTTON WAREHOUSES

1. The authority citation for 7 CFR Part 735 continues to read as follows:

Authority: Section 28, 39 Stat. 490 (7 U.S.C. 268).

2. Section 735.2 is amended by adding paragraphs (x), (y), (z), and (aa) as follows:

§ 735.2 Terms defined.

(x) Net assets. The difference remaining when liabilities are subtracted from allowable assets. In determining allowable assets, credit may be given for appraisal of real property less improvements and for the appraisal of insurable property such as buildings, machinery, equipment, and merchandise inventory only to the extent that such insurable property is protected by insurance against loss or damage by fire, lightning, and tornado. Such insurance must be in the form of lawful insurance policies issued by insurance companies authorized to do such business and subject to service of process in the State in which the warehouse is located. The Secretary shall, at his discretion, determine what assets are allowable and under what conditions appraisal may be used.

(y) Warehouse capacity. Warehouse capacity is the maximum number of bales of cotton that the warehouse will accommodate when stored in the manner customary to the warehouse and as required by the Secretary.

(z) Current assets. Assets, including cash, that are reasonably expected to be realized in cash or sold or consumed during the normal operating cycle of the business or within one year if the operating cycle is shorter than one year.

(aa) Current liabilities. Those financial obligations which are expected to be satisfied during the normal operating cycle of the business or within one year if the operating cycle is shorter than one year.

§ 735.4 [Amended]

3. Section 735.4 is amended by changing "$10,000.00" to "$25,000."

4. Section 735.5 is revised to read as follows:

§ 735.5 Financial requirements.

(a) Each warehouseman conducting a warehouse licensed under the Act or for which application for a license under the Act has been made must maintain complete, accurate and current financial records which shall be available to the Secretary for review or audit at the Secretary's request.

(b) Each warehouseman conducting a warehouse for which application for license under the Act is made shall provide with this application and each warehouseman licensed annually, or more frequently if required, shall furnish to the Secretary financial statements from the records required in paragraph (a) of this section prepared according to generally accepted accounting principles. Such statements shall include but not be limited to: (1) Balance sheet, (2) statement of income (profit and loss), (3) statement of retained earnings, and (4) statement of changes in financial position. The chief executive officer for the warehouseman shall certify under penalties of perjury that the statements as prepared accurately reflect the financial condition of the warehouseman as of the date named fairly represent the results of operations for the period named.

(c) Each warehouseman conducting a warehouse licensed under these regulations shall have the financial statements required in paragraph (b) of this section audited by an independent certified public accountant. Alternatively, financial statements audited or reviewed by an independent public accountant will be accepted. The Secretary may, at his discretion, require an audited financial statement prepared by an independent certified public accountant. He may also, at his discretion, require an on-site examination and an audit by USDA personnel. Audits and reviews by independent certified public accountants and independent public accountants specified in this section must be made in accordance with standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. The accountant's certification, assurances, opinion, comments, and notes on such statements, if any, must be furnished along with the financial statements. Licensees who cannot immediately meet these requirements may apply to the Secretary for a temporary waiver of this provision. The Secretary may grant such waiver for a period not to exceed 180 days if the licensee can furnish evidence of good and substantial reasons therefor.

(d) Each warehouseman conducting a warehouse which is licensed under this part, or for which application for such a license has been made, must have and maintain:

(1) Total net assets liable and available for the payment of any indebtedness arising from the conduct of the warehouse of at least $10,000 multiplied by the warehouse capacity in bales to a maximum of $250,000; however, no person may be licensed or remain licensed as a warehouseman under this part unless that person has allowable net assets of at least $25,000, (Any deficiency in net assets above the $25,000 minimum may be supplied by an increase in the amount of the warehouseman's bond in accordance with § 735.12(c) of this part); and

(2) Total current assets equal to or exceeding total current liabilities or evidence acceptable to the Secretary that funds will be and remain available to meet current obligations.

(e) If a warehouseman is licensed or is applying for licenses to operate two or more warehouses under this part, the maximum number of bales which all such warehouses will accommodate when stored in the manner customary to the warehouses, as determined by the Secretary, shall be considered in determining whether the warehouseman meets the net assets requirements specified in paragraph (d) of this section.

(f) Subject to such terms and conditions as the Secretary may prescribe and for the purposes of determining allowable assets and liabilities under paragraphs (d) and (e) of this section:

(1) Capital stock will not be considered a liability;

(2) Appraisals of the value of fixed assets in excess of the book value claimed in the financial statement submitted by a warehouseman to conform with paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section may be allowed if (i) prepared by independent appraisers acceptable to the Secretary and (ii) the asset are fully insured against casualty loss;

(3) Financial statements of a parent company which separately identifies the financial position of the warehouse as a wholly owned subsidiary and which meets the requirements of paragraphs (b), (c), and (d) of this section may be accepted by the Secretary in lieu of the warehouseman meeting such requirements; and

(4) guaranty agreement from a parent company submitted on behalf of a wholly owned subsidiary may be accepted by the Secretary as meeting the requirements of paragraphs (b), (c), and (d) of this section, if the parent company submits a financial statement which qualifies under this section.

(g) In case a State agency licensed or applying for a license as provided in section 9 of the Act has funds of not less than $500,000 guaranteeing the performance of obligations of the agency as a warehouseman, such funds shall be considered sufficient to meet the net asset requirements of this section.

(h) In case a warehouseman files a bond in the form of a certification of participation in an indemnity or insurance fund as provided for in § 735.11(b), the certification may only be used to satisfy any deficiencies in assets above $25,000.

(i) When a warehouseman files a bond in the form of either a deposit of public debt obligations of the United States or other obligations which are unconditionally guaranteed as to both interest and principal by the United States as provided for in § 735.11(c):

(1) The obligation deposited shall not be considered a part of the warehouseman's assets for purposes of § 735.5(d), (1) and (2);

(2) A deficiency in total allowable net and current assets as computed for

§ 735.5(d), (1) and (2) may be offset by the licensed warehouseman furnishing a corporate surety bond for the difference;

(3) The deposit may be replaced or continued in the required amount from year to year; and

(4) The deposit shall not be released until one year after termination (cancellation or revocation) of the license which it supports or until satisfaction of any claim against the deposit, whichever is later.

(j) Nothing in these regulations shall prohibit a person other than the licensed warehouseman from furnishing such bond or additions thereto on behalf of and in the name of the licensed warehouseman subject to provisions of § 735.11(c).

§ 735.7 [Amended]

5. Section 735.7(a) is amended by changing "$10,000.00" to "$25,000."

6. Section 735.11 is revised to read as follows:

§ 735.11 Bond required; time of filing.

Each warehouseman applying for a warehouse license under the Act shall, before such license is granted, file with the Secretary or his designated representative a bond either:

(a) In the form of a bond containing the following conditions and such other terms as the Secretary or his designated representative may prescribe in the approved bond forms, with such changes as may be necessary to adapt the forms to the type of legal entity involved:

Now, therefore, if the said license(s) or any amendments thereto be granted and said principal, and its successors and assigns operating said warehouse(s), shall faithfully perform during the period of this bond all obligations of a licensed warehouseman under the terms of [the United States Warehouse Act] and regulations thereunder relating to the above-named products.

Then this obligation shall be null and void and of no effect, otherwise to remain in full force. For purposes of this bond, the aforesaid obligations under the Act and regulations and contracts include obligations under any and all modifications of the Act, the regulations, and the contracts that may hereafter be made, notice of which modifications to the surety being hereby waived.

This obligation shall be and remain in full force and effect for a minimum of one year beginning with the effective date and shall be considered a continuous bond thereafter until terminated as herein provided. The total liability of the surety is limited to the penal amount hereof for liabilities that accrue during the term hereof.

This obligation shall be and remain in full force and effect from date of issue until one hundred twenty (120) days after notice in writing of cancellation shall have been received by the Secretary from the principal or surety. If said notice shall be given by the surety, a copy thereof shall be mailed on the same day to the principal. Cancellation of this bond and cancellation of any of its provisions shall not affect any liability accrued thereon at the time of said notice or which may accrue thereon during the one hundred twenty (120) days after such notice.

A bond in this form shall be subject to 7 CFR 735.5 and 735.12 through 735.15, and 31 CFR Part 225; or

(b) In the form of a certificate of participation in and coverage by an indemnity or insurance fund as approved by the Secretary, established and maintained by a State, backed by the full faith and credit of the applicable State, and which guarantees depositors of the licensed warehouse full indemnification for the breach of any obligation of the licensed warehouseman under the terms of the Act and regulations. A certificate of participation and coverage in such fund shall be furnished to the Secretary annually. If administration or application of the fund shall change after being approved by the Secretary, the Secretary may revoke his approval. Such revocation shall not affect a depositor's rights which have arisen prior to such revocation. Upon such revocation the licensed warehouseman then must comply with paragraph (a) of this section. Such certificate of participation shall not be subject to §§ 735.12 and 735.13; or

(c) In the form of a deposit with the Secretary as security, United States bonds, Treasury notes, or other public debt obligations of the United States or obligations which are unconditionally guaranteed as to both interest and principal by the United States, in a sum equal at their par value to the amount of the penal bond required to be furnished, together with an irrevocable power of attorney and agreement in the form prescribed, authorizing the Secretary to collect or sell, assign and transfer such bonds or notes so deposited in case of any default in the performance of any of the conditions or stipulations of such penal bond. Obligations posted in accordance with this paragraph may not be withdrawn by the warehouseman until one year after license termination or until satisfaction of any claims against the obligations whichever is later. A bond in this form shall be subject to 7 CFR 735.5 and 735.12 through 735.15, and 31 CFR Part 225.

7. Section 735.12 is revised to read as follows:

§ 735.12 Amount of bond; additional amounts.

(a) The amount of bond to be furnished by each warehouseman under the regulations in this part, shall be at the rate of $10.00 per bale for the maximum number of bales that the warehouse accommodates when stored in the manner customary to the warehouse as determined by the Secretary, but not less than $20,000 nor more than $250,000; except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section.

(b) In case a warehouseman is licensed or applying for licenses to operate two or more warehouses in the same State, he may give a single bond meeting the requirements of the Act and the regulations in this part to cover all his warehouses within the State and shall be deemed to be one warehouse only for purposes of determining the amount of bond required under paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) In case of a deficiency in net assets above the $25,000 minimum required under § 735.5(d), (1), there shall be added to the amount of bond determined in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section an amount equal to such deficiency or a letter of credit in the amount of the deficiency issued to the Secretary for a period of not less than two years to coincide with the period of any deposit of obligations under 7 CFR 735.11(c). Any letter of credit must be clean, irrevocable, issued by a commercial bank payable to the Secretary by sight draft and insured as a deposit by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

(d) If the Secretary, or his designated representatives, finds that conditions exist which warrant requiring additional bond, there shall be added to the amount of bond as determined under the other provisions of this section, a further amount to meet such conditions.

8. Section 735.14 is revised to read as follows:

§ 735.14 Bond required each year.

A continuous form of license shall remain in force for more than one year from its effective date or any subsequent extension thereof, provided that the warehouseman has on file with the Secretary a bond meeting the terms and conditions as outlined in 7 CFR 735.11. Such bond must be in the amount required by the Secretary and approved by him or his designated representative. Failure to provide for or renew a bond shall result in immediate and automatic termination of the warehouseman's license.

9. Section 735.40 is revised to read as follows:

§ 735.40 Excess storage.

(a) If at any time a warehouseman shall store cotton in his licensed warehouse in excess of the capacity thereof as determined in accordance with 7 CFR 735.12, such warehouseman shall so arrange the cotton as not to obstruct free access thereto and the proper operation of the sprinkler or other fire protection equipment provided for such warehouse, and shall immediately notify the Secretary of such excess storage, the reason therefor and the location thereof.

(b) A warehouseman who lacks space and desires to transfer at his own expense, identity preserved depositor stored cotton, for which receipts have been issued to another licensed warehouse may physically do so subject to the following terms and conditions:

(1) The transferring (shipping) warehouseman's accepted rules or schedule of charges must contain notice that the warehouseman may forward cotton deposited on an identity preserved basis with the written permission of the depositor under such terms and conditions as the Secretary may prescribe;

(2) For purposes of this section of the regulations, a licensed warehouse means a warehouse operated by a warehouseman who holds an unsuspended, unrevoked license under the U.S. Warehouse Act for cotton or a warehouse operated by a warehouseman who holds an effective warehouse license for the public storage of cotton issued by a State that has financial, bonding and examination requirements for the benefit of all depositors at least equal to the requirements of this section;

(3) The transferring (shipping) warehouseman must list all forwarded bales on a Bill of Lading by receipt number and weight, in blocks not to exceed 200 bales. The receiving warehouse shall promptly issue a non-negotiable block receipt for each block attaching a copy of the corresponding Bills of Lading to each receipt and forward the receipt promptly to the transferring warehouseman. The receiving warehouseman will store each block intact, attach a header card showing the receipt number, number of bales and a copy of the Bill of Lading with the individual tag numbers. Such non-negotiable block receipts shall have printed or stamped in large bold outline letters diagonally across the face the words "NOT NEGOTIABLE." Receipts are not valid for collateral purposes. They shall be retained by the shipping warehouseman to be presented to and used by Department examiners in lieu of an on-site inventory. The cotton covered by such receipts is not the property of either the receiving or shipping warehouseman but held in trust by both solely for the benefit of the depositors whose bailed cotton was transferred individually or collectively and the depositor or the depositor's transferee retains title thereto;

(4) The shipping warehouseman's bond shall be increased to consider the addition of the transferred cotton to the licensed capacity of the warehouse with the net asset requirements based on the total of the licensed capacity and the forwarded cotton. The bond amount need not be more than $250,000 unless necessary to cover a deficiency in net assets to meet requirements. The receiving warehouseman must not incur storage obligations that exceed the licensed capacity of the receiving warehouse;

(5) The shipping warehouseman continues to retain storage obligations to the owners of all cotton deposited in the warehouse for storage whether forwarded or retained and is, except as otherwise agreed upon under paragraph (b) (6) of this section, required to redeliver the cotton, upon demand, to the depositor or the depositor's transferee at the warehouse where the cotton was first deposited for storage;

(6) The owner of cotton deposited for storage at the warehouse must make settlement and take delivery at the warehouse where the cotton was first deposited for storage, unless the owner of the cotton, with the consent of both the shipping warehouseman and the receiving warehouseman, elects to take delivery at the warehouse to which cotton was transferred under this section;

(7) Nothing in this section diminishes the right of the owner of the cotton to receive or the obligation of the warehouseman of a licensed warehouse from which the product is transferred, to deliver to the owner the same cotton, identity preserved, called for by the warehouse receipt or other evidence of storage;

(8) Recording and retention of non-negotiable warehouse receipts received as a result of forwarding cotton under this section shall be subject to the requirements for warehouse receipts specified elsewhere in these regulations; and

(9) If it is the shipping warehouseman's obligation by terms of the warehouse receipt or otherwise to insure the cotton subject to the transfer, he must in accordance with 7 CFR 735.23 keep such cotton insured in his own name or transfer the cotton only to a warehouse where the cotton is fully insured

NATIONAL CREDIT UNION ADMINISTRATION

12 CFR Part 701

Other Applications

AGENCY: National Credit Union Administration (NCUA).

ACTION: Proposed rule.

SUMMARY: Pursuant to its regulatory review policy, the NCUA Board has reviewed § 701.5 (Other Applications) of its Rules and Regulations. The Board believes that this section may needlessly add to regulatory burden, and therefore proposes its repeal.

DATE: Comments must be received on or before February 9, 1988.

ADDRESS: Send comments to Becky Baker, Secretary, NCUA Board, 1776 G St., NW., Washington, DC 20456.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Timothy McCollum, Assistant General Counsel, or Julie Tamuleviz, Staff Attorney, Office of General Counsel, at the above address, or telephone: (202) 357-1030.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In furtherance of NCUA's policy (IRPS 87-2) to review existing regulations every three years, the NCUA Board has reviewed § 701.5 entitled "Other Applications."

Section 701.5(a) provides the method for submitting an application, request, or submittal ("application") to NCUA when no form of application or NCUA rule or regulation dictates the method of submission. Subparagraph (a) states that the application must be in writing, signed by the applicant or his agent, contain a statement of the action requested, the reasons and facts relied upon as the basis for requesting such action, and the applicant's interest in the matter. The applicant is required to furnish other information as requested by the Board. This paragraph further provides that the application should be addressed to a Regional Director or the NCUA in Washington, DC.

Paragraph (b) of § 701.5 states that, unless otherwise provided for in the regulations, all applications shall be investigated and reviewed by the Regional Director who will then transmit a report and recommendation to the Board for action.

For the reasons given below, the NCUA Board believes that § 701.5 is unnecessary, and in some instances may be misleading. In the interests of removing unnecessary provisions and reducing regulatory burden, the Board proposes that § 701.5 be deleted from the NCUA Rules and Regulations. Comments are requested.

Section 701.5(a) provides in essence that, unless NCUA has required otherwise, a request may be sent to any NCUA office and should contain the information NCUA needs to make a decision. This is simply common sense.

Section 701.5(b) sets forth the uniform internal review procedure NCUA is to follow in reviewing "other applications." However, as these "other applications" will vary in form and substance, it is difficult to predict with any accuracy how each application will best be handled. For instance, § 701.5(b) presently fails to take into account that the NCUA Board has delegated certain matters to the Regional Directors. A recommendation to the Board on these types of applications would not be prepared. The Regulation also does not recognize that in some circumstances, investigation, recommendation and decision on an application may properly be done at NCUA's Central Office.

Deregulation of the "other applications" provision will provide NCUA with greater flexibility in the handling of such applications, enabling the Agency to ensure that each application is processed in the most efficient manner. Accordingly, NCUA proposes to delete § 701.5 of the NCUA Rules and Regulations.

(12 U.S.C. 1766)

By the National Credit Union Administration Board on December 3, 1987.

Secretary, NCUA Board.

Federal Aviation Administration

14 CFR Part 39

[Docket No. 87-NM-151-AD]

Airworthiness Directives; British Aerospace Model H.S. 748 Series Airplanes

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Notice of Proposed Rulemaking (NPRM).

SUMMARY: This notice proposes an airworthiness directive (AD), applicable to certain British Aerospace Model H.S. 748 series airplanes, that would require inspection of certain inboard main landing gear pivot bracket forgings for cracks. This action is necessary because cracks have been reported in airplanes on which Modification 6175 has been accomplished. This condition, if not corrected, could lead to collapse of the main landing gear.

DATES: Comments must be received no later than January 26, 1988.

ADDRESSES: Send comments on the proposal in duplicate to the Federal Aviation Administration, Northwest Mountain Region, Office of the Regional Counsel (Attention: ANM-103), Attention: Airworthiness Rules Docket No. 87-NM-151-AD, 17900 Pacific Highway South, C-68966, Seattle, Washington 98168. The applicable service information may be obtained from British Aerospace, Librarian for Service Bulletins, P.O. Box 17414, Dulles International Airport, Washington, DC 20041. This information may be examined at the FAA, Northwest Mountain Region, 17900 Pacific Highway South, Seattle, Washington, or the Seattle Aircraft Certification Office, 9010 East Marginal Way South, Seattle, Washington.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Comments Invited

Interested persons are invited to participate in the making of the proposed rule by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should identify the regulatory docket number and be submitted in duplicate to the address specified above. All communications received on or before the closing date for comments specified above will be considered by the Administrator before taking action on the proposed rule. The proposals contained in this Notice may be changed in light of the comments received. All comments submitted will be available, both before and after the closing date for comments, in the Rules Docket for examination by interested persons. A report summarizing each FAA-public contact concerned with the substance of this proposal will be filed in the Rules Docket.

Availability of NPRM

Any person may obtain a copy of this Notice of Proposed Rulemaking (NPRM) by submitting a request to the FAA, Northwest Mountain Region, Office of the Regional Counsel (Attention: ANM-103), Attention: Airworthiness Rules Docket No. 87-NM-151-AD, 17900 Pacific Highway South, C-68966, Seattle, Washington 98168.

Discussion

The United Kingdom Civil Aviation Authority (CAA) has, in accordance with existing provisions of a bilateral airworthiness agreement, notified the FAA that cracks have been reported on the inboard main landing gear pivot bracket forgings, part numbers 15aF11365 and 16aF11365, on British Aerospace H.S. 748 series airplanes on which Modification 6175 has been accomplished. This condition, if not corrected, could lead to severe stress and damage to, or eventual collapse of, the main landing gear.

British Aerospace (BAe) issued HS-748 Service Bulletin No. 57/59, dated October 1979, which describes inspection of the main landing gear inboard pivot bracket assemblies (pre Mod 6175), part numbers 15F11365 and 16F11365, for corrosion, loose bolts, and cracks on all Model H.S. 748 series airplanes. The CAA classified the service bulletin as mandatory. The FAA issued AD 83-26-01, Amendment 39-4785, to require inspection of U.S.-operated Model H.S. 748 airplanes in accordance with that service bulletin.

The original issue of Service Bulletin No. 57/59, however, did not include inspection procedures for the similar inboard main landing gear pivot forgings used as part of the main landing gear inboard bracket assemblies 173F11863 and 174F11863 in which Mod 6175 has been incorporated. Since then, cracks have been found in assemblies incorporating that modification. Revisions No. 1 to HS-748 Service Bulletin 57/59, dated April 1984, was issued to include these assemblies in the necessary inspections. The CAA has also classified Revision No. 1 to Service Bulletin 57/59 as mandatory.

This airplane model is manufactured in the United Kingdom and type certificated in the United States under the provisions of § 21.29 of the Federal Aviation Regulations and the applicable bilateral airworthiness agreement.

Since these conditions are likely to exist or develop on airplanes of this model registered in the United States, and AD is proposed that would require inspections of the main landing gear inboard bracket assemblies, post-Mod 6175, in accordance with Revision No. 1 of HS-748 Service Bulletin No. 57/59.

Currently, no Model H.S. 748 airplanes of U.S. registry would be affected by this AD. However, should a Model H.S. 748 airplane be imported to the U.S. in the future, it would take approximately 12 manhours per airplane to accomplish the required actions, and the average labor cost would be $40 per manhour. Based on these figures, the total cost impact of this AD to a U.S. operator would be $480 per airplane.

For the reasons discussed above, the FAA has determined that this document; (1) Involves a proposed regulation which is not major under Executive Order 12291 and (2) is not a significant rule pursuant to the Department of Transportation Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034; February 26, 1979); and it is further certified under the criteria of the Regulatory Flexibility Act that this proposed rule, if promulgated, will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities because of the minimal cost of compliance per airplane ($480). A copy of a draft regulatory evaluation prepared for this action is contained in the regulatory docket.

The Proposed Amendment

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator, the Federal Aviation Administration proposes to amend § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations as follows:

PART 39—[AMENDED]

1. The authority citation for Part 39 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 49 U.S.C. 1354(a), 1421 and 1423; 49 U.S.C. 106(g) (Revised Pub. L. 97-449, January 12, 1983); and 14 CFR 11.89.

§ 39.13 [Amended]

2. By adding the following new airworthiness directive:

British Aerospace: Applies to all Model H.S. 748 series airplanes, on which Modification 6175 has been accomplished (post-Mod 6175), certificated in any category. Compliance required as indicated, unless previously accompanied.

To detect cracks and prevent collapse of the main landing gear, accomplish the following:

A. Prior to accumulating 25,00 landings or within the next 750 flight hours after the effective date of this AD, whichever occurs later, and thereafter at intervals not to exceed 1,500 landings, perform an inspection of inboard main pivot bracket assemblies in accordance with paragraph 2A of the British Aerospace H.S. 748 Service Bulletin 57/59, Revision No. 1, dated April 1984. Any assembly found to exhibit corrosion, loose bolts, and/or cracks must be repaired in accordance with paragraph 2D of the above mentioned service bulletin. If corrosion to a depth greater than 0.080 inch is found, repair in accordance with a method approved by the FAA.

B. An alternate means of compliance of adjustment of the compliance time, which provides an acceptable level of safety and which has the concurrence of an FAA Principal Maintenance Inspector may be used when approved by the Manager, Standardization Branch, ANM-113, FAA, Northwest Mountain Region.

C. Special flight permits may be issued in accordance with FAR 21.197 and 21.199 to operate airplanes to a base for the accomplishment of inspections and/or modifications required by this AD.

All persons affected by this directive who have not already received the appropriate service documents from the manufacturer may obtain copies upon request to British Aerospace, Librarian for Service Bulletins, P.O. Box 17414 Dulles International Airport, Washington, DC 20041. These documents may be examined at the FAA, Northwest Mountain Region, 17900 Pacific Highway South, Seattle, Washington, or at the Seattle Aircraft Certification Office, 9010 East Marginal Way South, Seattle, Washington.

Issued in Seattle, Washington, on December 3, 1987.

Airworthiness Directives; Fokker Model F28 Series Airplanes

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Notice of proposed rulemaking (NPRM).

SUMMARY: This notice proposes an airworthiness directive (AD), applicable to certain Fokker Model F28 series airplanes, that would require installation of stops in the rudder pedal adjustment mechanism. This proposal is prompted by reports of insufficient rudder deflection when the rudder pedals are adjusted to the maximum forward position. This condition, if not corrected, could result in reduced directional control capability of the airplane.

Availability of NPRM

Any person may obtain a copy of this Notice of Proposed Rulemaking (NPRM) by submitting a request to the FAA, Northwest Mountain Region, Office of the Regional Counsel (Attention: ANM-103), Attention: Airworthiness Rules Docket No. 87-NM-119-AD, 17900 Pacific Highway South, C-88966, Seattle, Washington 98168.

Discussion

The Netherlands Department of Civil Aviation has, in accordance with existing provisions of a bilateral airworthiness agreement, notified the FAA of an unsafe condition that may exist on Fokker F-28 series airplanes. There have been numerous reports of insufficient rudder deflection when the rudder pedals are adjusted to the maximum forward position. This condition, if not corrected, could result in reduced directional control capability of the airplane. Fokker issued Service Bulletin No. F28/27-158, dated November 15, 1985, which describes the installation of stops to limit the forward adjustment of the rudder pedal mechanism. The Netherlands Department of Civil Aviation has issued an AD requiring compliance with the Fokker service bulletin.

This airplane model is manufactured in Netherlands and type certificated in the United States under the provisions of § 21.29 of the Federal Aviation Regulations and the applicable bilateral airworthiness agreement.

Since these conditions are likely to exist or develop on airplanes of this model registered in the United States, an AD is proposed that would require modification to the rudder pedal mechanism in accordance with the service bulletin previously mentioned.

It is estimated that 51 airplanes of U.S. registry would be affected by this AD, that it would take approximately 6 manhours per airplane to accomplish the required actions, and that the average labor cost would be $40 per manhour. Based on these figures, the total cost impact of this AD to U.S. operators is estimated to be $12,240.

For the reasons discussed above, the FAA has determined that this document: (1) Involves a proposed regulation which is not major under Executive Order 12291 and (2) is not a significant rule pursuant to the Department of Transportation Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034; February 26, 1979); and it is further certified under the criteria of the Regulatory Flexibility Act that this proposed rule, if promulgated, will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities because of the minimal cost of compliance per airplane ($240). A copy of a draft regulatory evaluation prepared for this action is contained in the regulatory docket.

The Proposed Amendment

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator, the Federal Aviation Administration proposes to amend § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations as follows:

PART 39—[AMENDED]

1. The authority citation for Part 39 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 49 U.S.C. 1354(a), 1421 and 1423; 49 U.S.C. 106(g) (Revised Pub. L. 97-449, January 12, 1983); and 14 CFR 11.89.

§ 39.13 [Amended]

2. By adding the following new airworthiness directive:

Fokker Aircraft: Applies to Model F-28 series airplanes, Series Numbers 11003 to 11231 inclusive, 11991 and 11992, certificated in any category. Compliance required as indicated, unless previously accomplished.

To prevent reduced directional control capability, accomplish the following:

A. Within the next six months after the effective date of this AD, install stops in the rudder pedal mechanism in accordance with Fokker Service Bulletin F28/27-158, dated November 15, 1985.

B. An alternate means of compliance or adjustment of compliance time, which provides an acceptable level of safety, may be used when approved by the Manager, Standardization Branch, ANM-113, FAA, Northwest Mountain Region.

C. Special flights permits may be issued in accordance with FAR 21.197 and 21.199 to operate airplanes to a base for the accomplishment of inspections and/or modifications required by this AD.

All persons affected by this directive who have not already received the appropriate service documents from the manufacturer may obtain copies upon request to Fokker Aircraft USA, 1199 N. Fairfax St., Alexandria, Virginia 22314.

These documents may be examined at the FAA, Northwest Mountain Region, 17900 Pacific Highway South, Seattle, Washington, or at the Seattle Aircraft Certification Office, 9010 East Marginal Way South, Seattle, Washington.

Issued in Seattle, Washington, on December 3, 1987.

[Airspace Docket No. 87-AGL-26]

Proposed Alteration to Control Zone and Transition Area; Monroe County Airport, Bloomington, IN

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Notice of proposed rulemaking.

SUMMARY: This notice proposes to alter the Bloomington, Indiana control zone and transition area to accommodate existing Standard Instrument Approach Procedures (SIAPS) to Monroe County Airport. The intended effect of this action is to ensure segregation of the aircraft using approach procedures in instrument conditions from other aircraft operating under visual weather conditions in controlled airspace.

DATES: Comments must be received on or before January 13, 1988.

ADDRESSES: Send comments on the proposal in triplicate to: Federal Aviation Administration, Regional Counsel, AGL-7, Attn: Rules Docket No. 87-AGL-26, 2300 East Devon Avenue, Des Plaines, Illinois 60018.

The official docket may be examined in the Office of the Regional Counsel, Federal Aviation Administration, 2300 East Devon Avenue, Des Plaines, Illinois.

An informal docket may also be examined during normal business hours at the Air Traffic Division, Airspace Branch, Federal Aviation Administration, 2300 East Devon Avenue, Des Plaines, Illinois.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Edward R. Heaps, Air Traffic Division, Airspace Branch, AGL-520, Federal Aviation Administration, 2300 East Devon Avenue, Des Plaines, Illinois 60018, telephone (312) 694-7360.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: A review of the airspace designated for Monroe County Airport disclosed that airspace in excess of that required is currently being used to accommodate existing instrument procedures. This action will reduce the length of the control zone extensions by approximately 3 miles each. It will also reduce the area of the transition area by approximately 40% by shortening the northeast extension and eliminating the north, south and southwest extensions.

The development of the procedure requires that the FAA alter the designated airspace to insure that the procedure will be contained within controlled airspace. The minimum descent altitude for this procedure may be established below the floor of the 700-foot controlled airspace.

Aeronautical maps and charts will reflect the defined area which will enable other aircraft to circumnavigate the area in order to comply with applicable visual flight rule requirements.

Comments Invited

Interested parties are invited to participate in this proposed rulemaking by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Comments that provide the factual basis supporting the views and suggestions presented are particularly helpful in developing reasoned regulatory decisions on the proposal. Comments are specifically invited on the overall regulatory, economic, environmental, and energy aspects of the proposal. Communications should identify the airspace docket and be submitted in triplicate to the address listed above. Commenters wishing the FAA to acknowledge receipt of their comments on this notice must submit with those comments a self-addressed, stamped postcard on which the following statement is made: "Comments to Airspace Docket No. 87-AGL-26." The postcard will be date/time stamped and returned to the commenter. All communications received before the specified closing date for comments will be considered before taking action on the proposed rule. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received. All comments submitted will be available for examination in the Rules Docket, FAA, Great Lakes Region, Office of Regional Counsel, 2300 East Devon Avenue, Des Plaines, Illinois, both before and after the closing date for comments. A report summarizing each substantive public contact with FAA personnel concerned with this rulemaking will be filed in the docket.

The Proposal

The FAA is considering an amendment to §§ 71.171 and 71.181 of Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Part 71) to alter the control zone and transition area servicing Monroe County Airport, Bloomington, IN.

Sections 71.171 and 71.181 of Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations were republished in Handbook 7400.6C dated January 2, 1987.

The FAA has determined that this proposed regulation only involves an established body of technical regulations for which frequent and routine amendments are necessary to keep them operationally current. It, therefore—(1) is not a "major rule" under Executive Order 12291; (2) is not a "significant rule" under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034; February 26, 1979); and (3) does not warrant preparation of a regulatory evaluation as the anticipated impact is so minimal. Since this is a routine matter that will only affect air traffic procedures and air navigation, it is certified that this rule, when promulgated, will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities under the criteria of the Regulatory Flexibility Act.

Proposed Alteration of Transition Area; Virgil I. Grissom Municipal Airport, Bedford, IN

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Notice of proposed rulemaking.

SUMMARY: This notice proposes to alter the Bedford, Indiana transition area to reduce the amount of airspace designated to accommodate existing Standard Instrument Approach Procedures (SIAPs) to Virgil I. Grissom Municipal Airport.

DATE: Comments must be received on or before January 13, 1988.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: A recent review of the airspace designated for Virgil I. Grissom Municipal Airport disclosed that excess airspace is being used to accommodate existing instrument procedures. This action will reduce the general radius of the transition area from 6½ to 5 miles and the northeast extension from 8 to 7.5 miles. This will permit the excess airspace to be returned to general non-controlled use.

The development of the procedure requires that the FAA alter the designated airspace to insure that the procedure will be contained within controlled airspace. The minimum descent altitude for this procedure may be established below the floor of the 700-foot controlled airspace.

The Proposal

The FAA is considering an amendment to § 71.181 of Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Part 71) to alter the transition area servicing the Virgil I. Grissom Municipal Airport.

Section 71.181 of Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations was republished in Handbook 7400.6C dated January 2, 1987.

The Proposal

The FAA is considering an amendment to Part 73 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Part 73) to alter the times of use of Restricted Areas R-4501 A, B, C, and D and to establish R-4501 F, G, and H located near Fort Leonard Wood, MO. After reviewing its overall training requirements, the Department of Army has requested additional airspace to accommodate these activities. These airspace actions will increase the amount of time the existing restricted areas are in use and will provide for three additional restricted areas for Department of Army use. Section 73.45 of Part 73 of the Federal Aviation Regulations was republished in Handbook 7400.6C dated January 2, 1987.

The FAA has determined that this proposed regulation only involves an established body of technical regulations for which frequent and routine amendments are necessary to keep them operationally current. It, therefore (1) is not a "major rule" under Executive Order 12291; (2) is not a "significant rule" under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034; February 26, 1979); and (3) does not warrant preparation of a regulatory evaluation as the anticipated impact is so minimal. Since this is a routine matter that will only affect air traffic procedures and air navigation, it is certified that this rule, when promulgated, will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities under the criteria of the Regulatory Flexibility Act.

COMMODITY FUTURES TRADING COMMISSION*17 CFR Part 34*Regulation of Hybrid and Related Instruments

AGENCY: Commodity Futures Trading Commission.

ACTION: Advance notice of proposed rulemaking.

SUMMARY: Commodity Futures Trading Commission ("Commission" or "CFTC") staff has received inquiries concerning the applicability of the Commodity Exchange Act and Commission regulations to instruments that appear to possess, in varying combinations, characteristics of forward contracts, futures contracts, option contracts, debt instruments, bank deposits and other interests. The Commission is seeking comment concerning a proposed regulatory framework that would clarify the status of such instruments and permit, by exemption and subject to certain conditions, specified hybrid option instruments to be traded other than on a designated contract market. The Commission also is seeking comment concerning a proposed no-action position with respect to certain commercial commodity contracts.

DATE: Comments must be received by February 9, 1988.

ADDRESS: Comments should be sent to the Office of the Secretariat, Commodity Futures Trading Commission, 2033 K Street, NW., Washington, DC 20581.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Susan C. Ervin, Esq., Acting Chief Counsel, Division of Trading and Markets, Commodity Futures Trading Commission, 2033 K Street, NW., Washington, DC 20581, telephone (202) 254-8955 or David R. Merrill, Esq., Assistant General Counsel, Office of the General Counsel, Commodity Futures Trading Commission, 2033 K Street, NW., Washington, DC 20581, telephone (202) 254-9880.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Commodity Exchange Act ("Act" or "CEA"), 7 U.S.C. 1 et seq. and regulations promulgated thereunder, 17 CFR 1 et seq., require that all transactions in commodity futures contracts and commodity option transactions, with narrowly defined exceptions, occur on or subject to the rules of contract markets (exchanges) designated by the CFTC. 7 U.S.C. 6(a), 6(c)(b), 6(c)(c). Such markets provide safeguards to participants in futures and commodity option transactions, including open competitive trading, public price dissemination, and protection against counterparty credit risk, that are not generally available other than on exchange markets. For example, the financial integrity of futures transactions and commodity option transactions on designated futures exchanges is supported by the system of daily payment and collection of margin on a mark-to-market basis, by minimum capital, segregation and reporting requirements applicable to futures commission merchants ("FCMs"), and ultimately by the obligation of the clearing organization affiliated with each exchange to guarantee the integrity of each transaction entered on that exchange.

The recent development of "hybrid" instruments that couple certain elements of futures or commodity option contracts with debt obligations or other interests that are not subject to regulation under the Commodity Exchange Act reflects commercial interest in offering to the public instruments that are indexed to or otherwise correlate in value with the price of a commodity or group of commodities through transactions that take place other than on designated commodity exchanges. As a consequence, while such instruments may entail certain of the risks of commodity futures or option transactions, they may be exchanged without the benefit of protections afforded participants in transactions effected on or pursuant to the rules of Commission designated exchange markets, including safeguards against counterparty default and other transaction risks.

The Commission therefore is seeking comment concerning measures that may be taken to clarify the status of certain hybrid and other instruments that possess some limited commodity futures or option elements and to assure that the Commission's regulatory program adequately addresses the developing market in such instruments. Preliminarily, the Commission recognizes that the term "hybrid instruments," as currently employed, encompasses a class of transactions that combine characteristics which in isolation would be subject to different regulatory treatments—for example, such transactions may combine futures or commodity option characteristics with those of debt obligations, bank deposits, forward contracts or other rights or interests. Hybrid instruments vary in form (e.g., note with warrants, insured indexed bank deposit, exchangeable preferred stock, commodity swap), purpose, extent of regulation by other governmental agencies, proportionate significance of commodity-related components, and otherwise. Separately, there are transactions involving goods, rights and interests that are entered into by commercials as principals and that, but for the lack of delivery, would be characterized as forward contracts, which are exempt from Commission regulation.

The Commission is requesting comment concerning a conceptual framework that would provide simplified regulatory treatment, on a prospective basis,<sup>1</sup> for certain categories of hybrids and related instruments. In light of the diverse characteristics and regulatory contexts of such instruments, the Commission is of the view that formulation of a single standard to define its regulatory response to such instruments may be neither feasible nor desirable. Therefore, the Commission seeks comment with respect to the appropriateness and feasibility of developing separate regulatory treatment for the following types of instruments: (1) Hybrid instruments that may possess de minimis futures or commodity option characteristics and therefore may be deemed to be excluded from Commission jurisdiction; (2) hybrid option instruments that are within the Commission's jurisdiction but because of the secondary and incidental nature of their commodity option components and the extent of their regulation by another agency may warrant exemption, upon conditions, from general compliance with Commission regulations; and (3) certain commercial transactions that have elements of contracts for forward delivery of a cash commodity in conjunction with aspects of futures contracts as to which prospective "no-action" treatment may be appropriate. Instruments that do not fall clearly within these categories and which are not specifically addressed on a case-by-case basis would remain fully subject to the Act and regulations.<sup>2</sup>

Statutory and Regulatory Predicate for Jurisdictional Exclusion and Regulatory Exemption

Futures-related Instruments

Section 2(a)(1)(A) of the Act accords the Commission exclusion jurisdiction over "accounts, agreements (including any transaction which is of the character of * * * an 'option' * * *), and transactions involving contracts of sale of a commodity for future delivery." 7 U.S.C. 2. Section 4(a) of the Act provides, inter alia, that it is unlawful to enter into a commodity futures contract that is not made "on or subject to the rules of a board of trade which has been designated by the Commission as a 'contract market' for such commodity." 7 U.S.C. 6(a).<sup>3</sup>

The Act does not recognize expressly any exceptions to the requirement of section 4(a) that domestic futures transactions occur only on or subject to the rules of designated commodity exchanges. Consequently, the Act would appear to preclude hybrid transactions that incorporate futures contracts unless they are effected on or subject to the rules of such exchanges. In determining whether a specific transaction constitutes a futures contract, the Commission and the courts have assessed the transaction "as a whole with a critical eye toward its underlying purpose." CFTC v. Co Petro Marketing Group, Inc., 680 F.2d 573, 581 (9th Cir. 1982). Such an assessment entails a review of the "overall effect" of the transaction as well as a determination as to "what the parties intended." CFTC v. Trinity Metals Exchange, No. 85-1482-CV-W-3 (W. D. Mo. Jan. 21, 1986) (slip op. at 10) (citing CFTC v. National Coal Exchange, Inc. [1980-1982 Transfer Binder] Comm. Fut. L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 21,424 at 26,046 (W.D. Tenn. 1982)).

In evaluating the overall purpose and effect of a transaction, some or all of the following characteristics of futures contracts have been recognized.<sup>4</sup> Generally, futures contracts are contracts for the purchase or sale of a commodity for delivery in the future at a price that is established when the contract is initiated. Both parties to the transaction are obligated to fulfill the contract at the specified price, but contracts providing for delivery may be satisfied either by delivery or offset. Futures contracts are undertaken principally to assume or shift price risk without transferring title to the underlying commodity. In addition, certain characteristics which facilitate the trading of futures contracts on exchanges have been recognized, including standardized commodity units, margin requirements related to price movements, clearing organizations which match trades and guarantee counterparty performance, open competitive trading in centralized markets, and public price dissemination.

The Commission recognizes that uncertainty has been expressed concerning the legal status of certain hybrid instruments that couple some indicia of futures contracts with other features, such as those of a note or other evidence of indebtedness. The Commission therefore is proposing below specific criteria by which certain futures-type instruments can be identified as beyond the purview of the act because of the insignificant and nonseverable nature of their futures components. The Commission also is seeking comment concerning proposed criteria to delimit categories of commercial commodity transactions that may be suitable for a prospective determination that the exercise of Commission jurisdiction is unwarranted and that no-action relief is therefore appropriate. These proposed no-action standards would be designed to address the development of commercial transactions that serve the commercial purposes of producers, processors, fabricators, refiners, and merchandisers of commodities but may depart from the traditional structure of cash forward contracts.

Commodity Option-related Instruments

Section 4c of the Act proscribes transactions in commodity options other than on designated contract markets of "contrary to any rule, regulation, or order of the Commission prohibiting any such transaction or allowing any such transaction under such terms and conditions as the Commission shall prescribe." 7 U.S.C. 6c(b), 6c(c).<sup>5</sup> Commission regulations permit only two categories of commodity options to be traded other than on designated contract markets: trade options and dealer options. The sale of dealer options currently is confined to a limited class of offerors who were in the business of granting options on a physical commodity and in the business of buying, selling, producing or otherwise using that commodity as of May 1, 1978 and who satisfy the net worth and other requirements of Commission regulations.<sup>6</sup> 7 U.S.C. 6c(d)(1); 17 CFR 32.12.

The other currently permissible category of off-exchange commodity options, trade options, is confined to a limited category of offerees. Regulation 32.4(a), 17 CFR 32.4(a), establishes a "trade option" exemption which permits the sale of off-exchange commodity options, other than options on domestic agricultural commodities,<sup>7</sup> in circumstances in which the offeror "has a reasonable basis to believe that the option is offered to a producer, processor, or commercial user of, or a merchant handling, the commodity which is the subject of the commodity option transaction, or the products or byproducts thereof, and that such producer, processor, commercial user or merchant is offered or enters into the commodity option transaction solely for purposes related to its business as such." Currently, neither FCMs nor securities broker/dealers generally are considered "commercial users" or other qualified purchasers of trade options.<sup>8</sup>

As a result of the current restrictions upon transactions in commodity options, hybrid instruments possessing commodity option elements, if subject to Commission jurisdiction and not exempted from regulatory compliance by rule or order of exemption,<sup>9</sup> generally may not be offered other than on designated contract markets. However, based upon the authority afforded by the Act to permit off-exchange commodity option transactions by regulation, the Commission is proposing to establish an exemption from otherwise applicable regulatory requirements for specified categories of commodity option transactions in circumstances in which comprehensive regulation under the Act and Commission regulations may be unwarranted. For those option-type instruments neither excluded from

Commission jurisdiction nor exempted from regulation, the entire panoply of Commission regulations would remain applicable, including the ban on their trading off of designated exchanges.

1. Hybrid Instruments With De Minimis Futures or Options Characteristics (Jurisdictional Exclusion)

Certain hybrid instruments or transactions may possess commodity option or futures contract elements that are subordinate and inextricably linked to another, non-transferable financial interest and therefore cannot separately be traded on or subject to the rules of a designated futures exchange. The Commission believes that commodity components of such an ancillary and limited nature may be deemed to be de minimis and therefore insufficient to bring a transaction otherwise unrelated to commodity futures or options contracts within the purview of the Act.<sup>10</sup> The Commission proposes to describe this category of hybrid interests to include:

(a) Certain annuities or pensions that are indexed to specified commodities or groups of commodities but permit only limited transferability, e.g., to survivors, and entitlement to which derives from an employment relationship; and

(b) Adjustable rate mortgages, employment agreements, leases or other similar contracts in which the interest payment or other contractual obligation is measured by reference to an economic index published by an agency of the United States, a published interest rate or index of interest rates such as the London Interbank Offerer Rate (LIBOR), or other economic indicator in general commercial use, such as certain indices published by the Commodity Research Bureau, provided that the commodity-indexed component of the transaction is not severable from an underlying contractual obligation that serves an independent commercial purpose and is entered into other than for speculative, hedging or investment purposes.

In view of the above, the Commission invites comment: (1) As to what constitute sufficiently de minimis futures or commodity option elements to render a hybrid instrument appropriate for exclusion from Commission jurisdiction consistent with the Act; and (2) as to whether different or additional categories of de minimis commodity futures or option components should be recognized. The Commission anticipates that most hybrid instruments would not qualify for a categorical exclusion from its jurisdiction based upon the criteria set forth above. By definition, an express jurisdictional exclusion requires the use of restrictive criteria that establish a clear jurisdictional boundary and avoid an unintentional abandonment of jurisdiction over transactions that should not qualify for exclusion. The Commission also is proposing, however, as discussed below, to establish an exemption from certain otherwise applicable regulatory requirements for specified additional categories of hybrid instruments that are prima facie within the Commission's option jurisdiction.

2. Otherwise-Regulated Hybrid Instruments With "Incidental" Options Components (Regulatory Exemption)

The Commission proposes to establish an exemption from compliance with certain CFTC regulations for a class of hybrid instruments that are predominantly debt obligations, bank deposits, or other transactions that are not generally subject to CFTC jurisdiction, that possess only incidental commodity option elements, and that are subject to adequate regulation by another regulatory authority. Eligibility for such an exemption would be established through a filing procedure affording the Commission notice of the proposed offering, requiring the issuer's or offeror's consent to submission to special calls, and mandating disclosure to participants in the exempted transaction that the transaction will not be regulated by the CFTC. Prototypical hybrid instruments that could be exempted from general regulatory compliance pursuant to such an exemption could include, for example, commodity-indexed debt or depository instruments that have a commodity-related return that represents a relatively small portion of the overall yield or value of the instrument or of the unit of which the instrument is a part and that are subject to regulatory requirements administered by the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") or federal banking authorities. Commenters are requested to address the specific issues set forth below concerning the predicate conditions and

<sup>9</sup> Regulation 32.4(b) recognizes that the Commission "may, by order, upon written request or upon its own motion, exempt any * * * person, either unconditionally or on a temporary or other conditional basis," from the general ban on off-exchange options "if its discretion, that it would not be contrary to the public interest to grant such exemption." 17 CFR 32.4(b).

procedural requirements that should be established for exemptive treatment.

a. "Incidental" commodity option characteristics. The proposed exemption would afford relief from regulatory requirements with respect to transactions in which any commodity option element is subordinate to other aspects of the transaction. To establish whether a hybrid transaction has only an "incidental" commodity option component, the Commission contemplates that a determination would be made as to whether the transaction has, as its predominant purpose, the conveyance of an interest in an option on a commodity or the functional equivalent of such a commodity interest. If the commodity-related element of the transaction is not predominant but subordinate to a financing arrangement or other economic relationship, it may be considered incidental to the overall purpose of the transaction, and the transaction therefore may qualify for exemptive treatment upon certain specified conditions.

The Commission proposes to establish term to maturity, commodity-based return and "line of business" requirements to identify hybrid instruments that possess only "incidental" commodity option components. Specifically, the Commission proposes to establish a minimum term to maturity of three years for such instruments.<sup>11</sup> In addition, the Commission is proposing a limit on the commodity-based return to identify hybrid transactions in which the commodity component is sufficiently small to permit a categorical determination that, subject to the requirements discussed below, such transactions may occur other than on designated commodity exchanges and without compliance with otherwise applicable Commission regulations. In this connection, the Commission proposes a two-part measure of return requirement, as follows: (1) The instrument must have a minimum annual yield or return that is independent of the commodity-related component of the transaction<sup>12</sup> equal to at least 35% of the estimated annual yield at the time of issuance for a comparable pure debt or depository instrument issued or offered by the subject issuer or offeror;<sup>13</sup> and (2) the instrument must have no more than a maximum average potential return on its commodity-related component of 20% on an annualized basis (calculated from the strike price at expiration of the commodity component and compounded annually) of the total principal or face amount of a hybrid instrument. Thus, this standard would require that the maximum potential return on the commodity option component of the transaction be limited by a ceiling established at the inception of the transaction.<sup>14</sup>

In addition, the Commission proposes to establish a line of business requirement that would limit the availability of exemptive treatment based upon the incidental nature of the option component of a hybrid instrument to those instruments in which the commodity component is used in a principal line of business of the issuer or offeror. This requirement would be intended to assure that a firm wishing to take advantage of the exemption from compliance with Commission regulations has as a principal line of business the production, processing, fabricating, refining or merchandising of the commodity that underlies the commodity component of the hybrid instrument. By thus limiting the availability of exemptive treatment, the Commission proposes to assure that the commodity-related risks of qualifying hybrid instruments are risks which the issuer or offeror has commercial experience in addressing instrument would not constitute a hybrid instrument eligible for exemptive treatment.

and which are likely to be offset or limited by reserves, inventories, forward contract commitments or other cover that generally would increase in value commensurately with the issuer's or offeror's commodity-related obligations. Commenters are invited to address the appropriate measure of commodity return, in particular the fixed level and method of calculation of the proposed maximum potential commodity return, the proposed delimitation of the principal line of business requirement, and any additional criteria that may be appropriate to define the class of commodity-related hybrid option instruments potentially eligible for exemptive treatment.

b. Performance criteria. The Commission also proposes to condition the availability of exemptive treatment upon the issuer's or offeror's satisfaction of specific criteria intended to address its ability to satisfy the obligations created by the hybrid instrument in question. The Commission believes that conditions to assure the performance of the issuer or offeror are appropriate in view of the fact that establishment of the proposed exemption would permit such transactions to occur without the benefit of an exchange guarantee of the counterparty credit risk of such transactions, without restrictions upon the issuer's or offeror's use of funds received from the purchasers of such instruments and potentially without the necessity to post margin or security for the satisfaction of its obligations to such purchasers, and without the protections afforded by the segregation and minimum capital requirements of the CEA and Commission regulations.

Based upon these considerations, the Commission proposes to establish a requirement of at least $100 million of net worth for issuers or offerors of hybrid option instruments who seek to avail themselves of the proposed exemption. In addition, the Commission proposes to require that the issuer or offeror maintain cover for, or reserves of, the commodity which is the subject of the commodity option component of the hybrid transaction equal to the greater of: (1) The amount of the issuer's or offeror's current commitments to deliver, to take delivery of, or to pay the cash value of the commodity under the terms of the hybrid instrument; or (2) the maximum average annual amount of such commitments. The Commission contemplates that one means of satisfying this cover requirement could be purchases or sales of futures or futures option contracts, as appropriate to the nature of the obligation created by the hybrid instrument, on the generic

<sup>12</sup> For purposes of this standard, the commodity-related component of the transaction would include that portion of the transaction that provides a yield or premium that represents or correlates with changes in the price of a commodity. The hybrid transaction or instrument would include, in addition to its commodity-related component, any interests or instruments that are not detachable from, i.e., are required to be traded with, such commodity-related interest. If the yield or return on the instrument is wholly derived from its commodity component, the commodity that is the subject of the commodity component of the hybrid instrument. Commenters are invited to address the nature and size of the performance criteria that should be imposed in this context and whether an appropriate investment grade rating by Standard & Poor's, Moody's or other comparable bond rating service should be considered an adequate substitute for the proposed requirements.

c. "Otherwise-regulated" transactions. One principal rationale for the establishment of an exemption from general compliance with Commission regulations for specified categories of hybrid option instruments is to relieve issuers or offerors of such instruments that are adequately regulated by another regulatory authority from duplicative as opposed to complementary regulatory requirements. The Commission therefore proposes to condition the availability of exemptive treatment for commodity-related hybrid option transactions upon the regulation of the transaction by another federal authority that administers an analogous regulatory framework.<sup>15</sup> This requirement is designed to assure that the financial integrity of the commodity-related obligations created by proposed hybrid offerings which, based upon the proposed exemption, would not be required to be traded on designated contract markets, is supported by regulatory protections affording assurance that the risks of transactions in such interests are adequately monitored and disclosed.

In determining what alternative regulator frameworks should be considered sufficient to establish that a transaction is "otherwise regulated," the Commission is of the view that relevant considerations may include: (1) The extent to which the financial integrity of the obligations created by the instrument in question is afforded protection by listing or other eligibility requirements applicable to the issuer or offeror; (2) the extent to which the issuer or offeror is subject to registration and reporting requirements that relate to its ability to satisfy obligations created in specific transactions; (3) the extent of public disclosure requirements with respect to issuer or offeror and/or particular transaction; (4) whether an insurance or guarantee fund would be available to satisfy such obligations in the event of the issuer's or offeror's default; and (5) whether the transaction would be required to be effected on or subject to the rules of a regulated national securities exchange.

The Commission recognizes that other regulatory frameworks may afford protections that are sufficient to address the customer protection issues raised by the incidental commodity-related elements to hybrid option instruments subject to the proposed exemption. Comment is requested concerning what specific regulatory frameworks should be viewed as sufficient to render particular hybrid option transactions or categories of transactions "otherwise regulated." Commenters should address the extent to which the various financial, market, and customer protection requirements afforded by the CEA and CFTC regulations are adequately addressed by other regulatory frameworks applicable to specific hybrid option instruments. Comment also is sought concerning whether requirements imposed by another federal regulatory framework, for example, with respect to disclosure of the risks of counterparty default on hybrid option obligations and dilution, should be considered adequate substitutes for compliance with criteria, such as minimum net worth and cover, proposed as conditions to the exemption. In addressing the adequacy of disclosure requirements under the securities laws or other regulatory frameworks as substitutes for any to the conditions of the proposed exemption set forth above, commenters should consider whether such disclosure requirements would assure that shareholders in the issuer or offeror and other parties whose interests may be affected indirectly by proposed hybrid transactions receive appropriate disclosure. The Commission also seeks comment with respect to potential means of assuring substantially equivalent treatment of offerings of hybrid instruments subject to different regulatory programs, e.g., federal securities statutes or federal banking laws.

d. Marketing of the hybrid instrument. The Commission also proposes to condition the availability of a regulatory exemption upon the issuer's or offeror's representation that the hybrid option instrument will not be, and has not been, marketed to the public as having the beneficial characteristics of commodity options or commodity futures contracts. CF 17 CFR 4.5(c)(2)(iii) (containing a related marketing representation requirement for certain otherwise-regulated persons seeking exclusion from the definition of commodity pool operator).

e. Minimum unit price. The Commission proposes to establish a minimum unit price of $20,000 for the sale of hybrid option instruments qualifying for the proposed exemption.

f. Required disclosure. The Commission also contemplates that issuers or offerors seeking an exemption from Commission regulations otherwise applicable to hybrid option instruments would be required to disclose in writing to prospective offerees the exempted status of the instrument under Commission regulations. Comment is requested concerning any additional or alternative disclosures that should be required.

g. Special calls. The Commission also proposes to impose a requirement, similar to the existing regulatory provisions for exclusion from the definition of commodity pool operator (17 CFR 4.5(c)(2)(v)), that issuers or offerors seeking an exemption from general regulatory compliance agree to submit to special calls for information to demonstrate compliance with the conditions to exempt status.

h. Exemption procedures. The Commission contemplates that an exemptive mechanism applicable to otherwise-regulated hybrid option instruments with incidental commodity components would require filing of a notice with the Commission containing representations establishing that the requirements for exempt status are satisfied. Upon the filing of a notice of eligibility for the exemption, the instrument generally would be exempted from Commission regulatory requirements without further action by the Commission.

i. Hybrids offered by governmental and quasi-governmental entities. The Commission contemplates that hybrid option instruments issued or offered by federal or state authorities, quasi-governmental authorities, and certain international agencies, such as the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, would be subject to an exemption from compliance with CFTC regulatory requirements on the ground of comity.

3. Commercial Transactions Which Resemble But Do Not Contain All Elements of Forward Contracts

The Commission recognizes that in addition to hybrid option instruments that possess incidental commodity-related elements and that are separately regulated, transactions have developed that would constitute forward contracts but for the lack of delivery as the normal culmination of the transaction. In many instances, such transactions take place between commercial counterparties which are in the business of producing, processing, fabricating, refining, or merchandising the commodity but do not intend in all or most instances to make or take delivery of the commodity by means of such transactions. As set forth more fully below, the Commission is proposing to specify certain commercial transactions that do not necessarily contemplate delivery in all instances with respect to which it would not exercise regulatory or enforcement jurisdiction.<sup>16</sup>

Section 2(a)(1)(A) of the Act specifically excepts from the Commission's jurisdiction over transactions involving contracts of sale of a commodity for future delivery "any sale of any cash commodity for deferred shipment or delivery." Sales of cash commodities for deferred delivery, or forward contracts, generally have been recognized to be commercial, merchandising transactions in physical commodities in which delivery actually occurs but is delayed or deferred for commercial purposes. Forward contracts thus have been defined as transactions in which the parties intend "physical transfer of the actual commodity" (CFTC v. Co Petro Marketing Group, Inc., 680 F.2d 573, 578 (9th Cir. 1982)), that are entered by commercial parties that have the ability to make or take delivery (CFTC v. Co. Petro Marketing Group, Inc., 680 F.2d at 578-79; NRT Metals, Inc. v. Manhattan Metals (Non-Ferrous) Ltd., 576 F. Sup. 1046, 1050-51 (S.D.N.Y. 1983)), but in which delivery "may be deferred for purposes of convenience or necessity." In re Stovall, [1977-1980 Transfer Binder] Comm. Fut. L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 20,941 at 23,777-78 (CFTC 1979). In addition to the parties' expectation of delivery of the physical commodity, forward contracts historically have been characterized as privately negotiated contracts between commercial principals.<sup>17</sup>

The Commission recognizes that commodity transactions have developed in some markets that are undertaken for commercial, non-speculative purposes by commercial producers, processors, fabricators, refiners or merchandisers of the underlying commodity but do not result in delivery of the commodity on the routine basis that characterizes forward contracts within the jurisdictional exclusion of section 2(a)(1)(A) of the Act.<sup>18</sup> For example, commodity transactions between commercial counterparties in certain markets have evolved from contracts for deferred delivery of a physical commodity pursuant to which delivery generally occurs to transactions that have highly standardized terms, occur on a recurrent basis among an identifiable group of commercial participants and are frequently satisfied by the cancellation of contractual obligations based upon the payment of intervening market price changes.<sup>19</sup> Although such transactions may be settled other than by delivery on more than an occasional basis, it appears that departure from the traditional requirement of settlement by delivery of the physical commodity occurs on the basis of privately negotiated agreements by principals who have the capacity to make or take delivery, who contemplate actual delivery or acceptance of delivery in some of those transactions, but who may be unable to determine at the inception of the transaction that delivery will not be required. While the infrequency of delivery of the commodity in such transactions would tend to preclude their characterization as forward contracts within the Act's jurisdictional exclusion, such transactions nonetheless appear to be essentially private, commercial transactions that generally involve the exchange of interests in an actual physical commodity. As such, while beyond the established definition of forward contracts, such transactions may be suitable for a Commission no-action position to the extent that they occur other than on a designated contract market.

By contract, transactions that are effected through certain intermediaries, transferred in a secondary marketplace, or occur between a commercial and a counterparty which is not a producer, processor, fabricator, refiner, or merchandiser of the underlying commodity in the course of its business, substantially depart from the context in which the forward contract exclusion has historically operated.<sup>20</sup> In particular, the current commodity swap market reflects both direct transactions that are privately negotiated and entered into by commercial counterparties that are engaged in the commercial use of the commodity that is the subject of the swap transaction, as well as the development of swap markets operated by certain institutional swap issuers that enter into swap transactions that are settled in cash and that do not entail the expectation or even the alternative of physical delivery of the commodity.

The Commission requests comment concerning the appropriateness of establishing a prospective no-action position with respect to certain contracts for deferred delivery of a physical commodity that entail the potential for cancellation or offset in addition to delivery. This proposed no-action position would be conditioned upon compliance with at least the following criteria:

a. Commercial counterparties. The transaction takes place between commercial counterparties, each of which has the capacity to make or take delivery of the commodity that is the subject of the transaction. This standard would contemplate that, to qualify as "commercial" parties to the transaction, the parties would be required to be engaged in the direct commercial use of the commodity in the ordinary course of their business as producers, processors, fabricators, refiners or merchandisers of that commodity. The Commission contemplates that each party relying on the proposed no-action position would be required to make reasonable efforts to confirm that the other party to the transaction is a qualified commercial counterparty under this standard.<sup>21</sup>

b. Commercial, non-speculative purpose. The transaction is undertaken for commercial purposes, that is, as an incident of the parties' routine course of business, and not for speculative or investment purposes.

<sup>16</sup> See, e.g., 50 FR 39656, 39657-58 ("Characteristics Distinguishing Cash and Forward Contracts and 'Trade' Options") (Office of the General Counsel, CFTC, September 30, 1985).

<sup>19</sup> For example, transactions, especially intermediate or chain transactions, in the Brent oil market, which has been described as one that reflects the evolution of a delivery market, are apparently settled routinely but not exclusively by offset. See, e.g., B. Sas, "The Legal Aspects of the 15 Day Brent Market," 5 Journal of Energy and Natural Resources Law 109 (1987). One court has preliminarily expressed the view that Brent oil transactions are predominantly futures transactions. *Transnor (Bermuda) Ltd. v. <sup>16</sup> The no-action position proposed below would not be intended to modify or affect the scope of the statutory exclusion from Commission jurisdiction of contracts for the sale of a commodity for deferred shipment or delivery. 7 U.S.C. 2.

c. Nontransferability. Contract rights or other interests arising from transactions that qualify for the proposed no-action position would not be marketed or transferable other than to commercial counterparties (as specified above) of the commodity or traded in a secondary market.

d. Restriction to direct, privately-negotiated transactions. The transaction is effected between qualified commercial counterparties as principals without intermediation by a dealer, market-maker or other third party. Brokered transactions would not necessarily infringe this criterion provided that the Commission would propose to define such intermediated transactions as only those wherein the intermediary takes no position in the transaction and assumes no risk.

The Commission contemplates, for example, that this proposed no-action standard would reflect the Commission's election to refrain from exercising jurisdiction over directly negotiated swap transactions between commercial counterparties that serve certain of the essential purposes of cash deferred delivery transactions in that they entail an exchange of obligations that represent, cover, or hedge actual commercial commitments of the contracting parties but may be settled by cash payment rather than by delivery. Swap transactions originated or issued by an intermediary that makes a market in swap obligations or that involve participants which are not commercial users of the underlying commodity would not be included.<sup>22</sup> This section does not address those interest rate and currency swaps subject to the Treasury Amendment.<sup>23</sup> Comment is requested concerning whether any different or additional criteria applicable to the proposed no-action position would be appropriate. The Commission contemplates that, based upon its experience in administering a no-action position of the nature delineated above, it would consider proposing a statutory amendment, as appropriate, to codify that position.

The Commission also requests comment concerning the appropriateness of extending no-action treatment to certain commercial transactions that resemble forward contracts but convey interests in indices, interest rates and other intangible commodities that are not susceptible to physical delivery. The definition of forward contracts as "concomitant[s] of a business for the merchandising of a cash commodity, where actual delivery occurs in virtually all cases absent a breach of contract,"<sup>24</sup> appears to contemplate the use of deferred delivery contracts by merchandisers or users of tangible goods in the course of the actual marketing process. The Act's definition of the term "commodity," however, was amended in 1974 to reach not only the physical commodities on which futures contracts could be traded when the forward exclusion was established but also all "services, rights, and interests in which contracts for future delivery are presently or in the future dealt in." 7 U.S.C. 2.

The designation of contract markets for the trading of futures contracts on intangibles such as economic indicators and stock indices reflects the expansion of the Act's definition of "commodity" to include financial interests essentially "deliverable" only through cash settlement. Off-exchange markets also reflect the development of vehicles for the transfer of intangible interests, for example, so-called "forward-rate agreements," that entail the exchange of interests that are "deliverable" only through the payment or receipt of a value measured by an index, interest rate, or other economic measure and do not contemplate the delivery or receipt of a physical commodity.<sup>25</sup> While such transactions do not possess all of the characteristics of forward contracts heretofore delineated by the Commission, to the extent that such transactions are privately negotiated for commercial purposes between commercial users of the underlying "commodity" they may nonetheless not always require the full panoply of regulatory protections that apply to futures contracts and may warrant prospective no-action treatment. The Commission requests comment concerning the appropriateness of establishing a no-action position with respect to transactions for deferred delivery in intangible "services, rights and interests," which contemplate cash settlement rather than delivery of a physical commodity, and the criteria which should form the basis for such a position.

4. Option Instruments Fully Subject to Regulation Under the CEA

The Commission also is cognizant of an additional category of option instruments consisting of options directly on a commodity that are proposed to be offered by a private grantor either separately or in conjunction with debt obligations in a public offering registered with the SEC, but that would in either case thereafter be traded exclusively on a designated commodity exchange.<sup>26</sup> Although such instruments are unlike conventional commodity options in that they are proposed to be offered by a single private issuer and would not constitute either dealer or trade options, the Commission believes that these instruments are clearly within the purview of the CEA and Commission regulations. The Commission is of the view that the special customer and market protection concerns raised by such proposed option transactions are most appropriately addressed by means of exchange rules formulated to govern transactions in the specific option interests for which contract market designation is sought. The Commission will seek public comment on such proposals in separate Federal Register notices.

5. Case-By-Case Review of Other Jurisdictional Issues

The exemption outlined above would not be intended to be an exclusive catalogue of the hybrid instruments that could be exempted from Commission regulations nor would any definition of excluded de minimis transactions necessarily address all hybrid transactions beyond the jurisdiction of the CEA. Any jurisdictional exclusion or regulatory exemptive procedure of the nature outlined above would, instead, supply guidance to practitioners concerning certain readily resolved jurisdictional issues and regulatory relief in defined circumstances. In cases not addressed by these categories but which are potentially within the Commission's jurisdiction, the Commission could still in appropriate cases provide case-by-case relief. Such particularized review would permit the resolution of issues that are not susceptible to generalized treatment, accommodate product innovation, and permit more limited relief in cases that would not qualify for a categorical exemption. See 17 CFR 32.4(b).

Collective-Bargaining Units in the Health Care Industry

AGENCY: National Labor Relations Board.

ACTION: Proposed rule; notice of extension of time for filing comments following completion of hearing.

SUMMARY: The National Labor Relations Board gives notice that it is further extending the time for filing comments on the proposed rulemaking for collective-bargaining units in the health care industry from December 14, 1987, to December 21, 1987.

DATES: The comment period which presently ends at the close of business on December 14, 1987, has been extended to the close of business on December 21, 1987.

ADDRESS: Comments should still be submitted to the Executive Secretary as set forth in 52 FR 25142, July 2, 1987.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Curtis A. Wells, Associate Executive Secretary, Telephone: (202) 254-9430.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

The Board's notice of proposed rulemaking and original notice of hearing was published in the Federal Register (52 FR 25142) on July 2, 1987. That notice provided for three hearings, the last to be held on September 14, 1987. The notice also provided that the period for comments ended at the close of business on October 30, 1987.

Thereafter, in response to requests by large numbers of organizations and individuals who wished to testify, the Board added a fourth hearing date, October 7, 1987, retaining October 30 as the close of the comment period. Notice of that hearing was published in the Federal Register (52 FR 29038) on August 5, 1987.

Subsequently, in response to requests by a number of participants in the hearings for extensions of time to permit interested parties to obtain and review the hearing transcripts in preparation of their comments, the Board extended the comment period, first to the close of business on November 20, 1987, by notice published in the Federal Register (52 FR 36589) on September 30, 1987, and then to the close of business on December 14, 1987, by notice published in the Federal Register (52 FR 43919) on November 17, 1987.

The American Nurses' Association has requested a 1-week extension of time for filing comments in order to enable the Association to comprehensively deal with the issue of unit placement of nurses which constitute a substantial portion of the record in the proposed rulemaking. The Board has been informed that the American Hospital Association is opposed to this grant of an extension of time. Since the refusal of this request might reduce the value of the comments of some parties to the Board regarding the proposed rulemaking, the Board has decided to extend the period for making comments until the close of business on December 21, 1987.

Dated: Washington, DC, December 8, 1987.

By Direction of the Board.

Executive Secretary, National Labor Relations Board.

Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Uniformed Services (CHAMPUS); Custodial Care

AGENCY: Office of the Secretary, DoD.

ACTION: Proposed amendment of rule.

SUMMARY: This proposed rule will amend DoD 6010.8-R (32 CFR Part 199) which implements the Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Uniformed Services as pertains to the custodial care provisions. This amendment will permit reimbursement for custodial conditions in which medically necessary inpatient hospital care is required.

DATE: Written public comments must be received on or before January 11, 1988.

ADDRESSES: Office of the Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Uniformed Services (OCHAMPUS), Office of Program Development, Aurora, CO 80045-6900.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Rose M. Sabo, Office of Program Development, OCHAMPUS, Aurora, CO 80045-6900, telephone (303) 361-4014.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In FR Doc. 77-7834, appearing in the Federal Register on April 4, 1977 (42 FR 17972), the Office of the Secretary of Defense published its regulation, DoD 6010.8-R, "Implementation of the Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Uniformed Services (CHAMPUS)," as Part 199 of this title. 32 CFR Part 199 (DoD 6010.8-R) was reissued in the Federal Register on July 1, 1986 (51 FR 24008).

The 1956 legislation which initially authorized civilian health care for military dependents, Pub. L. 84-569, did not contain an exclusion of custodial care. Rather, benefits were more limited. The law excluded domiciliary care and the treatment of nervous and mental disorders, chronic diseases and elective medical and surgical treatments. Power was vested in the Secretary of Defense, after consultation with the then Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare (currently Health and Human Services), to grant exceptions to these exclusions for up to 12 months of treatment in special and unusual cases. Care in civilian facilities was also generally limited to inpatient treatment for active duty dependents.

The express purpose of the changes enacted by the Military Medical Benefits Amendments of 1966 was to "provide improved benefits for military families along the line of those provided other citizens over the (preceding) decade." Consistent with this intent, the 1966 amendment eliminated the exclusion of the treatment of chronic diseases, representing a significant program expansion. This expansion was tempered, however, by the newly adopted exclusion of custodial care, an exclusion which was also consistent with other public and private health care plans. The custodial care exclusion was intended as a limitation on the expansion of benefits represented in part by the inclusion of the treatment of chronic diseases as a benefit.

One of the stated purposes of the 1966 amendment was to ensure that the Department of Defense retained sufficient administrative flexibility to tailor the Program's benefit package to meet the determined needs of the Uniformed Services. Thus, broad discretion was granted to the Secretary of Defense in the management and direction to the civilian health benefits program.

In developing the 1966 amendments, Congress looked to the Federal Employees' Health Benefits Program for guidance in the development of the benefits package. The history of the Program's development (Military Medical Benefits Act of 1966, report dated March 31, 1966, Explanation of the Amendment—Purpose of the Bill) states in part:

The bill would improve the level of benefits provided by eliminating the specific listing in the law of the types of care permitted and substituting therefor authority to provide hospital care up to the level of the highest option of the Government-wide plan covering the larger number of civilian employees under the Federal Employees' Health Benefits Act. The Department of Defense would have the authority to contract for care subject only to the limitation that the benefits provided could not exceed the high option of the most popular Government-wide civilian program. The bill further provides that benefits shall not be less than those provided under such civilian high option programs on July 1, 1966.

Thus, the bill gives the Department of Defense the flexibility to improve benefits in the future as health benefits expanded for other Government personnel and, at the same time, provides a floor on benefits so that they could not be reduced in the future by arbitrary administrative directive.

Historically, the term domiciliary care was defined to encompass the concept of custodial care. In its initial implementation of the 1966 amendments, the Department of Defense derived its definition of custodial care from the one used by the Social Security Administration's Medicare program. A number of custodial care determinations were reviewed under that definition.

Between 1966 and 1974, CHAMPUS came under increasing Congressional scrutiny and criticism directed at escalating program costs and administrative inefficiencies. A major review was undertaken in 1975-1977 to more consistently enforce the intent of Congress as expressed in the law and to establish a better designed, more uniform program which would be more akin to a contract of insurance and provide a greater degree of control over all program elements. The review culminated in issuance of the comprehensive Department of Defense regulation for the operation and management of CHAMPUS.

The provisions of the law relating to custodial care and domiciliary care were examined as a part of the comprehensive review initiated in 1975.

Based upon the legislative history discussed above, it was determined that these terms actually represent separate concepts and that new definitions were required.

In seeking a new definition, program administrators looked to the Federal Employee Health Benefits Program (FEHBP). The definition sought had to be easily understood by beneficiaries and providers and had to be workable for the routine processing of claims. The FEHBP provided a reasonable alternative source and was fully compatible with the original intent of Congress in enacting the 1966 amendments. The definition of custodial care ultimately adopted was derived from that source and is consistent with the concepts developed in that program.

The current custodial care definition has been in effect since 1977. It is briefly described as care rendered to a patient: (1) who is disabled mentally or physically and such disability is expected to continue and be prolonged; (2) who requires a protected, monitored, or controlled environment; (3) who requires assistance in the essentials of daily living; and (4) who is not under active and specific treatment that will reduce the disability to the extent necessary to function outside of a controlled environment. Once a custodial care determination is made, CHAMPUS benefits are limited to one hour of skilled nursing care per day, prescription drugs and medical supplies for their administration. CHAMPUS benefits may be extended to otherwise covered services related to a medically necessary admission to an acute care hospital only if hospitalization is required for treatment of a condition other than the one for which custodial care is being received (i.e., a broken leg as a result of a fall) or if there is an acute exacerbation of the condition for which custodial care is being received that requires active inpatient treatment.

As shown in this historical review, the CHAMPUS custodial care provisions have traditionally acted as benefit limitations to help contain costs in a program that has essentially no limits on medically necessary care and has very favorable cost-sharing provisions. Once a custodial care determination was made, the program offered only limited benefits for the custodial condition. Other third-party plans have controls, absent in CHAMPUS, to contain excessive costs that might otherwise occur with a chronic, long-term illness. These controls consist of limits on the number of days of hospitalization or limits of physician or nursing visits. Some have substantial deductibles and costsharing for inpatient care, and most have either a dollar or visit limit on other care.

The amendment being proposed would allow payment of inpatient hospital care that is determined medically necessary, even if required for a custodial condition. This amendment is being proposed for two reasons—because of implementation of a DRG-based (diagnosis-related group) payment system for CHAMPUS inpatient hospital admissions occurring on or after October 1, 1987 (published in FR Doc. 87-19684, September 1, 1987) and because of a court decision which held the custodial care provision unsupported in cases involving medically necessary inpatient hospital care.

On May 15, 1987, the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit, Barnett v. Weinberger, 818 F. 2d 953 (DC Cir. 1987), in reversing a district court decision, held the CHAMPUS regulation invalid insofar as it purports to treat medically-necessary patient care obtainable only in a hospital as excluded custodial care. The Court stated the specific issue before it to be "whether the regulations characterizing medically-essential hospital services as excluded 'custodial care' comport with the statutory provision on that subject." The Court held, after analyses of the legislative history and relevant case law, "that the challenged CHAMPUS regulation, as written or applied, is invalid insofar as it purports to treat medically necessary patient care obtainable only in a hospital as 'excluded custodial care.'"

In reaching the foregoing conclusion, the Court relied heavily upon an analysis of the relevant legislative history. The original 1956 legislation excluded domiciliary care, but not custodial care. The Court found significant the original concept of domiciliary care as not excluding hospitalization which is medically essential because it "sheds important light upon the meaning of 'custodial care' when the latter was inserted into the exclusionary section in 1966." The Court noted that the 1966 amendments were characterized generally as benefit enhancements. Based upon its understanding of the legislative history, the Court concluded that "it would be highly anomalous to suppose that by this language (excluding 'custodial care') Congress designed an exclusion of necessary medical services from basic CHAMPUS benefits."

The Department of Defense does not agree with the rationale of the Court in this regard. For other reasons, it has chosen not to appeal or seek other relief from the decision. The Court stated that the broad-gauged reading of the statutory exclusion of custodial care is antithetical to the general statutory purpose of enhancing benefits. We do not believe, however, that the Court gave a true picture of the context of the custodial care exclusion. As is clear from the historical discussion above, the 1956 Dependents' Medical Care Act contained an exclusion of domiciliary care. It did not specifically exclude custodial care. Rather, it excluded all care for chronic conditions. This fact was not discussed by the Court. It has significance because it gives a better picture of the basis for the custodial care exclusion in the 1966 amendment. In 1966, Congress removed the exclusion for care for chronic conditions and substituted the exclusion of custodial care. Contrary to the Court's conclusion that the custodial care exclusion did not enlarge the existing exclusion of domiciliary care, what in reality was occurring was that Congress had removed a major exclusion of necessary medical services for those with chronic medical conditions. Under the 1956 law these conditions were not covered at all, irrespective of how medically essential the care was. The custodial care provision was substituted for this exclusion. For this reason, we disagree with the Court's conclusion that Congress did not intend to exclude necessary medical service from basic CHAMPUS benefits in excluding custodial care. When seen in this context, the custodial care exclusion, as interpreted by the Department in 1977, represents a significant enhancement of benefits over the 1956 law which excluded all care for chronic conditions.

However, because the ruling of the Court closely coincides with the implementation of DRGs, we now are proposing this change in our rule on custodial care in recognition of the decision of the Court. With the implementation of DRGs for hospitals on October 1, 1987, the custodial care provision represents a duplicative control on inpatient care in acute-care hospitals. Other provisions of the Regulation exist to help ensure the responsible expenditure of public funds. For example, the Regulation requires that the medical environment in which the services are performed be at the level adequate to provide the required care. Services and supplies related to inpatient stays in hospitals or other authorized institutions above the appropriate level required to provide the necessary medical care will continue to be excluded. These controls are expected to effectively control utilization.

We are proposing an effective date of October 1, 1987, to coincide with the implementation of the rule on DRGs. Further revision of the custodial definition may be considered following evaluation of the CHAMPUS home-care demonstration which is scheduled to end June 30, 1988 (published in FR Doc. 87-14784, July 1, 1986).

Section 605(b) of the Regulatory Flexibility Act of 1980 (Pub. L. 96-354) requires that each federal agency prepare, and make available for public comment, a regulatory flexibility analysis when the agency issues a regulation which would have a significant impact on a substantial number of small entities. The Secretary certifies, pursuant to section 605(b) of Title 5, United States Code, enacted by the Regulatory Flexibility Act (Pub. L. 96-354), that this regulation will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small businesses, organizations or government jurisdictions.

This proposed rule will have the impact of enhancing the scope of the CHAMPUS benefit for medically necessary inpatient care. It will not involve any significant additional administrative burden on CHAMPUS beneficiaries or providers of medical care. It is not, therefore, a "major rule" under Executive Order 12291.

This amendment is being published in the Federal Register for proposed rulemaking at the same time it is being coordinated within the Department of Defense and with other interested agencies so that consideration of both internal and external comments and publication of the final rule can be expedited.

Standards of Performance for New Stationary Sources; Polypropylene, Polyethylene, Polystyrene, and Poly(ethylene terephthalate) Manufacturing Industry

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

ACTION: Extension of public comment period.

SUMMARY: The end of the public comment period has been extended 60 days for the proposed national emission standards for volatile organic compounds from certain polymer manufacturing plants in response to a request from the Chemical Manufacturers Association (CMA). This request expressed the need for additional time to analyze more fully the effect of the proposed standards on certain polymer manufacturing processes that CMA claims are not clearly represented by any one of the polymer categories for which regulations have been proposed.

DATES: Written comments to be included in the record on the proposed standard must be postmarked no later than February 8, 1988.

ADDRESSES: Comments should be submitted (in duplicate if possible) to:

Central Docket Section (LE-131), Attention: Docket No. A-82-19, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, 401 M Street, SW., Washington, DC 20460.

ACTION: Proposed rule; extension of comment period.

SUMMARY: This notice announces a further extension of the public comment period on EPA's proposed regulation to control refueling emissions and the proposed regulation to control the volatility of gasoline and alcohol blends sold in the summertime. These proposals were both published in the Federal Register on August 19, 1987 (52 FR 31162 and 52 FR 31274). The comment period was extended after EPA received several requests.

DATE: The public comment period is being extended one month and will remain open until February 11, 1988.

AFRICAN DEVELOPMENT FOUNDATION

48 CFR PART 5706

Competition Requirements

AGENCY: African Development Foundation.

ACTION: Proposed rule.

SUMMARY: This action proposes circumstances and procedures under which certain procurement of the African Development Foundation for services to be provided abroad need not be subject to the FAR requirement of full and open competition.

DATES: Comments must be received on or before February 9, 1988.

ADDRESS: Comments may be mailed to the Director, Administration and Finance, Suite 600, African Development Foundation, 1625 Massachusetts Avenue NW., Washington, DC 20036, or delivered to the same address between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 5:00 p.m.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Paul Magid, General Counsel, Tom Wilson, Director, Administration and Finance, (202) 673-3916.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The African Development Foundation (ADF) applies the requirements of the Federal Acquisition Regulations to all of its domestic procurement activities, including the requirement for full and open competition set forth in Part 6 of the Regulations. However, adherence to these requirements for the procurement of goods and services overseas, (almost exclusively in Africa) has proved impractical. These proposed rules, based in part on similar regulations published by AID at 48 CFR 706.302-70, are intended to provide for full and open competition in the overseas context to the extent practicable, while at the same time, allowing for waivers whenever adherence to the competition requirement would impair the objective of ADF's programs.

Regulatory Flexibility Act of 1980

(Generally, these regulations do not contain substantive new material. It is, therefore, certified that they will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities under the Regulatory Flexibility Act.)

Executive Order 12291

The African Development Foundation has determined that this rule is not a major rule for purposes of E.O. 12291 because it is not likely to result in an annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more.

Paperwork Reduction Act

This rule imposes no obligatory information requirements on the general public.

Subpart 5706.3—Other Than Full and Open Competition

5706.302-70 Impairment of foreign aid programs.

(a) Full and open competition need not be obtained when it would impair or otherwise have an adverse effect on programs conducted for the purposes of foreign aid, relief, and rehabilitation.

(b) Application. This authority may be used for:

(1) An award under section 506(a)(5) of the African Development Foundation Act involving a personal services contractor serving abroad;

(2) An award of $100,000 or less for audit, evaluation or program support services to be provided abroad;

(3) An award for which the President of the Foundation makes a formal written determination, with supporting findings, that compliance with full and open competition procedures would impair foreign assistance objectives, and would be inconsistent with the fulfillment of the Foundation program.

(c) Limitation. (1) Offers shall be requested from as many potential offerors as is practicable under the circumstances.

(2) The contract file must include an appropriate explanation and support justifying award without full and open competition, as provided in FAR 6.303, except that determinations made under paragraph (b)(3), of this section will not be subject to the requirements for contracting officer certification or to approvals in accord with FAR 6.304.

Atlantic Mackerel, Squid, and Butterfish Fisheries

AGENCY: National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS), NOAA, Commerce.

ACTION: Notice of preliminary initial specifications for 1988 and requests for comments.

SUMMARY: NOAA issues this notice of preliminary initial specifications for the 1988 fishing year for Atlantic mackerel, squid, and butterfish, and requests public comments. Regulations governing these fisheries require the Secretary of Commerce (Secretary) to publish preliminary initial specifications. This action will provide data and request comments for NOAA's determination of the initial specifications for the 1988 fishing year.

DATE: Comments must be received on or before January 7, 1988.

ADDRESS: Send comments to Kathi L. Rodrigues, Northeast Regional Office, NMFS, 2 State Fish Pier, Gloucester, MA 01930-3097. Mark on the outside of the envelope, "Comments on 1988 Annual Specifications".

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Kathi L. Rodrigues, 617-281-3600, ext. 324.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Regulations implementing the Fishery Management Plan for Atlantic Mackerel, Squid, and Butterfish Fisheries (FMP) provide at § 655.22(b) that the Secretary will publish a notice specifying the preliminary initial annual amounts of the initial optimum yields (IOYs) as well as the amounts for domestic annual harvest (DAH), domestic annual processing (DAP), joint venture processing (JVP), and total allowable levels of foreign fishing (TALFF) for the species managed under the FMP. Note that DAH=DAP+JVP. No reserves are provided under the FMP for any of these species.

Procedures for determining the initial annual amounts are found at § 655.21. The Secretary is required to publish this notice on or about November 1 of each year and to provide a 30-day comment period on the preliminary specifications. These specifications are based on recommendations submitted by the Mid-Atlantic and New England Fishery Management Councils.

The Mid-Atlantic Fishery Management Council (Council), the lead Council for the FMP, has prepared an analysis of the nine economic factors specified at § 655.21(b)(1)(ii). Both Councils' recommendations and other relevant data are available for inspection at the NMFS Regional Office at the above address during the comment period.

The following table lists the preliminary initial specifications in metric tons (mt) for the allowable biological catch (ABC), initial optimum yield (IOY), which comprises DAH (DAP + JVP), and TALFF for Atlantic mackerel, Illex and Loligo squids, and butterfish. These initial specifications are the amounts that the NMFS Director, Northeast Region (Regional Director), is proposing for the 1988 fishing year beginning January 1. The maximum optimum yield (Max OY) is set by the FMP and provided as a point of reference for the proposed specifications.

TABLE.—PRELIMINARY INITIAL ANNUAL SPECIFICATIONS FOR ATLANTIC MACKEREL, SQUID, AND BUTTERFISH FOR THE 1988 FISHING YEAR, JANUARY 1 THROUGH DECEMBER 31, 1988

The Regional Director has determined that the IOY levels proposed for the 1988 fishing year will provide the greatest overall benefit to the United States.

These levels were set to encourage continued growth in both the harvesting and processing sectors of the U.S. fishing industry in accordance with the purposes of the Magnuson Act. They were selected after meetings and discussions with the Council, considering information from industry groups and foreign national representatives, and review of the performance of U.S. fishermen, processors, projected domestic landings, and joint venture information.

The initial Loligo IOY is set at a level which results in a JVP of zero. The Council projects that domestic processors have the capacity and intent to utilize the entire amount which is reasonably expected to be harvested. This is the DAH amount. Both Councils indicated a need for an Illex IOY which allows for a DAH amount 7,000 mt above the amount domestic processors have the capacity and intent to utilize. The Regional Director has agreed with this recommendation including the stipulation that JVP partners must purchase one mt of U.S.-processed Illex for every four mt of JVP amount received.

Domestic landings of Loligo for 1987, excluding joint venture harvest, are expected to be about 10,000 mt. The Council has projected an improvement for the 1988 fishing year, setting the IOY at a level which results in a Loligo DAH of 14,000 mt. Illex landings for 1987 are expected to reach approximately 6,500 mt. However, given that the proposed 1988 Illex JVP is 7,000 mt, the Regional Director has agreed with the New England Council's recommendation that the IOY for Illex be set at a level which allows for a DAP of 10,000 mt, thereby setting DAP potential at a level higher than JVP.

As in the previous fishing year, specifications give priority to domestic users. Squid IOYs, as proposed by both the Mid-Atlantic and New England Councils, are set at levels which provide squid TALFFs at bycatch levels only, according to the formula established in the FMP. Loligo TALFF is sufficient to provide for the Atlantic mackerel foreign fishery. As in 1987, the Council has recommended an Illex IOY which results in an Illex TALFF of zero based upon its recommendation that there be no foreign directed fishing for silver and red hake during 1988. Therefore, there is no need for a bycatch TALFF of Illex.

The annual specifications for the hakes have not been completed at this time nor have any applications for foreign fishing been received. Until the hake specifications are determined, and allocations for foreign fishing made, the Regional Director proposes to set the Illex IOY at a level which results initially in an Illex TALFF of zero. If a directed fishery for hakes by foreign nations is allowed during 1988, the appropriate bycatch, as specified in the FMP, will be added to the TALFFs.

The Atlantic mackerel ABC amount has been increased because of the continued rebuilding of the mackerel stocks. The Atlantic mackerel IOY has been set at a level that allows for TALFF and JVP amounts to accommodate the applications for foreign fishing received to date. The Council further recommended that, for this year, the foreign nation be required to purchase either 3 mt of Atlantic mackerel in a joint venture or 1 mt of U.S.-processed product for every 9 mt of TALFF. The Council intends to recommend that the foreign partner make a joint venture purchase and a processed product purchase for fishing year 1989. The 1989 ratio of TALFF to required purchases may be modified to reflect any change in world market and supply conditions.

The Regional Director has adopted the Council's 1988 recommendation for Atlantic mackerel as well as recommendations that foreign fishing applications stipulate that any Atlantic mackerel product taken or purchased will not appear in North American markets and that preference be given to foreign vessels having at least a 30 mt per day processing capacity and refrigerated sea water holding tanks.

In accordance with the provisions of the FMP, a butterfish TALFF of 48 mt is provided for bycatch in other fisheries.

The Councils' recommendations, and all public comments on the annual specifications will be considered in the final decision, which will be published in the Federal Register.

COMMODITY FUTURES TRADING COMMISSION

Chicago Board of Trade; Proposed Re commencement of Trading and Proposed Amendments Relating to the Four- to Six-Year Treasury Note Futures Contract

AGENCY: Commodity Futures Trading Commission.

ACTION: Notice of proposed contract market rule changes.

SUMMARY: The Chicago Board of Trade ("CBT" or "Exchange") has submitted a proposal to recommence trading in the Four- to Six-Year Treasury Note futures contract, which now is dormant within the meaning of Commission Regulation 5.2. In addition, the CBT has submitted proposed amendments to this Treasury note futures contract. The amendments would change the eligibility standards for deliverable Treasury notes so that only recently issued five-year notes would be deliverable, allow for futures trading during an evening session, and increase the speculative limits for the contract to 4,400 contracts from 1,000 contracts in the spot month and in all futures combined. The amendments also would increase the daily price limit to three points from two points, change the delivery procedures to conform to those currently in effect for the CBT's actively traded Treasury bond and Treasury note futures contracts, and revise the trading month listing provision to include the first four months in the March quarterly cycle. Finally, the CBT proposes to change the name of the contract to "Medium Term Treasury Notes (5 years)."

In accordance with section 5a(12) of the Commodity Exchange Act and acting pursuant to the authority delegated by Commission Regulation 140.96, the Director of the Division of Economic Analysis of the Commodity Futures Trading Commission ("Commission") has determined, on behalf of the Commission, that the proposal is of major economic significance and that, accordingly, publication of the proposal is in the public interest, will assist the Commission in considering the views of interested persons, and is consistent with the purposes of the Commodity Exchange Act.

DATE: Comments must be received on or before January 11, 1988.

ADDRESS: Interested persons should submit their views and comments to Jean A. Webb, Secretary, Commodity Futures Trading Commission, 2033 K Street, NW., Washington, DC 20581. Reference should be made to the CBT Medium Term Treasury Note futures contract.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Naomi Jaffe, Division of Economic Analysis, Commodity Futures Trading Commission, 2033 K Street, NW., Washington, DC 20581, (202) 254-7227.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Chicago Board of Trade Four- to Six-Year Treasury Note futures contract is not currently listed for trading and is dormant under Commission Regulation 5.2. Under Regulation 5.2, an exchange must submit for Commission review and approval, pursuant to section 5a(12) of the Commodity Exchange Act (Act) and CFTC Regulation 1.41(b), an appropriate bylaw, rule, regulation or resolution to recommence trading in a dormant contract. Accordingly, the Exchange has submitted, pursuant to section 5a(12) of the Act and Commission Regulation 1.41(b), a proposal to list additional months in the contract.

With regard to the proposal to recommence trading in the contract, the CBT noted that:

The determination to re-launch the medium term note futures contract is a business decision of the Exchange. [T]he level of issuance of Treasury notes has grown over the past few years. The dealers and investors in these issues would be well served by the availability of a viable and liquid hedging and price discovery vehicle * * *.

The re-launched contract will become a reliable and useful hedging and pricing instrument, with the potential to serve the financial markets as the present bond and long term note futures contracts already do. Almost 65% of the long term open interest and 56% short term interest in CBOT Treasury bond futures at the end of September was held by commercial traders. In Treasury notes 87% and 66% of the long and short open interests, respectively, were held by commercials. The relaunched contract is likely to develop the same high level of commercial hedging interest.

In addition, as noted above, the Exchange has submitted for Commission approval proposed changes to the standards for deliverable bonds, the trading hours, speculative limits, daily price limits, delivery procedures, trading month cycle, and the name of the contract. With respect to the proposal to specify that only recently issued five-year Treasury notes (the four most recent issues) be deliverable, the CBT stated:

The proposed changes will alter the essential nature of the contract by focusing the futures contract on the five year issue. The earlier incarnation of this contract was subject to variable pricing because other issues of longer term maturities were permitted in deliveries. With a wide selection of issues with remaining terms to maturity of four to six years each with its own conversion factor, the contract was susceptible to pricing an otherwise little followed older note or bond. The proposed changes will obviate that problem * * *

Five year Treasury notes are an important point on the yield curve and exhibit a price and yield behavior distinct from the longer term maturities * * *

As a hedging vehicle with distinct pricing, five year note futures will be an important hedging tool not only for the large issuances of five year notes but also for old longer maturity Treasury instruments. Likewise, corporate issuance in this maturity range will be easily hedged in the medium term Treasury note futures contract. Additionally, with its generally lower implied duration, medium term Treasury note futures will at times be an attractive hedging tool for dealers and holders of seasoned mortgage-backed securities the effective duration of which collapse rapidly when interest rates fall due to extraordinary prepayment patterns.

The Commission is seeking comment on the CBT's proposal to recommence trading in the contract and with respect to the proposed amendments.

The materials submitted by the Exchange in support of the proposed amendments may be available upon request pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act (5 U.S.C. 552) and the Commission's regulations thereunder (17 CFR Part 145 (1987)). Requests for copies of such materials should be made to the FOI, Privacy and Sunshine Acts Compliance Staff of the Office of the Secretariat at the Commission's headquarters in accordance with 17 CFR 145.7 and 145.8.

Any person interested in submitting written data, views or arguments on the proposed amendments should send such comments to Jean A. Webb, Secretary, Commodity Futures Trading Commission, 2033 K Street, NW., Washington, DC, by the specified date.

Issued in Washington, DC, on December 7, 1987.

ACTION: Extension of comment period on application for Washington Water Power Co. for a permit to construct, connect, operate and maintain electric transmission facilities at the international border between the United States and Canada.

SUMMARY: On November 9, 1987, the Economic Regulatory Administration (ERA) published a notice in the Federal Register (52 FR 43101) announcing receipt of an application by Washington Water Power Co. for a Presidential permit to construct electric transmission facilities at the international border between the United States and Canada. Because of several requests and no objection on the part of the applicant, the period for public comment on this application is being extended to January 9, 1988.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Anthony J. Como, Economic Regulatory Administration (RG-22), Department of Energy, 1000 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, DC 20585, (202) 586-5935

Since that publication date, ERA has received several requests, from interested parties that the comment period be extended.

The original notice announced a 30-day comment period ending on December 9, 1987. Therefore, the period for comment, protest and intervention on this application is being extended.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest this application for a Presidential permit should file a petition to intervene or protest with ERA, Room GA-093, Forrestal Building, 1000 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, DC 20585, in accordance with §§ 385.211 or 385.212 or the Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 385.211, 385.214).

Algonquin Gas Transmission Co.; Proposed Changes in FERC Gas Tariff

[Docket No. TA88-2-20-00]

December 8, 1987

Take notice that on December 1, 1987, Algonquin Gas Transmission Company (Algonquin) tendered for filing as part of its FERC Gas Tariff, Second Revised Volume No. 1 the tariff sheets listed on Appendix A, attached thereto.

Algonquin states that the referenced tariff sheets are being filed to include in Algonquin's rates the Gas Research Institute ("GRI") surcharge as authorized by Opinion No. 283 in Docket No. RP87-71-000 for GRI funding of $0.0151 per Mcf adjusted to $0.0146 per MMBtu. This authorized GRI surcharge is effectuated by a unit decrease of $0.0001 per MMBtu which modifies the amount of $0.0147 included in Algonquin's present rates. Attached as Appendix B is a schedule showing the derivation of such adjustment contained in Algonquin's proposed rates.

Algonquin made a filing on October 6, 1987 in Docket No. TA87-13-20-001 in which it tracked a proposed decrease in the underlying rates of its pipeline supplier, Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation ("Texas Eastern"). While Algonquin's filing was accepted by Commission order dated October 29, 1987, Texas Eastern's September 18, 1987 filing in Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation, Docket Nos. TA87-3-17 and TA87-4-14, upon which Algonquin's filing was predicated, is still pending Commission action. It is Algonquin's interpretation of the Commission's October 29, 1987 order in Docket No. TA87-13-20-001 that Algonquin's tariff sheets filed on October 6, 1987 do not become effective unless and until the Commission approves the underlying filing by Texas Eastern. In that regard, Algonquin respectfully requests the Commission to so clarify the October 29, 1987 order. In light of the foregoing and in order to reflect the GRI surcharge on the correct rate sheets, Algonquin is filing both Primary and Alternate tariff sheets with respect to Sheets No. 201 and 205. The primary tariff sheets designated as Twenty-third Revised Sheet No. 201 and Sixteenth Revised Sheet No. 205 supersede the corresponding tariff sheets which were in effect prior to Algonquin's referenced filing in Docket No. TA87-13-20-001. Alternate Twenty-third Revised Sheet No. 201 and Alternate Sixteenth Revised Sheet No. 205 supersede the corresponding tariff sheets filed on October 6, 1987 and incorporate Texas Eastern's proposed rate decrease. Algonquin requests that the Commission accept either the Primary or Alternate tariff sheets, whichever sheets synchronize its rates with the underlying approved rates of Texas Eastern.

The proposed effective date of the tariff sheets as filed is January 1, 1988 as authorized by the Commission's Opinion No. 283.

Algonquin notes that a copy of this filing is being served upon each affected party and interested state commission.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said filing should file a motion to intervene or protest with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, NE., Washington, DC 20426, in accordance with Rules 211 and 214 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 385.211, 385.214). All such motions or protests should be filed on or before December 15, 1987. Protests will be considered by the Commission in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party must file a motion to intervene. Copies of this filing are on file with the Commission and are available for public inspection.

December 8, 1987.

Take notice that on December 1, 1987, ANR Pipeline Company ("ANR") tendered for filing Fifteenth Revised Sheet No. 18 Superseding Substitute Alternate Fourteenth Sheet No. 18 under Original Volume No. 1 of ANR's F.E.R.C. Gas Tariff to be effective January 1, 1988.

Fifteenth Revised Sheet No. 18 of ANR's F.E.R.C. Gas Tariff, Original Volume No. 1, reflects a net decrease of .01¢ per dekatherm in one-part rates and the commodity components of the two-part rates. This decrease is the result of a decrease in the GRI Adjustment to 1.51¢ per dekatherm, as approved by the Commission in its Opinion No. 283, issued at Docket No. RP87-71-000 on September 29, 1987.

ANR is also filing the following tariff sheets under Original Volume No. 1 of its F.E.R.C. Gas Tariff to be effective January 1, 1988:

First Revised Sheet No. 80
First Revised Sheet No. 81
First Revised Sheet No. 82
First Revised Sheet No. 83

These revised tariff sheets contain language changes regarding the elimination of ANR's Incremental Pricing Adjustment as provided by the Commission in its Order No. 478, issued at Docket No. RM87-25-000, on July 27, 1987, to be effective January 1, 1988.

Gas Tariff, Original Volume No. 2, with an effective date of January 1, 1988.

Fourth Revised Sheet No. 570 reflects a net decrease of $59,219 in the monthly charge paid by the High Island Offshore System ("HIOS") to ANR pursuant to Rate Schedule X-64 under Original Volume No. 2 of ANR's F.E.R.C. Gas Tariff. Rate Schedule X-64 is a Service Agreement dated August 4, 1977 between ANR and HIOS. Cook Inlet Pipe Line; Petition for Declaratory Order

December 8, 1987.

Take notice that on November 23, 1987, Cook Inlet Pipe Line Company (CIPL) tendered for filing a Petition for Declaratory Order and Motion for Summary Disposition.

CIPL states that its intrastate rates are the same as its interstate rates because the services performed, and the circumstances and the conditions under which they are performed, are identical. However, the Alaskan Public Utilities Commission has recently issued a tariff order which would establish lower rates for intrastate movements and require CIPL to make substantial refunds. CIPL states that it seeks a determination from the Commission that its intrastate rates are lawful and that the rates set by the APUC would result in violations of sections 2 and 3 (1) of them Interstate Commerce Act, 49 U.S.C. 2 and 3 (1). CIPL requests summary disposition on the grounds that there is no question of fact.

Copies of CIPL's filing were served on members of the FERC, Staff, the State of Alaska, and the Alaska Public Utilities Commission.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said filing should file a motion to intervene or a protest with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, NE., Washington, DC 20426, in accordance with Rule 214 and 211 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure. All such motions or protests should be filed on or before December 29, 1987. December 8, 1987.

Take notice that on December 1, 1987, El Paso Natural Gas Company ("El Paso") filed, pursuant to Part 154 of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission ("Commission") Regulations Under the Natural Gas Act and in accordance with ordering paragraphs (B) and (C) of the Commission's Opinion No. 283 issued September 29, 1987 at Gas Research Institute, Docket No. RP87-71-000 and pursuant to El Paso's June 30, 1987 filing at Docket No. RP85-58-000, et al., the following revised tariff sheets to its FERC Gas Tariff to be effective January 1, 1988:

Tariff Volume	Tariff Sheet
First Revised Volume No. 1.....	Sixteenth Revised Sheet No. 100. Fourth Revised Sheet No. 100-A.
Original Volume No. 1-A.....	Fifth Revised Sheet No. 20.
Third Revised Volume No. 2.....	Fortieth Revised Sheet No. 1-D. Twentieth Revised Sheet No. 1-D.2.
Original Volume No. 2A.....	Forty-second Revised Sheet No. 1-C.

El Paso states that the tendered revised tariff sheets decrease the Gas Research Institute ("GRI") funding unit adjustment component of El Paso's rates for certain sales and transportation services from the currently effective 1.44 cents per dth (1.52 cents per Mcf) to the 1.43 cents per dth (1.51 cents per Mcf) authorized to be collected by jurisdictional members of the GRI by Opinion No. 283.

El Paso also states that the tendered tariff sheets reflect a change in the base tariff rates, effective January 1, 1988, as a result of the impact of the 1986 Tax Reform Act. El Paso states that the change is required by Article XII, Tracking of Changes in Federal Taxes, of the "Stipulation and Agreement in Settlement of Rate Proceedings" approved by letter order dated August 14, 1985, issued in Docket No. RP85-58-000, et al.<sup>1</sup> El Paso's filing of June 30, 1987, in Docket No. RP85-58-000, et al., set forth in inter alia, the workpapers, explanation and pro forma tariff sheets reflecting the impact of the 1986 Tax Reform Act on its rates, effective January 1, 1988.

In said filing, El Paso stated that it would file revised tariff sheets to be effective January 1, 1988 which would include the reduction reflected on the pro forma tariff sheets along with any other Commission authorized changes in rate that occurred between June 30, 1987 and the January 1, 1988 effective date. In this connection, the Commission approved by order issued September 29, 1987 at Docket No. RP86-157-000, El Paso's Offer of Settlement resolving the issue of El Paso's net liquid revenue deficiencies. By letter order dated November 12, 1987, issued at Docket No.

RP86-157-001 by the Director of the Office of Pipeline and Producer Regulation, the Commission accepted effective July 1, 1987, tariff sheets reflecting El Paso's rates pursuant to such Offer of Settlement. Also, the Commission approved by orders issued on September 30, 1987 at Docket No. TA88-1-33-000 and September 29, 1987 at Docket No. RP87-139-000, El Paso's Purchased Gas Adjustment filing and Annual Charge Adjustment filing, respectively, both effective October 1, 1987.

Accordingly, El Paso has incorporated in the tendered tariff sheets (i) the reduction reflected on the pro forma tariff sheets, (ii) the revisions made effective July 1, 1987 and October 1, 1987, and (iii) the GRI Funding Unit. The effect of the Federal income tax tracker at Docket No. RP85-58-000, et al., as set forth in the June 30, 1987 filing which is a decrease of $0.0122 per dth to El Paso's current jurisdictional base rates and the GRI Funding Unit which is a decrease of $0.0001 per dth results in a net decrease of $0.0123 per dth in El Paso's jurisdictional rates which were effective as of October 1, 1987.

El Paso requests that the tendered tariff sheets be accepted and permitted to become effective January 1, 1988, as provided for in Opinion No. 283 and El Paso's June 30, 1987 filing.

El Paso states that copies of the filing have been served upon all parties or record in Docket No. RP85-58-000, et al., and otherwise upon all interstate pipeline system customers of El Paso and all interested state regulatory commissions.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said filing should file a motion to intervene or protest with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, NE., Washington, DC 20426, in accordance with Rules 214 and 211 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure. All such motions or protests should be filed on or before December 15, 1987. Protests will be considered by the Commission in determining the appropriate action to be taken, but will not serve to make protestants parties to the proceedings. Any person wishing to become a party must file a motion to intervene. Copies of this filing are on file with the Commission and are available for public inspection.

On July 1, 1987, Texas Gas Transmission Corporation submitted for filing its FERC Gas Tariff, Original Volume No. 3 proposed to be effective July 1, 1987. The July 1 filing was made pursuant to the Order Denying Waiver, 37 FERC Para. 61,166, issued November 26, 1986, by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC). This filing was noticed on July 7, 1987, with motions to intervene or protest due on or before July 14, 1987.

The tariff sheets listed above are being filed to make certain technical modifications as requested by the FERC Staff Texas Gas submits that all questions with regard to that filing have been satisfactorily answered and the necessary modifications have been reflected in the instant filing. Texas Gas respectfully requests waiver of the requirements of Part 154 of the Commission's regulations under the Natural Gas Act to the extent necessary to permit all the tariff sheets submitted herewith to be accepted for filing and become effective on October 1, 1987.

Copies of the tariff sheets are being mailed to the customers in this docket. Due to the length of this filing, a copy of the entire filing is not being served with the letter of transmittal and form of notice.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said filing should file a motion to intervene or a protest with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, NE., Washington, DC 20426, in accordance with Rules 214 and 211 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 385.214, 385.211). Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp.;
Tariff Filing

December 7, 1987.

Take notice that Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corporation (Transco) on December 1, 1987 tendered for filing to be effective January 1, 1988 certain revised tariff sheets included in Appendix A attached hereto.

Transco states that the purpose of this filing is to reflect a decrease of 0.01¢ per dt in the Gas Research Institute (GRI) Adjustment Charge applicable to sales and transportation deliveries to distributors for resale, to pipelines which are not members of GRI and to ultimate consumers.

Transco states that on September 29, 1987, the Commission issued Opinion

No. 283 in Docket No. RP87-71-000. The Opinion provides that, as a member of GRI, Transco may file under its Gas Research Institute Charge Adjustment Provision to collect in advance of payments to GRI, 1.51¢ per Mcf (which on Transco's system equates to 1.46¢ per dt) on sales and transportation deliveries. This charge will replace the currently effective charge of 1.47¢ per dt. All amounts collected under this provision will be remitted to GRI, less any applicable taxes.

Transco further states that copies of the filing have been mailed to each of its customers and State Commissions.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said filing should file a motion to intervene or protest with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, NE., Washington, DC 20426, in accordance with Rules 211 and 214 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 385.211 and 385.214). All such motions or protests should be filed on or before December 14, 1987. Protests will be considered by the Commission in determining the appropriate action to be taken, but will not serve to make protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party must file a motion to intervene. Copies of this filing are on file with the Commission and are available for public inspection.

Transwestern Pipeline Co.; Filing

December 7, 1987.

Take notice that on December 1, 1987, Transwestern Pipeline Company, (Transwestern), tendered for filing to become a part of Transwestern's F.E.R.C. Gas Tariff, Second Revised Volume No. 1 the following tariff sheets:

2nd Revised Sheet No. 7
2nd Revised Sheet No. 8
1st Revised Sheet No. 9
Original Sheet No. 9A
1st Revised Sheet No. 13
2nd Revised Sheet No. 14
1st Revised Sheet No. 15
1st Revised Sheet No. 16
1st Revised Sheet No. 19
1st Revised Sheet No. 20A
1st Revised Sheet No. 22
3rd Revised Sheet No. 48
Original Sheet No. 83
Original Sheet No. 84
Original Sheet No. 85
Original Sheet No. 86
Original Sheet No. 87
4th Revised Sheet No. 88-104

Transwestern filed the above tariff sheets seeking authority to establish a Gas Supply Inventory Charge (GIC) to become a permanent part of its tariff (GIC Filing). Transwestern states that its GIC Filing fulfills the requirements of each of the principles outlined for such a charge in Order No. 500.

Transwestern states that it will allow its customers to freely nominate their desired level of Contract Demand Quantity (CDQ) under Rate Schedule CDQ-1 and CDQ-3 up to the level of their presently certificated level of CDQ. Transwestern will provide a schedule of gas purchase costs prior to customer's annual nominations which will depict gas prices at various purchase levels to which Transwestern will commit to be in effect during the period its customers' nominations are to be in effect. To the extent the customers' aggregate existing firm sales entitlements exceed 367,500 dth per day, the customers will be given the additional option of submitting revised nominations based upon a revised schedule of gas costs to be incurred for the upcoming quarter for volumes in excess of 367,500 dth per day. Any time a customer reduces its nominated level of CDQ, the difference between the previous nomination and the reduced nomination shall be abandoned. The GIC will be applicable to daily volumes nominated by not purchased and will be the only means Transwestern will employ to collect take-or-pay costs attributable to the period during which the GIC is in effect. Transwestern states that costs incurred to buyout or buydown existing contracts to make them more market responsive will be included in a later filing. The GIC rates also will be provided to Transwestern's customers prior to any permitted nominations, thereby enabling them to know both the costs associated with the service to be nominated as well as the cost consequences of purchasing gas at levels below their currently effective nominated levels of CDQ.

Transwestern states that small volume customers served under Rate Schedules SG-1, SG-2 and RW-1 shall be charged rates based upon a gas cost component equal to the gas cost component which would underlie Transwestern's CDQ commodity rates in the event that all CDQ customers purchased an aggregate quantity equivalent to such CDQ customers' aggregate nomination level.

Transwestern proposes to suspend its PGA during the period the GIC is in effect. Within sixty days following July 1, 1988, the effective date of initial nominations under the GIC proposal, Transwestern will bill or refund each CDQ customer's proportionate share of any amounts accumulated in its Unrecovered Purchased Gas Account (FERC Account No. 191) as of June 30, 1988. Similarly, Transwestern will bill or refund at six month intervals amounts which accumulate in FERC Account No. 191 subsequent to the effective date of the GIC which reflect gas costs for any period prior to such date.

Transwestern requests a January 1, 1988 effective date for the above tariff sheets.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said filing should file a motion to intervene or a protest with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, NE., Washington, DC 20426, in accordance with the Commission's Rules of Practice & Procedure (18 CFR 385.211, 385.214). All such motions or protests should be filed on or before December 14, 1987. Protests will be considered by the Commission in determining the appropriate action to be taken, but will not serve to make protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party must file a motion to intervene.

Copies of this filing are on file with the Commission and are available for public inspection.

United Gas Pipe Line Co.; Filing of Revised Tariff Sheets Including Request for Adjustment Under the Natural Gas Policy Act

December 7, 1987.

Take notice that on December 1, 1987, United Gas Pipe Line Company ("United") tendered for filing, pursuant to section 4 of the Natural Gas Act, the following revised tariff sheets to its FERC Gas Tariff Revised Volume No. 1 with a proposed effective date of April 1, 1988:

Second Revised Sheet No. 48-C2
Original Sheet No. 48-C2.1
Original Sheet No. 48-C2.2
Second Revised Sheet No. 48-C3
Eighth Revised Sheet No. 71
Thirteenth Revised Sheet No. 72
Tenth Revised Sheet No. 72-A Third Revised Sheet No. 72-B
Original Sheet No. 72-C
Original Sheet No. 72-D
Original Sheet No. 72-E
Original Sheet No. 72-F
Original Sheet No. 72-G

United states that these tariff sheets, consisting of complete revision to section 12 of its General Terms and Conditions, together with minor conforming revisions to its FTS Rate Schedule, are intended to implement the balance of the plan for management of system services undertaken in part by the capacity allocation provision of United's open access plan, accepted by the Commission in its order issued October 29, 1987, in Docket No. RP88-8 effective November 1, 1987. United further states that the instant proposed tariff filing accomplishes this result by extending to all of its customers the same nomination, scheduling, and allocation procedures as currently apply to transportation services in United's existing Rate Schedules ITS and FTS. These procedures contemplate nominations of daily service by all interruptible customers and annual nominations for monthly service by all firm customers. The proposed plan further provides for the nondiscriminatory pro rata allocation of capacity as between sales and transportation services and parallel mechanisms for the interruption or curtailment of service to each class in the event of system constraints.

United further states that the proposed tariff carries forward several features of its existing tariff with regard to firm sales customers, including a small customer exemption from curtailment and emergency relief procedures respecting high priority end-uses attributable to customers dependent upon United for sales service. United finally indicates that it is seeking, to the extent necessary under the criteria of Opinion No. 150, an adjustment pursuant to section 502(c) of the Natural Gas Policy Act from the literal requirements of Order No. 29.

Section 154.22 of the Commission's regulations provides that proposed tariff changes must be filed not less than thirty days nor more than sixty days prior to the proposed effective date. Section 154.51 provides that, upon request and for good cause shown, tariff changes may be accepted for filing prior to sixty days before the proposed effective date. As indicated, United has proposed that the new tariff sheets become effective April 1, 1988. Because of the nature of the tariff changes proposed and to allow a reasonable time for their review, United has agreed to a period of sixty days from December 1, 1987 for Commission action on its filing.

United has proposed that it be authorized to obtain the service nominations contemplated under the proposed tariff changes by February 15, 1987. A decision on this aspect of the overall proposal will be made in the order on the tariff filing.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said tariff sheet filing should on or before December 21, 1987, file with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, Washington, DC 20426, a motion to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 385.214 or 385.211). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to the proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file a motion to intervene in accordance with the Commission's Rules.

Environmental Impact Statements and Regulations; Availability of EPA Comments

Availability of EPA comments prepared November 23, 1987 through November 27, 1987 pursuant to the Environmental Review Process (ERP), under section 309 of the Clean Air Act and section 102(2)(c) of the National Environmental Policy Act as amended. Requests for copies of EPA comments can be directed to the Office of Federal Activities at (202) 382-5075/78.

An explanation of the ratings assigned to draft environmental impact statements (EISs) was published in FR dated April 24, 1987 (52 FR 13479).

Draft EISs

ERP No. D-BLM-L03004-AK, Rating EC2, Trans-Alaska Gas System (JAGS) and Associated Facilities Construction, Prudhoe Bay to Anderson Bay, Right-of-Way, Section 10 and 404 Permits, Special Use Permits, AK.

Summary: EPA has concerns regarding potential adverse air quality effects from the LNG plant and terminal in the Valdez area. EPA requested additional information on water quality effects, air quality effects, and mitigation planning for primary effects.

ERP No. D-FHW-D40227-PA, Rating EC1, Mount Union Borough Traffic Relief Study, Traffic Route 522/Legislative Route 121, Section 001

Improvement, Juniata Drive to TR-522 and US 22, Funding, Huntingdon County, PA.

Summary: The document clearly describes the project and its impacts. The mitigation measures for surface water impacts, however, must be specified in greater detail in the final EIS. EPA also requested clarification of the type of wildlife in the project area.

ERP No. D-FRC-L05046-WA, Rating LO, Rock Island Hydroelectric Project No. 943, Operating License Renewal, Columbia River, Chelan County, WA.

Summary: EPA has no objections to the preferred alternative identified and supports its adoption along with the fishing and wildlife mitigation measures as recommended in the draft EIS.

ERP No. D-SCS-F36153-IN, Rating EO3, Muddy Fork of Silver Creek Watershed, Flood Prevention and Watershed Protection, Funding, 404 Permit, Clark, Floyd and Washington Counties, IN.

Summary: EPA has reviewed the draft EIS and has environmental objections with the project as proposed. Further, EPA finds it to be inadequate in evaluating potential impacts to water quality, wetlands and the biological characteristics of the project area. Discussion of project alternatives is also incomplete. EPA has requested that the document be revised and submitted for review.

Final EISs

ERP No. F-AFS-J65136-00, Bitterroot National Forest, Land and Resource Management Plan, Implementation, Missoula and Ravall Counties, MT and Idaho County, ID.

Summary: The final EIS improves on the commitment to mitigate potential water quality impacts. However, EPA still has concerns that the extent and frequency of environmental monitoring may be insufficient to detect and remedy adverse impacts on a timely basis. More specifics are needed in the variability limits coupled with a stronger commitment to initiate corrective actions. EPA would like to evaluate the application of this monitoring program on a project specific basis.

ERP No. F1-BLM-K65062-NV, Egan Resource Area, Wilderness Study Areas, Wilderness Recommendations, Designation, White Pine, Nye and Lincoln Counties, NV.

Summary: EPA expressed support for BLM's decision to recommend wilderness designation of three wilderness study areas. EPA asked that BLM's statewide Nevada wilderness decision document state that air and water quality are best protected in areas designated as wilderness.

ERP No. F1-BLM-K65102-NV, Elko Resource Area, WSA's Recommendations, Designation or Nondesignation, Cedar Ridge, Red Spring, Little Humboldt River and Rough Hills WSAs, Elko, Lander, and Eureka Counties, NV.

Summary: EPA expressed support for BLM's decision to recommend wilderness status for two wilderness study areas.

ERP No. F-BLM-K70002-CA, Arcata Resource Area Wilderness Recommendations, Eden Valley and Thatcher Ridge Wilderness Study Areas, Wilderness or Non-Wilderness Designation, Mendocino County, CA.

Summary: EPA expressed concern that activities allowed under the proposed action (No Wilderness Designation) such as timber harvesting, ORV use and road building not degrade the waters of the Eel Wild and Scenic River. Federal regulations prohibit any degradation of water quality for Outstanding National Resource Waters including wild and scenic rivers. EPA expressed support for the adoption of additional measures to mitigate adverse impacts to water quality, riparian areas, and anadromous fisheries from continuing multiple use activities.

ERP No. F-COE-D28011-VA, James City County Dam and Water Supply Reservoir Development, Construction, 404 Permit, Ware Creek, James City County, VA.

Summary: EPA continues to find the proposed Ware Creek project environmentally unacceptable due to potential degradation of surface waters and the loss of functional and valuable wetland systems. Further, EPA is concerned about the cumulative impacts of the proposal on the Chesapeake Bay as well as the lack of discussion of alternative technologies for water supply provided in the final EIS. Based on these conclusions, EPA would seriously consider veto action under 404(c) of the Clean Water Act (CWA) if the Corps decides to approve the placement of fill for project construction. EPA will work with the Corps and project proponents to investigate means to provide a regional rather than local solution to water supply needs.

ERP No. FS-COE-E61064-GA, Lake Alma Project, Reservoir Construction and Development, Outdoor Recreation Opportunities, 404 Permit, Bacon County, GA.

Summary: EPA reaffirms its draft supplemental EIS position that this project with proposed mitigation is environmentally unsatisfactory since it would result in the destruction of approximately 1370 acres of valuable blackwater creek forested wetlands.

The proposed greentree reservoir mitigation was considered in reaching this conclusion, but, since it only compensates for 13 percent of the wetland habitat unit losses, was determined to be inadequate. In the event COE pursues this unsatisfactory alternative in the ROD, EPA will seriously consider action under section 404(c) of the CWA to preclude the disposal of fill for project construction.

ERP No. F-COE-J28013-WY, Deer Creek Dam and Reservoir Municipal Water Supply Project, Construction, 404 Permit and Right-of-Way Grant, North Platte River, Natrona and Converse Counties, WY.

Summary: EPA requested the COE provide the public with supplemental information which documents the COE's preferred alternative and details regarding mitigation plans.

ERP No. F-FAA-E51041-TN, Nashville Metropolitan Airport Runway Improvements, Site Grading and Construction, Approval and Funding, Davidson County, TN.

Summary: EPA continues to have serious concerns about the lack of commitment in the final EIS regarding mitigation to reduce noise impacts of the project. In addition, EPA noted that CO air quality analyses for the parking lots and terminal areas were lacking and believes that CO modeling should be included in the EIS rather than in a Part 150 study. (Note—the above summary should have appeared in the 12-4-87 FR Notice.)

ERP No. F-FHW-E40698-NC, Silas Creek Parkway Completion, Silas Creek Parkway to North Point Boulevard, Funding, 404 Permit, Winston-Salem, Forsyth County, NC.

Summary: EPA finds the document adequately responded to issues raised with the draft EIS and that the additional information requested was provided.

ERP No. F-SFW-L61166-AK, Koyukuk and the Northern Unit of Innoko National Wildlife Refuges, Comprehensive Conservation Plan, Wilderness Review and Wild River Plan, Implementation, Galena, McGrath, AK.

Summary: The document identifies monitoring activities as necessary to ensure that selection of the preferred alternative does not result in adverse impacts. EPA's concern is that such activities may not occur without the additional funding that has also been identified as necessary. EPA has suggested that implementation of activities which require monitoring be delayed until funding can also be assured, and recommended that the ROD include a statement to this effect.

ERP No. F-UMC-E11019-NC, Cherry 1 Military Operating Area (MOA), Craven, Beaufort, Hyde, Pamlico and Washington Counties, and Core MOA, North Carolina Outer Banks/Cape Lookout National Seashore, Establishment, NC.

Summary: EPA expressed concern about the air use issue and noise impacts. These impacts are expected to increase due to a disproportionate growth rate that is occurring along the coast. EPA recognizes the need for realistic training, but suggests that a close look at any changes such as flying higher during training flight be evaluated. EPA further suggested that the document be supplemented with an evaluation of the cumulative impacts of noise and air use restrictions within the Cherry Point local flying area. (Note—the above summary should have appeared in the 12-4-87 FR Notice.)

ERP No. F-UMT-D54033-MD, Baltimore Northeast Corridor Extension Transit Improvements, Funding, Baltimore County, MD.

Summary: Although EPA comments and UMTA responses were omitted from the final EIS, discussions between the agencies have resolved all of the concerns expressed in the draft EIS. Therefore, EPA has no objection to the implementation of this project.

Extension of the Time Requirements in the 404(c) Regulations for Region II EPA's Decision To Withdraw the Proposed Determination or Prepare a Recommended Determination Concerning the Russo Site; Hackensack Meadowlands, Carlstadt, NJ

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency.

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: Section 404(c) of the Clean Water Act (33 U.S.C. 1251 et seq.) authorizes the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to prohibit or restrict the discharge of dredged or fill material at defined sites in waters of the United States (including wetlands) if EPA determines, after notice and opportunity for hearing, that use of the site for discharge of dredged or fill material would have an unacceptable adverse effect on various resources, including wildlife. EPA's Regional Administrator, Region II, has reason to believe that the unauthorized discharge of fill and the proposed discharge of fill into wetlands by the Russo Development Corporation—71 Hudson Street, Hackensack, New Jersey—within the Hackensack Meadowlands in Carlstadt, New Jersey for the purpose of building warehouses may have unacceptable adverse effects on wildlife.

EPA's regulations implementing section 404(c), 40 CFR Part 231, establish procedures to be followed in exercising the Administrator's authority to prohibit or restrict the use of an area as a disposal site. The three major steps in the process are: (1) The Regional Administrator's proposed decision to prohibit or restrict the use of a site; (2) the Regional Administrator's withdrawal of the proposed determination or preparation of a recommended determination to the Administrator to prohibit or restrict use of the site; (3) the Administrator's final decision to affirm, modify, or rescind the regional recommendation. The Regional Administrator issued a public notice (August 7, 1987 Federal Register) and his designee conducted a public hearing (November 5, 1987) on his proposed determination to prohibit or restrict the discharge of fill into the Russo wetlands. The Regional Administrator is now in the process of either withdrawing his proposed determination or preparing a recommended determination to submit to EPA's Administrator. 40 CFR 231.5 directs the Regional Administrator to complete this process within 30 days of the close of the public hearing. This would occur on December 5, 1987.

Pursuant to 40 CFR 231.8, the Administrator or the Regional Administrator may, upon showing of good cause, extend the time requirements of these regulations. Accordingly, this notice announces the Regional Administrator's decision to extend, for 45 days, the completion of this process.

DATES: The 45 day extension would close the time frame referenced in 40 CFR 231.5 on January 19, 1987.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Mr. Mario Del Vicario, Chief, Marine and Wetlands Protection Branch, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency Region II, 26 Federal Plaza, New York, NY 10278, (212) 264-5170.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: As mentioned above, EPA held a public hearing on November 5, 1987. The section 404(c) regulations direct, in 40 CFR 231.4, the Regional Administrator to consider all public comment in his decision to withdraw his proposed determination or prepare a recommended determination. EPA received the verbatim transcript of the hearing on December 1, 1987. The three working days between the 1st and 5th of December do not afford adequate time to fully review public comment to the proposed determination and complete the documentation supporting the Regional Administrator's decision. In addition, following a November 6, 1987 request EPA received a copy of the Corps of Engineers Administrative Record on November 20, 1987. Adequate review of this voluminous record and completion of the documentation supporting the Regional Administrator's decision is not afforded within the 30-day time frame stated. The Regional Administrator concludes that these events represent good cause to extend the time requirements of the section 404(c) regulations.

Christopher J. Daggett, Regional Administrator.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

Bureau of Indian Affairs

White Earth Reservation Land Settlement Act of 1985; Impending Ratification of Questionable Land Transfers

December 11, 1987.

AGENCY: Bureau of Indian Affairs, Interior.

ACTION: Notice of intent to publish certification.

SUMMARY: This notice establishes that on January 11, 1988, the Secretary of the Interior will publish a certification in the Federal Register, in accordance with section 10(a) of the White Earth Reservation Land Settlement Act of 1985, Pub. L. 99-264.

DATE: This notice establishes that questionable land transfers, as defined in sections 4(a), 4(b) and 5(c) of the Act will be ratified on January 11, 1988, and that any action to recover title or damages, relating to transactions described in sections 4(a), 4(b), 5(a), or 5(c) of the Act, will be barred unless filed prior to the publication of the certification described above on January 11, 1988.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: White Earth Project Director, Bureau of Indian Affairs, c/o Minnesota Agency, Route 3, Box 112, Cass Lake, Minnesota 56633, Telephone: (218) 335-6913, Ext. 454.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Sections 4(a) and 4(b) of the White Earth Reservation Land Settlement Act of 1985, Pub. L. 99-264, define circumstances by which the title to an allotment of land, or interest therein, may have been lost through a questionable tax forfeiture, sale, mortgage, or other conveyance during the trust period. For each allotment or interest which falls within the scope of sections 4(a) or 4(b) of the Act, settlement compensation will be paid to the individuals determined to be entitled thereto. In addition, section 5(c) of the Act describes allotments of land which were granted to individuals who died prior to the selection dates thereof and provides that the White Earth Band of Chippewa Indians shall be compensated for such allotments.

Section 6(a) of the Act provides for the retroactive ratification of questionable land transfers which fall within the scope of sections 4(a), 4(b), or 5(c). Said ratification will take place upon the publication, in the Federal Register, of a certification that the conditions set forth in section 10(a) of the Act have been satisfied. These conditions are that: (1) The Department of the Interior and the State of Minnesota have agreed upon the transfer of 10,000 acres from the State to the United States, to be held in trust for the White Earth Band of Chippewa Indians, (2) the State has appropriated $500,000 for technical and computer assistance in implementing the Act, and (3) the United States has appropriated $6.6 million for economic development for the benefit of the White Earth Band of Chippewa Indians.

Under section 6(c) of the Act, the publication of the certification on January 11, 1988 will operate to bar any subsequent suits to recover title or damages, relating to transactions described in sections 4(a), 4(b), 5(a), or 5(c). Prior to the publication of the certification, individuals may file suits in the Federal District Court for the District of Minnesota seeking the recovery of title or damages, but individuals who file such suits would not then be eligible to receive any compensation under the Act.

The questionable land transfers to be ratified by the publication of the certification on January 11, 1988, will be identified by separate publication in the Federal Register. On September 19, 1986 (51 FR 33348), a list of 723 allotments and interests, which had been determined to fall within the scope of sections 4(a), 4(b), or 5(c) of the Act, was published in the Federal Register. Section 7(c) of the Act requires that a supplemental list be published in the Federal Register by March 12, 1988.

requirements of the MCA and the standards in *Motor Carrier Rate
Bureaus—Imp. P.L. 96-296*, 364 I.C.C. 464 (1980) and 374 I.C.C. 921 (1981) (*Rate

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

Employment Standards
Administration, Wage and Hour Division

Minimum Wages for Federal and Federally Assisted Construction;
General Wage Determination Decisions

General wage determination decisions of the Secretary of Labor are issued in accordance with applicable law and are based on the information obtained by the Department of Labor from its study of local wage conditions and data made available from other sources. They specify the basic hourly wage rates and fringe benefits which are determined to be prevailing for the described classes of laborers and mechanics employed on construction projects of a similar character and in the localities specified therein.

The determinations in these decisions of prevailing rates and fringe benefits have been made in accordance with 29 CFR Part 1, by authority of the Secretary of Labor pursuant to the provisions of the Davis-Bacon Act of March 3, 1931, as amended (46 Stat. 1494, as amended, 40 U.S.C. 276a) and of other Federal statutes referred to in 29 CFR Part 1, Appendix, as well as such additional statutes as may from time to time be enacted containing provisions for the payment of wages determined to be prevailing by the Secretary of Labor in accordance with the Davis-Bacon Act. The prevailing rates and fringe benefits determined in these decisions shall, in accordance with the provisions of the foregoing statutes, constitute the minimum wages payable on Federal and federally assisted construction projects to laborers and mechanics of the specified classes engaged on contract work of the character and in the localities described therein.

Good cause is hereby found for not utilizing notice and public comment procedure thereon prior to the issuance of these determinations as prescribed in 5 U.S.C. 553 and not providing for delay in the effective date as prescribed in that section, because the necessity to issue current construction industry wage determinations frequently and in large volume causes procedures to be impractical and contrary to the public interest.

General wage determination decisions, and modifications and supersedes decisions thereto, contain no expiration dates and are effective from their date of notice in the Federal Register, or on the date written notice is received by the agency, whichever is earlier. These decisions are to be used in accordance with the provisions of 29 CFR Parts 1 and 5. Accordingly, the applicable decision, together with any modifications issued, must be made a part of every contract for performance of the described work within the geographic area indicated as required by an applicable Federal prevailing wage law and 29 CFR Part 5. The wage rates and fringe benefits, notice of which is published herein, and which are contained in the Government Printing Office (GPO) document entitled "General Wage Determinations Issued Under The Davis-Bacon And Related Acts," shall be the minimum paid by contractors and subcontractors to laborers and mechanics.

Any person, organization, or governmental agency having an interest in the rates determined as prevailing is encouraged to submit wage rate and fringe benefit information for consideration by the Department. Further information and self-explanatory forms for the purpose of submitting this data may be obtained by writing to the U.S. Department of Labor, Employment Standards Administration, Wage and Hour Division, Division of Wage Determinations, 200 Constitution Avenue, NW., Room S-3504, Washington, DC 20210.

Ames Oil and Gas Corp., Pawnee, OK and Houston, TX; Negative Determination Regarding Application for Reconsideration

By an application postmarked November 10, 1987, the petitioners requested administrative reconsideration of the Department's negative determination on the subject petition for trade adjustment assistance. The denial notice was signed on September 25, 1987 and published in the Federal Register on October 23, 1987 (52 FR 39716).

Pursuant to 29 CFR 90.18(c) reconsideration may be granted under the following circumstances:

- (1) If it appears on the basis of facts not previously considered that the determination complained of was erroneous;
- (2) If it appears that the determination complained of was based on a mistake in the determination of facts not previously considered; or
- (3) If, in the opinion of the Certifying Officer, a misinterpretation of facts or of the law justified reconsideration of the decision.

The petitioners claim that crude oil produced by Amesco, Ltd., a producing affiliate of Ames Oil & Gas Corporation, was sold to an importer of crude oil. Petitioners claim the price of oil fell below $10 per barrel because of the general oil glut in the market.

The dominant cause for the worker separations and the cessation of production and sales were the bankruptcy proceedings which Ames Oil & Gas entered into in December 1986, followed by Amesco Ltd. in May 1987. The bankruptcy proceedings were related to the reduced cash flow brought about by declining crude oil prices. Prices and reduced cash flows, in themselves, are not criteria for a worker group certification.

Further, none of the customers importing crude oil had significant purchases from Ames Oil & Gas in 1986.

Conclusion

After review of the application and investigative findings, I conclude that there has been no error or misinterpretation of the law or of the facts which would justify reconsideration of the Department of Labor's prior decision. Accordingly, the application is denied.

General Electric Co., Lighting Business Group, Lighting Products Division, Austintown, OH; Negative Determination Regarding Application for Reconsideration

By an application dated October 5, 1987, the International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) requested administrative reconsideration of the Department's negative determination on the subject petition for trade adjustment assistance for workers at General Electric Company, Lighting Business Group, Lighting Products Division, Austintown, Ohio. The denial notice was signed on September 1, 1987 and published in the Federal Register on September 22, 1987 (52 FR 35599).

Pursuant to 29 CFR 90.18(c) reconsideration may be granted under the following circumstances:

(1) If it appears on the basis of facts not previously considered that the determination complained of was erroneous;

(2) If it appears that the determination complained was based on a mistake in the determination of facts not previously considered; or

(3) If, in the opinion of the Certifying Officer, a misinterpretation of facts or of the law justified reconsideration of the decision.

The union notes that workers at General Electric's (GE) Youngstown, Ohio lamp plant and the Warren, Ohio lamp plant were certified for adjustment assistance in 1985 and in 1987, respectively. The union reports G.E.'s announcement on its intention to eliminate the Packaging Operations at Austintown and move a part of it to Korea. The union notes that light bulbs produced in Korea and shipped to the U.S. do not incorporate filaments produced at Austintown and assumes such filaments were manufactured in Korea. Lastly, the union submitted a company statement concerning layoffs occurring in the first quarter of 1986 on associated work at Austintown for discontinued items.

Workers at the Austintown plant produce light bulb filaments which was shipped to affiliated incandescent lamp plants. A small coating and packaging operation was moved to the Austintown plant when the Youngstown lamp plant closed in 1985.

Investigative findings show that workers at General Electric's Youngstown, Ohio lamp plant were certified for adjustment assistance with a termination date of October 1, 1985, TA-W-16,974. The plant closed permanently in April, 1985. Workers producing component parts for a finished article may be certified for trade adjustment assistance if their work is related to production facilities whose workers currently meet the statutory criteria for certification. Since the Youngstown plant's certification has expired, that certification cannot provide a basis for certifying the workers at the Austintown plant.

The findings also show that workers at the Ohio lamp plant in Warren, Ohio are certified for adjustment assistance until June 3, 1989, TA-W-19,479.

Workers producing component parts for a finished article may be certified for trade adjustment assistance if a substantial amount of their production is integrated into the production of a finished article at a plant which is related by ownership or control and whose workers already meet the statutory criteria for certification. However, company officials have stated that only a small amount of Austintown's filament production is integrated into the production at the Warren plant. Thus, there is not a substantial amount of integration of production with the Warren plant to form a basis for certification.

Imported finished articles incorporating component parts like light filaments would not serve as a basis for certification. This issue was addressed in United Shoe Workers of America, AFL-CIO v. Bedell, 506 F 2d 174, (D.C. Circ. 1974). The court held that imported finished women's shoes were not like or directly competitive with shoe counters. Similarly, light filaments cannot be considered as like or directly competitive with light bulbs incorporating the filament. Section 222(3) of the Trade Act states that there must be increased imports of articles that are like or directly competitive with those produced at the worker's firm.

With respect to the transfer of the Packaging Operations to a foreign facility, investigation findings show that this transfer has not occurred. Company officials stated that the Packaging Operations transfer is scheduled to begin in mid-February 1988. Company officials indicated that there have been no layoffs with respect to the Coating or Cov-R Guard Operations at the Austintown plant.

Lastly, no basis exists for the certification of workers performing associated work on discontinued production who were laid off in early 1986. Investigative findings show that associated work on these products ceased in the first quarter of 1986. Section 223(b)(1) of the Trade Act states that no certification shall occur more than one year prior to the June 29, 1987 date of the petition.

Conclusion

After review of the application and investigative findings, I conclude that there has been no error or misinterpretation of the law or of the facts which would justify reconsideration of the Department of Labor's prior decision. Accordingly, the application is denied.

General Motors Corp., BOC Orion Assembly, Orion Township, MI, BOC Wentzville Assembly Center, Wentzville, MO; Revised Determinations on Reconsideration

On November 19, 1987, the Department issued an Affirmative Determination Regarding Application for Reconsideration for workers and former workers at General Motors Corporation's BOC Orion Assembly, Orion Township, Michigan and BOC Wentzville Assembly, Wentzville, Missouri. The affirmed notice regarding application for reconsideration was published in the Federal Register on November 30, 1987 (52 FR 45512).

The company claims that the Department used the standard automobile classification in making its determination rather than the high or standard/lower luxury automobile classification.

Workers at the Buick, Oldsmobile, Cadillac (BOC) Orion and BOC Wentzville Assembly Centers produce mainly C-body type cars.

On reconsideration, the Department found that General Motors' C-body cars link the upper standard and lower luxury class of cars by virtue of the base price factor. Further, proper consideration of the price factor indicates that the classification of cars like and directly competitive with C-body cars is the same as that used by the Department in certifying workers at General Motors' Clark Sreet plant in Detroit, Michigan which manufactures other upper standard/lower luxury cars (TA-W-20,050).

The investigation revealed that sales and production of General Motors standard/lower luxury automobiles declined absolutely during the first three quarters of model year (MY) 1987 compared to the same period in MY 1986. Employment at the BOC Orion Township and the BOC Wentzville Assembly Centers declined from MY 1986 to MY 1987.

The market share of General Motors standard/lower luxury models declined during the first three quarters of MY 1987 compared to the same period of MY 1986. The overwhelming majority of General Motors' market share loss was captured by the foreign automobile segment. The market share of imported automobiles that are competitive with General Motors' standard/lower luxury cars increased both in MY 1986 and in the first three quarters of MY 1987 compared to the corresponding periods one year earlier.

Conclusion

After careful review of the additional facts obtained on reconsideration, it is concluded that increased imports of articles like or directly competitive with standard/lower luxury automobiles produced at General Motors' BOC Orion Assembly Center, Orion Township, Michigan and BOC Wentzville Assembly Center, Wentzville, Missouri contributed importantly to the decline in sales or production and to the total or partial separation of workers at the subject locations. In accordance with the provisions of the Act, I make the following revised determinations:

All workers of the BOC Orion Assembly Center, Orion Township, Michigan and BOC Wentzville Assembly Center Wentzville, Missouri of General Motors Corporation who became totally or partially separated from employment on or after July 16, 1986 are eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974.

National Standard, Niles, MI; Negative Determination Regarding Application for Reconsideration

By an application dated October 27, 1987, the Company requested administrative reconsideration of the Department's negative determination on the subject petition for trade adjustment assistance for workers at National Standard, Niles, Michigan. The denial notice was signed on October 15, 1987 and published in the Federal Register on October 27, 1987 (52 FR 41336). Pursuant to 29 CFR 90.18(c) reconsideration may be granted under the following circumstances:

- (1) If it appears on the basis of facts not previously considered that the determination complained of was erroneous;
- (2) If it appears that the determination complained of was based on a mistake in the determination of facts not previously considered; or
- (3) If, in the opinion of the Certifying Officer, a misinterpretation of facts or of the law justified reconsideration of the decision.

The company states that the workers who sought adjustment assistance were terminated on or before March 1, 1987; however, the Department's denial is based on the transfer of company production from Niles, Michigan to Mount Joy, Pennsylvania. The company states that the production transfer did not occur until August 1987, some months after the employment reductions. It is claimed that imports of wire and tires which contain wire that was manufactured overseas affected production, sales and employment at the Niles plant.

Workers at National Standards, Niles, Michigan produce alloy wire and carbon steel wire.

The basis of the Department's denial was not the transfer of production from the Neils plant to the Mount Joy plant. Investigation findings show that the increased import criterion of the Group Eligibility Requirements of the Trade Act was not met in 1986 or in the first quarter of 1987 for alloy wire.

Concerning carbon steel wire, the findings show that the "contributed importantly" test of the increased import criterion was not met in 1986. The Department's survey showed that customers accounting for a major share of carbon steel wire purchases from National Standard decreased their import purchases in 1986 compared to 1985. Investigation findings also show that the Niles plant had increased production of carbon steel wire in the first half of 1987 compared to the same period in 1986. Corporate sales of carbon steel wire did not decrease in quantity in fiscal year (FY) 1986 compared to FY 1985 or in FY 1987 compared to FY 1986.

Imported finished articles like steek belted tires incorporating component parts like carbon steel wire would not serve as a basis for certification. This issue was addressed in United Shoe Workers of America, AFL-CIO v. Bedell, 506 F 2d 174, (D.C. Circ. 1974). The court held that imported finished women's shoes were not like or directly competitive with shoe counters. Similarly, carbon steel wire cannot be considered as like or directly competitive with steel belted tires incorporating the steel. Section 222(3) of the Trade Act states that there must be increased imports of articles that are like or directly competitive with those produced at the workers' firm.

Conclusion

After review of the application and investigative findings, I conclude that there has been no error or misinterpretation of the law or of the facts which would justify reconsideration of the Department of Labor's prior decision. Accordingly, the application is denied.

Tru-Weld Grating, Inc., Pittsburgh, PA; Negative Determination Regarding Application for Reconsideration

By an application dated November 11, 1987, the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America requested administrative reconsideration of the Department's negative determination on the subject petition for trade adjustment assistance for workers at Tru-Weld Grating, Inc., Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. The denial notice was signed on October 15, 1987 and published in the Federal Register on October 27, 1987 (52 FR 41336).

Pursuant to 29 CFR 90.18(c) reconsideration may be granted under the following circumstances:

(1) If it appears on the basis of facts not previously considered that the determination complained of was erroneous;

(2) If it appears that the determination complained of was based on a mistake in the determination of facts not previously considered; or

(3) If in the opinion of the Certifying Officer, a misinterpretation of facts or of the law justified reconsideration of the decision.

The union claims that the company under reported its company imports of grating from Canada in 1987 as well as imports from other Canadian manufacturers since the shutdown of its Pittsburgh (Neville Island) facility.

Workers at Tru-Weld Grating in Pittsburgh produced steel grating mainly for the construction industry.

In order for a worker group to be certified eligible to apply for adjustment assistance it must meet all three criteria of the Group Eligibility Requirements of the Trade Act of 1974. Investigative findings show that the decreased sales and production criterion was not met in 1986. Sales and production of steel grating increased in 1986 compared to 1985. Because of a strike which began on February 9, 1987, the Department can only use the first five weeks on 1987 to determine whether imports of grating contributed importantly to worker separations. The findings show that the decreased employment criterion was not met for this period as there were no layoffs in 1987 prior to the strike.

The Pittsburgh facility is a leased facility with the lease running out in mid-1988. The company was informed before the strike that the lease would not be renewed. Company officials indicated that they closed the plant on March 20, 1987 when the union refused to bargain and all production was transferred to the Litchfield, Illinois plant. A domestic transfer of production would not form a basis for certification. The company is building a new grating plant in Meadeville, Pennsylvania which is scheduled to open in mid-1988.

Official company data show that company imports continued to be small in the first seven months of 1987 compared to the same period in 1986. However, any imports after February 9, 1987 would not form a basis for certification since the workers had voluntarily separated themselves from employment.

Conclusion

After review of the application and investigative findings, I conclude that there has been no error or misinterpretation of the law or of the facts which would justify reconsideration of the Department of Labor's prior decision. Accordingly, the application is denied.

Signed at Washington, DC, this 3rd day of December 1987.

BILLING CODE 4510-30-M

NUCLEAR REGULATORY COMMISSION

[Docket No. 50-440]

The Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co., et al.; Consideration of Issuance of Amendment to Facility Operating License and Opportunity for Prior Hearing

The United States Nuclear Regulatory Commission (the Commission) is considering issuance of an amendment to Facility Operating License No. NPF-58, issued to The Cleveland Electric Illuminating Company, Duquesne Light Company, Ohio Edison Company, Pennsylvania Power Company, and Toledo Edison Company (the licensees), for operation of the Perry Nuclear Power Plant, Unit No. 1, located in Lake County, Ohio.

The amendment would delete the provisions in the Technical Specifications relating to the Main Steam Isolation Valve (MSIV) Leakage Control System (LCS) (Sections 3.6.1.4 and 4.6.1.4 and related bases). The amendment would also revise the leakage criteria for primary containment allowable leakage through the main steam lines from less than or equal to 25 standard cubic feet per hour (SCFH) for any one main steam line (there are four main steam lines total) to less than or equal to 100 SCFH for all main steam lines in accordance with the licensees' application for amendment dated September 18, 1987.

Prior to issuance of the proposed license amendment, the Commission will have made findings required by the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended (the Act) and the Commission's regulations.

By January 11, 1988, the licensees may file a request for a hearing with respect to issuance of the amendment to the subject facility operating license and any person whose interest may be affected by this proceeding and who wishes to participate as a party in the proceeding must file a written petition for leave to intervene. Requests for a hearing and petitions for leave to intervene shall be filed in accordance with the Commission's "Rules of Practice for Domestic Licensing Proceedings" in 10 CFR Part 2. If a request for a hearing or petition for leave to intervene is filed by the above date, the Commission or an Atomic Safety and Licensing Board, designated by the Commission or by the Chairman of the Atomic Safety and Licensing Board Panel, will rule on the request and/or petition, and the Secretary or the designated Atomic Safety and Licensing Board will issue a notice of hearing or an appropriate order.

As required by 10 CFR 2.714, a petition for leave to intervene shall set forth with particularity the interest of the petitioner in the proceeding, and how that interest may be affected by the results of the proceeding. The petition should specifically explain the reasons why intervention should be permitted with particular reference to the following factors: (1) The nature of the petitioner's right under the Act to be made a party to the proceeding; (2) the nature and extent of the petitioner's property, financial, or other interest in the proceeding; and (3) the possible effect of any order which may be entered in the proceeding on the petitioner's interest. The petition should also identify the specific aspect(s) of the subject matter of the proceeding as to which petitioner wishes to intervene. Any person who has filed a petition for leave to intervene or who has been admitted as a party may amend the petition without requesting leave of the Board up to fifteen (15) days prior to the first prehearing conference scheduled in the proceeding, but such an amended petition must satisfy the specificity requirements described above.

Not later than fifteen (15) days prior to the first prehearing conference scheduled in the proceeding, a petitioner shall file a supplement to the petition to intervene which must include a list of the contentions which are sought to be litigated in the matter, and the bases for each contention set forth with reasonable specificity. Contentions shall be limited to matters within the scope of the amendment under consideration. A petitioner who fails to file such a supplement which satisfies these requirements with respect to at least one contention will not be permitted to participate as a party.

Those permitted to intervene become parties to the proceeding, subject to any limitations in the order granting leave to intervene, and have the opportunity to participate fully in the conduct of the hearing, including the opportunity to present evidence and cross-examine witnesses.

A request for a hearing or a petition for leave to intervene shall be filed with the Secretary of the Commission, United States Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, DC 20555, Attention: Docketing and Service Branch, or may be delivered to the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, DC, by the above date. Where petitions are filed during the last ten (10) days of the notice period, it is requested that the petitioner or representative for the petitioner promptly so inform the Commission by a toll-free telephone call to Western Union at (800) 325-6000 (in Missouri (800) 342-6700). The Western Union operator should be given Datagram Identification Number 3737 and the following message addressed to Martin J. Virgilio: (petitioner's name and telephone number); (date Petition was mailed); (plant name); and (publication date and page number of this Federal Register notice). A copy of the petition should also be sent to the Office of the General Counsel-Bethesda, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, DC 20555, and to Jay Silberg, Esq., Shaw, Pittman, Potts and Trowbridge, 2300 N Street NW., Washington, DC 20037, attorney for The Cleveland Electric Illuminating Company.

Nontimely filings of petitions for leave to intervene, amended petitions, supplemental petitions and/or requests for hearing will not be entertained absent a determination by the Commission, the presiding officer or the presiding Atomic Safety and Licensing Board, that the petition and/or request should be granted based upon a balancing of the factors specified in 10 CFR 2.714(a)(1)(i)-(v) and 2.714(d).

For further details with respect to this action, see the application for amendment dated September 18, 1987, which is available for public inspection at the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, DC, and at the Perry Public Library, 3753 Main Street, Perry, Ohio 44081.

Dated at Bethesda, Maryland, this 7th day of December, 1987.

[Docket Nos. 50-327 and 50-328]

Tennessee Valley Authority, (Sequoyah Nuclear Plant, Units 1 and
2); Exemption

I

The Tennessee Valley Authority (the licensee) is the holder of Facility Operating Licenses No. DPR-77 and DPR-79 which authorize operation of the Sequoyah Nuclear Plant, Units 1 and 2, respectively. These licenses provide that, among other things, the facility is subject to all rules, regulations and orders of the Commission now or hereafter in effect.

The Sequoyah facility consists of two pressurized water reactors located at the licensee's site in Hamilton County, Tennessee.

II

General Design Criterion (GDC) 55 of Appendix A to 10 CFR Part 50 requires that each reactor coolant pressure boundary line penetrating the primary reactor containment be provided with containment isolation valves. The combination of valves is to be one inside and one outside containment and either automatic or locked closed. The GDC does allow for a demonstration of acceptability for a specific class of lines on some other defined basis.

As part of the original design of Sequoyah Nuclear Plant Units 1 and 2, TVA relied upon certain closed systems as the outside containment isolation barrier to meet the Commission's regulations, specifically GDC-55 and 56, on some "other defined basis." The NRC staff issued NUREG-0011, dated March 1979, which documents the acceptability of TVA's compliance with the GDC; however, the staff did not specifically address the acceptability of an "other defined basis" for any containment isolation configurations.

Subsequent to the development of the TMI Action Plan, NRC staff policy has been established that closed systems outside containment are not generally acceptable as an isolation barrier for lines covered by GDC 55 and 56.

As a result of an NRC staff inspection conducted at Sequoyah in March 1986, apparent discrepancies in system compliance with the containment isolation requirements were identified. These findings led to a general reassessment of the containment isolation design and the "other defined basis" assumptions made for the Sequoyah Nuclear Plant, Units 1 and 2.

Subsequent to discussions with TVA, by letter dated January 2, 1987 TVA redesignated certain existing system line isolation valves as containment isolation valves. The Commission's requirements, however, could not be met in every isolated case. In most of the cases evaluated, the explicit requirements of GDC 55 or 56 could be satisfied by valve redesignation, thereby imposing them to the associated operability, surveillance, and testing requirements. For these cases where the staff requirements could not be met, TVA has requested an exemption from the GDC. This exemption addresses the Sequoyah Nuclear Plant, Units 1 and 2, containment isolation valves in the four Reactor Coolant Pump (RCP) Seal Injection Lines.

By letter dated January 23, 1987, the licensee requested an exemption to GDC 55 for the four RCP seal water injection lines. The exemption is needed because the containment isolation provisions for each RCP seal injection line consists of a check valve inside containment and a local manual glove valve outside containment. The local manual glove valves are located in the supply header feeding the seal injection lines. In summary, an exemption has been requested because the local manual globe valves are not locked closed nor are they automatic isolation valves, and therefore, do not meet specific valve type requirements of 10 CFR Part 50, Appendix A, GDC 55.

As justification for the exemption the licensee stated that it was desirable, for certain transient and accidents, that the RCP seal injection lines remain in service to protect the RCP seals, and thus these lines should not be automatically isolated, or locked closed.

The licensee has stated that in addition to the inboard check valves and the outboard local manual valves, there are other isolation barriers that provide protection against leakage to the environment from these penetrations. First, the system outside containment is a closed system designed to seismic Category 1 standards and meets at least Safety Class 2 design requirements. Secondly, these lines are in service under normal, transient, and accident conditions, with at least one centrifugal charging pump providing a water seal at a pressure sufficient to preclude containment atmosphere leakage. NRC staff recognizes that both the water seal and the closed system outside containment, in these circumstances, are equivalent to a valve as isolation barriers since each of these barriers can withstand a single active failure.

Based on the above considerations, the staff concludes that the proposed containment isolation provisions for the RCP seal water injection lines, with the existing containment isolation valves, are adequate and that an exemption from the requirements of GDC 55 should be granted for the RCP seal injection lines. The NRC staff notes that application of the regulation in these particular circumstances is not necessary to achieve the underlying purpose of the rule since the Sequoyah Nuclear Plant, Units 1 and 2 design provides a check valve inside containment and a local manual valve for the lines outside containment combined with both a closed system and continuous water seal at a pressure sufficient to preclude containment atmospheric leakage.

III

Accordingly, the Commission has determined that, pursuant to 10 CFR 50.12, the exemption is authorized by law, will not present an undue risk to the public health and safety, and is consistent with the common defense and security. The Commission further determines that special circumstances, as provided in 10 CFR 50.12(a)(2)(ii), are present justifying the exemption—namely, that application of the regulation in the particular circumstances is not necessary to achieve the underlying purpose of the rule in that the licensee's design provides two redundant means of isolation, with a check valve inside containment and a local manual valve outside containment combined with a closed system and a water seal at a sufficient pressure to preclude containment atmospheric leakage.

The Commission hereby grants an exemption from the valve type requirements of GDC 55 of Appendix A to 10 CFR Part 50 to the licensee for operation of the Sequoyah Nuclear Plant, Units 1 and 2, in that the RCP seal injection lines can be isolated using a check valve inside containment and a local manual globe valve outside containment.

Pursuant to 10 CFR 51.32, the Commission has determined that the issuance of this exemption will have no significant impact on the environment (52 FR 5220, February 19, 1987; 52 FR 6250, March 2, 1987).

For further details with respect to this action, see the request for exemption dated January 23, 1987, which is available for public inspection at the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street, NW., Washington, DC, and at the Chattanooga-Hamilton County Library, 1001 Broad Street, Chattanooga, Tennessee 37402.

This exemption is effective upon issuance.

Dated At Bethesda, Maryland, this 4th day of December, 1987.

Applicants' Representations

1. The Partnership is a Delaware limited partnership formed as an "employees' securities company" within the meaning of section 2(a)(13) of the 1940 Act. The General Partner, Prudential-Bache Partners Inc., is a Nevada corporation. The limited partners ("Limited Partners") who will invest in the Partnership will be restricted to senior employees of Prudential-Bache Securities Inc. ("Prudential-Bache"), a registered broker-dealer which, with its affiliates, is engaged in various facets of the investment banking, securities, and commodities businesses.

2. Prudential-Bache will establish successive limited partnerships annually ("Subsequent Partnerships") that will be similar to the Partnership (collectively, "Partnerships"). As is the case with the Partnership, each Subsequent Partnership will be a closed-end, non-diversified, management investment company and will be subject to the same terms and conditions to which the existing Partnership will be subject under the requested order.

3. Each Subsequent Partnership will also be an "employees' securities company" within the meaning of section 2(a)(13) of the 1940 Act, inasmuch as participation in all the Subsequent Partnership will be limited to highly compensated, key employees of Prudential-Bache. Further, (a) Limited Partner participants in the Partnerships, in addition to being experienced professionals in the investment banking and securities businesses, or in administrative, financial and accounting, legal or operational activities related thereto, will be sophisticated investors able to fend for themselves without benefit of regulatory safeguards; (b) all Limited Partners will understand that (i) interest in the Partnerships will be sold under a claim of exemption under section 4(2) of Securities Act of 1933 ("1933 Act"), and thus, are offered without registration under the 1933 Act and the protections afforded by that law, and (ii) although registered under the 1940 Act, the Partnerships will be exempt from most provisions of the 1940 Act; (c) with limited exceptions, Limited Partners will further be required to meet the "accredited investors" standard of Regulation D under the 1933 Act and, in any case, will have had a minimum income in the past year of $150,000 and expectations of income in excess of $150,000 in the present year; (d) a substantial community of economic and other interests exists among Prudential-Bache and the Limited Partners which obviates the need for investors protection under the 1940 Act; and (e) the Partnerships were conceived and will be organized and promoted by persons who will themselves be investing in the Partnerships rather than by persons seeking to profit from fees for investment advice or from the distribution of securities.

4. The Partnerships will enable key employees of Prudential-Bache to pool their investment resources and to receive the benefit of certain investment opportunities that come to the attention of Prudential-Bache and its affiliates, including Prudential-Bache Interfunding Inc. ("PBIF"). Prudential-Bache, the General Partner and PBIF are wholly-owned subsidiaries of Prudential Securities Group Inc. ("PSG"), a Delaware corporation which in turn, is an indirect subsidiary of The Prudential Insurance Company of America.

5. The management of the Partnerships will be exclusively vested in the General Partner. The directors and principal officers of the General Partner are directors or officers of Prudential-Bache and are eligible to be Limited Partners. However, certain members of a committee, established by the General Partner's Board of Directors for the purpose of exercising independent judgment in supervising certain investment-related decisions of the Partnerships ("Corporate Governance Committee"), will be directors and principal officers of Prudential-Bache but will not be permitted to be Limited Partners.

6. The General Partner will receive no compensation for its services although it may be reimbursed for out-of-pocket expenses incurred by it or its directors and officers in connection with the sale or liquidation of Partnership investments. The General Partner will bear all other expenses in connection with the organization and ordinary operations of the Partnerships, including all legal and accounting fees and all overhead and administrative expenses. In addition, the General Partner will make a capital contribution equal to one ninety-ninth (1/99th) of the aggregate contributions of the Limited Partners and PSG has agreed to lend to the initial Partnership an aggregate amount equal to 400% of the total capital contributions of the Limited Partners to provide funding for Partnership investments. The Limited Partners will be fully informed of the exact terms of the loans including the interest rate and the manner of payment.

7. The investment objective of the Partnership is to permit the Limited Partners to realize capital appreciation through investments in transactions commonly referred to as "leveraged" or "management" buyouts ("Buyouts") that are structured by PBIF ("PBIF Investments"), and through a wide range of other speculative investments originated by persons other than PBIF ("Non-PBIF Investments"). PBIF, a newly organized corporation, has been formed by the General Partner's parent company, PSG, among other things, for the purpose of acting as principal in Buyouts and to syndicate a substantial portion of such investments to affiliated or non-affiliated investor groups.

8. The Partnership will acquire PBIF Investments at the Partnership's proportionate share of PBIF's cost of such investments without any fee or profit to PBIF. The Partnership's cost of Non-PBIF Investments acquired from Prudential-Bache or its other affiliates will be on the same basis as PBIF Investments. In all cases where affiliates of Prudential-Bache or the Partnership are also investors, the cost to the Partnership of such investment must be approved by the Corporate Governance Committee. The Partnership will invest in all PBIF Investments until it has invested at least 50% of the Partnership's capital contributions and the loans to be made in connection therewith in such PBIF Investments, subject to a waiver by the Corporate Governance Committee. The balance of up to 50% of the Partnership's assets will be invested in Non-PBIF Investments, which will consist of speculative investments in equity and equity-related transactions.

9. As provided in the Partnership Agreement, a Limited Partner's interest in the Partnership is non-transferable except with the express consent of the General Partner and it is not intended that the General Partner will consent to transfers to persons other than members of the transferor's immediate family, to one or more Limited Partners, or to the General Partner. Upon the death of a Limited Partner, or his becoming incompetent or bankrupt, his estate or legal representatives will succeed to his interest as an assignee or, with the consent of the General Partner, may become a Limited Partner on the same terms. Upon a Limited Partner ceasing for any other reason to be employed by Prudential-Bache within five full years after the closing date of Limited Partner interests, the General Partner has the irrevocable right and option to purchase for its own account a portion of the Limited Partner's interest at its original cost (the amount of such interest subject to purchase is based upon the length of time that such Limited Partner has been employed by Prudential-Bache) for cash or by delivery of the General Partner's interest bearing promissory note.

10. Each Limited Partner will receive annual financial statements examined by independent certified public accountants and a report setting forth information with respect to such Limited Partner's distributive share of income, gains, losses, credits and other items for Federal and state income tax purposes.

11. Applicants request exemption from all provisions of the 1940 Act except (a) sections 9, 36 and 37, (b) certain provisions of sections 17 and 30, (c) the sections of the 1940 Act necessary to implement sections 9, 36 and 37 and the applicable provisions of sections 17 and 30, (d) the administrative and jurisdictional sections necessary to enforce compliance with the terms of the order sought, and (e) such other provisions as the SEC may consider appropriate, as set forth below.

12. Applicants request all exemption from section 17(a) of the 1940 Act, to the extent necessary, to permit Prudential-Bache or its affiliates to engage in any transaction as principal with the Partnership in addition to transactions as agent. This exemption is requested to permit the Partnerships to (a) invest, as appropriate, in securities of companies or other investment vehicles offered by PBIF, Prudential-Bache, or any other affiliated company or partnership on a principal basis and to purchase or sell securities or investments in such entities through Prudential-Bache, or an affiliate, as agent; (b) purchase interests or property in, or lend money to, a company or other investment vehicle in which PBIF, Prudential-Bache, an affiliated company or partnership, or individual directors, officers, or employees of Prudential-Bache already own 5% or more of the voting securities of such company or investment vehicle, or where such company or investment vehicle is otherwise affiliated with Prudential-Bache or a Partnership (including through a Partnership's ownership of 5% or more of the voting securities of such entity); (c) sell, put or tender, or grant options in securities or interests in a company or other investment vehicle back to such entity, where that entity is affiliated with PBIF, Prudential-Bache, an affiliated company or partnership, individual directors, officers or employees of Prudential-Bache otherwise than as a result of the Partnership's ownership of voting securities; (d) participate as a selling security holder in a public offering that is underwritten by Prudential-Bache or an affiliate or in which Prudential-Bache or an affiliate acts as a member of the underwriting or selling group; and (e) make short term temporary investments where such investments will be purchased from, and sold to, Prudential-Bache or an affiliate thereof. Applicants represent that these transactions will only be effected upon a determination by the Corporate Governance Committee of the General Partner that the terms of the transaction (including the consideration to paid or received) are reasonable and fair to the Limited Partners of the Partnerships and to the Partnerships involved in the transactions and do not involve overreaching on the part of any person concerned.

13. Applicants also request an order under section 17(d) of the 1940 Act and Rule 17d-1 thereunder to permit the Partnerships to engage in transactions in which affiliated persons of the Partnerships may also be participants. Applicants state that such order is necessary in view of the fact that the investment objectives of the Partnerships will require that the Partnerships invest at least 50% of their capital contributions and the loans to be made in connection therewith in PBIF Investments. Applicants also state that the Partnerships expect that the balance of up to 50% of the Partnerships' investments will be in the Non-PBIF Investments that nonetheless may involve transactions and investments in which affiliates of the General Partner, other than PBIF, may be participants. Applicants contend that to permit investments with PBIF and other affiliates will not lead to disadvantageous treatment of the Partnership because Prudential-Bache, in addition to its substantial indirect financial stake in the Partnerships, will be acutely concerned with its relationship with, and the welfare of, the key employees who invest in the Partnerships. Applicants undertake that with respect to PBIF Investments and Non-PBIF Investment in which an affiliate of the General Partner is also a participant, the General Partner will approve the cost to the Partnership of such investments, for fairness and adequacy, and to assure against overreaching. Applicants agree that any order issued by the SEC shall require the General Partner to observe the standards prescribed in sections 9, 36, 37 and 57(f)(3) of the 1940 Act. Applicants also request limited exemptions from sections 17(f), 17(g) and 17(j) of the 1940 Act and Rules 17f-1, 17g-1 and 17j-1, thereunder.

14. Applicants also seek exemption from sections 30(a), 30(b) and 30(d) of the 1940 Act and the rules thereunder, which would require the Partnerships to mail to the Limited Partners and file with the SEC certain periodic reports and financial statements, to permit each Partnership to report annually to the Limited Partners. The forms prescribed by the SEC for periodic reports have little relevance to the Partnerships and would entail administrative and legal costs that outweigh any benefit to the Limited Partners. In addition, because interests in the Partnerships would not be available to the public, the purposes intended to be served by sections 30(a) and 30(b) are not relevant to the Partnerships. Applicants undertake that each Partnership will file with the SEC a copy of the financial statements and reports required to be provided annually to the Limited Partners pursuant to the Partnership Agreement. Applicants further request that such filings and any other of its filings with the SEC under section 30 be afforded confidential treatment under section 45(a) of the 1940 Act. Confidential treatment is requested because there will be no public trading in interests of the Partnerships and the Limited Partners, who are the only people with a legitimate interest in such information, would receive that information.

15. Applicants further request exemption from the filing requirements of section 30(f) for the officers, directors or members of the advisory board of a Partnership. Because no trading market for any Partnership interests will exist and transferability of the interests will be severely restricted, the purposes intended by this section would not be served.

Applicants' Legal Conclusions

1. Applicants submit that the exemptions requested pursuant to sections 6(b) and 6(e) of the 1940 Act are consistent with the protection of investors. Applicants also submit that the terms of the proposed affiliated transactions are reasonable and fair and free from overreaching, and are consistent with the policy of each registered investment company concerned. In addition, Applicants assert that the participation of each Partnership will not be on a basis less advantageous than that of any other participant. Finally, Applicants argue that public disclosure of the documents for which confidential treatment has been requested is neither necessary nor appropriate in the public interest or the protection of investors. In support of these contentions, Applicants cite the nature of the Partnerships as employees' securities companies under the 1940 Act and their intended manner of operation. Applicants also point out that because the Partnerships will be managed by individuals who are also Limited Partners, a substantial community of interest will exist between the management of each Partnership and the Limited Partners, which obviates the need for the protections provided by the 1940 Act.

For the SEC, by the Division of Investment Management, pursuant to delegated authority.

ADDRESS: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 450 5th Street, NW., Washington, DC 20549. Russell Insurance Funds, Inc., 1201 Pacific Avenue, Tacoma, Washington 98402.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Jeffrey M. Ulness, Attorney, at (202) 272-2028, or Lewis B. Reich, Special Counsel, (Division of Investment Management).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Following is a summary of the application. The complete application is available for a fee from either the SEC's Public Reference Branch in person or the SEC's Commercial Copier at (800) 231-3282 (in Maryland (301) 258-4300).

Applicant's Representations

1. Applicant is registered under the 1940 Act as an open end diversified management investment company of the series type. It presently proposes to maintain five Portfolios (Series): Multi-Style Equity Fund series, Aggressive Equity Fund series, Non-U.S. Fund series, Short-Intermediate Fixed Income Fund series and Money Market Liquidity Fund series.

2. Applicant proposes to offer its shares to the separate accounts of Participating Insurance Companies which issue either variable annuity contracts or scheduled or flexible premium variable life insurance contracts (together, "variable life insurance"). The use of a common investment management company as the investment medium of both variable annuities and variable life insurance is referred to herein as "mixed funding." The use of a common investment management company as the investment medium for separate accounts of unaffiliated insurance companies is referred to herein as "shared funding."

3. Rules 6e-2 and 6e-3(T) under the Act provide certain exemptions from the Act in order to permit insurance company separate accounts to issue variable life insurance. Rule 6e-2(b)(15), however, precludes both mixed and shared funding and Rule 6e-3(T)(b)(15) precludes share funding. Applicant requests exemptive relief to the extent necessary to permit its shares to be sold for mixed funding and shared funding. Applicant requests exemptive relief extending to a class consisting of life insurers and variable life separate accounts investing in Applicant (and principal underwriters and depositors of those separate accounts) which would otherwise be precluded from investing in Applicant by virtue of Applicant's offering its shares to variable annuity separate accounts or unaffiliated separate accounts.

4. Applicant asserts that granting its request for relief to engage in mixed and shared funding will benefit variable contract owners by: (1) Eliminating a significant portion of the costs of establishing and administering separate funds; (2) allowing for the development of larger pools of assets resulting in greater cost efficiencies; and (3) encouraging more insurance companies to offer variable contracts, which should result in increased competition and lower contract charges. Applicant asserts that the Portfolios will not be managed to favor or disfavor any particular insurer or type of insurance product.

Disqualification

5. Applicant request relief from section 9(a) and Rules 6e-2(b)(15) and 6e-3(T)(b)(15) to the extent necessary to permit mixed and shared funding, viz. that the relief granted by paragraph (b)(15) of Rules 6e-2 and 6e-3(T) from section 9(a) be extended to Participating Insurance Companies and variable life separate accounts which may use applicant as an investment medium to fund variable life insurance contracts, subject to the conditions regarding conflicts set out below.

6. In support of its request, Applicant asserts that the same policies that led the Commission to limit the provisions of section 9(a) to those employees of an insurance company engaged in managing the separate account are applicable to insurance companies and their separate accounts that are funded by a fund offering mixed and shared funding. Thus, Applicant argues that it would serve no regulatory purpose to apply the provisions of section 9(a) to the many employees of the Participating Insurance Companies whose separate accounts may utilize Applicant as a funding medium for variable life insurance contracts. Moreover, Applicant submits that applying the requirements of section 9(a) in such cases would increase the costs of monitoring for compliance with that section, which would reduce the net rates of return realized by contractowners. Under the relief requested, Section 9 would still apply to those employees managing the separate account and would thus insulate Applicant from those individuals who should remain disqualified under the Act.

Voting

7. Applicant requests relief from sections 13(a), 15(a), and 15(b) of the Act and Rules 6e-2(b)(15) and 6e-3(T)(b)(15) thereunder to the extent necessary to permit mixed and shared funding; viz. that the relief granted by paragraph (b)(15) of Rules 6e-2 and 6e-3(T) from sections 13(a), 15(a) and 15(b) be extended to the Participating Insurance Companies and their variable life separate accounts which use Applicant as an investment medium to fund variable life contracts subject to the conditions regarding conflicts set out below.

8. In support of this request for relief, Applicant states that all variable annuity and variable life contract owners will be provided pass-through voting rights with respect to shares of the Applicant. Because paragraphs (b)(15) of both Rule 6e-2 and Rule 6e-3(T) permit the insurance company to disregard these voting instructions in certain limited circumstances, Applicant acknowledges that this may cause an irreconcilable conflict of interest to develop among the separate accounts. Applicant proposes to resolve these potential conflicts through certain undertakings it proposes as conditions to receipt of exemptive relief set out below. Thus, according to Applicant, if a particular Participating Insurance Company's disregard of voting instructions conflicted with the voting instructions of a majority of the contractowners, or precluded a majority vote, the insurer may be required, at Applicant's election, to withdraw its separate account's investment in Applicant. The Participating Insurance Companies will vote shares for which they have not received voting instructions, as well as shares attributable to them, in the same proportion as they vote shares for which they have received instructions.

Applicant's Conditions

Applicant states that it will comply with the following conditions:

1. A majority of the Board of Directors of Applicant ("Board") shall consist of persons who are not interested persons of Applicant, as defined by the 1940 Act.

2. The Board will monitor Applicant for the existence of any material irreconcilable conflict between the interests of the contractowners of all separate accounts investing in Applicant. An irreconcilable material conflict may arise for a variety of reasons, including: (a) An action by any state insurance regulatory authority; (b) a change in applicable federal or state insurance tax, or securities laws or regulations, or a public ruling, private letter ruling, or any similar action by insurance, tax, or securities regulatory authorities; (c) an administrative or judicial decision in any relevant proceeding; (d) the manner in which the investments of any Portfolio are being managed; (e) a difference in voting instructions given by variable annuity contractowners and variable life insurance contractowners or by contractowners of different Participating Insurance Companies; or (f) a decision by an insurer to disregard the voting instructions of contractowners.

3. Participating Insurance Companies and the Investment Adviser will report any potential or existing conflicts to Applicant's Board. Participating

Insurance Companies will be responsible for assisting the Board in carrying out its responsibilities by providing the Board with all information reasonably necessary for the Board to consider any issues raised including information as to a decision by an insurer to disregard voting instructions of contractowners. The responsibility to report such information and conflicts and to assist the Board will be contractual obligations of all insurers investing in Applicant under their agreements governing participation in Applicant.

4. If it is determined by a majority of the Board of Applicant or a majority of its disinterested trustees that a material irreconcilable conflict exists, the relevant Participating Insurance Companies shall, at their expense, take whatever steps are necessary to remedy or eliminate the irreconcilable material conflict, which steps could include: (a) Withdrawing the assets allocable to some or all of the separate accounts from Applicant or any Series (Portfolio) and reinvesting such assets in a different investment medium, including another Portfolio of Applicant, or submitting the question of whether such segregation should be implemented to a vote of all affected contractowners and, as appropriate, segregating the assets of any particular group (i.e. annuity contractowners, life insurance contractowners, or variable contractowners of one or more Participating Insurance Companies) that votes in favor of such segregation, or offering to the affected contractowners the option of making such a change; and (b) establishing a new registered management investment company or managed separate account. If a material irreconcilable conflict arises because of a Participating Insurance Company's decision to disregard contractowner voting instructions and that decision represents a minority position or would preclude a majority vote, the Participating Insurance Company may be required, at Applicant's election, to withdraw its separate account's investment in Applicant, and no charge or penalty will be imposed against a separate account as a result of such a withdrawal. The responsibility to take remedial action in the event of a Board determination of an irreconcilable material conflict and to bear the cost of such remedial action shall be a contractual obligation of all Participating Insurance Companies under their agreements governing participation in Applicant and those responsibilities will be carried out with a view only to the interests of their contractowners. For purposes of this condition 4, a majority of the disinterested members of the Board shall determine whether or not any proposed action adequately remedies any irreconcilable conflict, but in no event will Applicant be required to establish a new funding medium for any variable contract. No Participating Insurance Company shall be required by this condition 4 to establish a new funding medium for any variable contract if an offer to do so has been declined by vote of a majority of affected contractowners.

5. The Board's determination of the existence of an irreconcilable material conflict and its implications shall be made known promptly to all Participating Insurance Companies.

6. Participating Insurance Companies shall provide pass-through voting privileges to all variable contractowners so long as the Commission continues to interpret the Act to require pass-through voting privileges for variable contractowners. Participating Insurance Companies shall be responsible for assuring that each of their separate accounts participating in Applicant calculates voting privileges in a manner consistent with other Participating Insurance Companies. The obligation to calculate voting privileges in a manner consistent with all other separate accounts investing in Applicant shall be a contractual obligation of all present and future Participating Insurance Companies under their agreements governing participation in Applicant. Participating Insurance Companies will vote shares for which they have not received voting instructions, as well as shares attributable to them, in the same proportion as they vote shares for which they have received instructions.

7. All reports received by the Board of potential or existing conflicts, determining the existence of a conflict, notifying Participating Insurance Companies of a conflict, and determining whether any proposed action adequately remedied a conflict, will be properly recorded in the minutes of the Board or other appropriate records, and such minutes or other records shall be made available to the Commission upon request.

For the Commission, by the Division of Investment Management, pursuant to delegated authority.

Jonathan G. Katz,
Secretary.

At these meetings, officers responsible for Antarctic affairs in the Department of State will discuss key issues and problems involving the Antarctic in the context of current domestic and international developments. These sessions will be open to the public. The public will be admitted to the session to the limits of seating capacity and will be given the opportunity to participate in discussion according to the instructions of the Chairman. As access to the Department of State is controlled, person wishing to attend the meetings should enter the Department through the Diplomatic (C Street) Entrance.

Department officials will be at the Diplomatic Entrance to escort attendees.

The Antarctic Section of the Oceans and International Environmental and Scientific Affairs Advisory Committee will also meet on Friday, January 8, and Friday, February 26, 1988, in Room 1205, Department of State, 22nd and C Streets NW., in sessions that will not be open to the public. OFFICE OF THE UNITED STATES TRADE REPRESENTATIVE

[Docket No. 301-49]

Unfair Trade Practices; Brazil's Informatics Policy

ACTION: Supplemental request for public comment on possible U.S. actions in response to certain Brazilian unfair trade practices.

SUMMARY: This notice provides additional information regarding the public hearings to be held on possible trade sanctions against Brazil, specifies contacts for further information, and lists products under consideration for increased duties or other import restrictions in terms of the Harmonized System tariff nomenclature.

Background: This notice supplements information given earlier (52 FR 44939), which announced public hearings on possible sanctions in the Brazil informatics section 301 case.

Public Hearings: Remarks at the public hearings on December 18, 1987, will be limited to no more than 5 minutes, to accommodate all interested parties (not 10 minutes as stated in the prior notice at 52 FR 44939).

If the number of parties giving oral testimony warrants, hearings may begin on December 17 and continue on December 18. The deadline for notifying the Office of the U.S. Trade Representative of intent to give oral testimony is December 10; parties testifying will be notified soon thereafter of the date of their testimony.

Contacts for Further Information: General questions about products under consideration for increased duties should be directed to Joseph Diamond, U.S. Department of Commerce, (202) 377-2831; questions about informatics products in particular should be directed to R. Clay Woods, U.S. Department of Commerce, (202) 377-3013; questions about the disposition of the informatics section 301 case should be directed to Christina Lund, Director for Brazil and Southern Cone Affairs, Office of the U.S. Trade Representative, (202) 395-5190.

Annex: The annex lists products being considered for increased duties or other import restrictions in terms of the Harmonized System tariff nomenclature. The list represents the best possible conversion of the Annex to the notice at 52 FR 44939, which listed the products in terms of the nomenclature of the current Tariff Schedules of the United States (TSUS). Trade data indicate that the Harmonized System conversion covers virtually the identical products as the TSUS listing. However, because the conversion is not in all cases exact, some differences in precise product coverage may arise. Comments are sought on any product coverage discrepancies created by the conversion of tariff nomenclature.

Chairman, Section 301 Committee.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Expedited Funds Availability Act, Title VI of Pub. L. 100-86, requires banks and other depository institutions (collectively referred to as "banks" in the proposed regulation) to make funds deposited into accounts available to depositors within time periods specified by the Act and to disclose funds availability policies to their depositors. The Board is given responsibility to prescribe regulations to implement the Act. The Act also provides the Board with broad authority to adopt regulations to improve the check processing system so that checks may be cleared and, if necessary, returned within the funds availability schedules mandated by the Act.

The Board is today requesting comment on a series of proposals, Docket Nos. R-0620, R-0621, and R-0622, that will exercise its responsibilities under the Act. Docket No. R-0620 consists of a proposed regulation (Regulation CC, 12 CFR Part 229) that will clarify the definitions of the Act, provide detailed rules to facilitate compliance with the availability and disclosure requirements, and make several substantive changes to the current law on the collection of checks to encourage faster return of unpaid checks, thus minimizing the losses that could result from compliance with the availability schedules. Docket No. R-0621 also proposes several changes to the Board's current Regulation J (12 CFR Part 210), which governs the collection of checks and other items by Federal Reserve Banks, so that it conforms to the new standards adopted in Regulation CC.

Docket No. R-0622 requests comment on proposed new services to be offered by the Federal Reserve Banks to assist in the new check collection rules established in Regulation CC. Docket No. R-0622 requests comment on some possible services that the Federal Reserve is studying as well as longer-term improvements to the nation's check collection system.

Overview

Delayed availability—the holds that some banks<sup>1</sup> place on checks deposited

<sup>1</sup> The proposed Regulation CC terminology corresponds with the terminology of the Uniform Commercial Code, with some modifications. "Bank" is defined to include all depository institutions. A "paying bank" is the bank on which the check is drawn. In the case of payable through drafts, the payable through bank is the paying bank. A "returning bank" is an intermediary bank handling a returned check. A "depository bank" is the bank in which the check was first deposited. (See § 229.2 of

into their customers' accounts before the funds may be withdrawn—was a subject of growing concern in the Congress for a number of years. Many argued that the holds placed by many banks were unduly long, and that depositors have a right to prompt access to their funds. Banks that impose holds responded that their availability schedules reflect the time needed for the collection and return of checks dishonored by the paying bank and provide a measure of protection against the risk that the bank could not recover funds from the depositor if those funds had already been withdrawn from the depositor's account.

The Congress concluded that federal legislation was required to address delayed availability practices and passed the Expedited Funds Availability Act (the "Act") (Title VI of the Competitive Equality Banking Act, enacted on August 10, 1987). The Act seeks to ensure prompt availability of funds and to expedite the return of checks; the Board is directed to issue regulations to implement the Act, which becomes effective on September 1, 1988.

The Act includes specific and detailed provisions requiring banks to: (1) Make funds available to their customers within specified time frames, (2) pay interest on interest-bearing transaction accounts not later than the day the bank receives provisional credit, and (3) disclose their funds availability policy to their customers. These statutory provisions provide the Board with little flexibility in developing rules to implement the Act's requirements.

The Act requires that cash deposits, wire transfers, and certain check deposits that Congress believes pose little risk to the depository bank, such as Treasury checks and cashier's checks, be made available for withdrawal by the business day after the day of deposit. The time when the depository bank must make other check deposits available for withdrawal depends on whether the check is "local" or "nonlocal" to the depository bank. A local check is a check deposited in a depository bank that is located in the same Federal Reserve check processing region as the paying bank. A nonlocal check is a check deposited in a different check processing region than the paying bank. There are a total of 48 Federal Reserve check processing offices in the United States, and the territory served by each office constitutes a region.

Under the temporary schedule that becomes effective on September 1, 1988, the proposed Regulation CC for the complete definitions of these terms.)

a depository bank must make the proceeds of local checks available for withdrawal by the third business day following deposit; that is, the proceeds of local checks deposited on a Monday must be available for withdrawal by the following Thursday. The depository bank must make the proceeds of nonlocal checks available for withdrawal by the seventh business day following deposit; that is, the proceeds of a Monday deposit must be available for withdrawal by Wednesday of the following week. On September 1, 1990, these time periods are reduced. At that time, proceeds of local and nonlocal checks must be available for withdrawal by the second and fifth business day following deposit, respectively. Special rules are provided for cash withdrawals, deposits at nonproprietary automated teller machines, and deposits made in banks outside the continental United States.

Although the proposed improvements to the check system will accelerate the return of most checks, many checks will not be returned to the depository bank by the time funds must be made available for withdrawal under the temporary schedule—a number that will increase when the permanent schedule becomes effective. In order to reduce the risk to banks from making funds available to customers before learning that the check has not been paid, Congress provided several exceptions to the availability schedules. When a bank invokes one of these exceptions, it may extend the hold on its customer's account beyond the statutory schedule. Nevertheless, the Board must establish limits on the additional hold that may be placed on checks subject to these exceptions.

The statute requires banks to disclose their availability policies to their customers and inform their customers that deposited funds may not be available for immediate withdrawal. Banks are required to provide disclosures to new customers prior to opening an account, to existing customers, and to any person upon request. In addition, disclosures are required on preprinted deposit slips, at staffed locations where consumers make deposits, and at automated teller machines. Banks must also provide notice to their customers whenever their availability policies change.

The Act gives the Board authority to make improvements in the check collection and return system in order to shorten the time within which depository banks learn of the nonpayment of checks, and thereby reduce the number of situations when the bank will be required by law to make funds available to its customers before it learns a check has been dishonored. The Board's authority is broad and general, and extends to checks that are not cleared through the Federal Reserve System. Previously, the Federal Reserve generally had the authority to regulate only those checks it collected.

Upon enactment of the Act, Board staff formed a Steering Committee to develop proposals to implement the law's requirements. The Steering Committee consists of representatives from three Divisions of the Board's staff and three Federal Reserve Banks. In developing these proposals, the Steering Committee considered: (1) Costs to the banking industry, businesses, and consumers; (2) the ability of banks to select from several alternative approaches to comply with the Act and the Board's regulation; (3) the ability of the private sector and the Federal Reserve to provide services to expedite the return of unpaid checks; and (4) the extent to which the improvements to the check collection system reduce risk.

In developing the proposals, Board relied heavily on input from the private sector. The Board staff discussed the proposal with the Consumer Advisory Council and the Return Item Advisory Committee, which is a joint Federal Reserve/banking industry group. In addition, the staff met on over 20 occasions with representatives from consumer groups, banking and corporate trade associations, and individual banks. Two consulting firms were retained to assess the effect of certain aspects of its proposals on the banking industry. Many of the major concepts underlying the proposal have been suggested by the private sector.

The proposed Regulation CC (12 CFR Part 229), Availability of Funds and Collection of Checks, contains three subparts. Subpart A defines terms and provides for administrative enforcement. Subpart B specifies schedules within which banks must make funds available for withdrawal. Subpart B also includes rules regarding exceptions to the schedules, disclosure of funds availability policies, and payment of interest. Subpart C includes rules to expedite the collection and return of checks. These rules cover the means by which the paying and returning banks must return checks to the depository bank, authorization of direct returns, notification of nonpayment of large-dollar returns by the paying bank, check indorsement standards, and other related changes to the check collection system.

Subpart A—Definitions

The Act defines a number of terms, many of which required little additional clarification in the regulation. Nevertheless, the definition of two terms in the regulation are significant. The Act applies to deposits in transaction accounts, but does not precisely define the term. The Board proposes to define "account" in terms of a transaction account as described in the Board's Regulation D (12 CFR 204.2(e)). The Board believes that using the transaction account definition in Regulation D—a definition already familiar to banks—will avoid confusion about the coverage of the regulation and is consistent with the statute. The Board proposes that the definition of "account" exclude correspondent accounts; that is, accounts held by a bank at another bank.

The definition of "paying bank" in the regulation is critical in determining whether a check is local or nonlocal, as well as determining the duties of the various parties to expedite returns. The Board proposes to define paying bank to include payable through banks for the purposes of the requirements of the regulation. As a result, payable through drafts that often are used by credit unions and insurance companies are considered local or nonlocal checks based on the location of the payable through bank. In addition, the payable through bank would be subject to the prompt return requirements imposed on paying banks, and thus would be required to return checks one or two days faster than may be the case today. The Board believes that this definition most accurately reflects the statutory requirement that schedules be based on where the check is sent for collection—the location of the payable through bank—and not the location of the organization on which the check is drawn.

Subpart B—Funds Availability and Disclosure Requirements

Availability schedules. The proposed regulation reflects the availability schedules provided in the Act. Thus, deposits of cash and electronic payments, as well as certain checks deposits, including Treasury checks, state and local government checks, and depository checks, must be made available for withdrawal on the next business day. Longer schedules are provided for other checks, based on whether the checks are local or nonlocal. The following charts depict the schedules for these checks. The Board proposes that: (1) The application of the schedules to certain categories of checks be clarified; (2) the schedules for certain nonlocal checks be shortened; (3) the holds that can be placed on deposits subject to an exception provided in the Act be limited; and (4) the effect of this regulation on depositors' rights to withdraw cash be clarified.

Illustrates availability of different types of checks deposited on separate days, under the permanent schedule.

1 The first $100 of a day's deposit must be made available for either cash withdrawal or check writing purposes at the start of the next business day § 229.10(c)(1)(vii).
 2 Local checks must be made available for check writing purposes by the second business day following deposit § 229.12(b).
 3 Nonlocal checks must be made available for check writing purposes by the fifth business day following deposit § 229.12(c).
 4 $400 of the deposit must be made available for cash withdrawal no later than 5:00 p.m. on the day specified in the schedule. This applies to the aggregate amount of deposits that must be made available on a specified day, and is in addition to the $100 that must be made available on the business day following deposit § 229.12(d).
 5 The remainder of the deposit must be made available for cash withdrawal at the start of business the following day § 229.12(d).

The Board proposes that certain additional categories of checks not specified in the Act be subject to the requirement that funds be made available on the business day following the day of deposit. Checks issued by Federal Reserve Banks and Federal Home Loan Banks, as well as U.S. Postal Service money orders, are not explicitly addressed in the Act, but do not present greater risk of loss to banks than do other checks for which the Act mandates next day availability.

The Act directs the Board to reduce the statutory schedules for any category of checks where most of the checks would be returned in a shorter period of time than provided in the schedules. The Board proposes that the schedules be reduced for certain nonlocal checks that are subject to more prompt processing and return, where significant improvements can be made to the Act's schedules.

The Act and regulation provide certain exceptions to the availability schedules for higher-risk deposits. The Act states that the hold placed on deposits subject to an exception "shall not exceed a reasonable period of time as determined by the Board." The Board proposes that a bank be permitted to extend the schedule by no more than four business days when an exception is invoked. These four additional business days should provide adequate time for the depository bank to learn of the nonpayment of virtually all checks that are returned.

In addition, the Board proposes to clarify that bank policies limiting the amount of cash a customer may withdraw on any given day are not affected by the Act. Small banks have expressed concern that the Act could be interpreted to prohibit such policies. These restrictions are usually due to limits on the amount of cash that some small banks may keep on hand at any one time for insurance or security reasons. The regulation, however, would not supersede any common law or other duty to make funds available for withdrawal by cash.

Disclosures. The Act requires banks to disclose their specific policy with respect to when a customer may withdraw funds deposited in an account. The regulation, as a general rule, requires banks to provide customers with an initial disclosure of the bank's availability policy that allows the customer to determine when a deposit will be held and for how long.

Numerous banks normally provide their customers with same- or next-day availability for almost all deposits and only impose holds in special circumstances, determined on a case-by-case basis. In many cases, the banks provide the customer with notice of the delay at the time the deposit is made.

Banks with such policies may find it difficult, if not impossible, to develop a specific disclosure that would allow the customers to determine whether a particular deposit will be delayed and the length of the delay, as required generally by the Act. The nature of these banks' policy essentially precludes such a disclosure. In order to disclose to the customer when deposited funds will be subject to a delay in availability, these banks may find it necessary to discontinue the practice of imposing holds on a case-by-case basis, and instead begin routinely to delay availability on specific types of checks (essentially adopting an automatic or blanket delay policy). The Board believes that such a result would not be in the interest of bank customers. Also, banks would incur substantial costs not only in making disclosures, but also in developing and implementing new availability policies.

The Board proposes that the regulation include alternative disclosure requirements for banks that only delay availability beyond the next business day on a case-by-case basis. Banks with case-by-case policies would be permitted to meet the initial disclosure requirements by disclosing that, while their policy is to give same or next-day availability, the bank may at times impose longer delays. In other words, the bank need not adopt and disclose a policy that allows the customer to determine whether a specific check is going to be delayed prior to presenting the check for deposit. A bank that chooses to take advantage of this alternative must still provide availability within the time limits established by the regulation. In addition, at any time a deposit is held, the bank must give a notice to the customer that indicates when the deposited funds will be available for withdrawal. This notice need not give a specific reason for the delay, unless the hold will exceed the time periods in the schedules.

Relation to state law. The Act provides that state laws supersede federal law if they result in faster availability. One reading of this provision is that any exception to a state availability schedule that is narrower than the federal law must be viewed as superseding the federal exceptions. The Board believes that this result is unwieldy and results in a complex set of legal rules. Therefore, the Board proposes that exceptions to a state availability schedule that address the same situation as the federal exceptions be preempted even if the exception might, under some circumstances, result in faster availability of a particular deposit. However, if state law provides for a shorter hold for a certain category of checks than is provided under federal law, that state requirement will supersede the federal provision.

Subpart C—Regulatory Initiatives To Expedite Returns

In contrast to the high-speed automated processing involved in the forward collection of checks, the check return system is a slow, labor intensive operation. The return system generally involves manual processing that relies on visual inspection of the indorsements on the check, rather than machine-readable information, to determine where the return should be sent. In contrast to checks handled for forward collection, which are processed on high-speed equipment at a rate of 100,000 per hour, returned checks are processed at a rate of only 1,000 per hour. In addition, returns are often transported by mail, rather than by courier, further slowing their trip to the depository bank. Finally, a check is generally returned through each of the banks that collected the check, although this may not be the most efficient path to route the return.

Under the current check collection system, many checks that are returned would not be received by the depository bank until after the time funds must be available under the temporary schedules in the Act. The number of returned checks that do not reach the depository bank before funds must be made available under the Act will increase with the implementation of the permanent schedules in 1990. Currently, according to a study by the Bank Administration Institute (BAI), the average time for a check to be collected and returned is 6.8 calendar days. Approximately 40 percent of returned checks take seven days or longer to complete the collection and return cycle and 15 percent take 10 days or longer. (Return Items Study, Final Report, prepared for the Bank Administration Institute by J. D. Carreker and Associates, Inc. (May 1985) "BAI STUDY") Under the temporary schedules, the proceeds of local checks must be available for withdrawal on or before the third business day after deposit and the proceeds of nonlocal checks must be available for withdrawal on or before the seventh business day after deposit. Under the permanent schedule, proceeds of local checks must be available for withdrawal on or before the second business day after deposit and proceeds of nonlocal checks must be available for withdrawal on or before the fifth business day after deposit. Approximately one-third of the checks handled by the Federal Reserve Banks would be considered nonlocal under the Act.

It is difficult to relate the data collected by the BAI to the statutory schedules because the BAI data are based on calendar days rather than business days and do not differentiate between local and nonlocal checks. Nevertheless, it is clear that large numbers of checks will be returned after funds must be made available for withdrawal under the schedules in the Act. The requirement to make funds available for withdrawal before many checks are returned exposes banks to risks if the proceeds of check deposits are withdrawn and the checks are subsequently returned. Further, the requirement to make funds available for withdrawal before some checks are likely to be returned may encourage check fraud. In recognition of these risks, the Act provides for certain exceptions to the statutory schedules and, in section 609(b), provides that the Board shall consider a number of proposals to improve the check processing system to speed the collection and return of checks. (12 U.S.C. 4008(b)). Further, section 609(c) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 4008(c)) provides that:

(c) REGULATORY RESPONSIBILITY OF BOARD FOR PAYMENT SYSTEM.—

(1) RESPONSIBILITY FOR PAYMENT SYSTEM.—In order to carry out the provisions of this title, the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System shall have the responsibility to regulate—

(A) any aspect of the payment system, including the receipt, payment, collection, or clearing of checks; and

(B) any related function of the payment system with respect to checks.

(2) REGULATIONS.—The Board shall prescribe such regulations as it may determine to be appropriate to carry out its responsibility under paragraph (1).

Under this Board authority, the Board believes that it is appropriate to propose changes to the way that checks are collected and returned by both the Federal Reserve Banks and other banking institutions in order to speed the collection and return of checks and to improve the efficiency of the check collection system. Subpart C of the regulation contains proposed rules designed to reduce the risk to depository banks resulting from the prompt availability requirements of the Act. In many cases, these regulations modify provisions of state law applicable to the collection of checks, including the Uniform Commercial Code as enacted in the various states. The proposals in Subpart C: (1) Expedite returns to the depository bank; (2) expand the requirements for notification of large-dollar returned checks; and (3) provide banks with the ability to reduce the number of returned checks. These proposals are accomplished by modifying duties of the paying bank, returning bank(s), and the depository bank in the return process. In arriving at these proposals, the Board considered each of the proposals listed for Board consideration in the Act.

Section 609(b) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 4008(b)) provides that:

(b) REGULATIONS RELATING TO IMPROVEMENT OF CHECK PROCESSING SYSTEM.—In order to improve the check processing system, the Board shall consider (among other proposals) requiring, by regulation, that—

(1) depository institutions be charged based upon notification that a check or similar instrument will be presented for payment;

(2) the Federal Reserve banks and depository institutions provide for check truncation;

(3) depository institutions be provided incentives to return items promptly to the depository institution of first deposit;

(4) the Federal Reserve banks and depository institutions take such actions as are necessary to automate the process of returning unpaid checks,

(5) each depository institution and Federal Reserve bank—

(A) place its endorsement, and other notations specified in regulations of the Board, on checks in the positions specified in such regulations; and

(B) take such actions as are necessary to—

(i) automate the process of reading endorsements; and

(ii) eliminate unnecessary endorsements;

(6) within one business day after an originating depository institution is presented a check (for more than such minimum amount as the Board may prescribe)—

(A) such originating depository institution determine whether it will pay such check; and

(B) if such originating depository institution determines that it will not pay such check, such originating depository institution directly notify the receiving depository institution of such determination;

(7) regardless of where a check is cleared initially, all returned checks be eligible to be returned through the Federal Reserve System;

(8) Federal Reserve banks and depository institutions participate in the development and implementation of an electronic clearinghouse process to the extent the Board determines, pursuant to the study under subsection (f), that such a process is feasible; and

(9) originating depository institutions be permitted to return unpaid checks directly to, and obtain reimbursement for such checks directly from, the receiving depository institution.

The proposals contained in Subpart C either implement or are closely related to many of the proposals listed in the Act, and the Board is studying many of the other proposals as potential longer-term improvements to the check collection system. The Board's proposals are more fully described below.

Expediting returns. A number of the regulatory proposals are designed to speed the return of checks to the depository bank. Today, the paying bank's duty of prompt return is limited to dispatching a returned check by its "midnight deadline."<sup>2</sup> The proposal places an additional duty on the paying bank to return the check to the depository bank in a manner similar to the efficient manner used to collect a check deposited in the paying bank and drawn on the depository bank. Generally, the paying bank would be required to dispatch returns using the means of transportation used to dispatch checks for forward collection. (This duty is similar to the third proposal listed in the Act.)

To facilitate prompt returns, the paying bank would not be required to return a check to the bank that presented it. Instead, the paying bank could return a check directly to the depository bank or to a Reserve Bank or other bank providing check return services. To encourage direct returns, the depository bank would be required to pay for returns on the day of receipt. (This proposal is similar to the ninth proposal listed in the Act.)

Today, many banks do not dispatch their returned checks by courier with the checks that are being sent for forward collection, if the courier leaves after midnight. Instead, they mail their returns by their midnight deadline in order to meet their legal responsibility under the U.C.C., but by doing so delay the completion of the return process. The proposed regulation encourages the use of couriers to handle returned checks by allowing banks to dispatch returns after midnight if the returns will be received by the next bank that day.

The proposed regulation imposes duties on returning banks that are similar to the duties imposed on the paying banks to expedite the return process. A returning bank must handle a returned check as expeditiously as a check handled for forward collection.

One way to speed the return process is to prepare the returned check for automated processing by high-speed equipment. Returned checks can be automated by either the paying bank or returning bank by placing the return in a carrier envelope or by placing a strip on the bottom of the check, and encoding the envelope or strip with the routing number of the depository bank, the amount of the check, and a special returned check identifier. Automated returns allow for far more efficient processing by returning banks. The proposed regulation facilitates the preparation by returning banks of automated returned checks by providing an additional business day to the bank's time for prompt return. (This proposal is similar to the fourth proposal listed in the Act.)

One of the obstacles to efficient processing of returns is the lack of uniformity in depository banks' indorsements. Today, clerks often have difficulty determining the bank to which the check will be returned. The indorsements on the back of the check are often faint, blurred, incomplete, and overlapping. Under the proposal, this difficulty would increase since many checks will not be returned through the same banks that handled the checks during forward collection. The determination of a remote depository bank would often be difficult if its indorsement were not readily distinguishable from the other indorsements on the check.

Therefore, the proposal requires the depository bank to provide specific information in its indorsement, including its nine-digit routing number. In addition, the depository bank's indorsement must be readily identifiable through the use of a unique color ink and by placement in a specified area on the back of the check. Subsequent indorsements may not be in the same color, or be placed in the same location as the indorsement of the depository bank. (This proposal is similar to the fifth proposal listed in the Act.)

Notification of nonpayment. Even with improvements to the check return system, the depository bank will not receive all returned checks by the time it must make the proceeds available to the customer for withdrawal. The depository bank's risk is larger in the case of large-dollar returns. Therefore, the Board proposes to require paying banks to provide notification of nonpayment for all large-dollar returned checks.

Notification of large-dollar returns is now required only for those checks collected through the Federal Reserve. The proposal expands the large-dollar notification requirement to include all checks of $2,500 or more, regardless of the channel through which they were cleared. In addition, the proposal reduces the time period within which notification must be provided. Under the proposal, the paying bank must ensure that notification is received by the depository bank by 4:00 p.m. (local time of depository bank) on the second business day following presentment. Federal Reserve regulations currently require notice to be received by midnight on the third business day following presentment. (This proposal is similar to the sixth proposal listed in the Act.)

Reducing the volume of returns. The Board proposes extending the paying bank's midnight deadline for low-dollar checks. Over one-half of all returned checks are in amounts of $100 or less. Many depository banks routinely redeposit that portion of these returns that are returned due to insufficient or uncollected funds (or direct the Federal Reserve to redeposit the checks on their behalf) in an effort to obtain payment. On average, over 60 percent of these redeposited checks are paid on the second presentment. A significant number of returned checks could be eliminated entirely if the paying bank held low-dollar checks several days beyond its midnight deadline. This concept has received the long-standing support of several banking industry trade groups. The proposal permits a paying bank to hold checks of $100 or less for two business days beyond its midnight deadline in an effort to secure payment.

Regulation J Amendments

Changes are also proposed to Regulation J so that it conforms to the proposed requirements of Regulation CC, Subpart C. Regulation J governs the collection and return of checks by Federal Reserve Banks.

Proposed Federal Reserve Bank Services (Docket No. R-0621)

Returned check services. In order to achieve the objectives of the proposed regulatory requirements to speed the return of checks, it is essential that the Federal Reserve Banks and private-sector correspondent banks provide new return services. The Board proposes a wide array of Reserve Bank services to facilitate bank compliance with these requirements. The Board anticipates that a number of correspondent banks will offer similar services.

Several of the proposed service changes are designed to facilitate direct returns permitted in proposed Regulation CC. Under the proposal, Reserve Banks would accept and process any returned check; today the Federal Reserve only accepts returned checks that it collected. The Federal Reserve would return checks directly to the local depository bank, bypassing any intermediary collecting banks in the indorsement chain. A depository bank may designate its correspondent bank or service bureau as the location to which the Federal Reserve should send that bank's returns. Reducing the number of banks handling a returned check will shorten the length of time required for the return process. The Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas is conducting a pilot program of the direct return process, which indicates that, in the case of 43 percent of local returned checks handled by the Bank, at least one collecting bank in the forward collection indorsement chain is bypassed by delivering the return directly to the depository bank. (This proposal is similar to the seventh proposal listed in the Act.)

Reserve Banks would accelerate their processing of returned checks. New returned check deposit deadlines are proposed that are similar to the deadlines for checks handled for forward collection. By September 1988, local returns will be processed on an overnight basis and dispatched with the forward collection checks the next morning. In contrast, today the returns are processed during the day and dispatched one day later. Nonlocal returns that have been automated for high-speed processing by the paying bank or a prior returning bank will be processed and dispatched to the second Reserve Bank office on the night of the day the Reserve Bank received them. Most other nonlocal returns will be automated by the Reserve Bank and sent to the second Reserve Bank office the following night. Today, both Reserve Bank offices manually process the returned check, which adds an extra day to the return process.

Currently, the Federal Reserve does not explicitly price returned checks; instead, the costs of handling returns are incorporated in the Reserve Banks' forward collection fees. The Board is proposing to price returns explicitly, imposing returned check fees on the paying or returning bank depositing returns with the Federal Reserve. Under this proposal, return costs cannot be recovered through the Reserve Banks' forward collection fees as they are today, since some returned checks handled by the Federal Reserve will not follow the same route that they followed in the process of collection, and thus may not be subject to the Reserve Banks' forward collection fees. In addition, paying and returning banks could deposit returned checks with the Federal Reserve in various ways that result in different costs being incurred by the Reserve Bank. For example, automated returns would be less expensive for the Federal Reserve to handle than nonautomated returns. Reserve Banks would initially charge a fee for returned checks that have been prepared for automated processing similar to that charged for similar checks handled in forward collection. A higher fee would be charged for "raw" returns that require manual processing. The Board estimates that the charge for returned checks that require manual processing will range from $0.25 to $1.00.

The proposal also addresses modifications to the Reserve Banks' notification services for large-dollar returns. Reserve Banks will offer same-day notification services for all large-dollar checks to facilitate bank compliance with the proposed requirements to provide notice of nonpayment for all large-dollar checks within shorter time periods. The Board proposes that beginning on January 1, 1989, any depository bank that has an on-line electronic connection with the Federal Reserve be required to receive large-dollar notifications electronically.

Cost of proposed services. Reserve Banks have provided preliminary estimates of the costs of offering the proposed new returned check services. They have projected that the proposed initiatives would require an additional 1988 capital expenditure of approximately $15,000,000, and additional 1988 operating expenditures of approximately $15,000,000. The costs of providing these services will be recovered by the Reserve Banks through the fees assessed for the services.

Truncation and extended MICR capture services. The Board proposes expansion of the Federal Reserve's truncation pilot program to a permanent service. In truncation, the physical checks are not delivered to the paying bank; instead, the MICR-line information on the checks is captured and presented to the paying bank electronically. The benefits of truncation include expeditious check processing and return and a reduction in the number of times the paper check is handled. Truncation may also create savings in transportation costs, and storage, equipment, and personnel costs for the paying bank.

Initially, it is proposed that the Reserve Banks offer truncation services to interested local paying banks. However, the benefits of truncation increase as checks are truncated earlier in the collection process. Therefore, the Board believes that after more experience is gained, Reserve Banks will be able to provide inter-bank truncation services; that is, truncation at the Federal Reserve Bank of first deposit. One Reserve Bank is now engaged in inter-bank truncation on a pilot basis under the rules of the National Association for Check Safekeeping. (The truncation proposal is similar to the first and second proposals listed in the Act.)

The Board also proposes a service that offers many of the same benefits of truncation without stopping the flow of the paper check—the extended MICR capture service. Under this service, which is now provided on a pilot program basis, Reserve Banks would deliver payment information by electronic transmission or magnetic tape, provide returned check and retrieval services, and deliver the checks to the paying bank several days later using less time-critical transportation.

Extended MICR capture would provide the paying bank and its customers an opportunity to test all aspects of the truncation services without giving up receipt of the physical check. The benefits of extended MICR capture are not as great as those of truncation; however, extended MICR would serve as a stepping stone for developing broader acceptance of truncation.

For a further discussion of these services see Docket R-6021, Federal Reserve Bank Services.

Longer-term initiatives (Docket No. R-0622). In addition to these proposed initiatives to expedite returned checks, which would be implemented by September 1988, the Federal Reserve is also exploring various new technologies to improve the check system in the longer term. One such effort involves testing of digitized image processing in a high-speed environment to determine the feasibility of using this technology to transmit check images to the paying bank and the depository bank, and also as a substitute for microfilming checks.

Further, the Board is requesting comment on a variety of initiatives, including: (1) The feasibility of a machine-readable depository bank indorsement, possibly by inclusion of a bar code of the nine-digit routing number, to facilitate further automation of returned check processing; (2) the feasibility of an electronic clearinghouse concept; (3) the feasibility of establishing electronic clearing zones, in which all banks in a specified area agree to accept electronic presentment of their checks; (4) further actions that should be considered to address delayed disbursement practices of certain corporations and banks; (5) an alternative method of preparing returned checks for automated processing that does not require the MICR-encoding of the returned check with the amount and routing number of the depository bank; and (6) concepts for several potential future Federal Reserve services to depository banks, specifically, a service to ascertain the authenticity of cashier's, certified, and teller's checks and a service to communicate information regarding returned checks to depository banks prior to the physical delivery of the checks. (The electronic clearinghouse proposal is based on the eighth proposal listed in the Act.)

Impact of the Proposal

Cost impact. The requirements of the Act and the proposed regulation will result in several benefits to the public. Transaction account customers will be given specific information on when funds will be made available for withdrawal, which should help them better manage their accounts. In addition, many customers will gain earlier access to their funds. However, it is difficult to quantify these benefits.

The overall cost impact on the banking industry may be quite significant. The disclosure and funds availability provisions in the Act may result in higher operating expenses, lost investment income due to earlier withdrawal of collected balances, and increased bad check losses. It is also difficult to estimate the cost impact of these changes.

On the other hand, the improvements to the check collection system may actually reduce overall bank costs. The proposed regulations would change the duties of the paying bank, returning banks, and depository bank, and would require modifications to the operations of each bank in the return process. Initially, these new initiatives may increase costs. Some of these costs are one-time transition costs, such as the costs to the depository bank to modify its check processing equipment to comply with the new standard indorsement. Other costs are ongoing, such as costs for expedited handling of returns at returning banks.

However, the proposals in the aggregate have the potential for substantial longer-term cost reductions in the return process. Returns will be received by the depository bank more quickly than they are today, reducing the bank's risk from providing prompt availability of funds to its customers. The number of returns may be significantly reduced due to the authority granted to paying banks to extend their midnight deadline for small-dollar returns. The regulation's availability and disclosure requirements may also result in reduced returns because funds may be made available for withdrawal sooner and customers would know more precisely when they may withdraw funds from their accounts. The proposal would encourage more direct exchange of returned checks, reducing the number of intermediary banks involved in the return process. Most importantly, the new indorsement standard should, over the long term, reduce the cost of return processing by facilitating the more efficient processing of returns. Future enhancements to the indorsement standard would allow all parties in the check collection system to automate completely their return processing.

Competitive impact. An important factor considered in the development of the regulatory framework for expedited returns and related Reserve Bank services was the impact on competition in the check collection system. The public has benefited from the competitive environment that has existed between the Federal Reserve and correspondent banks, and among correspondent banks in providing check collection services. The Board has sought to ensure that the proposed regulatory requirements and Federal Reserve service offerings were designed to provide options to banks in the return process and to facilitate a competitive environment.

Although a number of the Reserve Bank services proposals—such as acceptance of any returned checks, the explicit pricing of returns and corresponding decrease in the forward collection fees, and direct return by the Federal Reserve to the depository bank—may have significant competitive implications, it is difficult to determine what that impact would be. For example, lower Federal Reserve check collection fees could make the Reserve Banks' forward collection check services more attractive, and acceptance of all returns could increase return volume. On the other hand, a bank that uses the Federal Reserve for both forward collection and return services may experience an increase in its total charges for check services. In addition, the acceptance of universal returns by the Federal Reserve has the potential to result in a reduction of Federal Reserve forward collection check volume, since returns are often viewed as nuisance items in the collection process that have deterred banks from competing for forward collection volume.

Correspondent banks will have the opportunity to compete with the Federal Reserve in providing returned check services. For example, approximately 4,000 banks that do not collect checks through the Federal Reserve currently mail returned checks to their Reserve Bank. Under this proposal, these paying banks may deliver these returned checks along with their forward collection checks to their correspondent bank, rather than establishing separate transportation to deliver their returns to the Federal Reserve. This practice could result in additional volume of returned checks for correspondents.

For a further discussion of these initiatives see Docket R-6022, Proposals for Long-Term Improvements to the Check Collection System.

Educational Efforts

During the public comment period, Federal Reserve Banks plan to conduct seminars designed to increase the understanding of depository institutions regarding the implications of the Act and better prepare the public to comment on the Board's proposed regulations and operating issues. Reserve Banks will sponsor another series of seminars after approval of the final regulations by the Board to assist the industry in preparing for the regulatory and operational changes to be effective on September 1, 1988. In addition, Federal Reserve staff is working closely with various industry groups as they prepare to offer similar seminars to their constituencies.

Summary of Proposals

The Board is issuing for public comment the following proposals to implement the provisions of the Expedited Funds Availability Act:

(1) Docket R-0620, Proposed Regulation CC and Amendments to Regulation J, which

(a) Requires banks to provide for availability of deposits within specified time periods, to disclose their availability policies to customers, and to begin to accrue interest on deposits to accounts not later than the day they receive provisional credit for the deposits; and

(b) Requires banks to expedite the return of checks, including authorizing direct return, and requires the depository bank to use a standard indorsement.

This docket also includes amendments to Regulation J, which governs the collection of checks by Federal Reserve Bank so that it conforms to the proposed rules to expedite the return of checks.

(2) Docket R-0621, Federal Reserve Bank Services, which proposes Reserve Bank services to facilitate bank compliance with the proposed requirements to expedite returns and improve the check collection system, including expansion of Reserve Bank check truncation and extended MICR capture services from pilot programs to permanent services.

(3) Docket R-0622, Proposals for Long-Term Improvements to the Check Collection System, which requests public comment on longer-term initiatives to improve the check system.

Effect of the Proposals on the Check Collection System

The following is an explanation of the current process for returning checks and a description of the responsibilities of paying, returning, and depository banks now and in the future, if the Board's proposals are adopted. This overview should assist the reader in better understanding the impact of the proposed changes to expedite the return of checks on paying banks, returning banks, and depository banks.

In contrast to the forward collection process, the returned check process is a slow, relatively labor intensive, and costly operation. The BAI study concluded that, while the forward collection process takes an average of 1.6 days to complete, the return process takes an average of 5.2 days. The BAI study found that, during the return process, the average returned check is handled by 3.4 banks: The paying bank, an average of 1.4 returning banks, and the depository bank. Even though less than one percent (the study estimated 0.86 percent) of all checks are returned, the absolute volume of returns (the study estimated 350 million annually) is relatively large.

Both correspondent banks and Federal Reserve offices frequently act as returning banks between the paying and depository banks in the return process. Correspondent banks may route forward collection checks for payment either through the Federal Reserve or through private channels. Thus, the return process currently may include one or more correspondents and the Federal Reserve before the returned check reaches the depository bank. The more intermediate processing steps a returned check must pass through on its route to the depository bank, the greater the probability that additional time will be necessary to complete the process.

Many checks are collected through local clearing arrangements, clearinghouses, and direct exchange arrangements. Such arrangements consist of two or more banks agreeing to exchange checks drawn on each other. There are many such arrangements, and they are a very efficient and fast means of collecting and returning certain checks. The returned check processes of local clearinghouses should be largely unaffected by the Board's proposals, although the individual participants are subject to the provisions of the Act.

The Paying Bank

Current. Today, the paying bank's principal duty when dishonoring a check is to assure timely dispatch of the check back to the presenting bank. The U.C.C. and the Federal Reserve's Regulation J specify that the paying bank must dispatch a check it has determined not to pay by midnight of the banking day following the day the paying bank received the check for payment (the "midnight deadline"). This obligation may be satisfied by dispatching the returned check by courier or U.S. mail. The return of checks presented for payment through clearinghouses is usually subject to the rules of the clearinghouse and these checks are dispatched accordingly.

Typically, paying banks receive checks for payment throughout the day: From correspondents, the Federal Reserve, or through a clearinghouse. Checks received on a Monday, for example, would be posted to customers' accounts on Monday night and any checks that are not to be paid (due to insufficient funds, account closed, etc.) are rejected from the system and reports are prepared for management review. The decision to actually return a check can be made automatically as a matter of bank policy or following review by management on Tuesday. The checks to be returned are then sent by courier with the bank's forward collection checks, by mail or courier to other collecting banks, or by messenger to the clearinghouse. The return process in this example must begin by midnight Tuesday to conform to the U.C.C. Because the return process must begin by midnight, many paying banks return checks by mail when a courier leaving after midnight would be faster. If a check to be returned was presented by the Federal Reserve and is $2,500 or more, the paying bank is also obligated to provide notice of return to the depository bank by midnight of the third banking day following receipt (Thursday in this example). Receipt of the physical check by the depository bank within this time frame would fulfill this notification requirement.

Many paying banks currently receive checks from more than one collecting bank and, therefore, dispatch returned checks to each of those banks. If the paying bank does not deposit checks for collection with the bank to which it is returning checks, these checks are usually returned through the mail. In some cases, mail is also used by paying banks to transport returns to the bank to which it sends its forward collection checks in order to ensure compliance with the midnight deadline. The paying bank currently has little incentive to make an effort to speed the return process and is generally not concerned about the return process after a returned check has been dispatched timely.

Proposed. A major impetus for change in the role of the paying bank will be the responsibility placed on the paying bank by § 229.30 of the proposed regulation. This section states that the return process must be accomplished in an "expeditious manner," thus providing the incentive to the paying bank to take steps to speed the flow of returned checks. Under this proposed new duty, once the paying bank decides not to pay a check, the paying bank must dispatch returned checks with the same speed and diligence that it would dispatch forward collection checks received for deposit before noon on the banking day after the day of presentment of the returned check. This means that a check presented to the paying bank on Monday that is not paid must be dispatched as quickly as a check deposited in that bank on Tuesday morning that is drawn on the depository bank. The Federal Reserve would provide new deadlines for deposit of returned checks and other new or enhanced services, which would assist paying banks in meeting the proposed new duties.

Some of the changes in the return process from the perspective of the paying bank are anticipated to be:

1. In many cases, paying banks will dispatch returns by the same manner, and at the same time, as they send forward collection checks. This will usually mean that returns will be sent via courier rather than mail. The paying bank will be required to meet the deposit deadlines and sorting requirements set by any returning bank to which the returned check is sent.

2. Additional options will be available to send returns. Returns would not be required to follow the indorsement chain through which the check was originally collected. This means that the paying bank could return all checks to a single returning bank rather than sending them to multiple presenting banks. Paying banks could return checks to the depository bank or to a bank agreeing to process returns, including the Federal Reserve. If the paying bank cannot identify the depository bank from the indorsement, it may find it necessary to send that returned check back to the presenting bank. The Federal Reserve would accept returned checks from all paying banks and explicitly charge for this service. Other returning banks are likely to establish similar services.

3. Under the proposal, using the example above, checks for $100 or less, which a paying bank would normally return, may be held for two business days beyond the paying bank's midnight deadline without the paying bank incurring additional liability. The paying bank must attempt to obtain payment on the day the check is actually returned. If widely implemented by paying banks, this procedure is expected to reduce the total number of checks that would be returned unpaid.

4. Paying banks will have the option to prepare a returned check for automated processing by high-speed equipment. This option will be used only when the paying bank is sending the returned check to a returning bank. The bank can produce a "qualified returned check" (QRC) by enclosing a returned check in a carrier envelope or attaching a strip to the bottom of the check, and encoding the carrier or strip with the nine-digit routing number of the depository bank, a special returned check identifier, and the amount of the check. By creating QRCs, the paying bank facilitates expeditious return of the check to the depository bank. Preparation of QRCs by paying banks also reduces the cost of the overall return process because returning banks will be able to handle these checks more efficiently. To encourage paying banks to prepare QRCs, the Federal Reserve will provide later deposit deadlines at lower prices for QRCs than for returned checks that are not qualified. The Board believes that correspondent banks will adopt a similar strategy.

5. Paying banks will be required to provide notification of nonpayment on all returned checks of $2,500 or more, regardless of the channel of collection, at an earlier time than required today. Notifications will have to be received by the depository bank by 4:00 p.m. (local time) on the second business day following presentment of a check to the paying bank. This means that if a decision is made to return a check of $2,500 or more that was presented on Monday, the paying bank must ensure that the notification is received by the depository bank no later than 4:00 p.m. Wednesday. The Federal Reserve will provide timely notification to the depository bank provided that the message is originated by Fedwire by noon on the due date or that the physical returned check or a telephone message is given to the Federal Reserve by 9:00 a.m. on the due date.

Returning Banks, Including Federal Reserve Banks

Current. Returning banks currently receive returned checks from paying banks and from other returning banks, and subsequently send those returned checks to depository banks and to other returning banks. Banks that act as collecting banks during the forward collection process also act as returning banks during the return process. Generally, a returning bank receives a returned check from the bank to which it sent the check for collection or payment. The returning bank then sends the returned check to its prior indorser. In sending the returns to its prior indorser, returning banks are under a duty similar to the duty applicable to paying banks to dispatch returned checks by the midnight deadline. One of the advantages to the practice of returning through the indorsement chain is that parties in the return process have established account relationships that were used during the forward collection process. The payment for the returned check is typically a reversal of the payment made during the forward collection process.

The Federal Reserve functions as a returning bank in the current return process only for checks that it handled in the forward collection process. The Federal Reserve receives returned checks from paying banks and sends them to depository banks and other returning banks. Approximately 43 percent of the returns currently handled by the Federal Reserve are sent to correspondent banks acting as returning banks. In some Federal Reserve regions, where correspondent banking is particularly active, the Federal Reserve office currently sends well over 50 percent of the returns it handles to correspondents in their role as returning banks.

Proposed. Under the proposal, returning banks will be held to a standard similar to paying banks. That is, returning banks must handle returned checks in an "expeditious manner", i.e., returned checks must be processed and dispatched in the same general manner as forward collection checks. This means that returning banks must process returned checks in a much shorter time frame than is typical today.

Federal Reserve Banks will establish new deposit deadlines for returned checks that closely parallel those for forward collection checks. It is expected that other returning banks will also establish new deposit deadlines for returned checks. While these deadlines need not be the same as for checks received for forward collection, returning banks may wish to establish these deadlines so as to permit paying or other returning banks to send returned checks to them on the same courier as forward collection checks. Returning banks may return a check directly to the depository bank or to another returning bank as long as the route chosen for the return is expeditious. Generally, it would not be expeditious for a returning bank to send returned checks to another returning bank if it sends forward collection checks drawn on that depository bank directly to the depository bank.

Returning banks would have the option, but not be required, to convert returns to QRCs. If a returning bank chooses to prepare a QRC, it may take a day to do so beyond the time when the check would otherwise have been dispatched. An extra day is not available when returning directly to the depository bank, because preparation of a QRC would not speed the return of such checks.

It is anticipated that one of the most significant changes in the return processing system for non-Federal Reserve returning banks will be the effect of the Federal Reserve's direct return policy. Federal Reserve offices will no longer send returned checks to other non-Federal Reserve returning banks. This potential shift in volume (about 43 percent of current Federal Reserve return volume) could significantly reduce the number of returned checks that are handled by these returning banks.

The Depository Bank

Current. The depository bank receives returned checks from both paying and returning banks. Generally, a returned check is received from the bank used by the depository bank for forward collection. Depository banks also receive notifications of nonpayment on checks of $2,500 or more collected through the Federal Reserve. Some depository banks currently redeposit low-dollar returned checks for collection because a significant proportion of these checks are paid upon second presentation.

Proposed. The depository bank's requirement to place a standard indorsement on the check is critical to improvements in the return process. By following the proposed new indorsement standard and imprinting a complete, legible indorsement on the check, the depository bank will greatly assist paying and returning banks in identifying the depository bank and, therefore, in processing the return promptly. To comply with the standard, depository banks may have to install new indorsement plates and may need to modify some equipment. Some banks may want to work with corporate customers that encode checks prior to deposit to have the corporate customer place the depository bank's indorsement on the check according to the new standard. Failure to follow the indorsement standard may increase the risk of loss to the depository bank because paying and returning banks may be relieved of liability for delay in return if the delay is due to a nonstandard indorsement.

Depository banks may receive returns from returning banks with which the depository bank currently does not have a forward check collection relationship. Many depository banks will, for the first time, begin receiving returned checks directly from the Federal Reserve. If the depository bank requests courier delivery of its returned checks at a location where the Federal Reserve does not currently provide courier service, the depository bank may be charged for the transportation.

Some depository banks that currently are charged by a returning bank for returned checks will begin receiving returned checks without a per item charge. Depository banks must pay, in same-day funds, for returned checks on the day the checks are received. If paying banks and returning banks that return checks directly do not wish to receive same-day payment by wire transfer, cash, or Federal Reserve net settlement, or if the paying or returning bank does not maintain an account relationship with the depository bank, the banks may agree as to the form of payment. The form of payment may be a check or an ACH payment.

Depository banks that have an on-line connection with the Federal Reserve will have to receive notifications of nonpayment through that terminal after January 1, 1989.

It is anticipated that depository banks will experience fewer returns, faster receipt of those checks that are returned, and more comprehensive notification of nonpayment on large-dollar returned checks. It is also anticipated that fewer returns will be redeposited for collection by depository banks because some paying banks will have retained the small-dollar checks for an extra two days to attempt to secure payment.

Regulation CC

Section-by-Section Analysis

The Board intends to include a section-by-section analysis with the final regulation that will be an official commentary on the regulation and will be an official Board interpretation within the meaning of section 611(e) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 4010(e)). Accordingly, the Board requests commenters to address issues raised by the commentary as well as making comments on the regulation itself.

Subpart A—General

Section 229.1 Authority and purpose; organization.

This section summarizes the Board's authority to adopt this regulation and provides a description of how the regulation is organized.

Section 229.2 Definitions.

This section defines the terms used in the regulation. For the most part, terms are defined as they are in section 602 of the Expedited Funds Availability Act (12 U.S.C. 4001). The Board is, however, proposing changes for the sake of clarity or to conform the terminology to that which is familiar to the banking industry and defining terms that are not defined in the Act. The Board proposes to incorporate by reference the definitions of the Uniform Commercial Code where appropriate, continuing a practice adopted for Regulation J (12 CFR Part 210). Some of the Regulation CC's definitions are self explanatory and therefore are not discussed in this commentary.

Account. The Act defines account to mean "a demand deposit account or similar transaction account at a depository institution." The proposed regulation defines "account" in terms of the definition of "transaction account" in the Board's Regulation D (12 CFR Part 204). Thus the definition applies to accounts with general third party payment powers but does not cover time deposits or savings deposits, including money market deposit accounts, even though they may have limited third party payment powers. The Board believes that it is appropriate to exclude these accounts because of the reference to demand deposits in the Act, which suggests that the Act is intended to apply only to accounts that permit unlimited third party transfers. The definition proposed for Regulation CC differs from the definition of "transaction account" found in Regulation D, as the Regulation CC definition excludes deposits, such as nondocumentary obligations (see 12 CFR 204.2(a)(1)(vii)), that are not represented by accounts but that are covered under Regulation D.

The Board also proposes to exempt inter-bank deposits and accounts from Regulation CC.

Automated clearinghouse (ACH). The Board proposes to define automated clearinghouse as a facility that processes debit and credit transfers under rules established by a Federal Reserve Bank operating circular governing automated clearinghouse items or the rules of an ACH association. ACH credit transfers are included in the definition of "electronic payment."

The reference to "credit transfers" and "debit transfers" is not meant to refer to the corresponding credit and debit entries that are part of the same transaction, but the kinds of ACH payments. In an ACH credit transfer, the originator orders that its account be debited and another account credited. In an ACH debit transfer, the originator, with prior authorization, orders another account to be debited and its account to be credited.

A facility that handles only "wire transfers" (defined elsewhere) would not be an ACH, although some organizations, for example, the New York Clearing House, operate both an ACH and a wire transfer network.

Automated teller machine (ATM) is not defined in the Act. The Board proposes to define an ATM as an electronic or mechanical device at which a natural person may make deposits to accounts by cash or check and perform other transactions. Point-of-sale terminals, machines that only dispense cash, night depositories, and lobby deposit boxes are not ATMs within the meaning of the proposed definition, either because they do not accept deposits (point-of-sale terminals) or because they only accept deposits (night depositories) and cannot perform other transactions. Deposits to night depositories and lobby boxes are treated as deposits at the teller windows of the branches of the depository banks where they are located for the purpose of determining when funds must be made available for withdrawal.

Available for withdrawal. The Act does not define what it means for funds to be "available for withdrawal." The Board proposes to define this phrase in order to clarify the Act. Under the proposal, when funds become "available for withdrawal," it means that funds may be put to any use for which the depositor may use actually and finally collected funds in the depositor's account under the depositor's account agreement with the bank. Examples of such uses include payment of checks drawn on the account, electronic payments, and cash withdrawals.

Bank. The Act uses the term "depository institution," which it defines by reference to section 19(b)(1)(A) (i) through (vi) of the Federal Reserve Act (12 U.S.C. 461(b)(1)(A) (i) through (vi)). The Board proposes to use the term "bank," a term that conforms to the usage the Board has previously adopted in Regulation J. "Bank" is also the operative term in Article 4 of the Uniform Commercial Code.

"Bank" is defined to include depository institutions, as defined in the Act, and U.S. branches of foreign banks.

Unless otherwise specified, the term bank includes all of a bank's offices in the United States.

Banking day and Business day. The Act defines only "business day" and that only as any day excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and legal holidays. "Legal holiday," however, is not defined, and the variety of local holidays, together with the practice of some banks to close midweek, makes the Act's definition difficult to apply. The Board believes that two kinds of business days are relevant. First, when dealing with the day a deposit is made or a bank's duty to perform some action (such as returning a check), the focus should be on a day that the bank is actually open for business. Second, when counting days for purposes of determining when funds must be available under the regulation or for the time limits banks must meet in returning checks, there would be confusion and uncertainty in trying to follow the schedule of a particular bank, and there is less need to identify a day when a particular bank is open. Most banks that act as intermediaries (large correspondents and Federal Reserve Banks) follow the same holiday schedule. Accordingly, the Board proposes to adopt two definitions: "business day" is defined to follow the standard Federal Reserve holiday schedule (which is followed by most large banks), and "banking day" is defined to mean a business day on which a bank is open for substantially all of its banking activities.

The definition of banking day follows the definition of banking day in U.C.C. 4-104(1)(c), but changes it by defining a banking day in terms of a "business day." Thus, if a bank is open on Saturday, Saturday might be a banking day for purposes of the U.C.C., but it would not be a banking day for purposes of Regulation CC because Saturday is never a "business day" under the regulation.

Under the proposal, a bank may observe a banking day on a per branch basis. The fact that one branch is open to the public for substantially all of its banking business does not necessarily mean that that day is a banking day for other branches. For deposits made at an

ATM, if the branch of the depository bank that holds the account of the person making the deposit is open for substantially all of its banking activities on the day of deposit, that day is considered a banking day for that deposit.

Cash means U.S. coins and currency. The phrase in the Act "including Federal Reserve notes" has been deleted as unnecessary. (See 31 U.S.C. 5103.)

Cashier's check. The Board proposes to add to the second item in the Act's definition of "cashier's check" the language, "on behalf of the bank as drawer," to clarify that the term "cashier's check" is intended to cover only checks that a bank draws on itself.

Certified check. The Act defines a certified check as one to which a bank has certified that the drawer's signature is genuine and that the bank has set aside funds to pay the check. Under the Uniform Commercial Code, certification of a check means the bank's signed agreement that it will honor the check as presented (U.C.C. 3-410, 3-411). The Board proposes to define "certified check" to include both the Act's and U.C.C.'s definitions.

Check is defined in the Act as a negotiable demand draft drawn on or payable through an office of a depository institution located in the United States, excluding noncash items. The Act also mandates prompt availability for drafts drawn on the U.S. Treasury and state governments. The Board proposes to define "check" to include these items as well.

Principal and interest payments on federal debt instruments are often paid with checks drawn on a Federal Reserve Bank as fiscal agent of the United States, and these "fiscal agency checks" are indistinguishable from other checks drawn on Federal Reserve Banks. Federal Reserve checks are also used by some banks as substitutes for cashier's checks and therefore are analogous to depository checks under the regulation. Similarly, savings and loan associations often use checks drawn on Federal Home Loan Banks as substitutes for cashier's checks. The Board proposes to treat checks drawn on Federal Home Loan Banks and Federal Reserve Banks in the same manner as it treats depository checks.

The Act treats drafts payable through a bank as checks, even though under the U.C.C. the payable through bank is a collecting bank to make presentment and is generally not authorized to make payment (U.C.C. 3-120). The Act does not address items that are payable at a bank.<sup>3</sup> For purposes of this regulation, the Board proposes to treat both drafts through and payable at demand drafts as payable by the bank designated as the payable through or payable at bank. The Board believes that treating demand drafts payable at a bank as checks will not have a substantial effect on the operations of payable at banks—by far the largest proportion of payable at items are not negotiable demand drafts, but time items, such as commercial paper, bonds, notes, bankers' acceptances, and securities. These time items are not covered by the requirements of the Act or of this regulation. (The treatment of payable through drafts is discussed in greater detail in connection with the definitions of "local check" and "paying bank.")

The Board proposes to include negotiable demand drafts, or warrants, drawn on a state government in the definition of check. The Board has not proposed to address checks drawn on local governments under paragraph (3) in the definition of check because it is not aware of any local government that draws drafts directly on itself. If any commenter is aware of a local government that draws drafts directly on itself, it should include this information in its comment.

The Board proposes to treat U.S. Postal Service money orders as checks even though under Postal Service regulations they are not negotiable. The Board does not propose to provide specific rules for other types of money orders; these instruments are generally drawn on or payable through or payable at banks and are treated as checks on that basis.

The Board proposes to treat nonnegotiable cash items as checks for purposes of Subpart C. The Board requests comment on how to treat cash items drawn on entities that are not banks for purposes of this regulation (for example private banks and industrial banks).

Check clearinghouse association follows the definition in the Act, but makes it clear that using the premises of a Federal Reserve Bank to exchange checks does not constitute the handling of checks for collection by the Reserve Bank. This provision was added because several clearinghouses meet at Reserve Banks to exchange checks among their members.

The Act defines a clearinghouse as serving "a local area, including a metropolitan area." Some clearinghouses (for example, the California Bankers Clearing House Association), however, cover wide areas, including whole states that are served by more than one Federal Reserve office. The members of these clearinghouses may not all be "local paying banks" as contemplated by the Act. The Board requests comment on how to treat clearinghouses covering large geographic areas, and whether all participants in a clearinghouse should be regarded as local paying banks with respect to all other clearinghouse participants regardless of whether they are all located in the same check processing region.

Check processing region. The Act defines this term as "the geographic area served by a Federal Reserve bank check processing center or such larger area as the Board may prescribe by regulations." The Board proposes to adopt as the relevant check processing regions those territories served by one of the 48 Federal Reserve head offices, branches, or regional check processing centers. Appendix A lists all the Federal Reserve offices and gives the Federal Reserve routing symbols associated with each office territory. The definition of check processing region is key to determining whether a check is considered local or nonlocal.

Depository bank. The Board proposes to use this term rather than the term "receiving depository institution." "Receiving depository institution" is a term unique to the Act, while "depository bank" is the term used in Article 4 of the U.C.C. and Regulation J. "Depository bank" is therefore more familiar to the banking industry than is the Act's terminology.

A depository bank includes the bank in which the check is first deposited. If a customer deposits a check in its account at a bank, that bank is the depository bank with respect to the check. If a foreign bank sends checks to its U.S. correspondent bank for forward collection, the U.S. correspondent is the depository bank.

A bank may act as both the depository bank and the paying bank with respect to a check, if the check is drawn on, payable at, or payable through the bank in which it was deposited.

A bank is also considered a depository bank with respect to checks it receives as payee. For example, a bank is a depository bank with respect to checks it receives for loan repayment, although these checks are not deposited in an account at the bank.

Depository check is defined in the Act to include cashier's checks, certified checks, teller's checks, "and any other functionally equivalent instrument as determined by the Board." The Board does not propose to include any other instruments in this definition.

Electronic payment is defined to mean a wire transfer or an ACH credit transfer. The Act makes no mention of ACH transfers, but the Board believes that ACH credit transfers have some of the characteristics of wire transfers and should be treated in the same manner as wire transfers. ACH debit transfers, even though they may be transmitted electronically, are not defined as electronic payments because the receiver of an ACH debit transfer has the right to return the transfer, which would reverse the credit given to the originator. Thus, ACH debit transfers are more like checks than wire transfers. Further, those that receive funds by originating ACH debit transfers are primarily large corporate customers who would generally be able to negotiate with their banks for prompt availability.

Forward collection is a term used in Subpart C. It is defined to mean the process by which a depository bank sends a check to the paying bank for payment as distinguished from the process by which the check is returned after nonpayment. Noncash collections are not included in the term "forward collection."

Local check is defined as a check drawn on, payable through, or payable at a local paying bank. A bank may rely on the routing number on a check in identifying a local check; consequently, a person can determine which checks are local by reference to the routing number. A routing number is generally printed in magnetic ink near the bottom of the check (the "MICR strip"; see American National Standards Committee on Financial Services, Specification for the Placement and Location of MICR Printing, X9.13 (Sept. 8, 1983) hereinafter referred to as "ANSI X9.13-1983").

A check, such as a check drawn on a local bank but payable through a nonlocal bank, could have two paying banks, one local and one nonlocal, depending on how the check is collected. This definition allows the depository bank to rely on the routing number on the check, generally the payable through bank's routing number, in determining whether the check is local or nonlocal.

Appendix A is a list of routing numbers arranged by Federal Reserve Bank office to enable persons to determine whether or not a check is local.

Local paying bank is defined as a paying bank to which a check is sent for forward collection located in the same check processing region as the branch or proprietary ATM of the depository bank. (See comments on definition of "paying bank".)

Noncash item. The Act's definition of "check" states that noncash items are excluded, and defines noncash items as checks to which another document is attached or accompanied by special instructions. Under the Act, "noncash item" also includes other items as determined by the Board's regulations. The Board proposes to define "noncash item" in terms of the Federal Reserve Banks' uniform operating circular on the collection of noncash items. The proposal also defines noncash item to include checks that consist of more than a single thickness of paper (except checks that qualify for handling by automated check processing equipment, e.g. those placed in carrier envelopes) and checks that have not been preprinted or post-encoded in magnetic characters with the paying bank's routing number.

A photocopy of a check is neither a check nor a noncash item, but may be treated as either. The Federal Reserve Banks generally agree to handle a properly prepared photocopy of a check as a check if it contains a guarantee of authenticity and an indemnity by the depository bank or a collecting bank.

Paying bank. The Board proposes to use this term in lieu of the Act's "originating depository institution," and to define it, as in Regulation J (12 CFR Part 210), to include the payor bank, the payable at bank, and the payable through bank.

Under other provisions of the proposal, a bank designated as a "payable through bank" would be responsible for performing all of the duties (payment, return, notice, etc.) of the payor bank and within the same time frames. The Board believes that the Act makes a clear connection between availability and the time it takes for checks to be cleared and returned. Allowing the payable through bank additional time to forward checks to the payor, and await return or pay instructions from the payor, would delay the return of these checks, increasing the risks to depository banks.

Federal Reserve Banks and Federal Home Loan Banks are also treated as paying banks with respect to checks drawn on them, even though they are not defined as "banks" in the regulation. A state government that issues warrants drawn on itself would also be a paying bank for purposes of the regulation, and thus would be subject to the paying bank's duties under Subpart C.

Proprietary ATM. Under the temporary schedule, all deposits at nonproprietary ATMs are treated like deposits of nonlocal checks and deposits at proprietary ATMs are generally treated like deposits at banking offices. The Conference Report on the Act indicates that the special availability rules for deposits received through nonproprietary ATMs are provided because "nonproprietary ATMs today do not distinguish among check deposits or between check and cash deposits" (H.R. Rep. No. 261, 100th Cong., 1st Sess. at 179 (1987)). Thus, during the temporary schedule, a deposit of any combination of cash and checks at a nonproprietary ATM may be treated like a deposit of nonlocal checks, because the depository bank does not know the makeup of the deposit and consequently is unable to place different holds on cash, local check, and nonlocal check deposits made at the ATM.

A colloquy between Senators Proxmire and Dodd during the floor debate on the Competitive Equality Banking Act (133 Cong. Rec. S11289 (Aug. 4, 1987)) indicated that whether a bank operates the ATM is the primary criterion to determining whether the ATM is proprietary to that bank. Since a bank should be capable of ascertaining the composition of deposits made to an ATM operated by that bank, an exception to the availability schedules is not warranted for these deposits.

The Board believes that generally ATMs are owned or operated by one bank and should be considered proprietary to that bank, even if deposits can be made by customers of other banks at that ATM. Nonetheless, the Act also includes location as a factor in determining whether an ATM that is neither owned nor operated by a bank is proprietary to that bank. Thus, the Board has included, as criteria for what constitutes a proprietary ATM, an ATM located on the premises of the bank—either inside the branch or on its outside wall. Since the Act also defines a proprietary ATM as one that is "in close proximity" to the bank, the Board proposes to define an ATM located within 50 feet of a bank to be proprietary to that bank. The Board believes that the statutory proximity test was designed to apply to situations where it would appear to the depositor that the ATM was run by its bank, because of the proximity of the ATM to the bank. The Board believes that ATMs located within 50 feet of a banking office would be presumed proprietary to that bank unless they are clearly identified as being owned or operated by another bank.

The Board proposes to limit the applicability of this definition by stating that an ATM is not considered to be proprietary to more than one unaffiliated bank. If more than one bank meets the criteria set forth in the definition, the ATM will be considered proprietary to the bank that satisfies the criterion stated in the lowest numbered paragraph. Thus, generally an ATM will be proprietary to the bank that owns or operates it. If more than one bank meets the owns or operates criterion, the ATM shall be considered proprietary to the bank that operates it.

Qualified returned check. The proposal provides for the return of checks to the depository bank by the paying bank by the same general means used for forward collection of a check from the depository bank to the paying bank. One way to speed the return process is to prepare the returned check for automated processing. Returned checks can be automated by either the paying bank or a returning bank by placing the return in a carrier envelope or by placing a strip on the bottom of the return, and encoding the envelope or strip with the routing number of the depository bank, the amount of the check, and a special return identifier. Returns may be identified by placing a "2" in position 44 of the MICR line. (See ANSI X9.13-1983.) Generally, under the standard of care imposed by § 229.38, a paying or returning bank would be liable for any damages incurred due to misencoding of the routing number, the amount of the check or return identifier on a qualified returned check unless the error was due to problems with the depository bank's indorsement. (See also discussion of § 229.38(c).) A qualified returned check need not contain the elements of a check drawn on the depository bank, such as the name of the depository bank, as is required under the direct return provision of U.C.C. 4-212(2). Because indorsements on carrier envelopes will not appear on a returned check itself, banks will wish to retain carrier envelopes with their check records.

Returning bank is defined to mean any bank (including a Federal Reserve Bank or a Federal Home Loan Bank, but excluding the paying bank) handling a returned check under the return procedures established in Subpart C. A returning bank may or may not be a bank that handled the returned check in the forward collection process.

Routing number. Each bank is assigned a routing number by Rand McNally & Co. as agent for the American Bankers Association. The routing number takes two forms: A fractional form and a nine-digit form. A paying bank is identified by both the fractional form routing number (which normally appears in the upper right-hand corner of the check) and the nine-digit form (which is printed in magnetic ink in a strip along the bottom of the check). Subpart C proposes to require banks to place their routing numbers in nine-digit form in their indorsements.

Uniform Commercial Code is defined as the version of the Code adopted by the individual states. Citations in the regulation are to the official text published by the Code's sponsors.

Wire transfer. The Act delegates to the Board the authority to define the term "wire transfer." The Board proposes to define wire transfer as an order to a bank to pay a fixed or determinable amount of money to a beneficiary. The order must unconditionally permit the bank receiving the wire transfer to pay the beneficiary. A wire transfer may be transmitted by electronic or other means. "Electronic means" include computer-to-computer links, on-line terminals, telegrams (including TWX, TELEX, or similar methods of communication), telephone calls, or other similar methods. The Board believes that Fedwire (the Federal Reserve's wire transfer network), CHIPS (Clearing House Inter-bank Payments System, operated by the New York Clearing House), and book transfers among banks or within one bank would be covered by this definition.

Subpart B—Availability of Funds

Section 229.10 Next-day availability for certain deposits.

(a) Cash deposits. The Act provides next-day availability for cash deposits to accounts at a depository bank "staffed by individuals employed by such institution."<sup>3</sup> In its proposal, the Board has eliminated this condition for receipt of next-day availability for cash deposits as well as for checks subject to next-day availability under paragraph (c). Current law generally provides for next-day availability for cash deposits. (See U.C.C. 4-213(5).) The Board is not aware of any impediments to providing next-day availability for cash deposits received at a proprietary ATM, night depository, lobby deposit box, or through the mail, but requests comment on any problems this requirement may pose for depository banks.

This provision, as well as other provisions in this subpart governing the availability of funds, provides that funds must be made available for withdrawal not later than a specified number of "business days" following the "banking day" on which the funds are deposited. Thus, a deposit is only considered made on a banking day, i.e., a day that the bank is open to the public for carrying on substantially all of its banking functions. For example, if a deposit is made at an ATM on a Saturday, Sunday, or other day on which the bank is closed to the public, the deposit is considered received on that bank's next banking day. Nevertheless, "business days" are used to determine the number of days following the banking day of deposit that funds must be available for withdrawal. For example, if a deposit of a local check were made on a Monday under the temporary schedule, which calls for availability on the third business day after deposit, funds must be made available on Thursday regardless of whether the bank was closed on Wednesday for other than a standard legal holiday as specified in the definition of "business day."

Under this provision, cash deposited in an account on a Monday, except for cash deposited at a nonproprietary ATM, must become available for withdrawal by the start of business on Tuesday.

(b) Electronic payments. The Act provides next-day availability for funds received for deposit by wire transfer. The regulation uses the term "electronic payment," rather than "wire transfer," because the Board is proposing that ACH credit transfers also be accorded next-day availability. (See discussion of definition of "electronic payment.")

The Act requires that funds be available for withdrawal not later than the business day following the day a wire transfer is received. This provision clarifies what constitutes receipt of an electronic payment. For the purposes of this section, receipt is determined by when the bank receives payment in finally collected funds. For example, finally collected funds generally are received for an ACH credit transfer when they are posted to the receiving bank's account on the settlement day. In the case of Fedwire, the bank receives finally collected funds at the time the payment is made. (See 12 CFR 210.36.)

This provision establishes when an electronic payment is considered received. The "to the extent" language in the provision is intended to address cases where a participant on a private network fails to settle, and the bank receives finally settled funds representing only a partial amount of the payment.

(c) Government checks, depository checks, checks drawn on the depository bank, and certain other checks. The Act generally requires that funds be made available on the business day following deposit for Treasury checks, state and local government checks, depository checks, and "on us" checks under specified conditions. One condition to receipt of next-day availability placed on Treasury checks, state and local government checks, and depository checks is that the check must be "endorsed only by the person to whom it was issued." The Act could be interpreted to include a check that has been indorsed in blank and deposited into an account of a third party that is not named as payee. The Board believes that such a check presents greater risks than a check deposited by the payee and, therefore, proposes that funds should be available on the business day following deposit only if the check "is deposited in an account of a payee of the check."

The Board is proposing to require next-day availability for additional types of checks not addressed in the Act. Under the proposal, checks drawn on a Federal Reserve Bank or a Federal Home Loan Bank and U.S. Postal Service money orders must be made available on the next business day following deposit if the check is deposited in an account of a payee of the check.

A check deposited in a branch of the depository bank, and drawn on the same or another branch of the same bank, must be made available at the start of the next business day if both branches are located in the same state or the same check processing region.

The Act and proposed regulation also require that $100 of the aggregate deposit by check(s) or checks on any one banking day be made available on the next business day. For example, if $70 were deposited in an account by check(s) on a Monday, the entire $70 must be available for withdrawal at the start of business on Tuesday. If $200 were deposited by check(s) on a Monday, the Act requires that $100 of the funds be available for withdrawal at the start of business on Tuesday.

Under the Act, a depository bank may require the use of a special deposit slip as a condition to providing next-day availability for certain types of checks. This condition was included in the Act because a number of banks determine the availability of their customers' check deposits in an automated manner by reading the MICR-encoded routing number on the deposited checks. Using these procedures, a bank can determine whether a check is a local or nonlocal check; is a check drawn on the Treasury, a Federal Reserve Bank, a Federal Home Loan Bank, or a branch of the depository bank; or is a U.S. Postal Service money order. The bank cannot require a special deposit slip for these checks. The bank, however, would not be able to distinguish whether the check was a state or local government check or a depository check by reading the MICR-encoded routing number, because these checks bear the same routing number as other checks drawn on the same bank that are not accorded next-day availability. Therefore, a bank may require a special deposit slip for these checks.

The regulation specifies that, if a bank decides to require the use of a special deposit slip as a condition to granting next-day availability and the deposit slip that must be used is different from the bank's regular deposit slips, the bank must either provide the special slips to its customers or inform its customers how such slips may be obtained and make the slips reasonably available to the customers. Providing customers with an order form for the special deposit slips and allowing sufficient time for the customer to order and receive the slips before this condition is imposed, is one way this requirement may be met. If a bank provides deposit slips in its branches for use by its customers, it should also provide the special deposit slips in the branches. If the bank simply requires the customer to segregate the checks subject to next-day availability and indicate on a regular deposit slip that government checks and/or depository checks are being deposited, the bank should so instruct its customers.

Section 229.11 Temporary schedule.

(a) Effective date. Checks, other than those that must be accorded next-day availability, are categorized as either local or nonlocal, with different availability schedules attached to each. These schedules will become effective on September 1, 1988, and will be superseded by more stringent schedules on September 1, 1990.

(b) Local checks. This paragraph sets forth the maximum hold period that can be placed on local checks during the temporary schedule. The regulation refers to the day on which funds must be available for withdrawal as within a specified number of business days after deposit, rather than after a specified number of intervening business days, as provided in the Act. A depository bank must make funds from the deposit of a local check available on the third business day following the banking day on which the check is deposited. This requirement corresponds to the two intervening business days specified in the Act. Thus, under the temporary schedule, a local check deposited on a Monday must be available for withdrawal on Thursday, except in the case of deposits at nonproprietary ATMs and deposits to accounts in banks located outside the 48 contiguous states.

The Act provides a further adjustment to the availability rules for cash withdrawals. During the temporary schedule, the Act provides that funds from local checks collected outside a check clearinghouse arrangement need not be available for cash withdrawal until 5:00 p.m. on the day specified in the schedule. This special rule does not apply to deposits of nonlocal checks under the temporary schedule. At 5:00 p.m., $400 of the deposit must be made available for cash withdrawal. This $400 is in addition to the first $100 of a day's deposit, which must be made available for withdrawal, including cash withdrawal, at the start of business on the next business day following deposit. The remainder of the funds must be available for cash withdrawal at the start of business on the business day following the business day specified in the schedule.

The Act recognizes that the $400 that must be provided on the day specified in the schedule may exceed a bank's daily ATM cash withdrawal limit, and explicitly provides that the Act does not supersede the bank's policy in this regard. The Board believes that the rationale for accommodating a bank's ATM withdrawal limit also applies to other cash withdrawal limits established by that bank. In the proposed regulation, the relation between a bank's cash withdrawal limit (for over-the-counter cash withdrawals as well as ATM cash withdrawals) and the requirements of this subpart is addressed in § 229.19(c)(4).

The Board believes that the Congress included this special cash rule to provide a depository bank with additional time to learn of the nonpayment of a check before it must make funds available to its customer. If a customer deposits a local check on a Monday, and that check is returned by the paying bank, the depository bank may receive the check on Thursday (the day funds must be made available under the temporary schedule), but would most likely not receive the return by the opening of business on Thursday, even with the payments improvements proposed in Subpart C of this regulation. Checks written by the customer that are presented to the depository bank on Thursday are typically not posted to the customer's account until late Thursday night. Any returns that have been received on that day are debited to the customer's account before these checks are posted. Thus, for the purpose of checks written by the customer, the fact that a return is not received until sometime during the day on which funds must be made available does not increase the bank's risk. However, the depository bank's risk does increase significantly if the customer withdraws the funds in cash, because the withdrawal may occur before the return is received and posted. The intent of the special cash withdrawal rule is to minimize this risk to the depository bank.

For this rule to minimize the depository bank's risk, it must apply not only to cash withdrawals, but also to withdrawals by other means that result in an irrevocable debit to the customer's account or commitment to pay by the bank on the customer's behalf during the day. Thus, the Board proposes to expand the cash withdrawal rule to also include withdrawals by electronic payment, issuance of a depository check, or other irrevocable commitment to pay, such as authorization of an on-line point-of-sale debit. The cash withdrawal rule does not apply to checks and other provisional debits presented to the bank for payment that the bank has the right to return.

The regulation provides that Treasury checks and U.S. Postal Service money orders be treated as local checks, where the conditions to receiving next-day availability are not met. These checks are treated as local checks because they are payable at any Federal Reserve office. Thus, under this rule a Treasury check or a postal money order that is indorsed and deposited in an account not held by the payee must be made available in accordance with the schedule for local checks. Other types of checks described in § 229.10(c), such as checks drawn on a Federal Reserve Bank or Federal Home Loan Bank, state and local government checks, and depository checks, for which next-day availability does not apply (e.g., because they were not deposited in an account of a payee of the check), are treated as either local or nonlocal checks, depending on the check processing region in which they are payable.

(c) Nonlocal checks. Under the temporary schedule, funds deposited by nonlocal checks must be made available for withdrawal not later than the seventh business day following the banking day the funds are deposited, except in the case of deposits at nonproprietary ATMs or in accounts of banks located outside the 48 contiguous states. Thus, funds from a nonlocal check deposited on a Monday must be available for withdrawal by Wednesday of the following week. The Act does not establish a special rule for cash withdrawals for nonlocal checks under the temporary schedule. Therefore, subject to § 229.19(c), the full amount of the deposit becomes available for cash withdrawal on the business day specified in the schedule.

Section 603(d)(1) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 4002(d)(1)) requires the Board to reduce the statutory schedules for any category of checks where most of those checks would be returned in a shorter period of time than provided in the schedules. The conferees indicated that "if the new system makes it possible for two-thirds of the items of a category of checks to meet this test in a shorter period of time, then the Federal Reserve must shorten the schedules accordingly." H.R. Rep. No. 261, 100th Cong., 1st Sess. at 179 (1987).

Reduced schedules are proposed for certain nonlocal checks, where significant improvements can be made to the Act's schedules. Specifically, shorter schedules are provided for checks deposited in banks located in certain Federal Reserve cities and drawn on banks located in certain other Federal Reserve cities, where transportation arrangements allow for faster collection and return. In addition, shorter schedules are proposed for checks drawn on certain banks that are served by two Federal Reserve offices, and certain checks deposited in and drawn on banks in the New York City metropolitan area, where the proximity of the Federal Reserve offices facilitates faster clearing and return of these checks.

Appendix B-1 sets forth the specific reduction of schedules applicable to banks located in each check processing region.

(d) Deposits at nonproprietary ATMs. The Act provides a special rule for deposits made at nonproprietary ATMs. During the temporary schedule, a depository bank may treat all deposits made by its customers at a nonproprietary ATM as though the deposits were nonlocal checks. A deposit at a nonproprietary ATM on a Monday, including a deposit by cash or checks that would otherwise be subject to next-day availability, must be made available for withdrawal not later than Wednesday of the following week.

This rule does not apply to deposits made at proprietary ATMs. Availability of deposits at proprietary ATMs is governed by the same rules as deposits made directly at branches of depository banks.

(e) Extension of schedule for certain deposits in Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the U.S. Virgin Islands. The Act provides an extension of the availability schedules for banks located in Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the U.S. Virgin Islands. The schedules for local checks, nonlocal checks, and deposits at nonproprietary ATMs are extended by one business day for checks deposited to accounts in banks located in these jurisdictions that are drawn on or payable at or through a paying bank not located in the same jurisdiction as the depository bank. For example, a check deposited in a bank in Hawaii and drawn on a San Francisco paying bank must be made available for withdrawal not later than the fourth business day following deposit. This extension does not apply to deposits that must be made available for withdrawal on the next business day.

The Congress did not provide this extension of the schedules to checks drawn on a paying bank located in Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, or the U.S. Virgin Islands and deposited in an account at a depository bank in the 48 contiguous states. Therefore, a check deposited in a San Francisco bank drawn on a Hawaii paying bank must be made available for withdrawal not later than the third business day following deposit.

The availability rules of § 229.11 are illustrated in Figure 1.

Section 229.12 Permanent schedule.

(a) Effective date. The permanent schedule will supersede the temporary schedule on September 1, 1990. The Board requests comment on whether the permanent schedule should be made effective on an earlier date.

(b) Local checks. When the permanent schedule becomes effective, local checks and Treasury checks and U.S. Postal Service money orders not subject to next-day availability under § 229.10(c) must be made available for withdrawal not later than the second business day following deposit. Exceptions are made for withdrawals by cash or similar means, deposits at nonproprietary ATMs, and deposits in banks located outside the 48 contiguous states. Thus, the proceeds of a local check deposited on a Monday must be made available for withdrawal on Wednesday.

(c) Nonlocal checks. Under the permanent schedule, the time period for availability of nonlocal checks is also reduced. Nonlocal checks must be made available for withdrawal not later than the fifth business day following deposit, i.e., proceeds of a nonlocal check deposited on a Monday must be made available for withdrawal on the following Monday. Adjustments are made to the schedule for withdrawals by cash or similar means, deposits at nonproprietary ATMs, and deposits in banks located outside the 48 contiguous states.

As described in the discussion of § 229.11(c), the Board is required to shorten the schedules for any category of check where most of those checks can be returned to the depository bank in a shorter period of time than provided in the schedule. Appendix B sets forth the reductions to the schedule for certain nonlocal checks.

(d) Time period adjustment for withdrawal by cash or similar means. Unlike the temporary schedule, the Act applies the special cash withdrawal rule to both local and nonlocal checks under the permanent schedule. The Board's proposed regulation implementing this rule is described in the discussion of the temporary schedule at § 229.11(b). In the permanent schedule, if the proceeds of local and nonlocal checks become available for withdrawal on the same business day, the withdrawal limitation applies to the aggregate amount of the funds.

(e) Deposits at nonproprietary ATMs. This provision provides a limited exception to the permanent schedule for deposits at nonproprietary ATMs. Cash and checks subject to next-day availability under § 229.10 that are deposited in an account at a nonproprietary ATM must be available for withdrawal not later than the second business day following the banking day on which the deposit was made. Other deposits at nonproprietary ATMs must be made available in accordance with the schedule in the regulation applicable to the category of check being deposited.

Section 603(e)(4) of the Act directs the Board to "establish and maintain a dialogue" with banks and ATM vendors regarding the ability of ATM systems to communicate to the depository bank the composition of a deposit made at a nonproprietary ATM. The Board requests comment on how depository banks plan to comply with the availability schedules for deposits made at nonproprietary ATMs under the permanent schedule.

(f) Extension of schedule for certain deposits in Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the U.S. Virgin Islands. The extension of the availability schedules provided to banks located in Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the U.S. Virgin Islands under the temporary schedule also applies when the permanent schedule becomes effective. Explanation of this provision is provided in the discussion of § 229.11(d).

The availability rules of § 229.12 are illustrated in Figures 2 and 3.

Section 229.13 Exceptions.

While certain safeguard exceptions (such as those for new accounts and checks the bank has reasonable cause to believe are uncollectible) are established in the Act, the Congress gave the Board the discretion to determine whether certain other exceptions should be included in these regulations. Specifically, the Act gives the Board the authority to establish exceptions to the schedules for large or redeposited checks and for accounts that have been repeatedly overdrawn. These exceptions do not apply to checks or other deposits that must be accorded next-day availability under § 229.10.

Although proposed improvements to the check collection system will accelerate the return of most checks, many checks will not be returned to the depository bank by the time funds must be made available for withdrawal under the temporary schedule—a number that will likely increase when the permanent schedule is adopted. In order to reduce risk to depository banks, the Board believes that it is appropriate to adopt the exceptions to the schedules permitted by the Act in the regulation to allow the bank to extend the time within which it is required to make funds available. The exceptions provided in this section apply to the schedules for local and nonlocal checks during the temporary and permanent schedules, and, in some cases, to the next-day availability requirement for certain check deposits.

The Act also gives the Board the authority to suspend the schedules for any classification of checks, if the schedules result in an unacceptable level of fraud losses. The Board will adopt regulations to implement this statutory authority, if and when circumstances requiring its implementation arise.

(a) New accounts. The Act provides an exception to the availability schedule for new accounts. An account is defined as a new account during the first 30 calendar days after the account has been established. However, if the customer opening the account has an established transaction account relationship with the bank, or has had an established transaction account relationship with the bank within 30 calendar days of opening the other account, the newly established account would not be subject to this exception.

Thus, if a customer that has had one account with a bank for more than 30 days opens a second account with that bank, that customer would not be considered a new depositor during the first 30-day period following the establishment of the second account.

If a customer's account was closed and another account established as a successor to the original account (due, for example, to the theft of checks or a debit card used to access the original account), the customer would not be considered a new depositor with regard to the successor account, assuming the original account relationship is at least 30 days old. Similarly, if a customer closed an established account and opens a separate account within 30 days, the new account is not subject to this exception, if the closed account was at least 30 days old.

A customer that has a joint account at a depository bank and subsequently establishes an individual account with that bank would not be a new depositor, assuming the joint account relationship is at least 30 days old.

If a customer establishes an account with a depository bank with which it has no other current or recent account relationship, that customer is considered a new depositor and may be subject to the new account exception for the first 30 days of the account relationship. During the new account period, the schedules for local and nonlocal checks do not apply, but deposits received by cash and electronic payment must be given next-day availability in accordance with § 229.10. The first $5,000 of funds deposited to a new account on any one banking day by Treasury checks, checks drawn on Federal Reserve Banks or Federal Home Loan Banks, U.S. Postal Service money orders, state and local government checks, and depository checks must be made available for withdrawal at the start of business on the following business day. Funds in excess of the first $5,000 deposited by these types of checks on a banking day must be available for withdrawal not later than at the start of business on the ninth business day following the banking day of deposit. For the purposes of new accounts only, traveler's checks are treated as depository checks.

(b) Large deposits. A depository bank may extend the hold placed on local and nonlocal check deposits only to the extent that the amount of the aggregate deposit on any banking day exceeds $5,000. While the first $5,000 of a day's deposit is subject to the availability provided for local or nonlocal checks, the amount in excess of $5,000 may be held for an additional four business days, as provided in § 229.13(h). Deposits by cash, electronic payment, or checks that must be granted next-day availability under the regulation are not subject to this exception for large deposits.

Where a customer has multiple accounts with a depository bank, the bank may apply the large-dollar deposit exception to the aggregate deposits to all of the customer's accounts, if the holders of the accounts to be aggregated are the same. Thus, a depository bank may aggregate the deposits made to two separate accounts at that bank held by the same individual. A bank, however, may not aggregate the deposits of an individual and a joint account for the purpose of applying the large-dollar deposit exception, because the holders of the accounts are not the same. Aggregation of deposits to multiple accounts is proposed because the Board believes that the risk to the depository bank associated with large deposits is similar regardless of how the deposits are allocated among the customer's accounts.

(c) Redeposited checks. The Act gives the Board the authority to promulgate an exception to the schedule for checks that have been returned unpaid and redeposited. The proposal provides such an exception for checks that have been returned unpaid and redeposited by the customer or the depository bank.

The Board proposes this exception because there is an increased risk to the depository bank that checks that have been returned once will be uncollectible when they are presented to the paying bank a second time. The Board, however, does not believe that this increased risk is present for checks that have been returned due to a missing indorsement. Thus, the exception being proposed does not apply to checks returned unpaid due to missing indorsements and redeposited after the missing indorsement has been obtained, if the reason for return stamp on the check states that it was returned due to a missing indorsement. For the same reasons, this exception does not apply to a check returned because it was postdated (future dated), if it is no longer postdated when redeposited. In the cases of both checks with missing indorsements and postdated checks, the time for making the funds available begins to run again as of the date of redeposit.

(d) Repeated overdrafts. The Act gives the Board the authority to establish an exception for "deposit accounts which have been overdrawn repeatedly." While the Act does not indicate how this rule should operate, the conferees stated that they believe that a reasonable definition would be one that specifies that an account (or a successor account) be overdrawn at least on 3 separate and distinct occasions within any 6 month period. The funds availability schedule would not apply to any such account for a period of six months following the last occasion involved.

H.R. Rep. No. 261, 100th Cong. 1st Sess. at 181. (1987).

The proposed regulation generally adopts this standard for determining the accounts that are subject to the repeated overdraft exception. The Board proposes that, if on three instances in any six-month period any account or combination of accounts of the customer goes from a positive balance to a negative balance, or would have done so if checks or other charges against the account were paid rather than returned, the exception would apply. Any three consecutive banking days during which the account had a negative balance due to a continuing overdraft, or would have had a negative balance due to the presentment of additional checks on any of the three days, are considered part of the same instance. If the account has or would have had a negative balance for more than three consecutive banking days, each consecutive three banking-day period constitutes a separate instance. Thus, an overdraft continuing for four banking days is two instances. The Board requests comment on this approach to determining whether an account is subject to the repeated overdraft exception.

The exception relates not only to accounts subject to check overdrafts, but also accounts subject to check or other debit items (such as ACH debits or point of sale transactions) of amounts in excess of available funds, regardless of whether the items were paid or returned unpaid. The exception excludes accounts with overdraft lines of credit, unless the credit line has been exceeded.

(e) Reasonable cause to doubt collectibility. A depository bank may extend the hold placed on funds in a customer's account from the deposit of a local or nonlocal check, a check drawn on a Federal Reserve Bank or Federal Home Loan Bank, or a depository check, if the bank has reasonable cause to believe the check is uncollectible. For example, if the bank received a notification from the paying bank that a check was not paid and is being returned to the depository bank, the depository bank would have a basis to apply this exception. The exception could be invoked even if the notice were incomplete, if the bank had reasonable cause to believe that the notice applied to a particular check. The fact that a check is deposited more than six months after the date on the check is a reasonable indication that the check may be uncollectible, because under U.C.C. 4-404 a bank has no duty to its customer to pay a check that is more than six months old. A bank could also reasonably conclude that a check being deposited is uncollectible based on its reasonable belief that the depositor is engaging in kiting activity. Reasonable belief as to the insolvency of the drawer or drawee may also trigger this exception. Other facts may give a bank reasonable cause to doubt the collectibility of a check. The Board does not intend to provide a comprehensive list of the cases in which this exception may be invoked. If this exception is invoked, the bank must include in the notice to its customer, required by § 229.13(g), the reason that the bank believes that the check is uncollectible.

The regulation provides that the determination that a check is uncollectible shall not be based on a class of checks or persons. For example, a depository bank cannot invoke this exception simply because the check is drawn on a paying bank in a rural area and the depository bank knows it will not have the opportunity to learn of nonpayment of that check before funds must be made available under the availability schedules. Similarly, a depository bank cannot apply the reasonable cause exception based on the race or national origin of the depositor.

If a depository bank invokes this exception with respect to a particular check and does not provide a written notice to its customer at the time of deposit, the depository bank may not assess any overdraft fee (such as an NSF charge) or charge interest for use of overdraft credit, if the check is finally paid by the paying bank and these charges would not have occurred had the exception not been invoked.

(f) Emergency conditions. Certain emergency conditions may arise that delay the collection or return of checks, or delay the processing and updating of customer accounts. In the circumstances specified in this paragraph, the depository bank may extend the holds that are placed on deposits of local and nonlocal checks that are affected by such delays, if the bank exercises such diligence as the circumstances require.

(g) Notice of exception. If a depository bank invokes any of the safeguard exceptions to the schedules listed above, other than the new account exception, and extends the hold on a deposit beyond the time periods permitted in §§ 229.10, 229.11, and 229.12, it must provide a notice to its customer stating the reason the exception was invoked and the day funds will be available for withdrawal.

The requirement that the notice state the day the funds shall be made available may be satisfied if the date the deposit is received and the number of days until funds are available for withdrawal are provided in the notice. Appendix C contains a model form of this exception notice.

For deposits made in person to an employee of the depository bank, the notice generally must be given to the customer at the time of deposit. For other deposits, such as deposits received at an ATM, lobby deposit box, night depository, or through the mail, notice must be mailed to the customer not later than the close of the business day following the banking day on which the deposit was made.

Notice to the customer may be provided at a later time, if the facts upon which the determination to invoke the exception do not become known to the depository bank until after notice would otherwise have to be given. In these cases, the bank must mail the notice to the depositor as soon as practicable, but not later than the business day following the day the facts become known. The Board has clarified in the regulation when a depository bank is deemed to have knowledge of the facts upon which the determination is made. A bank is deemed to have knowledge when the facts are brought to the attention of the persons in the bank responsible for making the determination, or when the facts would have been brought to their attention if the bank had exercised due diligence.

If the depository bank extends the hold placed on a deposit due to an emergency condition, the regulation provides that the bank need not provide a notice if the funds would be available for withdrawal before the notice must be sent. For example, if on the last day of a hold period the depository bank experiences a computer failure and customer accounts cannot be updated in a timely fashion to reflect the funds as available balances, notices are not required, if the funds are made available before the notices must be sent.

(h) Availability of deposits subject to exceptions. Section 604(f) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 4003(f)) provides that holds placed on deposits subject to an exception (other than the new account exception) "shall not exceed a reasonable period of time as determined by the Board." If a depository bank invokes any exception other than the new account exception, the bank may extend the period of time within which funds must be made available under the schedule by four business days. With respect to checks subject to the next-day availability requirement, the depository bank may extend the time funds must be made available for withdrawal by four business days beyond the delay that would have been applicable had the checks not been subject to the next-day availability requirement. Thus, for depository checks, state and local government checks, and checks drawn on Federal Reserve Banks or Federal Home Loan Banks, the four business days are added to the local or nonlocal schedule that would apply based on the location of the paying bank.

Under an improved check collection system, these four business days, in addition to the time period provided in the schedule, should provide adequate time for the depository bank to learn of the nonpayment of virtually all checks that are returned.

In the case of the application of the emergency conditions exception, the depository bank may extend the hold placed on a check by not more than four business days following the end of the emergency.

Section 229.14 Payment of interest.

(a) In general. This section requires that a depository bank begin accruing interest on interest-bearing accounts not later than the day on which the depository bank receives provisional credit for the funds deposited. Because "account" includes only transaction accounts, other interest-bearing accounts of the depository bank, such as money market deposit accounts, savings deposits, and time deposits, are not subject to this requirement. The Board intends the term interest to refer to payments to or for the account of any depositor as compensation for the use of funds, but to exclude the absorption of expenses incident to providing a normal banking function or its forbearance from charging a fee in connection with such a service. (See 12 CFR 217.2(d).)

interest properly on the account to which the check is deposited. This difficulty may be pronounced if the bank uses different means of collecting checks based on the time of day the check is received, the dollar amount of the check, and/or the paying bank to which it must be sent. The Board proposes that, for the purpose of the interest accrual requirement, a bank may rely on an availability schedule from its Federal Reserve Bank, Federal Home Loan Bank, or correspondent in determining when the depository bank receives provisional credit. A bank that accrues interest from the day of deposit, or from the day following deposit, meets this payment of interest requirement.

(b) Special rule for credit unions. The Act provides an exemption from the payment of interest requirements for credit unions that do not begin to accrue interest or dividends on their customer accounts until a later date than the day the credit union receives provisional credit for those deposits, including cash deposits. These credit unions are exempt from the payment of interest requirements, as long as they provide notice of their interest accrual policies in accordance with § 229.18(f). For example, if a credit union has a policy of computing interest on all deposits received by the 10th of the month from the first of that month and all deposits received after the 10th of the month from the first of the next month, that policy is not superseded by this regulation, if the credit union provides proper disclosure of this policy to its customers.

The Act limits this exemption to credit unions; other types of depository institutions must comply with the payment of interest requirements. In addition, credit unions that now compute interest from the day of deposit or day of provisional credit should not change their existing practices in order to avoid compliance with the requirement that interest accrue from the day of provisional credit.

(c) Exception for checks returned unpaid. This provision is based on section 606(c) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 4005(c)) and provides that interest need not be paid on funds deposited in an interest-bearing account by check that has been returned unpaid.

Section 229.15 General disclosure requirements.

(a) Form of disclosures. This paragraph sets forth the general requirements for the disclosures required under Subpart B. All of the disclosures must be given in a clear and conspicuous manner, be in writing, and, in most cases, be in a form the customer may keep. The required disclosures at branch locations, at ATMs, and on preprinted deposit slips need not be in a form that the customer may keep.

The regulation requires that the availability disclosures be grouped together and not contain any information that is not directly related to the disclosures required by this subpart. Therefore, banks may not intersperse the required availability disclosures with other account disclosures or include other account information that is not related to their availability policy within the text of the required disclosures. Banks may, however, include information related to their availability policies. For example, a bank may include a notice to their customers stating that, even though the bank has made funds available, the customer is still responsible if there is a problem with the deposit, such as the return of a deposited check.

The regulation does not require that the disclosures be segregated from other account terms and conditions. Banks may include the required disclosures in a booklet or pamphlet that sets out the terms and conditions of the bank's accounts. The required disclosures must, however, be grouped together and highlighted or identified in some manner, for example, by use of a separate heading for the disclosures.

(b) Uniform reference today of availability. This paragraph requires banks to disclose their availability policies to customers in a uniform manner. Banks that delay availability must disclose when deposited funds are available for withdrawal by stating the business day on which the customer may begin to withdraw funds. The business day funds will be available must be disclosed as "on the business day after" the day of deposit, or substantially similar language. The business day of availability is determined by counting the number of business days starting with the business day following the banking day on which the deposit is received, as determined under § 229.19(a), through the business day on which the customer may begin to withdraw funds. For example, an institution that imposes delays of four intervening business days for nonlocal checks must describe those checks as being available "on the fifth business day after" the day of the deposit. This requirement is intended to enable customers to compare more easily the availability policies of different banks and minimize the possibility of confusion about the policies of various banks.

(c) Multiple accounts and multiple account-holders. This paragraph clarifies that banks need not provide multiple disclosures under the regulation. A single disclosure to a customer that holds multiple accounts, or a single disclosure to one of the account holders of a jointly-held account, satisfies the disclosure requirements of the regulation.

(d) Dormant or inactive accounts. This paragraph provides that banks need not provide disclosure of their specific availability policy to accounts that are dormant or inactive, and thus do not receive mailings from the bank. The Board believes that this provision will avoid imposing significant costs on banks, while not significantly reducing the protections of the law. The other disclosure requirements—disclosures at locations where deposits may be made, disclosures at ATMs, and disclosures on preprinted deposit slips—should ensure that these customers are made aware of the possibility of delays in availability, if they choose to use the dormant or inactive account in the future. The regulation also requires that the customer be given a full statement of the bank's availability policy upon an oral or written request.

(a) Specific availability policy disclosure. This section describes the information that must be disclosed by banks to comply with §§ 229.17 and 229.18(d) requiring that banks furnish a notice of their specific policy regarding availability of deposited funds. The information that must be disclosed by banks will vary considerably depending upon a bank's particular availability policy. For example, a bank that does not delay availability beyond the next business day need simply disclose that deposited funds will be available for withdrawal on the business day following the banking day of deposit, the bank's business days, and when deposits are considered received. On the other hand, a bank that routinely delays availability on a blanket basis up to the maximum time allowed under the federal law—that is, automatically imposes delays on most check deposits, with the length of the delay determined by the type and routing number of the check being deposited—must provide a more complex disclosure. These latter banks must provide all of the information set forth in this section, including the types of deposits that will be subject to delays, how the customer can determine the type of deposit being made, and the corresponding length of any delay. The bank is also required to include a brief summary of its policy at the beginning of the disclosure and to describe any circumstances when actual availability may vary from the schedules disclosed. Such circumstances would arise, for example, when the bank invoked one of the exceptions set forth in the statute and regulation.

(b) Alternate disclosure for banks that have case-by-case hold policies. The Board believes that numerous banks currently do not routinely delay the availability of deposited funds. Normally, these banks provide customers with immediate or next-day availability for deposited funds, and impose delays only in special circumstances—determined on a case-by-case basis. Often these banks provide the customer with notice of any delay at the time the deposit is made.

Banks with case-by-case hold policies may find it difficult, if not impossible, to develop a disclosure that tells the customer specifically when a deposit will be subject to a delay—in fact, the nature of the bank's policy essentially precludes such a disclosure. In order to be able to give a specific notice to the customer of when deposited funds will be subject to a delay in availability, as required, for example, before opening new accounts, these banks may find it necessary to discontinue the practice of imposing holds on a case-by-case basis and instead begin routinely to delay availability on specific types of checks (essentially adopting an automatic or blanket delay policy). The Board believes that such a result would be adverse to many bank customers. Also, banks would incur substantial costs not only in making disclosures, but also in developing and implementing new availability policies.

Accordingly, this paragraph allows banks that delay availability of deposited funds on a case-by-case basis to continue the practice by setting forth a disclosure alternative for such banks. Banks with case-by-case hold policies must still provide a specific policy disclosure; but, their disclosure need not be as detailed as that required by paragraph (a). Specifically, these banks need not give disclosures that allow customers to determine when a hold, in fact, will be placed on a deposit. In addition to disclosure of their specific availability policy, banks with case-by-case hold policies must give customers a notice when availability of funds from a deposit will be delayed. The bank must give the notice at the time of the deposit, if the deposit is made directly to a bank employee. If the deposit was not made directly to a bank employee—for example, if the deposit were by mail—the bank must send customers a notice on the day the deposit is received. This notice must indicate both that a delay is being imposed and the day the funds will be available. By requiring that banks provide a notice of delay at the time a deposit is made, the Board intends to ensure that customers will know with specificity when deposited funds that are being delayed will be available.

In some situations a bank employee accepting a deposit from a customer may not know whether a deposit will, in fact, be held, but knows that the deposit needs to be reviewed by another bank employee that is unavailable at that time. The regulation includes special rules to avoid placing the bank in the position of refusing to accept the deposit, or requiring the customer to wait for notice of whether the deposit will be subject to a delay. A bank may notify the customer that availability of funds will be delayed after the time of the deposit, even though the deposit was made directly to a bank employee, if two conditions are met. First, the bank must notify the customer at the time of the deposit that the deposit may be subject to a delay. Second, the bank must notify the customer on the day of the deposit if a delay is imposed and tell the customer the day funds will be available for withdrawal. The bank may not meet this notification requirement by mailing a notice to the customer; the customer must receive the notice of the delay on the day of the deposit.

A bank that imposes holds on a case-by-case basis is still subject to the availability requirements of this subpart. If the bank imposes a hold on a particular deposit that is not longer than the availability required by §§ 229.11 or 229.12 for local and nonlocal checks, the reason for the hold need not be based on the exceptions provided in § 229.13. If the hold exceeds the time periods permitted under §§ 229.11 or 229.12, however, it must be based on an exception provided in § 229.13, and the bank must comply with the § 229.13 notice and time requirements.

Section 229.17 Initial disclosures.

(a) Notice for new accounts. This paragraph requires banks to provide a notice of their availability policy to all potential customers prior to opening an account. The Board believes that the requirement of a notice prior to opening an account requires banks to provide disclosures prior to accepting any deposit to open an account. If a bank, however, receives a written request by mail from a person asking that an account be opened that includes an initial deposit, the bank may open the account provided the bank mails the required disclosures to the customer not later than the business day following the banking day on which the bank receives the deposit.

(b) Existing accounts. This section requires banks to send a notice of their specific policy with respect to the availability of deposited funds to all existing account customers in the first scheduled mailing to customers occurring after September 1, 1988. The notice must be sent not later than October 31, 1988 (60 days after the effective date of the law). Thus, banks must include a notice in the first statement mailing to customers after September 1, 1988, unless the bank has provided a notice to its customers of its availability policy that meets the requirements of § 229.16 prior to the mailing of this statement.

Banks may not furnish the required notice to customers by including the notice with promotional material, such as a solicitation for health or hospitalization insurance, unless that material is included with the account statement. A bank is permitted to provide the notice by furnishing the customer with a booklet or pamphlet that describes the terms and conditions of the bank's accounts generally. The bank, however, must then direct the customer's attention to the disclosures required by this section of the regulation by, for example, use of a special insert or a letter.

Section 229.18 Additional disclosure requirements.

(a) Notice on deposit slips. This paragraph requires banks that delay availability on deposits to include a notice on all preprinted deposit slips furnished to customers. This notice must indicate that deposited checks may not be available for immediate withdrawal. The notice is required only on preprinted deposit slips—those printed with the customer's account number and name. A bank need not include the notice on those special deposit slips that are used to identify deposits that will be available the next business day after deposit under § 229.10(c).

(b) Notice at branch locations. This paragraph describes the statutory requirement that a bank post a notice of availability policies pertaining to consumer accounts at each location where its employees receive consumer deposits. The notice that is required must specifically state the availability periods for the various deposits that may be made to consumer accounts. A notice need not be posted at each teller window, but the notice must be posted in a place where consumers seeking to make deposits will likely see it before making their deposit. For example, the notice might be posted in the lobby at the point where the line forms for teller service. A notice is also required to be posted at any drive-through teller windows. The notice need not be provided at locations where consumer deposits are not accepted.

(c) Notice at or on ATMs. This paragraph sets forth the required notices for ATMs. An owner or operator of an automated teller machine, at which deposits may be made that may be subject to delays in availability, must post or provide a notice at each ATM location or on each ATM. This notice may be posted on a sign, may be shown on the screen, or may be included on the deposit envelopes that must be used to make deposits into the machine. This disclosure must be given before the customer has made the deposit. Therefore, a notice provided on the customer's deposit receipt or appearing on the ATM's screen after the customer has made the deposit would not satisfy this requirement.

If an ATM is nonproprietary with respect to some users of the ATM, a notice must be provided at the ATM that identifies the bank(s) for which the ATM is proprietary, and that deposited funds may not be available until the seventh business day after the day of deposit.

(d) Disclosure upon request. This paragraph requires banks to provide written notice of their specific availability policy to any person upon that person's oral or written request. This provision does not contain a time period within which such notice shall be given, but it should be sent within a reasonable period of time following receipt of the request.

(e) Changes in policies. This paragraph sets forth the Act's requirement that banks send notice to their customers when they change their availability policies. Generally, banks must send a notice at least 30 calendar days before implementing any change in their availability policy. If the change results in faster availability of deposits—for example, if the bank changes its availability for nonlocal checks from the fifth business day after deposit to the fourth business day after deposit—the bank need not send advance notice. The bank must, however, send notice of the change within 30 calendar days after the change is implemented. A change-in-terms notice may be given in any form as long as it is clear and conspicuous. If the bank gives notice of a change by sending the customer a new availability disclosure, the bank must direct the customer to the changed terms in the disclosure by use of a letter or insert, or by highlighting the changed terms in the disclosure.

(f) Notice of interest payment policy. This paragraph sets forth the special disclosure requirement for credit unions that delay accrual of interest or dividends for all cash and check deposits beyond the date of receiving provisional credit for checks being deposited. (The interest payment requirement is set forth in § 229.14(a).) The credit union is required to describe its policy with respect to accrual of interest or dividends on deposits.

Section 229.19 Miscellaneous.

(a) When deposits are considered made. The time funds must be made available under the regulation is determined by the day the deposit is made. This paragraph provides that a deposit mailed to the depository bank is considered made when it is received by the depository bank. This paragraph also provides that a deposit received on a day that the bank is closed, or after the bank's cut-off hour, is considered made on the next banking day. Different cut-offs may be established for different types of deposits. For example, a bank may establish a 2:00 p.m. cut-off for the receipt of check deposits, but a later cut-off for the receipt of wire transfers. Different cut-offs may also be established for deposits received at different locations. For example, a different cut-off time may be established for ATM deposits than for over-the-counter deposits. However, no cut-off hour can be earlier than 2:00 p.m. local time.

(b) Availability at start of business day. Except for withdrawals governed by the special rule for withdrawal by cash or similar means set forth in §§ 229.11(b)(2) and 229.12(d), if funds must be made available for withdrawal on a business day, the funds must be available for withdrawal by the later of 7:00 a.m. or the time the depository bank's teller facilities, including ATMs, are available for customer transactions. Thus, if a bank has no ATMs and its branch facilities are available for customer transactions beginning at 9:00 a.m., funds must be available for customer withdrawal beginning at 9:00 a.m. If the bank, however, has ATMs that are available 24 hours a day, rather than establishing 12:01 a.m. as the start of the business day, this paragraph sets 7:00 a.m. as the start of the day with respect to ATM withdrawals. The Board believes that this rule provides banks with sufficient time to update their accounting systems to reflect the available funds in customer accounts for that day.

(c) Effect on policies of depository bank. This subpart establishes the maximum hold that may be placed on customer deposits. A depository bank may provide availability to its customers in a shorter time than prescribed in this subpart. A depository bank may also adopt different funds availability policies for different segments of its customer base, as long as each policy meets the schedules in the regulations. For example, a bank may differentiate between its corporate and consumer customers, or may adopt different policies for its consumer customers based on whether the customer has an overdraft line of credit associated with the account.

This regulation does not affect a depository bank's right to accept or reject a check for deposit. If a check is accepted for deposit and subsequently returned, the depository bank has the right to charge-back its customer's account, or to recover the amount of the check from the customer if sufficient funds are not in the customer's account to cover the amount of the returned check.

Nothing in the regulation requires a depository bank to have facilities open for customers to make withdrawals at specified times or on specified days. For example, even though the regulation states that a bank must make up to $400 available for cash withdrawals no later than 5:00 p.m. on specific business days, if a bank does not participate in an ATM system and does not have any teller windows open at or after 5:00 p.m., the bank need not join an ATM system or keep offices open. The bank complies with this regulation if the funds that are required to be available for cash withdrawal at 5:00 p.m. on a particular day are available for withdrawal at the start of business on the following day. Similarly, if a depository bank is closed for customer transactions, including ATMs, on a day funds must be made available for withdrawal, the regulation does not require the bank to open.

The special cash withdrawal rule in the Act recognizes that the $400 that must be made available for cash withdrawal by 5:00 p.m. on the day specified in the schedule may exceed a bank's daily ATM cash withdrawal limit and explicitly provides that the Act does not supersede a bank's policy in this regard. As a result, if a bank has a policy of limiting cash withdrawals from automated teller machines to $250 per day, the regulation would not require that the bank dispense $400 of the customer's deposit that must be made available for cash withdrawal.

Even though the Act clearly provides that the bank's ATM withdrawal limit is not superseded by the federal availability rules on the day funds must first be made available, the Act does not specifically apply this rule to withdrawals made at ATMs on subsequent days, when the entire amount of the deposit must be made available for withdrawal. The Board believes that the rationale behind the Act's provision that a bank's ATM withdrawal limit is not superseded by the requirement that funds be made available for cash withdrawal applies on subsequent days and to other types of cash withdrawal. A number of small credit unions, due to lack of secure facilities, keep no cash on hand and hence offer no cash withdrawal capability to their customers. Other institutions limit the amount of cash on their premises due to bonding requirements and consequently reserve the right to limit the amount of cash each customer can withdraw on a given day. Nothing in the regulation is intended to prevent a bank from limiting the amount of cash withdrawals if the bank has a policy limiting the amount of cash that may be withdrawn, and that policy is applied equally to all customers of the bank, is based on security or bonding requirements, and is not dependent on the length of time the funds have been in the customer's account, as long as the hold has expired. This limitation could apply to staffed teller facilities as well as ATMs. The regulation, however, does not authorize such policies if they are otherwise prohibited by statutory, regulatory, or common law.

(d) Use of calculated availability. Depository banks may provide availability to their nonconsumer accounts, or determine the day from which interest must accrue on those accounts, on a calculated availability basis. Under calculated availability, a specified percentage of funds from check deposits may be made available to the customer on the next business day, with the remaining percentage deferred until subsequent days. The determination of the percentage of deposited funds that will be made available each day is based on the customer's typical deposit mix. Use of calculated availability is permitted in order to determine when interest must be paid on deposited funds only if, on average, the calculated availability results in interest being computed from the time provisional credit is actually received on the average deposit of the nonconsumer customer.

(e) Limitation on placing holds on certain funds in accounts. Section 607(d) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 4006(d)) provides that once funds are available for withdrawal under the Act, such funds shall not be frozen solely due to the subsequent deposit of additional checks that are not yet available for withdrawal. This provision of the Act is designed to prevent evasion of the Act's availability requirements.

The regulation clarifies that, if the customer deposits a check, the bank may place a hold on any of the customer's funds to the extent that the funds held do not exceed the amount of the check deposited, and the funds that are held are made available for withdrawal within the times required in this subpart.

If a customer cashes over-the-counter a check drawn on another bank, the bank may hold funds in the customer's account for the amount of the check, as long as the hold does not exceed the hold that could be placed on that check, if the check had been deposited in the account.

(f) Employee training and compliance. The Act requires banks to take such actions as may be necessary to inform fully each employee that performs duties subject to the Act of the requirements of the Act, and to establish and maintain procedures reasonably designed to assure and monitor employee compliance with such requirements.

This provision provides guidance to banks regarding their employee training and compliance requirements. Each bank must provide a statement of the requirements of this subpart to all employees that perform duties that relate to the bank's compliance with these requirements. Banks must also establish procedures to ensure compliance with these requirements and provide these procedures to the employees responsible for carrying them out. In addition, a bank must conduct an audit at least annually to determine its compliance with the procedures it established.

Section 229.20 Relation to state law.

(a) In general. A number of states have enacted laws that govern when banks in those states must make funds available to their customers. The Act provides that any state law in effect on September 1, 1989, that provides for more prompt availability than provided in this regulation will supersede the time periods in the Act and the regulation. The Conference Report on the Act clarifies this provision by stating that any state law enacted on or before September 1, 1989, may supersede federal law to the extent that the law relates to the time funds must be made available for withdrawal. H.R. Rept. No. 261, 100th Cong. 1st Sess. at 182 (1987).

Thus, if a state wishes to adopt a law governing funds availability, it must do so by September 1, 1989. Laws adopted after that date will not supersede federal law, even if they provide for shorter availability periods than are provided under federal law. If a state that has a law governing funds availability in effect before September 1, 1989 amends its law after that date, the amendment will not supersede federal law. If a state provides for a shorter hold for a certain category of checks than is provided for under federal law, that state requirement will supersede the federal provision. For example, most state laws base their holds on whether the check being deposited is drawn on an in-state or out-of-state institution. If a state is located in more than one check processing region, the state's hold period for in-state checks may be shorter than the federal maximum hold period for nonlocal checks. Thus, the state schedule would supersede the federal schedule to the extent that it applies to in-state, nonlocal checks.

The Act also provides that any state law that provides for availability in a shorter period of time than required by federal law is applicable to all federally insured institutions in that state, including federally chartered institutions. This provision subjects federally chartered institutions only to those provisions of state law governing the time funds must be available for withdrawal; it does not subject federally chartered institutions to state disclosure requirements. Federally chartered institutions will be subject to state availability requirements on September 1, 1989, when the Act becomes effective.

(b) Preemption of inconsistent law. This paragraph reflects the statutory provision that other provisions of state law are preempted that are inconsistent with federal law.

(c) Preemption determinations. The Board will issue preemption determinations upon the request of an interested party in a state. The determinations will relate only to the provisions of Subpart B; generally the Board will not issue individual preemption determinations regarding the relation of state U.C.C. provisions to the requirements of Subpart C.

(d) Standards for preemption. The Board has proposed certain standards that will be used in making determinations on whether federal law will preempt state laws governing funds availability in effect prior to September 1, 1989. State law will be considered inconsistent with federal law if it provides for a longer hold than is provided for under federal law.

State law will also be deemed inconsistent, and thus will be preempted, if it provides for an exception to its availability schedule that addresses the same situation as the federal exception, but in a different manner. For example, if a state provides an exception to its schedules to address risk related to large-dollar checks or large-dollar deposits that is different from the federal exception for deposits in excess of $5,000, the state exception is preempted by the federal exception. Thus, a state law that provides an exception for checks of $2,500 or greater would be preempted by the federal large-dollar deposit exception.

(e) Procedures for preemption determinations. This provision sets forth the information that must be included in a request by an interested party for a preemption determination by the Board. Given the short lead time between spring 1988, when the Board anticipates that it will finalize this proposed regulation, and the September 1, 1988 effective date, the Board will accept requests for preemption determinations before the regulation becomes final. If an interested party requests a preemption determination prior to the final approval of this regulation, the comparison of the state law provisions with the provisions of the Act and regulation should be based on the requirements of this proposed regulation.

Section 229.21 Civil liability.

(a) Civil liability. This paragraph sets forth the statutory penalties for failure to comply with the requirements of this subpart.

(b) Class action awards. This paragraph sets forth the provision in the Act concerning the factors that should be considered by the court in establishing the amount of a class action award.

(c) Bona fide errors. A depository bank is shielded from liability under this section for a violation of a requirement of this subpart if it can demonstrate, by a preponderance of the evidence, that the violation resulted from a bona fide error and that it maintains procedures designed to avoid such errors. Examples of what constitutes, and does not constitute, a bona fide error are provided.

(d) Jurisdiction. This paragraph provides the jurisdiction and statute of limitations for civil actions for violations of this subpart.

(e) Reliance on Board rulings. This provision shields banks from civil liability if they act in good faith in reliance on any rule, regulation, or interpretation of the Board, even if it were subsequently determined to be invalid. Banks may rely on the commentary to this regulation, which will be issued as an official Board interpretation, as well as on the regulation itself.

(f) Exclusions. This provision clarifies that liability under this § 229.21 does not apply to violations of the requirements of Subpart C of this regulation, or to actions for wrongful dishonor of a check by a paying bank's customer.

(g) Record retention. Banks must keep records to show compliance with the requirements of this subpart for at least two years. This record retention period is extended in the case of civil actions and enforcement proceedings.

Subpart C—Collection of Checks

Section 229.30 Paying bank's responsibility for return of checks.

(a) Return of checks or notice of nonpayment. This paragraph requires a paying bank that determines not to pay a check to return the check more expeditiously than is currently required. Generally, the paying bank may use the same transportation method and banks for return that it would ordinarily use for forward collection of checks and satisfy the requirement of an "expeditious" return, provided that the bank selected to process the return agrees to handle the return under the standards for returning banks in § 229.31. The paying bank's normal method of sending a check for collection would not be expeditious, however, if it is materially slower than that of other banks of similar size in its community. In effect, the paying bank acts as an agent or subagent of the depositary bank in selecting the means of return.

The paying bank must handle, route, and transport a check being returned in a way that returns the check back to the depositary bank in a manner designed to be at least as fast as the paying bank would collect a forward collection check (1) of similar amount, (2) drawn on the depositary bank, and (3) received by the paying bank for forward collection before noon on the banking day following the banking day of presentment of the returned check. This section refers to similarly situated banks to indicate a general minimum community standard. A similarly situated bank is defined as a bank of similar asset size, in the same community and with similar check payments activity as a paying or returning bank. For example, a paying bank returning a check has similar payments activity to other banks that handle similar volumes of checks for collection. The Board believes that under this standard banks that use inefficient means of handling returned checks will have to improve their procedures. Under this standard, ordinarily paying banks may not use less efficient means of routing or transporting returned checks than they use for forward collection checks.

A number of examples will illustrate the application of this duty to paying banks. First, if a check is presented to a paying bank on Monday and the depositary bank and the paying bank are participants in the same clearinghouse, the paying bank should deliver the returned check to the depositary bank by Wednesday, which would be the same day it would deliver a forward collection check drawn on the depositary bank that the paying bank received for deposit by noon on Tuesday.

Second, if a check is presented to a paying bank on Monday and the depositary bank is a bank in another city, but the paying bank ordinarily sends its forward collection checks drawn on the depositary bank direct to the depositary bank, ordinarily the paying bank would be expected to send the returned check to the depositary bank with the forward collection checks drawn on the depositary bank that the paying bank received for deposit early on Tuesday.

Third, if a check is presented to a paying bank on Monday and the paying bank would ordinarily collect forward collection checks drawn on the depositary bank by sending the forward collection checks to a correspondent or a Federal Reserve Bank by courier, the paying bank could send the returned check to its correspondent or Federal Reserve Bank provided that the correspondent has agreed to handle returned check under the standards established for returning banks in § 229.31. The paying bank must deliver the returned check to the correspondent or Federal Reserve Bank by the correspondent's or Federal Reserve Bank's cut-off hour for returned checks that corresponds to its cut-off hour for forward collection checks drawn on the depositary bank that the paying bank received for deposit early on Tuesday. A returned check cut-off hour corresponds to a forward collection cut-off hour if it applies to checks destined for the same banks and has similar sorting requirements. Delivery to the correspondent or a Federal Reserve Bank by the appropriate cut-off hour satisfies the paying bank's duty even if use of the correspondent or Federal Reserve Bank is not the most expeditious means of returning the check. Thus a paying bank may send a returned check to a correspondent instead of a Federal Reserve Bank even if the correspondent then sends the returned check to a Federal Reserve Bank as a qualified returned check. Where forward collection checks are delivered by courier to the correspondent or the Federal Reserve Bank, mailing returned checks would not meet the duty established by this section for paying banks.

Fourth, if a paying bank ordinarily mails its forward collection checks to its correspondent or Federal Reserve Bank in order to avoid the costs of a courier delivery, but other banks of similar size and handling similar volumes of checks for collection in the paying bank's community use a courier to deliver checks to their correspondent or Federal Reserve Bank, the paying bank would have to send its returned checks by courier to its correspondent or Federal Reserve Bank. (The Board believes that these situations will be unusual.)

The dollar amount of the returned check has a bearing on how it must be returned. Thus, if the paying bank presents large dollar checks drawn on the depositary bank directly to the depositary bank, but uses the Federal Reserve to collect small dollar checks, the ordinarily paying bank would be expected to send its large dollar returns directly to the depositary bank but could use the Federal Reserve for its small dollar returns.

In meeting the requirements of this section, the paying bank is responsible for its own actions but not for those of the depositary bank or returning banks. For example, if the paying bank starts the return of the check in a timely manner but return is delayed by a returning bank, generally the paying bank has met its requirements (See § 229.38).

The paying bank is free to use alternate methods of return if the method results in delivery of the returned check to the depositary bank as quickly as the forward collection of a check drawn on the depositary bank. The paying bank is authorized to route the returned check in a variety of ways:

1. It may send the returned check to the bank that presented the check or through the clearinghouse through which it was presented as currently required by section 4-301(4) of the U.C.C.;
2. It may send the returned check directly to the depositary bank, bypassing intermediaries;
3. It may send the returned check to any returning bank willing to handle the returned check under the standards established for returning banks in § 229.31; or

4. It may send the returned check to a Federal Reserve Bank, whether or not the Federal Reserve Bank handled the check during forward collection. (Docket No. R-0621 discusses proposed Reserve Bank services to enable paying banks to return checks through the Federal Reserve Banks.)

If the paying bank elects to return the check directly to the depository bank, it is not necessarily required to return the check to the branch of first deposit. The check may be returned to the depository bank at any location permitted under § 229.32.

Except for the exceptions discussed below, this section does not relieve a paying bank from the requirement for timely return (i.e., midnight deadline) under sections 4-301 and 4-302 of the U.C.C., which continue to apply. Under section 4-302 a paying bank is "accountable" for the amount of a demand item other than a documentary draft if it does not pay or return the item or send notice of dishonor by its midnight deadline. Under section 3-418 of the U.C.C., late return constitutes payment and would be final in favor of a holder in due course or a person who has in good faith changed his position in reliance on the payment. Thus, retaining this requirement gives the paying bank an additional incentive to make a prompt return.

This regulation creates a number of exceptions to the paying bank's midnight deadline in the U.C.C.:

1. Under § 229.30(a), a paying bank may satisfy the U.C.C. midnight deadline by sending notice of nonpayment;

2. Under § 229.30(b), a paying bank may extend the midnight deadline for small-dollar checks; and

3. Under § 229.30(c), a paying bank may extend the midnight deadline in a good faith effort to expedite delivery.

If the paying bank cannot start return of the check soon enough to comply with this section, it may send a notice of nonpayment that meets the requirements of § 229.33, including the timeliness of the notice, and the notice may be given on checks of less than $2,500.

The liability section of this regulation (§ 229.38) provides that a paying bank is not subject to both "accountability" for missing the midnight deadline under the U.C.C. and liability for missing the timeliness requirements of this regulation.

This paragraph directly affects the following provisions of the U.C.C., and may affect other sections or provisions:

1. Section 4-212(2), in that direct return by the paying bank is now permitted in all jurisdictions even though not all jurisdictions have adopted this optional provision. Also the paying bank does not have to create a draft on the depository bank.

2. Section 4-301(4), in that in addition to returning a check through a clearinghouse or to the presenting or last collecting bank, a paying bank may return a returned check to the depository bank, to a returning bank, or to a Federal Reserve Bank.

3. Section 4-301(1), in that time limits specified in that section may be shortened by the additional requirement to make an expeditious return.

The Board requests comment on:

1. Whether the duty of the paying bank should be stated in a more concrete manner, such as that a paying bank must return a check so that it reaches the depository bank on the second business day following the day of presentment for local checks and the third business day following the day of presentment for nonlocal checks;

2. Whether paying banks should be required to prepare qualified returned checks for all checks being returned through a returning bank; and

3. Whether the option allowing a paying bank to send notice of nonpayment should be retained as an effective alternative to expeditious return of the actual check. (See also the discussion of returning banks' duties under § 229.31.)

(b) Extension of deadline for small-dollar checks. Over one half of all returned checks are in amounts of $100 or less. Today, many of these returned checks that are returned due to insufficient or uncollected funds are routinely redeposited in an effort to obtain payment. On average, over 60 per cent of these redeposited checks are paid on the second presentment. Thus, a significant number of checks returned today would not be returned if the paying bank could hold the check for an additional period of time without becoming accountable for it under section 4-302 of the U.C.C. If the drawer of the check funds its account shortly after the paying bank's midnight deadline, the paying bank could pay it at that time and avoid the necessity of returning the check and possible subsequent representation. This paragraph permits the paying bank to hold small-dollar checks (under $100) to achieve this efficiency. The extension is not limited to checks drawn on insufficient funds and could be used by the paying bank to hold checks to be returned for other reasons. The Board believes that this extension of the time for return will help to reduce the number of returned checks, thereby allowing the remaining returned checks to be handled more efficiently.

This extension applies to the time for return or notice of nonpayment under § 229.30(a) as well as the paying bank's midnight deadline under the U.C.C. 4-301 and 4-302. The paying bank may extend these time limits on a check-by-check basis; that is, it need not treat all checks under $100 the same. This provision allows the paying bank to extend the time limits by one day rather than two days. A one-day extension may be operationally easier to implement than a two-day extension. This right to extend is similar to a provision (section 4-108(1)(b)) in a proposed revision of the U.C.C. being developed by the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws ("NCCUSL").*

If the paying bank elects to extend its deadline for return, it must reexamine the basis on which the check was not paid as of the day on which it returns the check or sends notice of nonpayment. The bank need not pay the check on reexamination under this provision, however, even if the original basis for nonpayment no longer exists. If the paying bank did not comply with the requirements of this section, such as the requirement to review its initial decision to return the check, it could be accountable for the amount of the check for exceeding the time for return under U.C.C. 4-301, § 210.12 of Regulation J (12 CFR 210.12), or this section. The requirement to reexamine the original decision not to pay is similar to a provision in draft section 4-402(2) of the NCCUSL proposal.

This small-dollar extension may be used by the paying bank in combination with the extension for expedited delivery (§ 229.30(c)).

This paragraph directly affects sections 4-301 and 4-302 of the U.C.C. (and § 210.12 of Regulation J, 12 CFR 210.12) at the option of the paying bank for checks of $100 or less and may affect other sections.

(c) Extension of deadline for expedited delivery. Many paying banks do not dispatch their returned checks by

* The NCCUSL is the organization responsible for drafting and revising the Uniform Commercial Code. It has commissioned an effort to draft amendments to U.C.C. Articles 3 and 4, which address many of the issues raised in Regulation CC. The NCCUSL proposal has been helpful in drafting this regulation and the commentary to the regulation refers to the parallel provisions in the NCCUSL proposal. courier with the checks that are sent for forward collection if the courier leaves after midnight. Instead, they mail their returns by their midnight deadline in order to meet their legal responsibility under the U.C.C., but by doing so delay the completion of the return process. This paragraph removes the constraint of the midnight deadline if the check reaches either the depository bank or the returning bank to which it is sent on the banking day following the expiration of the midnight deadline or other applicable time for return. The extension also applies if the check reaches the bank to which it is sent later than the close of that bank's banking day, if highly expeditious means of transportation are used. For example, west coast banks may use this further extension to ship returned checks by air courier directly to east coast banks even if the checks arrive after the close of the east coast banks' banking day.

The time limits that the paying bank may extend are the paying bank's midnight deadline in sections 4-301 and 4-302 of the U.C.C. (and § 210.12 of Regulation J, 12 CFR 210.12) and the time for the start of return in § 229.30(a). The paying bank may use this provision to add to the extended midnight deadline for checks of $100 or less in § 229.30(b) of this regulation. Even if the return deadlines are not extended, the paying bank satisfies its midnight deadline under the U.C.C. by dispatching returned checks to another bank by courier, including a courier under contract with the paying bank, prior to expiration of the midnight deadline.

This paragraph directly affects sections 4-301 and 4-302 of the U.C.C. (and § 210.12 of Regulation J, 12 CFR 210.12) to the extent that this paragraph applies by its terms and may affect other provisions.

(d) Identification of returned check. Most paying banks currently use some form of stamp indicating the reason for return. This paragraph makes this practice mandatory. No particular form of stamp is required; but the stamp must indicate the reason for return.

(e) Depository bank without accounts. The Act and this regulation apply only to "checks" deposited in transaction-type "accounts." Thus, a depository bank with only time or savings accounts need not comply with the availability requirements of Subpart B. Collecting banks will not have couriers delivering checks to these depository banks because they do not have checks drawn on them to present. Consequently, the costs of using a courier or other expedited means to deliver returned checks directly to the depository bank may not be justified. Thus, the expedited return requirement of § 229.30(a) does not apply to checks being returned to banks that do not hold accounts. The paying bank's midnight deadline in sections 4-301 and 4-302 of the U.C.C. (and § 210.12 of Regulation J, 12 CFR 210.12) would continue to apply to these checks. Returning banks would also be required to act on such checks within their midnight deadline. Further, in order to avoid complicating the process of return of checks generally, banks without accounts are required to use the standard indorsement, and their checks are returned by returning banks and paid for by the depository bank under the same rules as checks deposited in other banks, with the exception of the expeditious return requirements of §§ 229.30 and 229.31.

(f) Notice in lieu of return. A check that is lost or otherwise unavailable for return may be returned by sending a notice of nonpayment complying with § 229.33 that clearly indicates it is a substitute for the returned check. However, the time and amount limits of § 229.33 do not apply to a notice in lieu of return. The indication that the notice is a substitute for the returned check is necessary so that the returning and depository banks are informed that the notice carries value. The requirement of this section supersedes the requirement of section 4-301(1) of the U.C.C. as to the form and information required of a notice of dishonor or nonpayment. A photocopy of the returned check would constitute a notice in lieu of return if identified as such. Reference in the regulation and this commentary to a returned check includes a notice in lieu of return unless the context indicates otherwise.

The notice in lieu of return is subject to the provisions of § 229.30 and is treated like a returned check for settlement purposes. If the original check was over $2,500, the notice of nonpayment under § 229.33 is still required, but may be satisfied by the notice in lieu of return if the notice in lieu meets the time and information requirements of § 229.33.

The Board requests comment on whether any additional information would be desirable on the notice in lieu of return to make it useful to the depository bank, and whether the transmission of an electronic notice in lieu of return could cause accounting problems for the returning and depository banks that must settle for these notices as they settle for returned checks.

(g) Reliance on routing number. Although § 229.35 and Appendix D require that the depository bank indorsement contain its nine-digit routing number, it is possible that a returned check will bear the routing number of the depository bank in fractional, eight-digit, nine-digit, or other form. The routing number may also be in regular ink or, especially on qualified returned items, in magnetic ink. This paragraph permits paying banks to rely on the routing number of the depository bank as it appears on the check (in the depository bank's indorsement or in magnetic characters on a qualified returned check) when it is received by the paying bank.

If there are inconsistent routing numbers, the paying bank may rely on any routing number designating the depository bank. That is, the paying bank is not required to resolve the inconsistency prior to processing the check. The paying bank remains subject to the requirement to act in good faith and use ordinary care under § 229.38(a).

(a) Return of checks. The standards for return of checks established by this section are similar to the requirements on paying banks in § 229.30(a). A returning bank must handle a returned check or notice of nonpayment in the same manner that it (or a similarly situated collecting bank) would handle a similar check for forward collection. As in the case of a paying bank, a similarly situated bank is one of similar asset size and check payments activity in the same community. For a returning bank, another bank has similar payments activity if it handles a similar volume of checks for collection. In effect, the returning bank is an agent or subagent of the paying bank and a subagent of the depository bank.

Under this section, a returning bank must accept returned checks including both qualified and other returned checks ("raw returns") at the same general times and process them according to the same general schedules as checks handled for forward collection. Thus, a returning bank generally must process even raw returns on an overnight basis, unless it extends its time limit by one day to convert the raw return to a qualified returned check as provided in § 229.31(b). A returning bank may establish earlier cut-off hours for receipt of returned checks than it established for receipt of forward collection checks provided that the cut-off hour for returned checks is not earlier than 2:00 p.m. The returning bank also may set different sorting requirements for returned checks than those applicable to other checks. Thus, a returning bank need not accept returned checks as late in the day as it accepts forward collection checks and may set an earlier cut-off hour to allow extra processing time for returns. All returned checks received by that cut-off hour on that banking day must be processed and dispatched by the returning bank by the time that it would dispatch forward collection checks received at that time on the same banking day that are drawn on the depository bank. Generally, the returning bank should send the returned checks by the same route and by the same means of transportation used for forward collection of checks that are drawn on the depository bank. The Board requests comment on whether the 2:00 p.m. limit on the cut-off hours established by returning banks is adequate to avoid delays in the return process or whether a later limit is necessary in order to ensure the expeditious handling of returns.

A number of examples will illustrate the application of this duty to returning banks. First, if a returning bank receives a returned check by its cut-off hour for returned checks on Monday and the depository bank and the returning bank are participants in the same clearinghouse, the returning bank should deliver the returned check to the depository bank in a clearinghouse exchange on Tuesday, which would be the same day that it would deliver a forward collection check drawn on the depository bank and received by the returning bank at the same time on Monday.

Second, if a returning bank receives a returned check by its cut-off hour for returned checks on Monday and the depository bank is a bank in another city, but the returning bank ordinarily sends its forward collection checks drawn on the depository bank direct to the depository bank, ordinarily the returning bank would be expected to send the returned check to the depository bank with forward collection checks drawn on the depository bank received by the returning bank for collection at the same time on Monday.

Third, if a returning bank receives a returned check by its cut-off hour on Monday, and the returning bank would ordinarily collect forward collection checks drawn on the depository bank by sending the forward collection checks to a correspondent or a Federal Reserve Bank by courier, the returning bank could send the returned check to its correspondent or Federal Reserve Bank, provided that the correspondent has agreed to handle the returned check under the standards established for returning banks in this § 229.31. The returning bank must deliver the check to the correspondent or Federal Reserve Bank by the correspondent's or Federal Reserve Bank's cut-off hour for returned checks that corresponds to its cut-off hour for forward collection checks drawn on the depository bank and received by the returning bank for collection at the same time on Monday. However, a returning bank may take a day to convert a check to a qualified returned check. Where the forward collection checks are delivered by courier, mailing the returned checks would not meet the duty established by this section for returning banks.

The returning bank may convert the returned check to a qualified returned check and thus extend its time limits under § 229.31(b) by one day, but may not satisfy its duty to return in an expeditious manner by substituting a notice of nonpayment for the returned check. A returning bank must handle a notice in lieu of return within the same time limits as for returned checks.

The returning bank is authorized to route the returned check in a variety of ways:

1. It may send the returned check to the bank that had sent the check to it during forward collection (if the returning bank handled the check for forward collection) as currently required by U.C.C. 4-212;

2. It may send the returned check directly to the depository bank;

3. It may send the returned check to any returning bank willing to handle the returned check under the standards established for returning banks under this § 229.31; or

4. It may send the returned check to a Federal Reserve Bank, whether or not the Federal Reserve Bank handled the check during forward collection.

If the returning bank elects to return the returned check directly to the depository bank, it is not required to return the check to the branch of first deposit. The returned check may be returned to the depository bank at any location permitted under § 229.32.

In meeting the requirements of this section, the returning bank is responsible for its own actions but not those of the paying bank, other returning banks, or the depository bank. For example, if the paying bank has delayed the start of the return process, but the returning bank acts timely, the returning bank has satisfied the requirements of this section even if the delayed return results in a loss to the depository bank. (See § 229.38.)

accepts returns as late in the day as it accepts forward collection checks, the duty established by this section could require returning banks to process unsorted, raw returns in only a few hours unless the returning bank creates a qualified returned check, in which case it will have a day to create the qualified returned check. The Board considered alternate approaches to expediting the return of checks. Under one alternative, the paying bank would have to convert all returns sent to returning banks into qualified returned checks. This alternative might result in faster returns in some cases. This requirement would impose burdens on paying banks, including many small banks that may be ill-equipped for the conversion process. This alternative would facilitate compliance for returning banks at the expense of paying banks. The Board does not believe that the benefits in terms of reduction in risk to depository banks and reductions in processing requirements on returning banks, clearly warrant the increased burden on paying banks.

A second alternative would be to rely on the incentive for prompt return created by the removal of the right of charge-back. Currently, banks returning checks often charge-back prior collecting banks' accounts even before the checks reach the prior collecting banks. Under the proposal, payment is made for returned checks upon their delivery to the depository bank. Therefore a paying or returning bank has an incentive to send returned checks to the depository bank expeditiously. Under this alternative, a returning bank's time to process and dispatch returns would be limited only by its midnight deadline. This alternative would also reduce the burden on returning banks but would result in fewer checks being returned to depository banks before funds must be made available for withdrawal under the Act. The Board requests comment on whether the proposal strikes the appropriate balance between the interests of depository banks in receiving prompt returns and the burdens imposed on paying and returning banks.

This paragraph directly affects the following provisions of the U.C.C., and may affect other sections or provisions:

1. Section 4-212(2), in that direct return by the returning bank is now permitted in all jurisdictions even though not all jurisdictions have adopted this optional provision;

2. Section 4-202(2), to the extent that this subsection states a shorter time limit for action than the midnight deadline.

(b) Extension of deadline for qualified returned checks. This paragraph authorizes the returning bank to extend its time limits to prepare a check for automated handling (a qualified returned check). A returned check prepared for automated handling will be handled by subsequent returning banks more efficiently than a returned check that must be handled manually. This paragraph gives a returning bank a day beyond the time otherwise required to handle the returned check to prepare a qualified returned check. If the returning bank is sending the returned check direct to the depository bank, this day is not available because preparing a qualified returned check will not expedite handling by other banks. The Board recognizes that returning banks may have difficulty in identifying those returned checks that are eligible for this extension. The Board requests comment on whether returning banks should be permitted a day to create qualified returns for checks returned directly to depository banks. Although paying banks also may wish to prepare qualified returned checks because they will be handled at a lower cost by returning banks, the extension is not available to paying banks because of the longer time that a paying bank has to dispatch the check. Ordinarily, paying banks will be able to convert a check to a qualified returned check at any time after the determination is made to return the check until late in the day following presentment, while a returning bank may receive returned checks late on one day and be expected to dispatch them early the next morning.

This paragraph directly affects the returning bank's midnight deadline in section 4-202(2) of the U.C.C. and may affect other sections or provisions.

(c) Acceptance by collecting bank. This paragraph provides that a collecting bank may not refuse to accept the return of a check that it handled for forward collection. This is consistent with section 3-414 of the U.C.C., which requires an indorser to take up a check that has been dishonored. Further, if a paying bank cannot identify the depository bank, return of the check to the presenting bank may be its most expeditious means of return, as each bank in the collection chain should be best able to identify the bank sending the check to it.

(d) Settlement. Under the U.C.C., a collecting bank receives settlement for a check when it is presented to the paying bank. The paying bank may recover the payment when the paying bank returns the check to the presenting bank. Under this regulation, however, the paying bank may return the check directly to the depository bank or through returning banks that did not handle the check for forward collection. On these more efficient return paths, the paying bank does not recover the payment made to the presenting bank. Thus, this paragraph requires the returning bank to settle for a returned check (either with the paying bank or another returning bank) in the same way that it would settle for a similar check for forward collection. Thus, any returning bank, including one that handled the check for forward collection, may provide availability for returned checks pursuant to an availability schedule as it does for forward collection checks. To achieve uniformity, this paragraph applies even if the returning bank handled the check for forward collection. Under § 229.32(b), provisional credits between banks for the forward collection of the check become final upon expiration of the time for payment for a returned check by the depository bank.

A special rule applies to checks returned by insolvent banks. (See § 229.39(a).)

This paragraph affects section 4-212(1) of the U.C.C. in that a paying or collecting bank does not have a right to charge-back against the bank from which it received the returned check, although it is entitled to settlement if it returns the returned check to that bank, and may affect other sections or provisions.

(e) Charges. This paragraph permits any returning bank, even one that handled the check for forward collection, to impose a fee on the paying bank for its service in handling a returned check. The depository bank may not charge such a fee to a prior returning bank.

(f) Reliance on routing number. This paragraph is similar to § 229.30(g) and permits a returning bank to rely on routing numbers appearing on a returned check. (See the comment to § 229.30(g).)

(g) Depository bank without accounts. This paragraph is similar to § 229.30(e) and relieves a returning bank of its obligation to make expeditious return to a depository bank that does not maintain any accounts. (See the comment to § 229.30(e).)

(h) Notice in lieu of return. This paragraph is similar to § 229.30(f) and authorizes a returning bank to originate a notice in lieu of return if the returned check is unavailable for return. (See the comment to § 229.30(f).)

Section 229.32 Depository bank's responsibility for returned checks.

(a) Acceptance of returned checks. This regulation seeks to encourage direct returns by paying and returning banks and may result in a number of banks sending checks to depository banks with no preexisting arrangements as to where the returned checks should be delivered. This paragraph states where the depository bank is required to accept returned checks and written notices of nonpayment. (These locations differ from locations at which a depository bank must accept electronic notices.) It is derived from section 3-504(2) of the U.C.C., which specifies that presentment for payment may be made at the place specified in the instrument or, if there are none, at the place of business of the party to pay. In the case of returned checks, the depository bank does not print the check and can only specify the place of "payment" of the returned check in its indorsement.

The paragraph specifies four locations at which the depository bank must accept returned checks:

1. If the depository bank indorsement states the name and address of the depository bank, it must accept returned checks at the branch or head office indicated by the address. If the address is too general to identify a particular branch or the head office then the depository bank must accept returned checks at any branch or head office, consistent with the address. If, for example, the address was "New York, New York," each branch in New York City must accept returned checks. The address may be a processing center.

2. If no address appears in the depository bank's indorsement, the depository bank must accept returned checks at any branch or head office associated with the depository bank's routing number. The offices associated with the routing number of a bank are found in a publication of Rand McNally, Key to Routing Numbers, which lists a city and state address for each routing number.

3. If no routing number or address appears in its indorsement, the depository bank must accept a returned check at any branch or head office of the bank. The indorsement requirement of § 229.35 and Appendix D requires that the indorsement contain both a routing number, name, and location. Consequently, this provision, as well as provision (2), only applies where the depository bank has failed to comply with its responsibility for indorsement.

4. In addition to (1), (2), or (3), the depository bank must accept returned checks at the location at which it accepts checks as a paying bank.

(b) Payment. As discussed in the comment to § 229.31(e), under this regulation, a paying or returning bank does not obtain credit for a returned check by charge-back but by, in effect, presenting the returned check to the depository bank. This paragraph imposes an obligation to "pay" a returned check that is similar to payment of a check, except that the depository bank may not return a returned check for which it is the depository bank and certain means of payment such as remittance drafts can only be used with the agreement of the returning bank.

The depository bank must pay for a returned check by the close of the banking day on which it received the returned check. The day on which a returned check is received is determined pursuant to section 4-107 of the U.C.C., which permits the bank to establish a cut-off hour, generally not earlier than 2:00 p.m., and treat checks received after that hour as being received on the next banking day.

Payment must be made so that the funds are available for use by the bank returning the check to the depository bank on the day the check is received by the depository bank. For example, a depository bank meets this requirement if it wire transfers funds to the Federal Reserve or correspondent bank account of the returning bank on the day it receives the returned check, even if the returning bank has closed for the day or net settles with the returning bank on that day. Banks with current Federal Reserve net settlement agreements could net the appropriate credits and debits for returned checks with the accounting entries for cash items if they so desired. If, for purposes of establishing additional control or to establish a new settlement arrangement, the banks involved desired a separate settlement for returned checks, a separate net settlement agreement would have to be established with the local Federal Reserve office.

If payment is not made, the depository bank is accountable, i.e., liable, to the paying or returning bank for the amount of the returned check. If the returned check is returned to a bank that is not the depository bank, that bank has no obligation to pay under this paragraph, but must pay for the check as a returning bank would pay for the check—it should handle the misrouted item as indicated in § 229.32(d). A returning bank may agree to accept payment at a later date if, for example, it does not believe that the amount of the returned check or checks warrants the costs of same day payment. Thus, a returning bank may agree to accept payment through an automated clearinghouse credit or debit that settles the day after the returned check is received instead of a wire transfer that settles on the same day.

This paragraph is similar to draft section 4-301(5) of the NCCUSL proposal, which in turn is based on optional section 4-212(2) of the U.C.C. concerning direct return of checks.

The Board requests comment on whether a penalty is required to ensure that payment is made as required by this paragraph.

(c) Recovery by depository bank from collecting bank. A depository bank may not have received full provisional settlement for the check when it was sent for collection or may have received no settlement at all. When the depository bank pays the returning bank for the returned check, it will have lost the difference between what it paid the returning bank and what it received from the bank to which it sent the check for forward collection. This paragraph permits the depository bank to recover the difference from the bank that did not make full settlement. This rule applies whether the depository bank sold the check to the next bank or merely transferred it to that bank as an agent for collection.

(d) Misrouted returned checks. Today a bank receiving a misrouted returned check often sends the check back to the party that sent it so that party can research it and identify the correct bank. This paragraph attempts to hasten the process by requiring a bank that received the misrouted returned check to send it to the correct depository bank if it can identify the correct depository bank. Failing that, the bank receiving the misrouted returned check would return it to the returning or paying bank sending the check to it. In either case the bank to which the returned check was misrouted could receive settlement for the check. If the check was originally received "free," that is, without a charge for the check, the bank incorrectly receiving the check would have to return the check, without a charge, to the bank from which it came.

Section 229.33 Notice of nonpayment.

(a) Requirement. Notice of nonpayment serves several different functions in this regulation, but each notice provided for must follow the general requirements of this section:

1. The paying bank may send a notice of nonpayment as a way of meeting its duty to initiate return under § 229.30. If the notice is used to comply with § 229.30, nevertheless it must be provided within the time limits prescribed by this section. This notice carries no value and does not relieve the paying bank of the requirement to return the check;

2. The paying bank must send a notice of nonpayment complying with this section if it decides not to pay a check of $2,500 or more. The notice carries no value, and the check itself must be returned; and

3. A paying or returning bank may send notice in lieu of return if the check itself is unavailable for return under §§ 229.30(f) and 229.31(h) regardless of the amount of the check. This notice is subject to the content requirements of this section but to the timing requirements of §§ 229.30 and 229.31 rather than this section. The notice in lieu of return carries value and substitutes for the returned check itself, which is not returned. Because these notices are used when the check cannot be returned, they must be used if the paying or returning bank is to recover its settlement for the check.

The notice of nonpayment is modeled after the notice required by Regulation J (12 CFR 210.12) except the notice in this regulation is required even if the check were not collected through a Federal Reserve Bank, and the time limit for providing notice to the depository bank is shorter by one business day. Under this section, the paying bank must ensure that the notice is received by the depository bank by 4:00 p.m. on the second business day following presentment. Regulation J currently requires the notice to be received by midnight of the third banking day following presentment. Draft section 4-304 of the NCCUSL proposal contains a similar provision on notice of nonpayment.

The Board requests comment on whether notices should be required for checks of $2,500 and over or $5,000 and over.

(b) Content of notices. The content specified follows the content currently required under Regulation J. If the paying bank cannot identify the depository bank, it should send the notice of nonpayment to the first collecting bank in the forward collection process that it can identify. This paragraph also provides that, in the case of written notices, the name and routing number of the depository bank are required.

(c) Acceptance of notice. This paragraph also follows current practice under Regulation J. In the case of a written notice, the depository bank is required to accept notices at the locations specified in § 229.32(a). In the case of telephone notices, the bank may not refuse to accept notices at these numbers but may transfer calls, or use a recording device.

(d) Charge-back. This paragraph adopts the view of Appliance Buyers Credit Corp v. Prospect National Bank, 708 F.2d 290 (7th Cir. 1983), that sending a returned check or notice of nonpayment to the depository bank's customer in a timely manner is not a condition precedent to charge-back to the customer's account by the depository bank. Draft section 4-212(2) of the NCCUSL proposal contains a similar provision.

(e) Cancellation of notice. This paragraph follows a similar provision in Regulation J. The Board requests comment on whether other provisions from Regulation J on notice of nonpayment should be adopted in this regulation.

Section 229.34 Warranty by paying bank and returning bank.

(a) Warranty. This paragraph incorporates the warranties of timely return in § 210.12(b) of Regulation J (12 CFR 210.12(b)) and adds the warranties that the paying or returning bank is authorized to return the check and that the returned check has not been materially altered.

(b) Damages. This paragraph adopts for the new warranties in § 229.34(a) the warranty damages of section 4-207(3) of the U.C.C.

(c) Tender of defense. This paragraph adopts for this regulation the vouching-in provisions of section 3-803 of the U.C.C. or § 210.5 of Regulation J (12 CFR 210.5).

Section 229.35 Indorsements.

(a) Indorsement standards. One of the major difficulties in returning a check is reading the indorsements of the depository and collecting banks, and obtaining useful information from them. Current indorsements are often faint, blurred, incomplete and overlapping. The indorsement standards in Appendix D address indorsement problems by specifying the information the indorsement must contain and its location and ink color. Depository, collecting and returning banks are required to place their indorsements on checks as specified in Appendix D. In order to avoid confusion in routing returned checks, paying banks are not required to indorse returned checks. The regulation's indorsement requirements adopt the components of the standards developed, but not finally adopted, by the American National Standards Institute ("ANSI"). An ANSI working group, comprised of representatives of banks, check processing equipment manufacturers, and other interested parties adopted those standards over the past two years. This regulation does not incorporate the ANSI standard by reference, however, but requires that indorsements have these particular elements.

For many banks, compliance with the indorsement standard would entail replacement of indorsement plates and/or stamps. For some banks additional changes may be necessary. A collecting bank may indorse checks deposited by its retail customers on encoding equipment using the depository bank indorsement required by this regulation, and apply its transit indorsement to checks sent by its respondents on its high-speed equipment. (This section does not prohibit a bank from applying both a depository bank indorsement and transit indorsement on the same check.) Alternatively, the bank may need to apply two different indorsements on its high-speed equipment: the depository bank indorsement, where it is the depository bank, and a transit indorsement when it acts as a collecting bank.

Second, where a corporation encodes its own checks prior to deposit, the corporation often applies its own indorsement and the bank applies its indorsement on its high-speed equipment. Under the proposal, either the corporation or the depository bank must apply the depository bank indorsement. For lock-box locations or corporations that deposit into multiple depository banks, either the corporation or lock-box depositor would have to apply the depository bank indorsements to the checks being collected by each bank, or the depository bank must apply its depository bank indorsement.

Third, high-speed sorters may not be immediately capable of placing a depository bank indorsement in the location specified by the standard. Depository banks may wish to indorse on other equipment, such as encoding equipment. When depository bank indorsements are applied on high-speed equipment, banks are encouraged to use special ink and include the information required by the standard even if the indorsements are not placed in the correct location initially.

Fourth, the proposed standard, following the approach developed by ANSI, requires all depository bank indorsements to avoid the carbon band location. An indorsement placed over a carbon band often would not be legible. This restriction will make it more difficult for depository banks to comply with the location requirements of the standard. An alternative approach is to shift the burden to the paying bank whose customers use checks with carbon bands. Under this approach, the paying bank either would have to stop issuing carbon band checks or select a carbon technique that would not interfere with reading the depository bank indorsement. Further, the paying bank might be required to qualify all carbon band returns as qualified returned checks rather than depositing these returns raw with an intermediary.

The Board requests comment on how these problems might be minimized. In addition, the Board requests comment on whether the indorsement standard should restrict placement of the indorsement in the carbon band area, and what responsibilities should be placed on paying banks that issue carbon band checks.

As discussed in connection with § 229.38 on liability, failure to follow these indorsements standards may relieve a paying or returning bank of liability for delay in returning a check where the delay is due to the failure to use the proper indorsement.

(b) Contract of indorser. Under section 3-414 of the U.C.C., an indorser engages that upon dishonor he will take up the instrument. When a check is sent for forward collection, the collection process results in a chain of indorsements extending from the depository bank through the collecting and presenting banks to the paying bank. This section extends the indorsement chain through the paying bank to the returning banks and would permit each to recover from prior indorsers if the paying or returning bank were unable to obtain payment for the returned check from the depository bank. Under this section, in the event of the depository bank's insolvency, the bank that accepted the check for forward collection from the depository bank would ultimately be responsible for the check as the next prior indorser, as is the case under U.C.C. 3-414.

(a) Payable through and payable at checks. The regulation defines a payable through or payable at bank (which could be designated the collectible through or collectible at bank) as a paying bank. The duties imposed on a paying bank under this regulation, such as the expeditious return requirements of § 229.30(a), are imposed on a payable through or payable at bank. This paragraph treats payable through and payable at banks as payor banks under the U.C.C. for purposes of time for return or notice of dishonor. This treatment substantially shortens the time for return of these checks and may have a significant effect, for example, on credit unions using payable through share drafts and insurance companies using payable through drafts.

(b) Receipt at bank office or processing center. The provision seeks to facilitate efficient presentment of checks to promote early return or notice of nonpayment to the depository bank and clarifies the law as to the effect of presentment by routing number. This paragraph differs from § 229.32(b) because presentment of checks differs from delivery of returned checks.

The paragraph specifies four locations at which the paying bank must accept presentment of checks:

1. If the check specifies the name and address of a branch or head office, the check may be presented by delivery to that office. If the address is too general to identify a particular office, presentment may be made at any office consistent with the address. For example, if the address is "San Francisco, California," each office in San Francisco must accept presentment. The designation of an address on the check is generally in the control of the paying bank.

2. If the check specifies the name of the paying bank but no address, the bank must accept presentment at any office. Thus, there is a tradeoff for a paying bank between specifying a particular address on a check and simply stating the name of the bank to encourage wider currency for the check. This provision is consistent with existing section 3-504(2) of the U.C.C., which states that presentment for payment may be made at the place specified in the instrument, or, if there are none, at the place of business of the party to pay. Presentment according to the name and address (if any) on a check would generally be made by individuals, rather than collecting banks. Collecting banks generally rely on the routing number.

3. Presentment may also be made at an office of the paying bank associated with the routing number on the check. The office associated with the routing number of a bank is found in a publication of Rand McNally, Key to Routing Numbers, which lists a city and state address for each routing number. Checks are generally handled by collecting banks on the basis of the routing number in magnetic characters (or in fractional form if the magnetic characters are obliterated) on the check, rather than the printed name or address. The definition of a paying bank in § 229.2 includes a bank designated by routing number, whether or not there is a name on the check, and whether or not any name is consistent with the routing number. There is no requirement in the regulation that the name and address agree with the address associated with the routing number on the check. A bank may generally control the use of its routing number, just as it does the use of its name. The address associated with the routing number may be a processing center. In some cases, a paying bank may have several offices in the city associated with the routing number. In such a case, it would not be reasonable or efficient to require the presenting bank to sort the checks by more specific branch addresses that might be printed on the checks, and to deliver the checks to each branch. Generally, a collecting bank would deliver all checks to one location. In cases where checks are delivered to a branch other than the branch on which they may be drawn, computer and courier communication among branches should permit the paying bank to quickly determine whether to pay the check.

4. In addition, delivery of checks may be made, and presentment is considered to occur, at a location, such as a processing center, requested by the paying bank. This is the way most checks are presented by banks today. This provision would adopt the common law rule of a number of legal decisions that the processing center acts as the agent of the paying bank to accept presentment and to begin the time for processing of the check. (See also U.C.C. 4-204(3).)

(c) Truncation. Truncation is a procedure in which the physical check is held by the depository or collecting bank and the information from the check is transmitted to the paying bank. This process has the potential of improving the efficiency of check processing, but use of truncation has been limited, partly because of uncertainties about whether the U.C.C. permits it without the agreement of all parties. This paragraph allows truncation by agreement with the paying bank; however, such agreement may not prejudice the interests of prior parties to the check. For example, a truncation agreement may not extend the paying bank's time for return. Such an extension could damage the depository bank, which must make funds available to its customers under mandatory availability schedules. Draft section 4-109 of the NCCUSL proposal has similar provisions on "electronic presentment."

Section 229.37 Inquiry to paying bank.

Under § 229.10, a depository bank must make funds available for cashier's, certified, and teller's checks on the business day after the banking day of deposit. Because these checks cannot be presented and returned before funds must be available for withdrawal, some depository banks may want to obtain assurance from the paying bank that the checks are not fraudulent. This paragraph requires the paying bank to respond to telephone inquiries with available information about the check. With respect to teller's checks, the drawing bank must also respond to inquiries from the depository bank.

The Board requests comment on:

1. Whether this is a workable arrangement as proposed or whether it should be revised, for example, to guarantee the information;
2. What standard of promptness should be placed on paying and drawing banks in responding to inquiries;
3. Whether the paying bank should be permitted to charge for providing information; and
4. Whether this requirement should be limited to checks over a certain dollar amount.

Section 229.38 Liability.

(a) Standard of care; liability; measure of damages. The standard of care established by this section applies to any bank covered by the requirements of Subpart C of the regulation. Thus, it applies to a paying bank under §§ 229.30, 229.33, and 229.37; to a returning bank under § 229.31; to a depository bank under §§ 229.32 and 229.33; to a bank erroneously receiving a returned check or notice of nonpayment as depository bank under § 229.32(d); and a bank indorsing a check under § 229.35. The standard of care is similar to the standard imposed by sections 1-203 and 4-103(1) of the U.C.C.

A bank not meeting this standard of care is liable to the depository bank, the owner of the check, or another party to the check. The measure of damages stated derives from sections 4-103(5) and 4-202(3) of the U.C.C.

This paragraph also states that it does not affect a paying bank's liability to its customer. Under section 4-402 of the U.C.C., for example, a paying bank is liable to its customer for wrongful dishonor, which is different from failure to exercise ordinary care and has a different measure of damages.

The Board requests comment on whether a bank's liability under this paragraph should be limited to the depository bank and owner of the check.

(b) Paying bank's failure to make timely return. Section 229.30(a) imposes requirements on the paying bank for expeditious return of a check and leaves in place the U.C.C. time limits, which may allow return at a different time. This paragraph clarifies that the paying bank could be liable for failure to meet either standard but not for failure to meet both. The regulation intends to preserve the paying bank's "accountability" for missing its midnight deadline under the U.C.C., a concept that is not incorporated in this regulation, but may be useful in other circumstances.

(c) Comparative negligence. This paragraph establishes a "pure" comparative negligence standard for liability under Subpart C of this regulation. This comparative negligence rule may have particular application where a paying or returning bank delays in returning a check because of difficulty in identifying the depository bank. Two examples will illustrate liability in such cases. In each example, it is assumed that the returned check is received by the depository bank after it has made funds available to its customer, that it may no longer recover the funds from its customer, and that the inability to recover the funds from the customer is due to a delay in returning the check contrary to the standards established by §§ 229.30(a) or 229.31(a). First, if a depository bank fails to use the indorsement required by this regulation and a paying or returning bank is delayed in returning the check because additional time is required to identify the depository bank or find its routing number, the paying or returning bank's liability to the depository bank would be reduced or eliminated.

Second, if the depository bank uses the standard indorsement but that indorsement is obscured by a subsequent collecting bank's indorsement and a paying or returning bank is delayed in returning the check because additional time was required to identify the depository bank or find its routing number, the paying or returning bank may not be liable to the depository bank because the delay was not due to its negligence. However, the collecting bank may be liable to the depository bank to the extent that its negligence in indorsing the check caused the paying or returning bank's delay.

(d) Timeliness of action. This paragraph excuses certain delays. It incorporates the standard of section 4-108(2) of the U.C.C. with the addition of "failure of equipment" and "interruption of computer facilities" as causes of delay. The addition of these two causes makes explicit what was previously generally accepted under the U.C.C. Draft section 4-108(2) of the NCCUSL proposal makes a similar change.

(e) Exclusion. This paragraph provides that the civil liability and class action provisions, particularly the punitive damage provisions of sections 611(a) and 611(b) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 4010 (a) and (b)) do not apply to regulatory provisions adopted to improve the efficiency of the payments mechanism. Allowing punitive damages for delays in the return of checks where no actual damages are incurred would only encourage litigation and provide little or no benefit to the check collection system.

(f) Bona fide errors. A depository bank is shielded from liability under this section for a violation of a requirement of this subpart if it can demonstrate, by a preponderance of evidence, that the violation resulted from a bona fide error and that it maintains procedures designed to avoid such errors. An error in legal judgment does not constitute a bona fide error.

(g) Jurisdiction. This section provides the jurisdiction and statute of limitations for civil actions for violations of this subpart.

(h) Reliance on Board rulings. This provision shields banks from civil liability if they act in good faith in reliance on any rule, regulation, or interpretation of the Board, even if it were subsequently determined to be invalid. Banks may rely on the commentary to this regulation, which will be issued as an official Board interpretation, as well as on the regulation itself.

Section 229.39 Insolvency of bank.

If a paying bank fails without having made provisional settlement with the presenting bank for checks presented, it or its trustee could theoretically return the checks directly to the depository bank or through a returning bank other than the presenting bank under § 229.30(a). This situation would result in the paying bank, or its estate, receiving value for returned checks for which it never gave value. This section avoids this inequity and similar results involving failed collecting, depository, and returning banks. This section is similar to the insolvency provisions from section 4-214 of the U.C.C.

Section 229.40 Relation to state law.

This section specifies that state law relating to the collection of checks is only preempted to the extent that it is inconsistent with this regulation. Thus, this regulation is not a complete replacement for state laws relating to the collection or return of checks.

Section 229.41 Exclusions.

Checks drawn upon the account of the United States Treasury, or indorsed by the Treasury, and U.S. Postal Service money orders are excluded from the coverage of the expeditious return requirements of Subpart C of this regulation.

Appendix A—Routing Number Guide to Local Checks

This appendix lists the routing numbers that are considered local to each check processing region. The numbers in the Appendix represent the first four numbers of the routing numbers of paying banks in each region.

Appendix B—Time Period Adjustments for Nonlocal Checks

The Act directs the Board to reduce the statutory schedules for any category of checks where most of those checks can be returned, under an improved check collection and return system, in a shorter period of time than provided in the schedule. Appendix B describes, by routing number, those categories of checks for which reduced schedules apply. The time period adjustments are listed by check processing region, so that a bank need only refer to the region(s) in which it has offices to determine those adjustments that are applicable to that bank. In a number of cases, the reduced schedules only apply to banks located in the same city as the Federal Reserve check processing office. The routing numbers of the banks to which these reductions apply are provided. In other cases, the reductions would apply to all banks located in the region.

The proposed reductions in schedules were determined by each Federal Reserve Bank check processing office. Reductions are proposed for certain nonlocal checks, where significant improvements can be made to the Act's schedules. For the most part, shorter schedules are provided for:

1. Checks deposited in banks located in certain Federal Reserve cities and drawn on banks located in certain other Federal Reserve cities;

2. Checks drawn on certain banks that are served by two Federal Reserve Bank offices; and

3. Checks deposited in and drawn on banks in the New York City metropolitan area, where the proximity of the Federal Reserve Bank offices facilitates faster clearing and return of these checks.

Appendix B-1 provides the reductions to the nonlocal schedule that are applicable during the temporary schedule.

Appendix B-2 provides the reductions that will be applicable when the permanent schedule becomes effective.

Appendix C—Model Forms

Appendix C contains thirteen model forms that may be used by banks to meet their disclosure responsibilities under the regulation. Each form is designed for a particular use, as indicated in the titles identifying each form. Information to be inserted by a bank using the forms is highlighted by the use of parentheses and bold type.

Although use of the model forms is not required, banks using them properly will be deemed to be in compliance with the regulation with regard to the particular disclosures. Banks may make certain changes in the format or content of the forms and delete any disclosures that are inapplicable without losing the Act's protection from liability. The rearrangement of the model forms may not be so extensive as to affect the substance, clarity, or meaningful sequence of the forms and clauses. Banks making revisions with that effect will lose their protection from civil liability. Acceptable changes include, for example:

- Using "customer" and "bank" instead of pronouns.
- Not using bold type for headings.
- Incorporating certain state "plain English" requirements.
- Deleting inapplicable disclosures by whiting out, blocking out, crossing out, leaving blanks, checking a box for applicable items, or circling applicable items.

Banks are cautioned against using the attached forms without reviewing their own policies and practices and the current state and federal law regarding the time periods required for availability of specific types of checks. A bank's use of a model form will result in its being in compliance with the Act and the regulation only if the disclosures actually correspond to the bank's availability policy. Shorter time periods for availability may always be substituted, and, in fact, may be required under applicable state law.

Models C-1 through C-7 generally. These forms are models for the specific policy disclosure described in § 229.16 of the regulation. The forms were designed to accommodate a variety of availability practices (within the regulation's maximum time periods). Models C-3 and C-4 reflect the alternative disclosure for banks with case-by-case hold policies described in § 229.16(b).

Model C-1. Use of this form is appropriate when a bank's policy is to make funds from any type of deposit available to customers the day after the deposit is made, with no holds placed on deposited funds.

Model C-2. Use of this form is appropriate when a bank's policy is to make funds from any type of deposit available the day after the deposit is made, except that the bank would take advantage of the regulation's new account and other exceptions in § 229.13. Under the special rules for new accounts section, a bank should insert, where indicated, its outside limit for availability of deposits other than those deposits into new accounts that are available on the next business day. The requirements referred to with regard to the checks that receive next-day availability when deposited in new accounts are those requirements outlined in § 229.10(c)(1)—specifically, that the checks be deposited into an account of the payee and, in some cases, be made with a special deposit slip.

Model C-3. Use of this form is appropriate when a bank's policy is to routinely make funds from all types of deposits available the day after the deposit is made, but occasionally to delay availability on a particular deposit. A bank using this form is assumed not to exercise either the new account or safeguard exceptions in § 229.13 of the regulation. As a result, the delays imposed may not be longer than the applicable maximums in §§ 229.11 and 229.12 of the regulation.

Model C-4. Use of this form is appropriate when a bank has the same policy as described under Model C-3, except that a bank using this form would take advantage of the safeguard exceptions found in § 229.13.

Model C-5. Use of this form is appropriate when a bank's policy is to impose delays to the full extent allowed by the schedules and exceptions in the regulation. The disclosure of availability for local checks and that the bank limits the customer's cash withdrawals to $400 on the third business day after deposit assumes that the bank is not a member of a clearinghouse. (Banks that are members of a clearinghouse may restrict cash withdrawals until the fourth business day only as to non-clearinghouse local checks.) In making this disclosure, a bank must insert a time after which the customer may withdraw up to $400. A bank may not, under the regulation, insert a time of day later than 5:00 p.m.

Model C-6. Use of this form is appropriate for a bank with the same policy as outlined under Model C-5. The only difference between the forms is that a chart showing the bank's availability policy for local and nonlocal checks is substituted for the narrative material in Model C-5 regarding the availability times for local and nonlocal checks.

Model C-7. Use of this form is appropriate when a bank's policy is to delay availability based on the deposit categories (next-day availability items, local and nonlocal checks, deposits at automated teller machines) in the regulation, but the delay periods are shorter than the maximum times allowed under the regulation. (The form is identical to Model C-5 except that the pertinent time limits have been deleted and reminders for inserting the information added.)

Model C-8. Use of this form satisfies the written notice requirement of § 229.13(g) of the regulation when a bank places a hold based on an exception to the availability schedules. The form may be modified to indicate that a hold is being placed on more than one check in a deposit. However, each check must be described separately, and, if different reasons apply to the checks, a separate reason must be given for each hold placed.

Model C-9. Use of this form satisfies the notice requirement of § 229.16(b)(2) when a bank with a case-by-case hold policy imposes a delay on a deposit. This notice does not require a specific reason for the hold. (A specific reason is required only when an exception hold is placed. See Model C-8.)

Model C-10. Use of this form satisfies the notice requirement of § 229.18(b), notice at branch locations. The form assumes the bank's actual availability policy is the same as the schedules in the regulation.

Model C-11. Use of this form satisfies the notice requirements for preprinted deposit slips under § 229.18(a) and the notice requirements at proprietary automated teller machines under § 229.18(c)(1). It may also be used at drive-through teller facilities in lieu of Model C-8 to satisfy the notice requirements of § 229.18(b). The bracketed material is not required on preprinted deposit slips.

Model C-12. Use of this form satisfies the notice requirements of § 229.18(c)(2) for nonproprietary automated teller machines.

Model C-13. Use of this form, incorporated as part of a credit union's specific policy disclosure, satisfies the notice requirement under § 229.14(b) for credit unions not accruing interest from the date of provisional credit. This disclosure is only an example based on a hypothetical policy.

Appendix D—Indorsement Standards

This appendix provides the indorsement standards for depository banks and transit banks. It includes rules regarding the content, location, and color of the indorsements.

Initial Regulatory Flexibility Analysis

Of the items required to be contained in an initial regulatory flexibility analysis by 5 U.S.C. 603(b), the first ("a description of the reasons why action by the agency is being considered") and the second ("a succinct statement of the objectives of, and legal basis for, the proposed rule") are found elsewhere in this preamble.

The proposed rule contains a number of requirements that are also described elsewhere in the preamble. The Board proposes that all of these requirements be applicable to all banks and other entities subject to the rule regardless of size. The Board considered exempting very small banks, those that fall below the threshold for filing reports of deposit under the Board's Regulation D (12 CFR Part 204) (currently those with deposits of less than $2.9 million) from the rule's requirements. However, the Act does not provide an exemption according to the size of bank; all banks, regardless of size, that maintain transaction-type accounts are required to provide availability to their depositors according to the Act's schedules, and all banks must make the required disclosures to their customers. In order to minimize the risks arising from these requirements, all banks, regardless of size, must be subject to the expedited return procedures established by Subpart C. Exemption of small banks from these requirements would mean that checks drawn on small banks would continue to be returned by the current inefficient manual processing of returns leading to increased losses for depository banks that accept for deposit checks drawn on small banks. The Board believes that the availability schedules and the expeditious return of checks can be made to work only if all banks are subject to the same rules.

The Board does not believe that the proposed rule would impose reporting or recordkeeping burdens on small institutions that require specialized professional skills not available to them. Many small institutions, particularly credit unions, are not subject to the Act's availability, disclosure, and payment of interest requirements, due to the fact that they do not hold transactions accounts. The Act does provide relief for certain credit unions that are subject to the Act, generally those that are very small and lack sophisticated operations, from the requirement regarding accrual of interest. The proposed regulations contain other provisions that will facilitate compliance with the Act's requirements for small institutions, particularly pertaining to their disclosure responsibilities.

Regulation J Amendments

The Board proposes amendments to its Regulation J, Subpart A (12 CFR Part 210), Collection of Checks and Other Items and Wire Transfers of Funds, governing the collection of checks by Federal Reserve Banks, so that it conforms to the proposed Regulation CC, Subpart C. Under the proposed amendments, Federal Reserve Banks would accept for handling all returned checks, including checks (as defined in Regulation CC) not handled by Federal Reserve Banks for forward collection. Federal Reserve Banks, like other returning banks, would handle returned checks in accordance with Regulation CC, Subpart C. The details of their returned check services would be set forth in uniform Federal Reserve Bank operating circulars, as is currently the case. These details will include availability schedules, cut-off hours, charges, and provisions governing the handling of notices of nonpayment.

Except as required to conform it to Regulation CC, Regulation J would remain unchanged. It would continue to govern the handling of items by Reserve Banks for forward collection, including both cash and noncash items. Most of the terms currently defined in Regulation J, such as "sender" and "cash item," would continue to apply only to forward collection of items through Reserve Banks. A new term, "returned check," is proposed to include all checks subject to Regulation CC (including cash items and other checks) that are returned through Federal Reserve Banks.

A new paragraph has been added to § 210.7(b) to provide that when Reserve Banks present checks as defined in § 229.2 of Regulation CC, they may make presentment in accordance with Regulation CC.

Section 210.2 has been revised to refer generally to Regulation CC for the terms governing the handling of returned checks. Also included in § 210.12 are provisions governing the handling of returned checks that parallel other provisions in Regulation J. These include the agreement of a bank sending a returned check to a Federal Reserve Bank, provisions governing tender of defense of warranty claims, and a provision authorizing direct sends of returned checks. Section 210.12(g) provides that automatic charge agreements covering cash items also will be used to settle for returned checks. The Board proposes to delete the provision of § 210.12 that requires notice of nonpayment for checks of $2,500 or more. The Regulation J notice requirement currently covers only those checks collected through a Federal Reserve Bank. As the Board is proposing a similar notice requirement in Regulation CC that would cover all checks, the Regulation J notice requirement would be redundant.

At a later date, to avoid confusion between different definitions of terms in Regulation J and Regulation CC, a further revision of Regulation J may be desirable.

As the Regulation J amendments merely conform that regulation to Regulation CC, the same concerns that led the Board not to exempt small entities from Regulation J justify not incorporating similar exemptions for small entities into Regulation J.

An ATM is not considered to be proprietary to more than one unaffiliated bank. If the criteria provided in paragraphs (1) through (3) of this definition are met by more than one bank with respect to any ATM, the ATM will be proprietary to the bank that satisfies the criterion stated in the lowest numbered paragraph in this definition. If more than one bank meets the owned or operated criterion of paragraph (1) of this definition, the ATM is considered proprietary to the bank that operates it.

(2) Time period adjustment for withdrawal by cash or similar means. A depository bank may extend by one business day the time that funds deposited in an account by a local check are available for withdrawal by cash or similar means unless the check is drawn on a paying bank that is a participant in the same check clearinghouse association as the depository bank. Similar means include electronic payment, issuance of a depository check, or other irrevocable commitment to pay, but do not include the granting of provisional credit to a bank, Federal Reserve Bank, or Federal Home Loan Bank that presents a check to the depository bank for payment. The depository bank shall, however, make $400 of these funds available for withdrawal by cash or similar means not later than 5:00 p.m. on the business day on which the funds are available under paragraph (b)(1) of this section. (f) Extension of schedule for certain deposits in Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the U.S. Virgin Islands. The depository bank may extend the time periods set forth in this section by one business day in the case of any deposit, other than a deposit described in § 229.10, that is—

(1) Deposited in an account at a branch of a depository bank located in Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, or the U.S. Virgin Islands; and

(2) Deposited by check drawn on or payable at or through a paying bank not located in the same state as the depository bank.

§ 229.13 Exceptions.

(a) New accounts. (1) A deposit in a new account—

(i) Is subject to the requirements in § 229.10(a) and (b) to make funds from deposits by cash and electronic payments available for withdrawal on the business day following the banking day of deposit;

(ii) Is subject to the requirements of § 229.10(c)(1) (i) through (v) only with respect to the first $5,000 of funds deposited on any one banking day; but the amount of the deposit in excess of $5,000 shall be available for withdrawal not later than the ninth business day following the banking day on which funds are deposited; and

(iii) Is not subject to the availability requirements of §§ 229.10(c)(1) (vi) and (vii), 229.11, and 229.12.

For purposes of this paragraph, depository checks subject to § 229.10(c)(1)(v) include traveler's checks.

(2) An account is considered a new account during the first 30 calendar days after the account is established. An account is not considered a new account if the customer has had, within 30 calendar days before the account is established, another account at the depository bank for at least 30 days.

(b) Large deposits. Sections 229.11 and 229.12 do not apply to the aggregate amount of deposits by one or more checks that is in excess of $5,000 on any one banking day. For customers that have multiple accounts at a depository bank, the bank may apply this exception to the aggregate deposits to all accounts of the customer if all of the holders of each account are the same. A depository bank may not aggregate the deposits in an individual and a joint account for the purpose of this exception.

(c) Redeposited checks. Sections 229.11 and 229.12 do not apply to a check that has been returned unpaid and redeposited by the customer or the depository bank. This exception does not apply—

(1) To a check that has been returned due to a missing indorsement and redeposited after the missing indorsement has been obtained, if the reason for return stamp on the check states that it was returned due to a missing indorsement; or

(2) To a check that has been returned because it was postdated, if the check is no longer postdated when redeposited.

(d) Repeated overdrafts. If any account or combination of accounts of a depository bank's customer has been repeatedly overdrawn, then for a period of six months after the last such instance, §§ 229.11 and 229.12 do not apply to any of the accounts. An account may be considered "repeatedly overdrawn" if there have been three or more instances within a given six-month period in which the balance of the account has gone, or would have gone if checks or other charges to the account had been paid, from positive (or zero) to negative. Periods of up to three consecutive banking days during which an account is negative due to overdrafts, or during which additional checks or other charges to the account are returned or rejected, are considered part of the same instance. A separate instance occurs if an account has a negative balance for more than three consecutive banking days or if charges or checks are rejected or returned over a period of longer than three consecutive banking days.

(e) Reasonable cause to doubt collectibility.—(1) In general. Sections 229.10(c)(1) (iii) and (v), 229.11, and 229.12 do not apply with respect to any check deposited in an account at a depository bank if the bank has reasonable cause to believe that the check is uncollectible from the paying bank. Reasonable cause to believe a check is uncollectible requires the existence of facts that would cause a well-grounded belief in the mind of a reasonable person. Such belief shall not be based on the fact that the check is of a particular class or is deposited by a particular class of persons. The reason for the bank's belief that the check is uncollectible shall be included in the notice required under paragraph (g) of this section.

(2) Overdraft fees. The depository bank shall not assess any fee for any subsequent overdraft (including the use of a line of credit) or return of a check or other unpaid charge, if—

(i) The depository bank has extended the period between the time when funds are deposited in an account by check and when those funds are made available for withdrawal beyond the time periods provided in §§ 229.10(c)(1) (iii) and (v), 229.11, and 229.12 based on the bank's belief that the check is uncollectible;

(ii) The depositor was not provided with the written notice required under paragraph (g) of this section with respect to such determination at the time the deposit was made;

(iii) The overdraft or return of the check or other unpaid charge would not have occurred except for the fact that the funds so deposited were not available but would have been available if the exception were not invoked; and

(iv) The check was finally paid by the paying bank.

(f) Emergency conditions. Sections 229.11 and 229.12 do not apply to funds deposited by check in a depository bank in the case of—

(1) An interruption of communications or computer or other equipment facilities;

(2) A suspension of payments by another bank;

(3) A war; or

(4) An emergency condition beyond the control of the depository bank, if the depository bank exercises such diligence as the circumstances require.

(g) Notice of exception.—(1) In general. If a depository bank extends the times for availability beyond those provided in §§ 229.10(c)(1) (iii) and (v), 229.11, or 229.12, based on the application of an exception contained in paragraphs (b) through (f) of this section, the depository bank shall provide notice to the customer of—

(i) The reason the exception was invoked; and

(ii) The day the funds will be available for withdrawal, unless the emergency conditions exception in paragraph (f) of this section has been invoked and the depository bank in good faith does not know, at the time notice must be provided, the duration of the emergency and, consequently, when the funds will be available for withdrawal.

(2) Timing of notice. The notice shall be provided as follows—

(i) In the case of a deposit made in person to an employee of the depository bank, the depository bank shall provide the notice in writing to the depositor at the time of deposit.

(ii) In the case of any other deposit, or if the facts upon which the determination of the applicability of an exception contained in paragraphs (b) through (f) of this section to any deposit only become known to the depository bank after the time notice is required under paragraph (g)(2)(i) of this section, the depository bank shall mail the notice to the depositor as soon as practicable, but not later than the first business day following the calendar day the facts become known to the depository bank, or the deposit is made, whichever is later, subject to paragraph (9)(2)(iii) of this section. The depository bank is deemed to have knowledge of the facts upon which the determination is made when the facts are brought to the attention of the person(s) in the depository bank responsible for making the determination, and, in any event, from the time when the facts would have been brought to their attention if the bank had exercised due diligence.

(iii) If the availability of funds is delayed under the emergency conditions exception provided in paragraph (f) of this section, the depository bank is not required to provide notice if the funds subject to the exception become available for withdrawal before the notice must be sent under paragraph (g)(2)(ii) of this section.

(3) Record retention. A depository bank shall retain a record, in accordance with § 229.21(g), of each notice provided pursuant to its application of the reasonable cause exception under paragraph (e) of this section.

(h) Availability of deposits subject to exceptions. (1) If an exception contained in paragraphs (b) through (e) of this section applies, not more than four business days shall be added to any time period established under §§ 229.11 and 229.12.

(2) If a depository bank invokes an exception contained in this section with respect to a check that is subject to § 229.10(c)(1) (i) through (v), the depository bank shall make the funds available for withdrawal not later than four business days after the day the funds would have become available had the check been subject to §§ 229.11 or 229.12.

(3) If the exception contained in paragraph (f) of this section applies, the depository bank shall make the funds available for withdrawal not more than four business days after the emergency has ceased or the period established in §§ 229.11 and 229.12, whichever is later.

§ 229.14 Payment of interest.

(a) In general. A depository bank shall begin to accrue interest or dividends on funds deposited in an interest-bearing account not later than the business day on which the depository bank receives provisional credit for the funds, except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section. For the purposes of this section, the depository bank may rely on the availability schedule of its Federal Reserve Bank, Federal Home Loan Bank, or correspondent bank to determine the time provisional credit is actually received.

(b) Special rule for credit unions. Paragraph (a) of this section does not apply to any account at a credit union described in section 19(b)(1)(A)(vi) of the Federal Reserve Act (12 U.S.C. 461(b)(1)(A)(vi)), if the credit union—

(1) Begins the accrual of interest or dividends at a later date than the date described in paragraph (a) of this section with respect to all funds, including cash, deposited in the account; and

(2) Provides notice of its interest or dividend payment policy in the manner required under § 229.18(f).

(c) Exception for checks returned unpaid. This subpart does not require a bank to pay interest or dividends on funds deposited by a check that is returned unpaid.

§ 229.15 General disclosure requirements.

(a) Form of disclosures. A bank shall make the disclosures required by this subpart clearly and conspicuously in writing. Disclosures, other than those posted at branches and ATMs and printed on deposit slips, must be in a form that the customer may keep.

(1) The disclosures shall be grouped together and shall not contain any information not directly related to the disclosures required by this subpart.

(2) The disclosures, if contained in a document that sets forth other account terms and conditions, shall be highlighted within the document by, for example, use of a separate heading.

(b) Uniform reference to day of availability. In its disclosure, a bank shall describe funds as being available "on the _____ business day after" the day of deposit. In this calculation, the first business day is the business day following the banking day the deposit was received, and the last business day is the day on which the funds are made available.

(c) Multiple accounts and multiple account-holders. A bank need not give multiple disclosures to a customer that holds multiple accounts if the accounts are subject to the same availability policies. Similarly, a bank need not give separate disclosures to each customer on a jointly held account if the bank gives the disclosures to one of the primary account holders.

(d) Dormant or inactive accounts. A bank need not give availability disclosures to holders of dormant or inactive accounts.

§ 229.16 Content of specific availability policy disclosure.

(a) Specific availability policy disclosure. To meet the requirements of a specific availability policy disclosure under §§ 229.17 and 229.18(d), a bank shall provide a disclosure describing when funds deposited in an account are available for withdrawal. Unless the bank has a case-by-case hold policy as discussed in paragraph (b) of this section, the bank must enable the customer to determine when funds for a particular deposit will be available by disclosing the following, as applicable:

(1) A summary of the bank's general availability policy;

(2) A description of the categories of deposits used by the bank when it delays availability (such as local and nonlocal checks), and how to determine the category of a particular deposit;

(3) A description of the availability period corresponding to each of the categories of deposits, including a description of the bank's business days and when a deposit is considered received; and

(4) A description of any exceptions to the bank's availability schedules, including any special rules that may apply to deposits made at nonproprietary ATMs, to certain types of deposits or accounts (such as new accounts), and to cash withdrawals.

(b) Alternative disclosure for banks that have case-by-case hold policies. (1) If a bank generally makes funds available for withdrawal by the business day following the banking day funds are deposited, the bank may give the following disclosures to meet the disclosure requirements under §§ 229.17 and 229.18(d):

(i) A summary of the bank's general availability policy;

(ii) A statement that the bank may in some cases delay the time funds are available for withdrawal and the maximum delay that may be imposed;

(iii) A description of the exceptions set forth in § 229.13 that the bank reserves the right to invoke, if any, and the maximum delay that may be imposed under the exceptions; and

(iv) A statement that the bank will notify the customer if funds deposited in the customer's account will not be available for withdrawal on the business day following the banking day of deposit.

(2) A bank that provides the disclosures required by paragraph (b) of this section instead of paragraph (a) of this section, shall also provide customers with a notice at the time a deposit subject to a delay under paragraph (b)(ii) of this section is made. The notice shall state that availability of the deposit is being delayed and indicate the day the funds will be available for withdrawal. If the deposit was not made in person to an employee of the depository bank, the notice may be mailed to the customer, provided the notice is sent on the banking day the deposit is made. If the decision to delay a deposit made in person to a bank employee is made after the time of deposit, a delay may be imposed only if—

(i) The customer was told at the time of the deposit that the particular deposit may be subject to a delay; and

(ii) The bank notifies the customer by close of business on the day of the deposit that a delay has been imposed and of the day funds will be available for withdrawal.

§ 229.17 Initial disclosures.

(a) Disclosure to new accounts. Before opening an account, a bank shall provide a potential customer with the applicable specific availability policy disclosure described in § 229.16.

(b) Disclosure to existing accounts. (1) In the first regularly scheduled mailing to customers after September 1, 1988, but not later than October 31, 1988, a bank shall send to existing customers the applicable specific availability policy disclosure described in § 229.16, unless the bank has previously given disclosures that meet the requirements of that section.

(2) If the disclosure required by paragraph (b)(1) of this section is included with a disclosure of other account terms and conditions, the bank must direct the customer's attention to the availability disclosures by, for example, the use of an insert or a letter.

(3) The disclosure required by paragraph (b)(1) of this section may not be included in a mailing of promotional material, such as a solicitation for a new product or service, unless the mailing also includes the customer's account statement.

§ 229.18 Additional disclosure requirements.

(a) Notice on deposit slips. A bank that delays availability on deposits shall include on all preprinted deposit slips furnished to its customers (other than special deposit slips provided to customers under § 229.10(c)), a notice that deposited checks may not be available for immediate withdrawal.

(b) Notice at branch locations. A bank shall post in a conspicuous place at each branch location where its employees receive deposits to consumer accounts a notice that sets forth the time periods applicable to the availability of funds deposited in a consumer account.

(c) Notice at or on ATMs.

(1) The owner or operator of one or more ATMs shall post or provide a notice at each ATM location that funds deposited in the ATM may not be available for immediate withdrawal.

(2) If an ATM is considered nonproprietary as to certain customers making deposits at the ATM, the bank to which the ATM is proprietary shall be identified at or on the ATM, and a notice posted or provided that funds may not be available until the seventh business day after deposit.

(d) Disclosure upon request. A bank shall provide, upon oral or written request, a notice containing the applicable specific availability policy disclosure described in § 229.16.

(e) Changes in policy. A bank shall send a notice to customers at least 30 days before implementing a change to the bank's availability policy, except that a change that expedites the availability of funds shall be disclosed not later than 30 days after implementation.

(f) Notice of interest payment policy. If a credit union begins to accrue interest or dividends on all deposits made in an interest-bearing account, including cash deposits, at a later time than the day specified in § 229.14(a), any notice required to be provided under §§ 229.17 or 229.18(d) shall contain an explanation of when the credit union begins to accrue interest or dividends on the funds.

§ 229.19 Miscellaneous.

(a) When deposits are considered made. For the purposes of this part—

(1) A deposit mailed to the depository bank is considered made when it is received by the depository bank; and

(2) A deposit is considered made on the next banking day, in the case of a deposit that is made—

(i) On a day that is not a banking day for the depository bank; or

(ii) After a cut-off hour set by the depository bank for the receipt of deposits of 2:00 p.m. or later. Different cut-off hours may be established for receipt of different types of deposits, or receipt of deposits at different locations.

(b) Availability at start of business day. Except as otherwise provided in §§ 229.11(b)(2) and 229.12(d), if any provision of this subpart requires that funds be made available for withdrawal on any business day, the funds shall be available for withdrawal by the later of—

(1) 7:00 a.m. (local time); or

(2) The time the depository bank's teller facilities (including ATMs) are available for customer account withdrawals.

(c) Effect on policies of depository bank. This part does not—

(1) Prohibit a depository bank from making funds available to a customer for withdrawal in a shorter period of time than the time required by this part;

(2) Affect a depository bank's right—

(i) To accept or reject a check for deposit;

(ii) To revoke any provisional settlement made by the depository bank with respect to a check accepted by the bank for deposit; to charge back the depositor's account for the amount of a check based on the return of the check or receipt of a notice of nonpayment of the check; or to claim a refund of such provisional credit; and

(iii) To charge back funds made available to its customer for an electronic payment for which the bank has not received payment in actually and finally collected funds;

(3) Require a depository bank to open or otherwise to make its facilities available for customer transactions on a given business day; or

(4) Supersede any policy of a depository bank that limits the amount of cash a customer may withdraw from its account at an ATM or a staffed teller station on any one day, if that policy—

(i) Is applied without discrimination to all customers of the bank;

(ii) Is not dependent on the time the funds have been deposited in the account, as long as the funds have been on deposit for the time period specified in §§ 229.10, 229.11, or 229.12; and

(iii) Is related to security requirements or bonding limitations of the depository bank.

(d) Use of calculated availability. A depository bank may provide availability to, and begin to accrue interest on, its non-consumer accounts based on a sample of checks that represents the average composition of the customer's deposits, provided that the terms for availability or interest payment based on the sample are equivalent to or more prompt than the availability and interest payment requirements of this part.

(e) Limitation on placing holds on certain funds in accounts. A depository bank that receives a check for deposit in an account or purchases a check for cash, other than a check drawn on that bank and presented over the counter for payment in cash, may place a hold on any funds of the customer at the bank, if—

(1) The amount of funds that are held do not exceed the amount of the check, and

(2) The funds are made available for withdrawal within the times specified in §§ 229.10, 229.11, and 229.12.

(f) Employee training and compliance.

(1) Each bank shall provide a statement detailing the requirements of this subpart to all employees who perform duties that relate to the bank's compliance with the requirements of this subpart.

(2) Each bank shall establish procedures to ensure that the bank complies with the requirements of this subpart, and shall provide each employee who performs duties subject to the requirements of this subpart with a statement of the procedures applicable to that employee.

(3) Not less than once each year, each bank shall conduct an internal review to determine its employees' compliance with the procedures established in paragraph (f)(2) of this section.

§ 229.20 Relation to state law.

(a) In general. Any law or regulation of any state in effect on or before September 1, 1989, that requires funds deposited in an account at a bank chartered by the state to be made available for withdrawal in a shorter time than the time provided in Subparts A and B of this part shall—

(1) Supersede the provisions of the Act and Subparts A and B to the extent the provisions relate to the time by which funds deposited or received for deposit in an account are available for withdrawal; and

(2) Apply to all federally insured banks located within the state.

No amendment to a state law or regulation governing the availability of funds that becomes effective after September 1, 1989, shall supersede the Act and Subparts A and B of this part, but unamended provisions of state law shall remain in effect.

(b) Preemption of inconsistent law. Except as provided in paragraph (a) of this section, the Act and Subparts A and B of this part supersede any provision of inconsistent state law.

(c) Preemption determinations. The Board shall determine, upon the request of any state, bank, or other interested party, whether the Act and this subpart preempt state laws relating to the availability of funds.

(d) Standards for preemption. A state law in effect on or before September 1, 1989, is not inconsistent with the Act and this part if it requires that funds shall be available in a shorter period of time than the time provided in this subpart. Inconsistency with the Act may exist when state law—

(1) Provides that funds deposited in an account by cash, electronic payment, or a particular category of check may be available for withdrawal in a longer period of time than provided in this subpart; or

(2) Provides an exception to the time funds deposited in an account must be available for withdrawal for the same general class of deposit or that addresses the same type of risk as an exception provided in this subpart, but the time allowed for the exception, or the exception itself, is different from the exception provided in this subpart.

(e) Procedures for preemption determinations. Any request for a determination shall include the following—

(1) A copy of the full text of the state law in question, including any implementing regulations or judicial interpretations of that law; and

(2) A comparison of the provisions of state law with the corresponding provisions in the Act and Subparts A and B of this part, together with a discussion of the reasons why specific provisions of state law are either consistent or inconsistent with corresponding sections of the Act and Subparts A and B of this part.

§ 229.21 Civil liability.

(a) Civil liability. Any depository bank that fails to comply with any requirement imposed under this subpart or any provision of state law that supersedes any provision of this subpart with respect to any person is liable to that person in an amount equal to the sum of—

(1) Any actual damage sustained by that person as a result of the failure;

(2) Such additional amount as the court may allow, except that—

(i) In the case of an individual action, liability under this paragraph shall not be less than $100 nor greater than $1,000; and

(ii) In the case of a class action—

(A) No minimum recovery shall be applicable to each member of the class; and

(B) The total recovery under this paragraph in any class action or series of class actions arising out of the same failure to comply by the same depository bank shall not be more than the lesser of $500,000 or 1 percent of the net worth of the depository bank involved; and,

(3) In the case of a successful action to enforce the foregoing liability, the costs of the action, together with a reasonable attorney's fee as determined by the court.

(b) Class action awards. In determining the amount of any award in any class action, the court shall consider, among other relevant factors—

(1) The amount of any damages awarded;

(2) The frequency and persistence of failures of compliance;

(3) The resources of the depository bank;

(4) The number of persons adversely affected; and

(5) The extent to which the failure of compliance was intentional.

(c) Bona fide errors—(1) General rule.

A depository bank is not liable in any action brought under this section for a violation of this subpart if the depository bank demonstrates by a preponderance of the evidence that the violation was not intentional and resulted from a bona fide error, notwithstanding the maintenance of procedures reasonably adapted to avoid any such error.

(2) Examples. Examples of a bona fide error include clerical, calculation, computer malfunction and programming, and printing errors, except that an error of legal judgment with respect to the depository bank's obligation under this subpart is not a bona fide error.

(d) Jurisdiction. Any action under this section may be brought in any United States district court, or in any other court of competent jurisdiction, within one year after the date of the occurrence of the violation involved.

(e) Reliance on Board rulings. No provision of this subpart imposing any liability shall apply to any act done or omitted in good faith in conformity with any rule, regulation, or interpretation thereof by the Board, regardless of whether such rule, regulation, or interpretation is amended, rescinded, or determined by judicial or other authority to be invalid for any reason after the act or omission has occurred.

(f) Exclusions. This section does not apply to claims that arise under Subpart C or to actions for wrongful dishonor.

(g) Record retention. (1) A bank shall retain evidence of compliance with the requirements imposed by this subpart for not less than two years. Records may be stored by use of microfiche, microfilm, magnetic, or other methods capable of accurately retaining and reproducing information.

(2) If a bank has actual notice that it is being investigated, or is subject to an enforcement proceeding by an agency charged with monitoring that bank's compliance with the Act and this subpart, or has been served with notice of an action filed under this section, it shall retain the records pertaining to the action or proceeding pending final disposition of the matter, unless an earlier time is allowed by order of the agency or court.

§ 229.30 Paying bank's responsibility for return of checks.

(a) Return of checks or notice of nonpayment. If the paying bank determines not to pay a check, it shall return the check or provide notice of nonpayment in an expeditious manner. The paying bank returns the check in an expeditious manner if it sends the returned check in a manner that a similarly situated bank would normally handle a check:

(1) Of similar amount as the returned check,

(2) Drawn on the depository bank, and

(3) Deposited for forward collection in the similarly situated bank before noon on the banking day following the banking day on which the returned check was presented to the paying bank.

Subject to the requirement for expeditious return, the paying bank may send the returned check to the bank that presented the check being returned, to the depository bank, or to any other bank (including a Federal Reserve Bank or Federal Home Loan Bank) agreeing to handle the check for return to the depository bank as expeditiously as it would handle a forward collection check drawn on the depository bank as specified in § 229.31. The paying bank may, but is not required to, convert the returned check to a qualified returned check. The paying bank provides notice of nonpayment in an expeditious manner if it provides notice of nonpayment with respect to the check, regardless of amount, in accordance with § 229.33, and also returns the check in a reasonably prompt manner. This paragraph does not affect a paying bank's responsibility for timely return under the U.C.C. or Regulation J (12 CFR Part 210).

(b) Extension of deadline for small-dollar checks. A paying bank, in an effort to avoid dishonor of a check in an amount of $100 or less, may extend the time for return or notice of nonpayment under the U.C.C., Regulation J (12 CFR Part 210), or paragraphs (a) or (c) of this section by not more than two business days without liability to or discharge of any other party. If the paying bank extends such times, it shall review the factors on which a decision to pay or return is based on the business day on which it returns the check or sends notice of nonpayment.

(c) Extension of deadline for expedited delivery. A paying bank, in an effort to expedite delivery of a returned check to a bank, may extend the time for return or notice of nonpayment under the U.C.C., Regulation J (12 CFR Part 210), and paragraph (a) or (b) of this section, provided that the expedited method of delivery would ordinarily result in the returned check being received by the bank to which it is sent on or before that bank's next banking day following the otherwise applicable time for return or such later time as would result from the use of highly expeditious means of transportation.

(d) Identification of returned check. A paying bank returning a check shall clearly indicate on the face of the check that it is a returned check and the reason for return.

(e) Depository bank without accounts. The expeditious return requirements of paragraph (a) of this section do not apply to checks deposited in a depository bank that does not maintain accounts.

(f) Notice in lieu of return. If a check is unavailable for return by a paying bank, the bank may send in its place a notice of nonpayment in accordance with § 229.33, without regard to the time or amount limits. The notice shall clearly state that it constitutes a notice in lieu of return. A notice in lieu of return is considered a returned check subject to the time limits of this section and to other requirements of this subpart.

(g) Reliance on routing number. A paying bank may return a returned check based on any routing number designating the depository bank appearing on the returned check in the depository bank's indorsement.

§ 229.31 Returning bank's responsibility for return of checks.

(a) Return of checks. A returning bank shall handle and return a returned check in an expeditious manner. A returning bank returns a check in an expeditious manner if it sends the returned check in a manner that a similarly situated bank would normally handle a check—

- (1) Of similar amount as the returned check,
- (2) Drawn on the depository bank, and
- (3) Received for forward collection by the similarly situated bank at the time the returning bank received the returned check.

A returning bank may set a cut-off hour for the receipt of returned checks that is earlier than its cut-off hour for checks received for forward collection, provided that the cut-off hour is not earlier than 2:00 p.m. Subject to the requirement for expeditious return, the returning bank may return the returned check to the immediate prior collecting bank that had sent the check to the returning bank during forward collection, to the depository bank, or to any other bank (including a Federal Reserve Bank or a Federal Home Loan Bank) agreeing to handle the returned check as expeditiously as it would handle a forward collection check drawn on the depository bank as specified in this section. The returning bank may convert the returned check to a qualified returned check.

(b) Extension of deadline for qualified returned check. A returning bank, in order to convert a returned check to a qualified returned check, may extend by one business day the time for return under the U.C.C., Regulation J (12 CFR Part 210), and paragraph (a) of this section. A returning bank may not, however, extend these times when it is returning a check directly to the depository bank.

(c) Acceptance by collecting bank. A bank that handled a check during forward collection may not refuse to handle that check as a returned check.

(d) Settlement. A returning bank shall settle with a bank sending a returned check to it for return by the same means that it settles or would settle with the sending bank for a check received for forward collection drawn on the depository bank. The settlement shall become final upon the expiration of the time for payment by the depository bank as provided in § 229.32(b).

(e) Charges. A returning bank may impose a charge on a bank sending a returned check for handling the returned check.

(f) Reliance on routing number. A returning bank may return a returned check based on any routing number designating the depository bank appearing on the returned check in the depository bank's indorsement or in magnetic characters on a qualified returned check.

(g) Depository bank without accounts. The expeditious return requirement of paragraph (a) of this section does not apply to checks deposited with a depository bank that does not maintain accounts.

(h) Notice in lieu of return. If a check is unavailable for return, the returning bank may send in its place notice of nonpayment in accordance with § 229.33, without regard to the time or amount limits of that section. The notice shall clearly state that it constitutes a notice in lieu of return and is considered a returned check subject to the requirements of this subpart.

§ 229.32 Depository bank's responsibility for returned checks.

(a) Acceptance of returned checks. A depository bank shall accept returned checks and written notices of nonpayment—

(1) At any branch or head office consistent with the name and address of the bank in its indorsement on the check;

(2) If no address appears in the indorsement, at any branch or head office associated with the routing number of the bank in its indorsement on the check;

(3) If no routing number or address appears in its indorsement on the check, at any branch or head office of the bank; and

(4) At any location at which the bank accepts checks as a paying bank.

(b) Payment. A depository bank becomes accountable for the amount of a returned check (or notice in lieu of return) at the close of the banking day on which it receives the check or notice ("payment date"). Prior to that time the depository bank shall pay the bank returning the check to it (the paying or returning bank) for the amount of the check by—

(1) Debit to an account of the depository bank on the books of the returning or paying bank,

(2) Cash,

(3) Wire transfer, or

provided that the proceeds of such payment are available to the returning or paying bank in cash or by credit to an account of the returning or paying bank on or as of the payment date. If the payment date is not a banking day for the returning or paying bank, payment shall be made by the next day that is a banking day for the returning or paying bank. Any provisional credit between banks (including Federal Reserve Banks and Federal Home Loan Banks) for the check arising during the forward collection of the check shall become final upon the expiration of the time for payment by the depository bank.

(c) Recovery by depository bank from collecting bank. If, during the forward collection of a check, the depository bank did not receive full provisional settlement for the check, the depository bank may recover for the returned check from the bank (including a Federal Reserve Bank or a Federal Home Loan Bank) to which it sent the check for forward collection the amount of any payment the depository bank made to the bank returning the check for the returned check, less any settlement the depository bank received.

(d) Misrouted returned checks and notices of nonpayment. If a bank receives a returned check or notice of nonpayment on the basis that it is the depository bank, and the bank determines that it is not the depository bank with respect to the check or notice, it shall identify the depository bank and, thereafter, as a returning bank, forward the returned check or notice to the depository bank. If the bank cannot identify the depository bank, it shall, as a returning bank, send the returned check or notice to the bank from which it received the check or notice.

§ 229.33 Notice of nonpayment.

(a) Requirement. If a paying bank determines not to pay a check in the amount of $2,500 or more, it shall provide notice of nonpayment such that it is received by the depository bank by 4:00 p.m. (local time) on the second business day following the banking day on which the check was received by the paying bank. If the day the paying bank is required to provide notice to the depository bank is not a banking day for the depository bank, receipt of notice on the depository bank's next banking day constitutes timely notice. Notice may be provided by any reasonable means, including the returned check, a writing (including a photocopy of the check), telephone, Fedwire, telex, or other form of telegraph. Notice of nonpayment initiated under § 229.30 or § 229.31 shall also be given as provided in this section, but no more than one notice is required for a single check.

(b) Content of notice. Notice must include the:

- (1) Name and routing number of the paying bank;
- (2) Name of the payee(s);
- (3) Amount;
- (4) Date of the indorsement of the depository bank (or if given to a collecting bank other than the depository bank, the date of indorsement of the collecting bank and the name, routing number, and date of indorsement of any prior collecting bank and the depository bank);
- (5) Account number of the depositor(s) in the depository bank;
- (6) Branch name or number of the depository bank from its indorsement;
- (7) Trace number associated with the indorsement of the depository bank; and
- (8) Reason for return.

The notice may include other information from the check that may be useful in identifying the check being returned and the depositor, and, in the case of a written notice, must include the name and routing number of the depository bank from its indorsement. The notice need not include information that the bank cannot determine with reasonable certainty from the check itself through the exercise of ordinary care and good faith. If the paying bank is not sure of a piece of information, it may, but is not required to, identify the information with question marks. If the paying bank cannot identify the depository bank, it should send the notice of nonpayment to the first bank that it can identify that handled the check during forward collection.

(c) Acceptance of notice. The depository bank shall accept notices during its banking day at the general purpose telephone or telegraph number of its head office or of the branch designated in the indorsement, at the number of its return item unit, at any other number held out by the bank for receipt of notice of nonpayment, and, in the case of written notice, as specified in § 229.32(a).

(d) Charge-back. If the depository bank receives a returned check (or notice of nonpayment) and fails to send the returned check or notice of nonpayment to its customer within the time and manner provided in the U.C.C., it may charge-back the amount of any credit given for the check to its customer's account, but is liable to the customer for any loss resulting from any delay in charging-back if the notice contains sufficient information to allow the depository bank to charge-back.

(e) Cancellation of notice. If a paying bank gives notice of nonpayment and subsequently determines to pay a check, the paying bank shall provide a second notice as soon as reasonably possible, indicating that it is a second notice cancelling a previous notice and containing all the information in the original notice.

§ 229.34 Warranties by paying bank and returning bank.

(a) Warranties. Each paying bank or returning bank that transfers a returned check and receives a settlement or other consideration for it warrants to the transferee returning bank, to any subsequent returning bank, to the depository bank, and to the owner of the check, that:

- (1) The paying bank returned the check timely under the U.C.C., Regulation J (12 CFR Part 210), or § 229.30 of this part;
- (2) It is authorized to return the check; and
- (3) The returned check has not been materially altered.

(b) Damages. Damages for breach of these warranties shall not exceed the consideration received by the paying or returning bank plus finance charges and expenses related to the returned check, if any.

(c) Tender of defense. If a returning bank is sued for breach of a warranty under this section, it may give a prior returning bank or the paying bank written notice of the litigation, and the bank notified may then give similar notice to any other prior returning bank or the paying bank. If the notice states that the paying or returning bank notified may come in and defend and that if the paying or returning bank notified does not do so, it will in any action against it by the paying or returning bank giving the notice be bound by any determination of fact common to the two litigations, then unless after reasonable receipt of the notice the paying or returning bank notified does come in and defend, it is so bound.

§ 229.35 Indorsements.

(a) Indorsement standards. A bank, a Federal Reserve Bank, or a Federal Home Loan Bank, other than a paying bank that handles a check during forward collection or a returned check, shall indorse the check in accordance with the indorsement standard set forth in Appendix D to this part.

(b) Contract of indorser. A paying bank or returning bank makes the contract of an indorser and may have the rights of a holder with respect to each returned check it handles.

§ 229.36 Presentment of checks.

(a) Presentment of checks. A check payable at or through a paying bank is considered to be drawn on that bank for purposes of determining the time for return or notice of nonpayment by the paying bank under the U.C.C., Regulation J (12 CFR Part 210), and this part.

(b) Receipt at bank office or processing center. A check is considered received by the paying bank when it is received:

- (1) At any branch or head office if the bank is identified on the check by name without address,
- (2) At any branch or head office consistent with the name and address of the bank on the check,
- (3) At any address of the bank associated with the routing number of the bank on the check, whether in magnetic characters or in fractional form, or
- (4) At a location to which delivery is requested by the paying bank.

(c) Truncation. A bank, Federal Reserve Bank, or Federal Home Loan Bank may present a check to a paying bank by transmission of information describing the check in accordance with an agreement with the paying bank. A truncation agreement may not extend return times or otherwise vary the requirements of this part with respect to parties interested in the check that are not party to the agreement.

§ 229.37 Inquiry to paying bank.

A paying bank shall respond promptly to a telephone or telegraph inquiry from a depository bank with respect to whether a depository check drawn upon it has been issued, certified, or payment stopped thereon, or whether it has been paid, returned, or notice of nonpayment given, and confirm information on the face of the check including the amount and payee. With respect to a teller's check, the drawing bank shall respond promptly to a telephone or telegraph inquiry from a depository bank with respect to whether a teller's check has been issued, or payment has been stopped thereon, and confirm information on the face of the check, including the amount and payee. A paying or drawing bank does not agree to pay the check by responding to such an inquiry.

§ 229.38 Liability.

(a) Standard of care; liability; measure of damages. A bank shall exercise ordinary care and act in good faith in complying with the requirements of this subpart. A bank that fails to exercise ordinary care or act in good faith under this subpart may be liable to the depository bank, the owner of a check, or another party to the check. The measure of damages for failure to exercise ordinary care is the amount of the loss incurred, up to the amount of the check, reduced by the amount of the loss that party would have incurred even if the bank had exercised ordinary care. A bank that fails to act in good faith under this subpart may be liable for other damages, if any, suffered by the party as a proximate consequence. Subject to a bank's duty to exercise ordinary care or act in good faith in choosing the means of return or notice of nonpayment, the bank is not liable for the insolvency, neglect, misconduct, mistake, or default of another bank or person, or for loss or destruction of a check or notice in transit or in the possession of others. This section does not affect a paying bank's liability to its customer under the U.C.C. References to "bank" in this section include a Federal Reserve Bank and Federal Home Loan Bank.

(b) Paying bank's failure to make timely return. If a paying bank fails both to comply with § 229.30 and to comply with the requirement of timely return under the U.C.C. or Regulation J (12 CFR Part 210) in connection with a single nonpayment of a check, the paying bank shall be liable under either § 229.30 or such other provision, but not both.

(c) Comparative negligence. If a person, including a bank, Federal Reserve Bank, or Federal Home Loan Bank, fails to exercise ordinary care or act in good faith under this subpart in indorsing a check (§ 229.35) or accepting a returned check or notice (§§ 229.32(a) and 229.33(c)), or otherwise, the loss incurred by that person under § 229.38(a) shall be diminished in proportion to the amount of negligence or bad faith attributable to that person.

(d) Timeliness of action. If a bank, a Federal Reserve Bank, or a Federal Home Loan Bank is delayed in acting beyond the time limits set forth in this subpart because of interruption of communication or computer facilities, suspension of payments by a bank, war, emergency conditions, failure of equipment, or other circumstances beyond its control, its time for acting is extended for the time necessary to complete the action, if it exercises such diligence as the circumstances require.

(e) Exclusion. Section 229.21 of this part and § 611 (a) and (b) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 4010 (a) and (b)) do not apply to this subpart.

(f) Bona fide errors. A bank is not liable in any action brought under this section for a violation of this subpart if the bank demonstrates by a preponderance of evidence that the violation was not intentional and resulted from a bona fide error, notwithstanding the maintenance of procedures reasonably adapted to avoid any such error. An error of legal judgment with respect to a bank's obligation under this subpart is not a bona fide error.

(g) Jurisdiction. Any action under this section may be brought in any United States district court, or in any other court of competent jurisdiction, within one year after the date of the occurrence of the violation involved.

(h) Reliance on Board rulings. No provision of this subpart imposing any liability shall apply to any act done or omitted in good faith in conformity with any rule, regulation, or interpretation thereof by the Board, regardless of whether such rule, regulation, or interpretation is amended, rescinded, or determined by judicial or other authority to be invalid for any reason after such act or omission has occurred.

§ 229.39 Insolvency of bank.

(a) Duty of receiver. A check or returned check in, or coming into, the possession of a paying, collecting, depository, or returning bank that suspends payment and which check is not finally paid shall be returned by the receiver, trustee, or agent in charge of the closed bank to the bank or customer that transferred the check to the closed bank.

(b) Preference against paying or a depository bank. If a paying or depository bank finally pays a check or returned check and suspends payment without making a settlement for the check with its customer or the prior bank, which settlement is or becomes final, the customer or prior bank has a preferred claim against the paying or depository bank.

(c) Preference against collecting or returning bank. If a collecting or returning bank receives settlement from a subsequent bank for a check or returned check, which settlement is or becomes final, and suspends payments without making a settlement for the check with the prior bank, which is or becomes final, the prior bank has a preferred claim against the collecting or returning bank.

(d) Final payment of provisional settlement. If a paying bank gives, or a collecting bank gives or receives, a provisional settlement for a check or returned check and thereafter suspends payment, the suspension does not prevent or interfere with the settlement becoming final if such finality occurs automatically upon the lapse of a certain time or the happening of certain events.

§ 229.40 Relation to state law.

The provisions of this subpart supersede any inconsistent provisions of the U.C.C. as adopted in any state, or of any other state law, but only to the extent of the inconsistency.

§ 229.41 Exclusions.

The expeditious return requirements of this subpart do not apply to a check drawn upon the account of the United States Treasury, to a check indorsed by, or for credit to the United States Treasury, or to a U.S. Postal Service money order.

Appendix A—Routing Number Guide to Local Checks

Each bank is assigned a routing number by Rand McNally & Co., as agent for the American Bankers Association. The routing number takes two forms: A fractional form and a nine-digit form. A paying bank is normally identified on the face of a check by its routing number in both the fractional form (which generally appears in the upper right-hand corner of the check) and the nine-digit form (which is printed in magnetic ink in a strip along the bottom of the check).

The first four digits of the nine-digit routing number and the denominator of the fractional routing number form the "Federal Reserve routing symbol," which identifies the Federal Reserve District, the Federal Reserve office, and the clearing arrangements used by the paying bank. Because the Expedited Funds Availability Act and Regulation CC define local and nonlocal checks in terms of the Federal Reserve office serving the paying bank, it is possible to determine whether a check is local or nonlocal by reference to the Federal Reserve routing symbol.

The following is a list of Federal Reserve routing symbols associated with each Federal Reserve office. A depository bank should refer to the routing numbers listed below for the Federal Reserve office that serves the territory in which the branch of deposit is located. Checks with these Federal Reserve routing symbols are considered local checks.

YOUR ABILITY TO WITHDRAW FUNDS AT (bank name and location)

Our policy is to allow you to withdraw funds deposited into your account on the next business day after the day we receive your deposit. Every day except Saturday, Sunday, and a federal holiday is a business day. Your deposit will be considered received, however, only on a day we are open for business. For example, if you deposit on Thanksgiving, we consider the deposit made on Friday, the next day we are open for business. And if you make your deposit after (time of day) on any given business day, we consider it made on the next business day.

Please remember that even after we have made funds available to you, and you have withdrawn the funds, you are still responsible for checks you deposit that are returned to us unpaid and for any other problems involving your deposit.

If you have any questions, contact your branch manager.

If you have any questions, contact your branch manager.

LONGER DELAYS MAY APPLY

We may delay your ability to withdraw funds deposited by check into your account an additional number of days for these reasons:

If we believe the check you are depositing is uncollectible.

If you make deposits in any one day that exceed $5,000.

If you redeposit a check that has been returned unpaid.

If you have overdrawn your account three or more times in the last six months.

We will notify you if we do this, and tell you when you will be able to withdraw the funds. (We will delay for no more than four additional business days.)

SPECIAL RULES FOR NEW ACCOUNTS

If your account has been open 30 days or less, we may further limit your ability to withdraw funds deposited by check, but only during the first 30 days.

You may still withdraw funds on the next business day after the day of your deposit if you made the deposit in cash or by wire transfer. You also have next-day availability for the following deposits (if they meet certain requirements): Government checks, cashier's checks, certified checks, teller's checks, or traveler's checks. However, your withdrawals of these check deposits are limited to the first $5,000 of a day's total deposits. (The rest is available on the ninth business day after the day of deposit.)

For all other check deposits, you may withdraw the deposited funds after (number) business days.

LONGER DELAYS MAY APPLY

In some cases, we may find it necessary to delay your ability to withdraw funds deposited into your account by check beyond the next business day.

When we do extend the delay, you may not withdraw—either in cash or by writing checks to others—more than the first $100 of the deposit until the hold expires. The length of the delay will vary with the type of check you are depositing. It may last as long as seven business days after the day of your deposit (counting the business day after the day of deposit as day one).

Any time we decide to delay your ability to withdraw funds beyond the next business day, we will notify you at the time of your deposit, and we will specify the date on which you can begin to withdraw these funds. (If your deposit was made other than directly to a bank employee, we will notify you by mail the day after we receive the deposit.)

C-5—Where bank places holds to statutory limits on all statutory categories of deposits

YOUR ABILITY TO WITHDRAW FUNDS AT (bank name and location)

Our policy is to delay your ability to withdraw funds that you deposit by check into your account. The length of the delay varies, and is explained below. When we delay your ability to withdraw funds from a deposit, you may not withdraw the funds in cash, and we will not pay checks you write on your account by using these funds.

Please remember that even after we have made funds available to you, and you have withdrawn the funds, you are still responsible for checks you deposit that are returned to us unpaid and for any other problems involving your deposit.

If you have any questions, contact your branch manager.

DETERMINING AVAILABILITY OF YOUR DEPOSIT

When we delay your ability to withdraw funds, the length of the delay is counted in business days from the day of your deposit. Every day except Saturday, Sunday, and a federal holiday is a business day. Your deposit will be considered received, however, only on a day we are open for business. For example, if you deposit on Thanksgiving, we consider the deposit made on Friday, the next day we are open for business. And if you make your deposit after (time of day) on any given business day, we consider it made on the next business day.

1. Next-Day Availability

You may withdraw the first $100 of any deposit of checks on the next business day after the day of your deposit.

In addition, you may withdraw the entire amount of the following deposits on the next business day after the business day of your deposit:

Cash.

Wire transfers, including preauthorized credits, such as social security benefits and payroll payments.

Checks drawn on us, that is, drawn on the (bank name) unless (any limitations related to branches in different states or check processing regions.).

United States government checks payable to you.

State and local government checks if they are payable to you and if you use a special deposit slip available from (where the form may be obtained).

Cashier's, certified, or teller's checks if they are payable to you and if you use a special deposit slip available from (where the form may be obtained).

2. Availability of Other Check Deposits

Your ability to withdraw deposits other than those listed above depends on whether your check is local or nonlocal.

To determine whether the check you want to deposit is local or a nonlocal check, look at its bank location number. This is the number printed on the lower left-hand corner of the check:

Pay to the order of _____ $ _____ dollars
(Bank Name and Location)
1234567890	0000000000 000
bank location number

If the first four digits of the bank location number (1234 in the above example) are (bank's local routing numbers), then the check is drawn on a bank that is located in the same check-processing region as us, and we consider it a local check. If the first four digits of the bank location number of the check you are depositing are not listed above, then the check is drawn on a bank outside our check-processing region and we consider it a nonlocal check.

Local checks deposited into your account will be available to pay any checks you have written to others starting on the third business day after the business day of your deposit. (The first $100 of any checks deposited may be withdrawn on the business day following the day of deposit.) Also, you may withdraw up to $400 of the deposit in cash at or after (time no later than 5:00 p.m.) on the third business day after the business day of your deposit if your check is a local check. You may withdraw the remaining amount on the fourth business day after the day of your deposit.

For example, if you deposit a local check of $600 on a Monday, $100 of the deposit is available Tuesday, and the rest is available to pay checks written to others on Thursday. At or after (time no later than 5:00 p.m.) on Thursday you may withdraw up to $400 of the deposit in cash, and the rest is available for cash withdrawal on Friday.

Nonlocal checks deposited into your account will be available to pay any checks you have written to others starting on the seventh business day after the business day of your deposit. Also, you may withdraw the funds from the deposit in cash on that day.

For example, if you deposit a nonlocal check on a Monday, the funds from the deposit are available for withdrawal or to pay checks written to others on Wednesday of the next week.

3. Deposits at Automated Teller Machines

You may not withdraw funds from any deposits, whether cash or checks, made at automated teller machines we do not own or operate until the seventh business day after the business day of your deposit.

LONGER DELAYS MAY APPLY

We may delay your ability to withdraw funds deposited by check into your account an additional number of days for these reasons:

If we believe the check being deposited is uncollectible.

If you make deposits in any one day that exceed $5,000.

If you redeposit a check that has been returned unpaid.

(Bank Name and Location)
1234567890	0000000000 000
bank location number

Once you have determined the bank location number, look at the first four digits of that number. The following chart can show you the availability time for your deposit:

Bank location number (first four digits) on the check being deposited	When funds are available	Example: When funds are available if a deposit is made on a Monday
(Local bank numbers).	3rd business day to pay checks written to others and $400 cash for withdrawal at or after (time no later than 5:00 p.m.). 4th business day for rest of cash or to pay checks.	Thursday (third day after the deposit).  Friday (fourth day after the deposit).
All other bank numbers.	7th business day.....	Next Wednesday (the week following the deposit).

*Deposits at automated teller machines that we do not own or operate, whether cash or check deposits, will not be available for withdrawal until the seventh business day after the date of deposit. * * * * *

e. Section 210.10 is revised to read as follows:

§ 210.10 Time schedule and availability of credits for cash items and returned checks.

(a) Each Reserve Bank shall include in its operating circulars a time schedule for each of its offices indicating when the amount of any cash item or returned check received by it (or sent direct to another Reserve office for the account of that Reserve Bank) is counted as reserves for purposes of Part 204 of this chapter (Regulation D) and becomes available for use by the sender. The Reserve Bank shall give either immediate or deferred credit in accordance with its time schedule to a sender other than a foreign correspondent. A Reserve Bank ordinarily gives credit to a foreign correspondent only when the Reserve Bank receives payment of the item in actually and finally collected funds, but, in its discretion, a Reserve Bank may give immediate or deferred credit in accordance with its time schedule.

(b) Notwithstanding its time schedule, a Reserve Bank may refuse at any time to permit the use of credit given for any cash item or returned check for which the Reserve Bank has not yet received payment in actually and finally collected funds.

f. Section 210.12 is revised to read as follows:

§ 210.12 Return of cash items and handling of returned checks.

(a) Return of cash items. A paying bank that receives a cash item directly or indirectly from a Reserve Bank, other than for immediate payment over the counter, and that pays for the item as provided in § 210.9(a) of this subpart, may, before it has finally paid the item, return the item, or if the item is unavailable for return, send notice of nonpayment in lieu of the item, to its Reserve Bank in accordance with the Uniform Commercial Code and Subpart C of Part 229 and its Reserve Bank's operating circular. The rules or practices of a clearinghouse through which the item was presented, or a special collection agreement under which the item was presented, may not extend these return times, but may provide for a shorter return time.

(b) Return of checks not handled by Reserve Banks. A paying bank that receives a check as defined in 12 CFR 229.2, other than directly or indirectly from a Reserve Bank, and that determines not to pay the check, may send the returned check or notice of nonpayment in lieu of the returned check to its Reserve Bank in accordance with Subpart C of Part 229 and its Reserve Bank's operating circular. A returning bank may send a returned check to its Reserve Bank in accordance with Subpart C of Part 229 and its Reserve Bank's operating circular.

(c) Paying bank's and returning bank's agreement. By sending a returned check to a Reserve Bank, the paying bank or returning bank—

- (1) Authorizes the receiving Reserve Bank (and any other Reserve Bank or returning bank to which the returned check is sent) to handle the returned check subject to this subpart and to the Reserve Banks' operating circulars;
- (2) Makes the warranties set forth in 12 CFR 229.34; and
- (3) Agrees to indemnify each Reserve Bank for any loss or expense (including attorneys' fees and expenses of litigation) resulting from—

(i) The paying or returning bank's lack of authority to give the authorization in paragraph (c)(1) of this section;

(ii) Any action taken by a Reserve Bank within the scope of its authority in handling the returned check; or

(iii) Any warranty made by the Reserve Bank under 12 CFR 229.34.

(d) Recovery by Reserve Bank. If an action or proceeding is brought against (or if defense is tendered to) a Reserve Bank that has handled a returned check based on—

(1) The alleged failure of the paying or returning bank to have the authority to give the authorization in paragraph (c)(1) of this section;

(2) Any action by the Reserve Bank within the scope of its authority in handling the returned check; or

(3) Any warranty made by the Reserve Bank under 12 CFR 229.34, the Reserve Bank may, upon the entry of a final judgment or decree, recover from the paying bank or returning bank the amount of attorneys' fees and other expenses of litigation incurred, as well as any amount the Reserve Bank is required to pay under the judgment or decree, together with interest thereon.

(e) Methods of recovery. The Reserve Bank may recover the amount stated in paragraph (d) of this section by charging any account on its books that is maintained or used by the paying or returning bank (or if the sender is another Reserve Bank, by entering a charge against the other Reserve Bank through the Interdistrict Settlement Fund), if—

(1) The Reserve Bank made seasonable written demand on the paying or returning bank to assume defense of the action or proceeding; and

(2) The paying or returning bank has not made any other arrangement for payment that is acceptable to the Reserve Bank.

The Reserve Bank is not responsible for defending the action or proceeding before using this method of recovery. A Reserve Bank that has been charged through the Interdistrict Settlement Fund may recover from the paying or returning bank in the manner and under the circumstances set forth in this paragraph. A Reserve Bank's failure to avail itself of the remedy provided in this paragraph does not prejudice its enforcement in any other manner of the indemnity agreement referred to in paragraph (c)(3) of this section.

(f) A Reserve Bank shall handle a returned check, or a notice of nonpayment, in accordance with Subpart C of Part 229 and its operating circular. A Reserve Bank may permit or require the paying bank to send direct to another Reserve Bank a returned check with respect to which the depository bank is located within the other Reserve Bank's District, in accordance with § 210.4(b).

(g) A subsequent returning bank or depository bank shall settle for returned checks in the same manner as for cash items presented for payment.

g. Section 210.15 is removed.

For the hearing impaired only: Telecommunications Device for the Deaf, Ernestine Hill or Dorothea Thompson (202/452-3254).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Expedited Funds Availability Act, Title VI of Pub. L. 100-86, requires banks and other depository institutions (collectively referred to as "banks"<sup>1</sup>) to make funds deposited into accounts available to depositors within time periods specified by the Act and to disclose funds availability policies to their depositors. The Board is given responsibility to adopt regulations to implement the Act. The Act also provides the Board with broad authority to adopt regulations to improve the check processing system so that checks may be cleared and, if necessary, returned within the funds availability schedules mandated by the Act.

The Board is today requesting comment on a series of proposals, Docket Nos. R-0620, R-0621, and R-0622, that will exercise its responsibilities under the Act. Docket No. R-0620 consists of a proposed regulation (Regulation CC, 12 CFR Part 229) that will clarify the definitions of the Act, provide detailed rules to facilitate compliance with the availability and disclosure requirements, and make several substantive changes to the current law on the collection of checks to encourage faster return of unpaid checks, thus minimizing the losses that could result from compliance with the availability schedules. Docket No. R-0620, also proposes several amendments to the Board's current Regulation J (12 CFR Part 210), which governs the collection of checks and other items by Federal Reserve Banks, so that it conforms to the new standards adopted in Regulation CC.

This docket, No. R-0621 Federal Reserve Bank Services, requests comment on proposed new services to be offered by the Federal Reserve Banks to assist banks and other depository institutions to comply with the new check collection rules established in Regulation CC. Docket No. R-0622 Proposals for Long-Term Improvements to the Check Collection System, requests comment on some possible services that the Federal Reserve are studying as well as longer-term improvements to the nation's check collection system.

Commenters should review the overview material contained in Docket No. R-0620 Regulation CC, which provides background on these proposals.

The Federal Reserve System is a major provider of check collection services to banks, and the 48 Federal Reserve check processing offices currently handle about 150 million returned checks annually. In contrast to the forward collection process, the return item process is a slow, relatively labor intensive, and costly operation. A brief description of the current process can be found in the overview material contained in Docket No. R-0620, Regulation CC.

Under current procedures, most returned checks will not reach the depository bank before it must make funds available to its customers according to the availability schedules mandated by the Expedited Funds Availability Act (12 U.S.C. 4002). To reduce the risk to depository banks, the Federal Reserve is proposing new responsibilities for paying banks to return checks expeditiously. The Federal Reserve has also developed new services to enable paying banks to meet these new responsibilities.

In developing these services, considerable emphasis was placed on assuring that banks would have available several alternative approaches to comply with the provisions of the proposed regulations. A number of new and enhanced services that will increase the speed of the return process are proposed by the Federal Reserve, including direct returns, universal returns, expedited processing of nonautomated returns, high-speed processing of automated returns, and improved notification services. In addition, the Federal Reserve is proposing to implement truncation and Extended MICR (Magnetic Ink Character Recognition) services. It is anticipated that private sector check collection service providers will also develop similar or other innovative check services.

Proposed Federal Reserve Bank ServicesDirect Returns*

One of the constraints to the speed of the current return item process is the number of returning banks that process a check during its trip from the paying bank back to the depository bank. Returned checks handled by the Federal Reserve generally are returned to the bank that originally deposited the check with the Federal Reserve. Thus, if the Federal Reserve originally received a check for deposit from a correspondent bank, and that check is returned, the Federal Reserve will send that return to the correspondent. That correspondent will, in turn, send the return to its indorser, most likely the depository bank. It is important to expedite this return process when the Act becomes effective. Experience with a pilot program conducted by the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas has shown that the return process can be completed more promptly if the number of returning banks can be minimized and the returned check is sent directly to the depository bank.

The Federal Reserve is proposing to return checks directly to the depository bank, or its agent by September 1, 1988; bypassing other returning banks in the indorsement chain. The objective of this proposal is to speed the return process by reducing the number of banks that must handle a returned check.

<sup>1</sup> The proposed Regulation CC terminology corresponds with the terminology of the Uniform Commercial Code, with some modifications. Bank is defined to include all depository institutions. A paying bank is the bank on which the check is drawn. In the case of payable through drafts, the payable through bank is the paying bank. A returning bank is an intermediary bank handling a returned check. A depository bank is the bank in which the check was first deposited. (See § 229.2 of the proposed regulation for the complete definitions of these terms.)

Experience with the Dallas pilot program indicates that the direct return process would reduce the average return time by approximately one-half day for returns processed by the Federal Reserve, with greater improvements for checks that currently take the longest to return—those with multiple intermediary bank indorsers. A survey of over 18,000 returned checks at 12 Federal Reserve offices revealed that 43 percent of all returned checks were handled by one or more correspondents during forward collection. Bypassing these correspondents by directly returning checks to the depository bank would reduce return times by a day or more.

The proposed direct return procedure will be more costly for the Federal Reserve because of the additional endpoints to which returned checks must be sorted and delivered. The Federal Reserve may sort returns to an estimated 26,000 endpoints under a direct return procedure, in contrast to 5,600 today—an increase of nearly 370 percent. The Federal Reserve's transportation expenses for delivery of returned checks could also increase substantially if delivery of returns were made via courier to all depository banks. The Federal Reserve delivers to approximately 10,500 endpoints via courier today and anticipates that most returns can be delivered via this transportation.

Recognizing the desirability of providing prompt return of checks to depository banks while seeking to minimize increases in transportation costs, the Board proposes the following:

—A depository bank may receive returned checks from the Federal Reserve, at no charge, at a location where the Federal Reserve currently delivers the bank's forward collection checks, or at a location where the Federal Reserve currently provides courier delivery, or at another designated location through the U.S. mail.

—A depository bank that wishes its returned checks delivered by courier to a location where the Federal Reserve does not currently provide courier service may be charged for newly instituted transportation.

The Board requests comment on the proposal for Federal Reserve offices to deliver returned checks directly to the depository bank. Comment is also requested on the proposed guidelines for delivery of returned checks by courier.

Universal Returns

Currently, unpaid checks are sent back to the presenting bank. In order to assist paying banks in meeting the new requirements for prompt return (See Regulation CC 12 CFR 229.30(a) Docket No. R-0620), the Federal Reserve is proposing to accept from paying banks by September 1, 1988, all returned checks regardless of whether or not the checks were originally collected through the Federal Reserve. Paying banks, of course, would not be obligated to send any returned checks to the Federal Reserve. It is anticipated that most returned checks originally cleared through private clearing arrangements would continue to be exchanged directly by the clearing participants.

Expedited Processing of Returns

Most Federal Reserve offices now receive returned checks during the late evening/early morning hours and process the checks during the daytime hours. Dispatch of the returned checks is generally made on the next available transportation to indorsers and other Federal Reserve offices. Thus, returned checks received by the Federal Reserve can be in the possession of the Federal Reserve for up to a day before being sent to the previous indorser.

The Federal Reserve is proposing to establish by September 1, 1988, returned check deposit deadlines at Federal Reserve offices, supported by expanded processing capabilities, such that local returned checks can, in most instances, be returned to the depository bank the day following dispatch by the paying bank. The objective of this proposal is to provide for overnight processing and dispatch of returned checks similar to current processing and presentment time frames for forward collection checks.

Deadlines for deposit of returned checks will correspond as closely as possible to forward collection deadlines in order to minimize transportation costs to paying banks. Each Federal Reserve office will offer at least one deposit deadline for all raw returned checks deposited intermixed. The earliest deadline for a mixed return letter will be 8:00 p.m. Deposits of raw returned checks at later deadlines, typically at midnight, may have to be resorted into separate local and nonlocal return letters prior to deposit with the Federal Reserve. Paying and returning banks will also have the opportunity to fine-sort returns by depository bank in order to obtain later deposit deadlines and lower fees.

Fees for processing raw local returned checks are projected to be in the range of $0.25 to $0.75 per return. Fees will be the same for all types of local returns, i.e., city/regional/country, but fees may vary at different deposit deadlines. Fees for nonlocal raw returned checks are projected to be in the range of $0.30 to $1.00 per return. The higher range for nonlocal checks reflects the cost of processing at two Federal Reserve offices as well as transportation costs between the two offices. Fees for returned checks that have been fine-sorted prior to deposit with the Federal Reserve will be the same as fees for forward collection fine-sorted deposits.

Fees for automated returns or qualified returned checks (QRC) initially are expected to be the same as the fees for regular forward collection checks of the same type. In addition, for both raw and qualified returned checks, a return letter fee similar to the cash letter fees imposed on forward collection checks would be assessed. The implementation of explicit fees for returned checks will most likely result in a reduction in Federal Reserve prices for forward collection checks.

The Reserve Banks may offer deposit options under which paying banks would place the depository bank's routing number on the face of the returned check before sending it to the Federal Reserve. Fees and deadlines would be set to reflect the additional preparations performed by the paying bank.

The Board requests comment on the impact of the proposed deadline and fee changes on the operations of banks. In addition, the Board would appreciate specific comments on the proposed deposit option wherein paying banks would place the nine-digit routing number of the depository bank on the face of the returned check.

High-Speed Processing of Returned Checks

One proposed method of handling returned checks more efficiently is to prepare returned checks for high-speed processing as early as possible in the return cycle. This can be done by placing the dishonored check in a carrier envelope or putting a strip across the bottom of the returned check and encoding on the envelope or strip the nine-digit routing number of the depository bank, the amount of the check, and a returned check identifier. To reduce possible error and the resulting liability, banks qualifying returned checks probably would use a check-digit algorithm to verify the accuracy of the routing number encoded on the envelope or strip.

The Board includes the following information to provide commenters with the background necessary to evaluate this proposed solution. From November 1985 to February 1986, the American Bankers Association and the Federal Reserve, with the cooperation of many banks, conducted a test of a qualified returned check system, proposed by Valley National Bank, Phoenix, Arizona. As proposed, the paying bank deciding to return a check would qualify the returned check and place it into the outgoing collection work. This collection path would be independent of the path chosen by the depository bank to collect the check being returned. Credit would be passed as if the returned check were being collected through the forward collection process. The test provided data that indicated that the QRC procedure would be successful in speeding the flow of the returned check to the depository bank. A complete analysis of the test program and its results is available from the Secretary of the Board at the address indicated in the caption.

The benefits that can be derived from using the QRC system include more timely delivery of returned checks to the depository bank, elimination of manual handling at intermediary processors, use of the most efficient high-speed process to move the returned check to the depository bank, and a reduction in the use of mail to transport returned checks to the depository bank or a returning bank. These benefits can be accrued with a minimal investment in new equipment since most of the equipment used for this procedure is readily available and in use at many banks.

Even though the test program results indicated that benefits could be gained from implementation of such a procedure, various concerns prohibited banks from implementing the system at the end of the test period. One of the key barriers to successful implementation of the QRC process was the fact that three jurisdictions have not adopted an optional provision of the U.C.C. that allows the paying bank to send returned checks directly to the depository bank. The proposed Regulation CC, section 229.30(a) overrides any conflicting state law and allows banks in all jurisdictions to return checks directly to the depository bank or to an intermediary bank or processor that was not in the original collection chain.

Another concern for the paying bank is how to identify and easily determine the depository bank and its nine-digit routing number among all the varying sizes and descriptions of indorsements on the back of the check. Frequently, the depository bank will not be one of the correspondent banks with whose indorsement a bank's return item personnel are familiar. This problem is being addressed in the proposed Regulation CC, section 229.35, which provides a mandatory indorsement standard for the depository bank and subsequent indorsers.

In addition, the industry was concerned about special handling of returned checks as opposed to forward collection checks. The most efficient way of processing returned checks through a high-speed system is to intermix returned checks with forward collection checks. On the other hand, extra risks may be associated with processing returned checks intermixed with forward collection checks. In addition, discussions with the industry have indicated that most depository banks would prefer to have their returned checks presented to them separately from the checks drawn on them. This would allow banks to identify their returned checks earlier and take action as quickly as possible in the event that the hold period for one of the checks being returned is about to expire. With this in mind, the Board proposes that the processing of returned checks via the QRC process be kept separate from the processing of forward collection checks.

By September 1, 1988, the Federal Reserve offices will accept returned checks that have been prepared using the QRC process. In addition, the Federal Reserve will qualify raw returns if this will speed up the return process. For the most part, only nonlocal returns will be qualified; however, some Federal Reserve offices may qualify local returns when this is the most efficient way for that office to process the returns. Qualified returned checks handled by the Federal Reserve will not be intermixed with forward collection checks unless the depository bank agrees that the returns be included in its Federal Reserve cash letter.

Proposed fees and deposit deadlines for handling QRCs will be the same as the fees for handling checks deposited for collection. If the return process were to result in a higher reject rate, need a higher level of controls than the collection process, or otherwise prove to be more costly, the fees for QRCs may be increased.

All deposit deadlines for checks deposited for forward collection, including those for fine-sort deposits, will be open for qualified returned checks, subject to the same sorting instructions. Of course, if returns are fine-sorted, it would not be necessary for the paying or returning bank to qualify the returns before depositing in this manner because the checks will be delivered to the fine-sort endpoint without further processing.

Use of the QRC process will be optional for paying and returning banks. Preparing returned checks for high-speed processing would not always be the most cost-effective or efficient alternative. Checks that are returned through returning banks would most likely be returned more quickly if qualified early in the return cycle.

It is anticipated that other methods of handling returns expeditiously will develop. One Reserve Bank is investigating the possibility of using electronics in the return process (See Docket R-0622, Proposals for Long-Term Improvements to the Check Collection System).

The Board requests comment on the use of the QRC process for expediting the handling of returned checks by returning banks. Specifically, the Board requests comment on the likelihood of paying banks initiating this process.

Notification of Nonpayment

Under Regulation J (12 CFR Part 210), a paying bank is required to send notification of nonpayment to the depository bank for returned checks of $2500 or more that were collected through the Federal Reserve by midnight of the third banking day following presentment. This requirement provides depository banks with an early warning that a large-dollar check is being returned.

Although the current large-dollar notification program does lessen the amount of risk inherent in the return process, depository banks are still exposed to significant areas of risk. Since the current notification requirements apply only to checks collected through the Federal Reserve, depository banks may not receive notice of return on all large-dollar returned checks. In addition, the current time frame for notification allows three banking days following presentment before the depository bank is given notice of return. Earlier notification deadlines would allow the depository bank to learn of nonpayment of a greater percentage of checks before funds must be made available for withdrawal.

Proposed Regulation CC requires notification for all large-dollar checks and shortens the time period within which notification must be provided (12 CFR 229.33). Large-dollar notification will now be required for all checks of $2500 or more, regardless of whether they were collected through the Federal Reserve. The proposed rule requires that notification be received by the depository bank by 4:00 p.m. local time, on the second business day following presentment; receipt of the physical check would satisfy this requirement. This proposal allows depository banks to receive notice of nonpayment more than one day earlier than is currently the case.

The Federal Reserve is proposing several changes to its notification services in support of the new regulation. Beginning on September 1, 1988, a same-day notification service will be offered, and new deadlines for the initiation of notification through the Federal Reserve will be established. The Federal Reserve will warrant that it will provide notification to the depository bank on the same day that it receives instructions that are in accordance with these new deadlines.

The proposed new deadlines and fees for notification are as follows:

Origination method	Current deadline	Proposed deadline	Fee
Wire.....	12 noon on due date.	12 noon on due date.	$1.75
Telephone call to Fed.	12 noon on day before due date.	9:00 a.m. on due date.	$4.25
Physical check to Fed.	12 noon on day before due date.	9:00 a.m. on due date.	$5.25

Notices will be delivered the same day as received.

The Board proposed that, beginning on January 1, 1989, any depository bank that has an on-line electronic connection with the Federal Reserve will be required to receive all notices from the Federal Reserve over their electronic connection or over an electronic connection to a designated third party. (This does not include electronic connections used solely for tape transmission of ACH items.) This may require banks to add a terminal in their check operation or to establish procedures to transmit notification information from other departments, such as funds transfer, to the check department. This requirement should ensure that their notifications are received more accurately and timely.

Truncation

While the services previously described make significant improvements in the time it takes to return an unpaid check, electronic services may provide more improvements. The Act directs the Federal Reserve to consider several electronic alternatives to improve the check processing system, including check truncation. The Board proposes to allow Reserve Banks to begin offering truncation services that would improve the forward collection and return process.

During 1985, the Federal Reserve implemented a truncation pilot at four Reserve Banks. By the end of 1986, two additional Reserve Banks were participating in the pilot program. The objectives of the pilot included developing, testing, and refining the Federal Reserve's ability to: (1) Provide local storage and retrieval services to paying banks; (2) participate in a pilot of the National Association for Check Safekeeping (NACS), which offers the potential benefits of truncating eligible checks earlier in the collection stream; and (3) work with NACS representatives to expand the NACS program to include all types of checks. Ultimately, pilot experience would include: (1) Evaluation of the truncation concept, (2) examination of the operational and legal issues surrounding truncation, and (3) determining the appropriate role of the Federal Reserve System in providing full truncation services or services which support it.

Under the first phase of the pilot—truncating for local paying banks, the Reserve Bank serving the paying bank captures the entire MICR-line, including the nine-digit routing number, account number, check number, and dollar amount. Checks rejected during high-speed processing are included on the MICR output file. All MICR-captured checks are microfilmed, and unique sequence numbers are inserted into the MICR file and printed on both the microfilm and the physical check. These sequence numbers facilitate Reserve Bank processing of returned checks and retrieval requests. The Reserve Bank delivers the captured MICR-line data and related totals to the paying bank or its agent on magnetic tape or by data transmission, as requested by the paying bank. Under this service, the presentment time for the paying bank is based on the time of receipt of electronic presentment because the paying bank does not receive the physical paper checks. The Reserve Bank stores the physical checks and microfilm for a negotiated period, usually 90 days and seven years respectively, after which time they are destroyed.

After receipt of the MICR data, the paying bank processes and posts the MICR data to the appropriate customer accounts. If a decision is made to dishonor a check, the paying bank notifies the Reserve Bank no later than the published deadline on the business day following the day the MICR data are presented. The Reserve Bank retrieves the physical checks and initiates the return process to the depository bank. The paying bank may also request retrieval services such as information from a truncated check, a photocopy of a check, or the original physical check (provided the request is received before the check has been destroyed).

The Reserve Banks developed a standard pricing structure and a common set of pricing principles. Local pricing is used to reflect the different processing costs at each office. With minor adjustments, these prices have remained in effect throughout the pilot program. The fee structure contains a basic per item fee and separate fees for return items (initiated by telephone or automated means), retrievals, fine-sort fee processing, and over-the-counter processing. Reject reentry and microfilming costs are part of the basic per item fee, while large-dollar notification costs are part of the return item fee.

It is anticipated that fees at most Reserve offices will approximate those in the pilot. Fee ranges at the six pilot Reserve Banks are as follows:

Basic per item:
—Via tape.....	$0.011–$0.020
—Via transmission.....	$0.014–$0.025
Return item:
—Telephone.....	$1.60–$2.80
—Automated.....	$1.35–$2.30
Retrieval per item.....	$1.00–$2.00
Fine Sort:
—Per Package.....	$0.00–$2.00
—Per item.....	$0.006–$0.02
Over-the-counter:
—Per Package.....	$0.50–$0.50
—Per item.....	$0.014–$0.018

As of October 1987, seven commercial banks, one savings and loan association, and three credit unions were participating in the pilot program. Total truncation volume during the pilot exceeds 1.3 million checks per month. Approximately 2 percent of the checks require reject reentry, 0.3 percent are returned, and retrieval requests are received on 0.1 percent of the checks. The truncation participants' reaction to the service has been positive, processing costs have been lower than expected, and the quality of service has met expectations.

One Reserve Bank began truncating NACS-eligible checks in September 1987. Plans are underway for other pilot Reserve Banks to join NACS and begin truncating NACS-eligible checks as soon as possible. In addition, the Federal Reserve is working closely with NACS, the National Automated Clearing House Association (NACHA), the American National Standards Institute (ANSI), and other related groups to expand the NACS program to include all types of checks, to make any necessary modifications to the TRC format (and TRX in the future) on the ACH, and to obtain a special truncation indicator to be placed on the MICR-line of checks that will be eligible for truncation earlier in the collection cycle. These efforts are necessary to make the operation of a national truncation program feasible and cost effective.

Nationwide truncation has many benefits including expediting returned checks, reducing the number of physical handlings of paper checks, and accelerating the collection of nonlocal checks for depository banks. In addition, truncation produces other benefits, including savings in transportation costs, float, storage costs for paying banks, and equipment and personnel costs for paying banks. Truncation also provides a natural transition from paper to electronic payments.

Several problems that presented barriers to truncation have been addressed. These issues include improperly payable checks, presentment problems, and check retrieval and return responsibilities.

Improperly payable checks such as stale checks, altered checks, postdated checks, and checks with missing or forged drawer's signatures raise legal issues because the paying bank will make its decision to pay the check without seeing the physical check. According to the U.C.C., liability for these checks may not be passed along to the paying bank's customer because the check is not properly payable, except in the case of a stale check paid in good faith. For altered checks, if the paying bank or its agent was not responsible for the alteration, it may recoup its loss in a warranty action against the indorser. For postdated checks and checks with missing or forged drawer's signatures, the paying bank will assume the risk. It should be noted that, to minimize this risk, paying banks may establish dollar caps so that large-dollar checks are not truncated. No losses have been reported thus far in the pilot.

Presentment is a condition precedent to both a drawer's and an indorser's secondary liability. The proposed Regulation CC, § 229.36(c) allows banks to present checks to a paying bank by transmission of information describing the check in accordance with an agreement with the paying bank.

The Reserve Bank, exercising ordinary care, will act as agent of the paying bank only and cannot grant retrieval requests from the paying bank's customers. The truncating Reserve Bank as agent of the paying bank will return the check to itself as collecting bank.

Based on the benefits that can be achieved by a nationwide truncation program, the Federal Reserve proposes to make the truncation service a permanent component of the check collection services at the Reserve Banks. It is anticipated that, as more paying banks begin to issue some type of truncation-eligible check, most Reserve offices would begin to offer a truncation service, first on a local level, truncating checks for local paying banks. The Reserve Banks would expand into truncation for nonlocal paying banks as the NACS rules and procedures become more fully developed.

The Board requests comment on the proposed Federal Reserve truncation service and adaptation of the NACS rules for the nationwide program.

Extended MICR Capture Service

The Board is proposing to allow Reserve Banks to begin offering a service that provides the benefits of truncation without actually stopping the flow of the paper check. This extended MICR capture service is currently a Federal Reserve pilot program that combines several existing payor bank services, including MICR capture, reject reentry, and electronic data delivery. Reserve Banks deliver payment information by transmission or magnetic tape to paying banks that have requested the service, while retaining the checks at the Reserve Bank office for several days. The Reserve Bank office provides paying banks with return and retrieval services identical to the truncation service. The return service eliminates the transportation delay between the paying bank and the Federal Reserve, permitting faster return of some checks, particularly nonlocal checks. The paper checks are subsequently delivered to the paying bank using less time-critical transportation. Enhancements to this service include optional microfilming and the inclusion of checks presented in fine-sort packages.

Extended MICR capture provides the paying bank a chance to test most aspects of the truncation service without giving up receipt of the physical checks. The benefits of extended MICR capture are not as great as those of truncation; however, extended MICR capture serves as a stepping stone for developing a broader acceptance of truncation. The obvious disadvantage to the service is having the paper check continue to flow through the clearing process to the Federal Reserve office serving the paying bank before being converted to electronic form. The Federal Reserve is conducting a study on an electronic clearinghouse concept that may offer the ability to convert to electronics earlier in the collection process. (See Docket R-

0622 Proposals for Long-Term Improvement to the Check Collection System.)

The fee structure adopted for the extended MICR capture service includes a per item fee that includes reject reentry, return item fees (telephone and automated), retrieval fees, optional fine-sort per item and daily fixed fees, and optional microfilming fees. The basic per item fee varies depending on whether the presentment is made via transmission or magnetic tape. Similar to truncation, a standard fee structure and a common set of pricing principles have been developed for extended MICR capture.

It is anticipated that fees at most Reserve offices will approximate those in the pilot program. Ranges for fees used in the pilot are as follows:

Basic per item .....	$0.006-$0.012
Return Item
—Telephone .....	$1.60-$2.10
—Automated .....	$1.35-$1.60
Retrievals .....	$1.00-$1.50
Fine Sort
—Per item .....	$0.006-$0.012
—Fixed daily fee .....	$2.00-$5.00
Microfilm per item .....	$0.006-$0.01

Local pricing is used to reflect the different processing costs at each Reserve Bank office. In addition to the above fees, during the pilot program the Reserve Banks have assessed a fixed fee per day that includes the first "x" number of checks before the basic per item fee begins to be assessed. The Federal Reserve is evaluating the merit of the fixed fee and may consider modifying the fee structure to eliminate the fixed fee.

Competitive Issues

An important factor considered in the development of the regulatory framework for expedited returns and related Reserve Bank services was the impact on competition in the check collection system. The public has benefited from the competitive environment that has existed between the Federal Reserve and correspondent banks, and among correspondent banks in providing check collection services. The Board has sought to ensure that the proposed regulatory requirements, and Federal Reserve service offerings, were designed to provide options to banks in the return process, and to facilitate a competitive environment.

Although a number of the Reserve Bank service proposals—such as acceptance of any returned check, the explicit pricing of returns and corresponding decrease in the forward collection fees, and direct return by the Federal Reserve to the depository bank—may have significant competitive implications, it is difficult to determine what the impact would be. For example, lower Federal Reserve check collection fees could make the Reserve Banks' forward collection check services more attractive and acceptance of all returns could increase return volume. On the other hand, a bank that uses the Federal Reserve for both forward collection and return services may experience an increase in its total charges for check services. In addition, the acceptance of universal returns by the Federal Reserve has the potential to result in a reduction of Federal Reserve forward collection check volume, since returns are often viewed as nuisance items in the collection process that have deterred banks from competing for forward collection volume.

Correspondent banks will have the opportunity to compete with the Federal Reserve in providing returned check services. For example, approximately 4,000 banks that do not collect checks through the Federal Reserve currently mail returned checks to their Reserve Banks. Under the proposed Regulation CC, § 229.30, these paying banks may deliver these returned checks along with their forward collection checks to their correspondent bank, rather than establishing separate transportation to deliver their returns to the Federal Reserve. This practice could result in additional volume of returned checks for correspondents.

In this regard, the Board requests comment on whether there are any returned check services or other procedural changes for returning banks that the Federal Reserve has not proposed that might assist the returning bank in providing returned check services.

By order of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, December 3, 1987.

William W. Wiles,

Secretary of the Board.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Expedited Funds Availability Act, Title VI of Pub. L. 100-86, requires banks and other depository institutions (collectively referred to as "banks" <sup>1</sup>) to make funds deposited into accounts available to depositors within time periods specified by the Act and to disclose funds availability policies to their depositors. The Board is given responsibility to adopt regulations to implement the Act. The Act also provides the Board with broad authority to adopt regulations to improve the check processing system so that checks may be cleared and, if necessary, returned within the funds availability schedules mandated by the Act.

The Board is today requesting comment on a series of proposals, Docket Nos. R-0620, R-0621, and R-0622, that will exercise its responsibilities under the Act. Docket No. R-0620 Regulation CC consists of a proposed regulation (Regulation CC, 12 CFR Part 229) that will clarify the definitions of the Act, provide detailed rules to facilitate compliance with the availability and disclosure requirements, and make several substantive changes to the current law on the collection of checks to encourage faster return of unpaid checks, thus minimizing the losses that could result from compliance with the availability schedules. Docket No. R-0620 also proposes several amendments to the Board's current Regulation J (12 CFR Part 210), which governs the collection of checks and other items by Federal Reserve Banks, so that it conforms to the new standards adopted in Regulation CC.

Docket No. R-0621 Federal Reserve Bank Services requests comment on proposed new services to be offered by the Federal Reserve Banks to assist in the new check collection rules established in Regulation CC.

This docket, No. R-0622, requests comment on some possible services that the Federal Reserve is studying as well as longer-term improvements to the nation's check collection system.

Commenters should review the overview material contained in Docket No. R-0620 Regulation CC, which provides background on these proposals.

The Federal Reserve will continue to investigate improvements to enhance the speed, the efficiency, and the quality of the entire check system. To this end, several projects are underway that address the need to plan for future innovations. Several of these concepts, including bar-code indorsements, electronic clearinghouses, and electronic clearing zones are described within this Federal Register notice. In addition, this notice describes the Federal Reserve's continuous study of the impact certain disbursement practices have on the check system. The Board requests comment on these studies. This notice also provides information on the Federal Reserve's ongoing exploration of digitized image processing.

Proposals for Long-Term Improvements to the Check Collection System

Bar-Code Indorsements

The Federal Reserve has recently begun to explore possible approaches to machine-readable indorsements and automated returned check handling. Machine-readable indorsements represent a substantial improvement over human-readable indorsements because they have the potential to automate fully the returned check process. In the near-term, these indorsements could facilitate the automated preparation of qualified returned checks (QRCs) <sup>2</sup> and thereby enable more returns to reach the depository bank in an expedited manner. In addition, these indorsements would reduce the cost of handling returns for paying banks and returning banks. For these reasons, the Federal Reserve initiated a study on machine-readable indorsements.

The first step of this study was to develop a comprehensive list of possible technologies for machine-readable indorsements. Four technologies, MICR, OCR, bar-code, and magnetic strip, were selected. Each was evaluated on the following characteristics: Performance (information density, speed for reading and writing, error rates); functions (the size of character set, whether or not it is observable/erasable/human-readable, whether it provides an audit trail, and whether information can be added at a later date by another party); institutional considerations (familiarity to banking industry, vendor base of support, existence of industry standards); and expected future cost and performance trends. Bar-code was chosen as the most promising technology to investigate.

Several scenarios were developed to outline how bar-code indorsements could be applied by the depository bank and used by the paying bank to automate the creation of QRCs. The bar-code itself would be limited to the nine-digit routing number of the depository bank; with other information in the indorsement in human-readable form to facilitate the handling of exception items. In order to read the bar-code indorsements, paying banks could scan a hand wand, linked to a computer, across each indorsement and generate the routing number for encoding on the strip or the carrier envelope for each returned check, or for inclusion in an electronic file that would accompany the returns to the depository bank (See discussion on "Speedy Return Plan"). Alternatively, encoding equipment and/or reject processing equipment could be modified to read the bar-code routing number and the MICR amount, and encode this information on either a strip or a carrier envelope. The technology to read bar-code indorsements on high-speed reader/sorters also exists, which could eliminate the need for strips or envelopes, although this approach is currently very costly.

Another issue under study is the depository bank's responsibility to place the bar-code indorsement on the check. The depository bank could add bar-codes to the indorsement plates located on the encoding machines. Printing of the bar-code by this method, however, has a drawback because the position of the bar-code may not be very precise, which increases the difficulty and the expense of machine-reading (as opposed to hand wand reading) of the indorsement. Another disadvantage is that the designated space may not accommodate additional future uses of bar-code, which banks and equipment manufacturers may develop.

Alternative locations are being investigated that could accommodate an expanded use of the bar-code; specifically, the top front edge of the check, or the lower back edge just behind the MICR-line could be used. Although encoding equipment would need to be modified to print in these alternative locations, these areas of a check are attractive because they should be relatively free of clutter and, therefore, allow for improved read rates. It has also been suggested that read rates might be further improved by selecting a fluorescent ink for the machine-readable indorsement.

The Federal Reserve is interested in selecting an approach to machine-readable indorsements that has the capability to improve other check handling procedures. The bar-code indorsement concept has been reviewed with several groups of industry representatives and equipment vendors who have been involved with developing an approach to sorting returns on high-speed reader/sorters. Based on these discussions, the acceptability of bar-code technology appears to be quite high. The Federal Reserve intends to continue discussions with equipment vendors and banking industry representatives to investigate further the usefulness of bar-code indorsements and to develop technical specifications.

The Board requests comment on the concept of bar-code indorsements and on how quickly the Federal Reserve should proceed in the study and implementation of this new technology. Specifically, the Board requests comment on the following issues:

1. Although the Federal Reserve study has designated bar-code as the most promising machine-readable technology, would the industry prefer other forms of machine-readable indorsements?
2. Would the banking industry have other uses for bar-code technology, besides identification of the depository bank? How much space would be required for the necessary information?
3. What location is preferable for the bar-code indorsement?
4. What specific bar-code is preferable for banking industry use?
5. Are there any outstanding issues in defining a bar-code standard indorsement (other than information content, choice of coding language, location on the check, print quality, and ink specifications) that have not been addressed?

Digitized Image Processing

In 1985, the Federal Reserve initiated a multi-year research and development effort to explore digitized image processing technology. Prior to 1985, image processing had been discussed widely in the financial industry as a technology that might bring significant productivity and quality improvements to the check collection system. This technology had been adopted in numerous lock-box operations, but otherwise had been largely untested in check processing.

The first phase of the research and development project demonstrated the technical feasibility of high-speed image capture of one side of a check in a laboratory environment. The second phase is intended to demonstrate in prototype form a fully functioning high-speed image processing system that will capture images, process and compress the image data, and store this data for later retrieval and analysis. This phase will be undertaken in laboratory conditions with a limited volume of checks.

As planned, phase three would move the testing from the laboratory to a Federal Reserve site. This phase will involve testing of large quantities of checks to determine performance consistency.

Two specific applications that could benefit from digitized image processing are government check processing and returned check processing. The government check application was selected for the initial laboratory demonstration for several reasons. First, it is a very demanding application for both rate of capture and image quality, and will provide a rigorous test of the technology. It is also the Federal Reserve's primary application for microfilm, and one purpose of the program is to determine whether an image processing system would be a superior and cost-effective substitute for microfilm.

Returned check processing is another application for which image processing might be practical. To make significant improvements in return times, new technologies will be required. The System hopes to further automate and accelerate the processing of the physical returned check. Image processing may prove to be a viable means to transmit images of returned checks electronically, particularly for large-dollar checks.

The Federal Reserve will share results of this research with the financial industry. Potential benefits to the industry include information on the general feasibility of the capture and compression technologies used to capture check images and handle the resultant data at high speeds, methods to measure the quality of images (such as exist today for microfilm), and methods and standards to assure the exchange of images among banks.

Electronic Clearing Zones

The Board has encouraged proposals on how to expedite the return process from both the industry and the Federal Reserve Banks. A proposal that is being developed by the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis is based on the concepts tested in the Federal Reserve truncation and extended MICR programs.

This proposal could expedite the check collection and return processes by converting specified geographic areas into electronic check clearing zones. This would be particularly beneficial to those banks located far from their local Federal Reserve office. Under this proposal, all banks in a specified area would agree to receive all their checks by electronic presentment of the MICR-line data. The checks would be held at either the Federal Reserve, correspondent bank, or the depository bank until the returns were identified. The paying bank would then transmit the information on those returned checks to the presenting bank. Under this system, the physical returned checks could be made available to the depository bank one or more days in advance of the current process.

The electronic clearing zone concept differs from extended MICR capture services, in that, in an electronic clearing zone, all banks in a specified geographic region accept electronic presentments, which may allow for later deposit deadlines for collecting checks drawn on these endpoints, thereby improving availability for collecting banks.

The success of this electronic check clearing zone concept depends on the willingness of all banks in a given area to participate. In addition, the costs of electronic presentment may be allocated to both the paying bank and the collecting bank because both benefit. The paying bank benefits from reduced operating costs. The collecting bank benefits from improved availability because deposit deadlines would be later for electronic clearing zones.

The Board requests comment on the electronic clearing zone concept, and specifically on methods of allocating costs between paying and collecting banks.

Electronic Clearinghouse

Section 609(f) of the Expedited Funds Availability Act (12 U.S.C. 4008(f)) requires the Federal Reserve to report to the Congress on the feasibility of the electronic clearinghouse concept by May 1988. An electronic clearinghouse is an electronic message service through which checks are electronically presented for collection and return. The Federal Reserve is currently discussing the electronic clearinghouse concept with experts in telecommunications technology and plans to request further information from other specialists and industry trade groups.

The Board requests comment on the feasibility of electronic clearinghouses and on the information that should be included in the May 1988 report to the Congress.

Improvements to the Forward Collection Process

The Board's proposals, for the most part, have focused on improvements to the returned check process. The Congress also directed the Board to explore further improvements to the forward collection process over the longer term. The Board has identified certain practices that may be inconsistent with the intent of the Congress and the Expedited Funds Availability Act. These practices include corporations engaging in arrangements that prolong the time required to collect and, consequently, return their check disbursements. This occurs, for example, when a corporation located on the East Coast issues checks drawn on a bank located on the West Coast to make payments to other East Coast organizations. The payment at one location of traveler's checks that are issued on a nationwide basis poses similar problems. The issuance by a bank of teller's checks that are drawn on another bank located in a different Federal Reserve check processing region is a further example.

There are certain problems inherent with these practices. These checks generally take longer to clear and return, which may increase the risk of loss to depository banks. These checks are typically more expensive to collect because of the distance they must travel to reach the paying bank. Float costs may also increase for depository banks that must provide funds availability prior to receiving provisional credit in those cases where next-day availability must be granted. In addition, these practices result in a larger proportion of checks being considered nonlocal for the purposes of granting availability, thus delaying the time the proceeds of these checks must be made available to the customer for withdrawal.

The Federal Reserve System has been concerned with the problems related to delayed disbursement for several years. For instance, the Board issued a policy statement on January 11, 1979, that expressly discouraged the banking industry from designing, promoting, or otherwise offering services intended to delay final settlement and which expose recipients to greater than ordinary risk. 65 Federal Reserve Bulletin 140, February 1979. On February 23, 1984, the Board issued another policy statement that further discouraged the use of arrangements that result in a delay in the collection and final settlement of checks. This policy statement stated that the Board intended to monitor such actions and, if abuses continued, would pursue appropriate action. 1 Federal Reserve Regulatory Service, 3-1506.6. In conjunction with this statement, the Board implemented the High-Dollar Group Sort Program to reduce the level of float and speed the collection of checks. 49 FR 7293 (February 28, 1984).

Given the intent of the Congress to expedite the check collection and return systems and the fact that depository banks will be exposed to additional risk of loss and increased float costs associated with these practices, the Board requests comment on suggested actions it should consider regarding these practices, in general. In addition, the Board requests specific comment on the practice of issuing teller's checks payable in a different check processing region than the issuing bank.

An additional disbursement issue concerns the treatment of traveler's checks under the Act. The Act requires next-day availability of travelers checks deposited in a new account. During this period, the depository bank may incur additional float costs, because funds may be withdrawn prior to the time the bank receives provisional credit. The Board requests comment on whether issuers of 8000-series traveler's checks should be required to designate multiple paying locations, in order to expedite the collection of these checks.

New Federal Reserve Services Under Consideration

Based on discussions with industry groups, the Board is aware that implementation of the Act may provide an opportunity for new services to develop to serve the needs of banks, particularly depository banks. The Federal Reserve is not proposing specific new services at this time, but requests comment on preliminary concepts of possible new services.

Depository Check Authenticity. The Expedited Funds Availability Act requires banks to make the proceeds of depository checks (cashier's checks, certified checks, and teller's checks) available for withdrawal by the opening of business on the business day following deposit. These checks are not subject to the exception provided in the Act for large-dollar deposits. Some banks may be concerned with the risk associated with accepting large-dollar depository checks, since they will not learn of nonpayment of these checks before funds must be made available for withdrawal. Depository checks can be forged, altered or otherwise defective, and, in some cases, may be subject to a stop payment order. A depository bank may want to determine whether a depository check is authentic before it makes the proceeds available for withdrawal.

Proposed Regulation CC (12 CFR 229.37) requires paying banks to respond to telephone inquiries from the depository bank regarding whether a depository check has been issued, certified, subject to a stop payment order, or whether it has been paid or returned. In addition, the paying bank must verify information on the check, such as the amount and payee. With respect to teller's checks, the drawing bank must also respond to inquiries from the depository bank. The depository bank could obtain information pertaining to the check by contacting the issuing bank directly or by using a service provided by a third party, such as the one being considered by the Federal Reserve. Under this service, the depository bank would telephone the Federal Reserve, which would in turn contact the issuing bank for information on the depository check. The Federal Reserve would then relay the information to the depository bank. The need for a more sophisticated means of communication will be dependent on the volume associated with this service.

There are a number of issues to be considered before such a service could be implemented. In order to respond to inquiries from a depository bank or a third party, such as the Federal Reserve, banks would have to maintain records of depository checks issued. Docket R-0620 Regulation CC requests comment on whether this is a workable arrangement, whether paying banks should be permitted to charge for this service, and whether the service should be limited to checks over a certain dollar amount.

With respect to the authenticity service under consideration, the Board requests comment on the demand for such a service by banks and the features and limitations such a service might encompass.

Communication of return item information to depository banks prior to physical delivery of the checks. Despite the improvements to the returned check process being proposed, a number of returned checks will not be received by the depository bank in sufficient time to take action before the proceeds of the check are available for customer withdrawal. In these cases, depository banks may desire information pertaining to returned checks before the physical checks are delivered. Physical transportation limitations between the Federal Reserve office and the depository bank may be offset by the use of telecommunications facilities to transmit returned check data to the depository bank.

The Federal Reserve is considering a series of new services to provide information early in the day to depository banks about returned checks that will not be delivered to the depository bank until later that day or, in some cases, the following day. It is expected that depository banks would request this service primarily for selected returns that impose greater risk on the depository bank. Information on this returns could be communicated by phone, wire, data transmission, or facsimile, if available.

Facsimile transmission equipment could be used to enhance and speed the flow of returned check information between banks without involving the Federal Reserve. In addition, facsimile could serve as an alternative means of meeting the notification requirement.

The Board requests comment on whether there is any interest in, or demand for, these services from the Federal Reserve.

The "Speedy Return Plan"

An alternative to the qualified returned check (QRC) method of high-speed return processing has been proposed by a task force comprised of representatives from the Cleveland Federal Reserve District and local industry representatives. This proposal, named the "Speedy Return Plan," is based on using high-speed equipment to process returned checks. The first step in this process is to capture MICR data for each returned check to create a data file. On-line entry is used to add the depository bank's nine-digit routing number to the file. A final high-speed sort uses the data from the file to sort the checks by depository bank. This high-speed sort allows banks to sort returned checks to an increased number of endpoints during a shorter period of time.

From a longer-term perspective, included in the Speedy Return Plan is the concept of electronically capturing the depository bank's machine-readable indorsement information at either the paying bank or the first Federal Reserve office. This captured indorsement information would be electronically merged with the actual item file for immediate and final sorting of returns at the returning bank or Federal Reserve office. This data would be electronically transmitted through all intermediaries back to the depository bank along with the returned checks. Similar to the QRC process, this proposal significantly decreases the costs and required processing windows for return operations because only one bank would have to decipher and record the depository bank's indorsement. The advantage of the Speedy Return Plan is that banks can avoid the use of strips or carrier envelopes by electronically matching the nine-digit routing number of the depository bank with the MICR-line of the check.

The Speedy Return Plan concept raises a number of issues. All banks and Federal Reserve offices using this plan would need to adopt the necessary high-speed returned check technology. Compatibility among automation systems to facilitate receipt and transmission of the electronic data files must also be considered. This proposal is still in preliminary review by the Board and other Federal Reserve Districts.

The Board requests comment on the Speedy Return Plan, particularly on the concept of depositing returns with their corresponding electronic files in order to expedite the return collection process.

By order of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, December 3, 1987.

Secretary of the Board.

Pursuant to the Privacy Act of 1974 (5 U.S.C. 552a) and Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Circular No. A-130, the Department has completed a review of its Privacy Act "systems of records" (as defined by the Privacy Act) to identify minor changes that will more accurately describe these records. As a result, the Foreign Claims Settlement Commission republished its systems of records on August 10, 1987 (52 FR 29572); a number of Department components are republishing systems of records as set forth below; and others are postponing publication due to pending reorganizations and other changes which will contribute to more accurate reporting in the near future.

The systems notices are reprinted below following a table of contents, and changes to the systems of records have been italicized for public convenience. Included, for example, are changes to system locations and system manager addresses, retention and disposal schedules, and storage capabilities. Also modified is a routine use which was originally drafted to permit records disclosure to the National Archives and Records Service (NARS), General Services Administration (GSA), during records management inspections. The routine use is being modified in response to the enactment of Pub. L. 98-497 (44 U.S.C. 2102).

This public law renamed NARS as the "National Archives and Records Administration" (NARA), and established it as a separate agency which nonetheless shares its records management inspection responsibilities with GSA. Accordingly, the routine use has been modified to show that NARA and GSA are now separate agencies which share access to records during these inspections. Comments on the routine use may be addressed to J. Michael Clark, Assistant Director, General Services Staff, Justice Management Division, Department of Justice, Room 6402, 601 D Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20530. Please submit any comments by January 11, 1988.

CATEGORIES OF INDIVIDUALS COVERED BY THE SYSTEM:

Individual defendants in pending and terminated criminal and civil cases brought by the United States under the antitrust laws.

This system contains an index reference to the case in which an individual (or corporation) is or was a defendant; included in information is proper case name, the judicial district and number of the case, and the date filed.

AUTHORITY FOR MAINTENANCE OF THE SYSTEM:

Authority for the establishment and maintenance of this index system exists under 28 U.S.C. 522 and 44 U.S.C. 3101.

ROUTINE USES OF RECORDS MAINTAINED IN THE SYSTEM, INCLUDING CATEGORIES OF USERS AND THE PURPOSES OF SUCH USES:

Routine use of this cross index system distributed to other Government agencies for reference and statistical purposes.

records are determined by the Antitrust Division to be arguably relevant to the litigation.

JUSTICE/DEA-008*SYSTEM NAME:

Investigative Reporting and Filing System.

SYSTEM LOCATION:

Drug Enforcement Administration: 1405 I Street, NW., Washington, D.C. 20537. Also, field offices. See Appendix 1 for list of addresses.

CATEGORIES OF INDIVIDUALS COVERED BY THE SYSTEM:

A. Drug offenders
B. Alleged drug offenders
C. Persons suspected of drug offenses
D. Confidential informants
E. Defendants
F. Witnesses
G. Non-implicated persons with pertinent knowledge of some circumstances or aspect of a case or suspect. These are pertinent references of fact developed by personal interview or third party interview and are recorded as a matter for which a probable need for recall will exist. In the regulatory portion of the system, records are maintained on the following categories of individuals: (a) Individuals registered with DEA under the Comprehensive Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act of 1970; (b) Responsible officials of business firms registered with DEA; (c) Employees of DEA registrants who handle controlled substances or occupy positions of trust related to the handling of controlled substances; (d) Applicants for DEA registration and their responsible employees.

CATEGORIES OF RECORDS IN THE SYSTEM:

The Investigative Reporting and Filing System includes, among other things, a system of records as defined in the Privacy Act of 1974. Individual records, i.e., items of information on an individual, may be decentralized in separate investigative file folders. Such records, as well as certain other records on persons and subjects not covered by the Act, are made retrievable and are retrieved by reference to the following subsystems.

A. The Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs Information System (NADDIS) consists of two centralized automated indices and machine records on subjects cited in and extracted from investigative reports. The two indices represent a name index and a number index which are used to access one or more specific records for examination. The system serves as both an index to the more voluminous written reports upon which it is based and as an autonomous means for developing investigative leads and aids in selecting source materials for studies of a strategic nature. The system is accessible by telecommunications by appropriately equipped DEA headquarters and field offices. Records which comprise the system are also accessed by special computer runs. These runs are typically generated from selection criteria which cannot be utilized (input) via the telecommunications equipment. Bulk products generated via off-line runs may be formatted on computer tape, in printout or on microfiche depending on the needs of the user.

Direct references to the discrete file folders in which the source reports are filed are provided within each record. Therefore, the NADDIS records point to the more comprehensive manual reports maintained centrally at Headquarters. Records are retrievable by name and by certain identifying numbers in the online mode and by virtually any record data element in the off-line mode.

B. The Confidential Source Subsystem within the Investigative Reporting and Filing System consists of demographic and administrative data concerning: (a) Persons who under the specific direction of a DEA agent, with or without the expectation of payment or other valuable consideration, furnish information regarding drug trafficking, or perform other lawful services; and (b) persons who furnish information to DEA on an occasional basis.

The information contained in this subsystem is extracted directly from investigative files and confidential informant files contained in the system. This subsystem contains no names. The subsystem consists of alphanumeric identifiers coupled with demographic and administrative data concerning the confidential source. The subsystem serves primarily as an administrative tool to enable DEA management to perform periodic reviews of confidential sources required by DEA guidelines and regulations, to enable DEA to maintain move effective management controls over the expenditure of funds to confidential sources and to enable DEA to more systematically assess the performance of particular confidential sources. In addition, the system will generate statistical reports which will assist DEA management in evaluating the overall effectiveness of the utilization of confidential sources of information.

The system is accessed by designated ADP terminals on the strictest need to know basis.

C. Manual name indices covering foreign investigative activities are maintained by DEA foreign field offices. A residual card index is retained by DEA headquarters and domestic field offices that predates the automated central index. The items of information on the manual index records are extracted only from investigative reports and point to the more comprehensive information in pertinent investigative file folders. The records in the field office indices are subsets of the central automated and manual indices. Records are retrievable by name only by this manual technique. Four basic categories of files are maintained within the Investigative Reporting and Filing System. DEA does not maintain a dossier type file in the traditional sense on an individual. Instead, the files are compiled on separate investigations, topics and on a functional basis for oversight and investigative support. (a) Criminal Investigative Case Files; (b) General Investigative Files, Criminal and Regulatory; (c) Regulatory Audit and Investigative Files; (d) Confidential Information Files.

The basic document contained in these files is a multipurpose report of investigation (DEA-6) in which investigative activities and findings are rigorously documented. The reports pertain to the full range of DEA criminal drug enforcement and regulatory investigative functions that emanate from the Comprehensive Drug Prevention and Control Act of 1970. Within the categories of files listed above, the general file category includes preliminary investigations of a criminal nature, certain topical or functional aggregations and reports of preregistrant inspections/investigations. The case files cover targeted conspiracies, trafficking situations and formal regulatory audits and investigations. Frequently the criminal drug cases are the logical extension of one or more preliminary investigations. The distinction between the case file and general file categories, therefore is based on internal administrative policy and should not be construed as a differentiation of investigation techniques or practices. These files, except for Confidential Information Files, contain also adopted reports received from other agencies to include items that comprise, when indexed, individual records within the meaning of the Act. The central files maintained at DEA Headquarters include, in general, copies of investigative reports and most of the supporting documents that are generated or adopted by DEA Headquarters and field offices.

AUTHORITY FOR MAINTENANCE OF THE SYSTEM:

This system is established and maintained to enable DEA to carry out its assigned law enforcement and regulatory functions under the Comprehensive Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act of 1970 (Pub. L. 91-513). Reorganization Plan No. 2 of 1973, and to fulfill United States obligations under the Single Convention on Narcotic Drugs.

ROUTINE USES OF RECORDS MAINTAINED IN THE SYSTEM, INCLUDING CATEGORIES OF USERS AND THE PURPOSES OF SUCH USES:

This system may be used as a data source or reference facility for numerous summary, management and statistical reports produced by the Drug Enforcement Administration. Only on rare occasions do such reports contain identifiable individual records. Information contained in this system is provided to the following categories of users as a matter of routine use for law enforcement and regulatory purposes: (a) Other federal law enforcement and regulatory agencies; (b) State and local law enforcement and regulatory agencies; (c) Foreign law enforcement agencies with whom DEA maintains liaison; (d) The Department of Defense and Military Departments; (e) The Department of State; (f) U.S. intelligence agencies concerned with drug enforcement; (g) The United Nations; (h) Interpol; (i) To individuals and organizations in the course of investigations to elicit information.

In addition, disclosures are routinely made to the following categories for the purposes stated: (a) To federal agencies for national security clearance purposes and to federal and state regulatory agencies responsible for the licensing or certification of individuals in the fields of pharmacy and medicine; (b) To the Office of Management and Budget upon request in order to justify the allocation of resources; (c) To State and local prosecutors for assistance in preparing cases concerning criminal and regulatory matters; (d) To the news media for public information purposes; and (e) To respondents and their attorneys for purposes of discovery, formal and informal in the course of an adjudicatory, rulemaking, or other hearing held pursuant to the Controlled Substances Act of 1970.

Release of information to the news media: Information permitted to be released to the news media and the public pursuant to 28 CFR 50.2 may be made available from systems of records maintained by the Department of Justice unless it is determined that release of the specific information in the context of a particular case would constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy.

Release of information to Members of Congress. Information contained in systems of records maintained by the Department of Justice, not otherwise required to be released pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552, may be made available to a Member of Congress or staff acting upon the Member's behalf when the Member or staff requests the information on behalf of and at the request of the individual who is the subject of the record.

Release of information to the National Archives and Records, Administration (NARA) and to the General Services Administration (GSA): A record from a system of records may be disclosed as a routine use to the NARA and GSA in records management inspection conducted under the authority of 44 U.S.C. 2904 and 2906.

POLICIES AND PRACTICES FOR STORING, RETRIEVING, ACCESSING, RETAINING, AND DISPOSING OF RECORDS IN THE SYSTEM:

Administration regulations include detailed instructions for the preparation, adoption, handling, dissemination, indexing of individual records, storage, safeguarding of investigative reports and the accounting of disclosure of individual records.

STORAGE:

1. The Headquarters central files and the field office subsets of the Investigative Reporting and Filing System are maintained in standard file folders. Standard formats are employed. Manual indices are maintained using standard index record formats.

2. The Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs information subset is stored electronically on the Department of Justice computer center separate from DEA Headquarters.

RETRIEVABILITY:

Access to individual records is gained by reference to either the automated or manual indices. Retrieval is a function of the presence of items in the index and the matching of names in the index with search argument names or identifying numbers in the case of the automated system. Files identified from field office indices are held by the field office of Headquarters. Files identified from the automated index may not be held by the interested office, but the originators of such files are identified. In addition a number of telecommunication terminals have been added to the existing network, including a terminal installation at the J. Edgar Hoover Building, 9th and Pennsylvania Avenue NW., Washington, D.C. 20535.

SAFEGUARDS:

The Investigative Reporting and Filing system is protected by both physical security methods and dissemination and access controls. Fundamental in all cases is that access to investigative information is limited to those persons or agencies with a demonstrated and lawful need to know for the information in order to perform assigned functions.

1. Physical security when investigative files are attended is provided by responsible DEA employees. Physical security when files are unattended is provided by the secure locking of material in approved containers or facilities. The selection of containers or facilities is made in consideration of the sensitivity or National Security Classification, as appropriate, of the files and the extent of security guard and/or surveillance afforded by electronic means.

2. Protection of the automated index is provided by physical procedural and electronic means. The Master file resides on the Department of Justice computer center and is physically attended or guarded on a full-time basis. Access or observation to active telecommunications terminals is limited to those with a demonstrated need to know for retrieval information. Surreptitious access to an unattended terminal is precluded by a complex sign-on procedure. The procedure is provided only to persons designated and authorized by DEA. For certain terminals, access is further restricted by cryptological equipment.

3. An automated log of queries is maintained for each terminal. Improper procedure results in no access. Terminals are signed-off after use. The terminals are otherwise located in locked facilities after normal working hours.

4. The dissemination of investigative information on an individual outside the Department of Justice is made in accordance with the routine uses as described herein or otherwise in accordance with the conditions of disclosure prescribed by the Act. The need to know of the recipient is determined in both cases by persons designated and authorized by DEA as a prerequisite of the release.

Additional authority is derived from Treaties, Statutes, Executive Orders and Presidential Proclamations which DEA and INS have been charged with administering.

ROUTINE USES OF RECORDS MAINTAINED IN THE SYSTEM, INCLUDING CATEGORIES OF USERS AND THE PURPOSES OF SUCH USES:

This system will be used to produce association and link analysis reports and such special reports as required by intelligence analysts of DEA and INS. Information from this system will be provided to the following categories of users for law enforcement and intelligence purposes provided a legitimate and lawful "need to know" is demonstrated: (a) Other Federal law enforcement agencies, (b) state and local law enforcement agencies, (c) foreign law enforcement agencies with whom DEA and INS maintain liaison, (d) U.S. intelligence and military intelligence agencies involved in border criminal law enforcement, (e) clerks and judges of courts exercising appropriate jurisdiction over subject matter maintained within this system, and (f) Department of State; (g) various Federal, State, and local law enforcement committees and working groups including Congress and senior Administration officials; (h) The Department of Defense and military departments; (i) The United Nations; (j) The International Police Organization (Interpol); (k) to individuals and organizations in the course of investigations to elicit information; (1) to the Office of Management and Budget, upon request, in order to justify the allocation of resources; (m) to respondents and their attorneys for purposes of discovery, formal and informal, in the course of an adjudicatory, rulemaking, or other

Release of information to the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) and to the General Services Administration (GSA): A record from a system of records may be disclosed as a routine use to the NARA and GSA records management inspections conducted under the authority of 44 U.S.C. 2904 and 2906.

POLICIES AND PRACTICES FOR STORING, RETRIEVING, ACCESSING, RETAINING, AND DISPOSING OF RECORDS IN THE SYSTEM:

STORAGE:

Manual subsets of the Pathfinder Information System are maintained on standard index cards and manual folders. Standard security formats are employed. The records are stored on computer at the DOJ computer center, Washington, D.C.

RETRIEVABILITY:

Access to individual records can be accomplished by reference to either the manual indices or the automated information system. Access is achieved by reference to personal identifiers, other data elements or any combination thereof.

SAFEGUARDS:

The Pathfinder System of Records is protected by both physical security methods and dissemination and access controls. Fundamental in all cases is that access to intelligence information is limited to those persons or agencies with a demonstrated and lawful need to know for the information in order to perform assigned functions.

Physical security when intelligence files are attended is provided by responsible DEA and INS employees. Physical security when files are unattended is provided by the secure locking of material in approved containers or facilities. The selection of containers or facilities is made in consideration of the sensitivity or National Security Classification as appropriate, of the files, and the extent of security guard and/or surveillance afforded by electronic means.

Protection of the automated information system is provided by physical, procedural, and electronic means. The master file resides in the DEA Office of Intelligence Secured Computer System and is physically attended or safe-guarded on a full time basis. Access or observation to active telecommunications terminals is limited to those with a demonstrated need to know for retrieval information. Surreptitious access to an unattended terminal is precluded by a complex authentication procedure. The procedure is provided only to authorized DEA and INS employees. Transmission from DEA Headquarters to El Paso, Texas is accomplished via a dedicated secured line.

An automated log of queries is maintained for each terminal. Improper procedure results in no access and under certain conditions completely locks out the terminal pending restoration by the master controller at DEA Headquarters after appropriate verification. Unattended terminals are otherwise located in locked facilities after normal working hours.

The dissemination of intelligence information to an individual outside the Department of Justice is made in accordance with the routine uses as described herein and otherwise in accordance with conditions of disclosure prescribed in the Privacy Act. The need to know is determined in both cases by DEA and INS as a prerequisite to the release of information.

RETENTION AND DISPOSAL:

Records maintained within this system are retained for fifty-five (55) years.

Deputy Assistant Administrator, Office of Intelligence, Drug Enforcement Administration, 1405 Eye Street, NW, Washington, D.C. 20537 and Associate Commissioner, Enforcement, Immigration and Naturalization Service, 425 Eye Street, NW, Washington, D.C. 20536.

ROUTINE USES OF RECORDS MAINTAINED IN THE SYSTEM, INCLUDING CATEGORIES OF USERS AND THE PURPOSES OF SUCH USES:

Data in NCIC files is exchanged with and for the official use of authorized officials of the Federal Government, the States, cities, penal and other institutions, and certain foreign governments. The data is exchanged through NCIC lines to Federal criminal justice agencies, criminal justice agencies in the 50 States, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, U.S. Possessions and U.S. Territories. Additionally, data contained in the various "want files," i.e., the stolen vehicle file, stolen license plate file, stolen missing gun file, stolen article file, wanted person file, securities file and boat file may be accessed by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. Criminal history data is disseminated to non-criminal justice agencies for use in connection with licensing for local/state employment or other uses, but only here such dissemination is authorized by Federal or state statutes and approved by the Attorney General of the United States.

Data in NCIC files, other than the Computerized Criminal History File, is disseminated to (1) a nongovernmental agency or subunit thereof which allocates a substantial part of its annual budget to the administration of criminal justice, whose regularly employed peace officers have full police powers pursuant to state law and have complied with the minimum employment standards of governmentally employed police officers as specified by state statute; (2) a noncriminal justice governmental department of motor vehicle or driver's license registry established by a statute, which provides vehicles registration and driver record information to criminal justice agencies; (3) a governmental regional dispatch center, established by a state statute, resolution, ordinance or Executive order, which provides communications services to criminal justice agencies; and (4) the national Automobile Theft Bureau, a nongovernmental nonprofit agency which acts as a national clearinghouse for information on stolen vehicles and offers free assistance to law enforcement agencies concerning automobile thefts, identification and recovery of stolen vehicles.

Disclosures of information from this system, as described above, are for the purpose of providing information to authorized agencies to facilitate the apprehension of fugitives, the location of missing persons, the location and/or return of stolen property, or similar criminal justice objectives.

Information on missing children, missing adults who were reported missing while children, and unidentified living and deceased persons may be disclosed to the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children (NCMEC). The NCMEC is a nongovernmental, nonprofit, federally funded corporation, serving as a national resource and technical assistance clearinghouse focusing on missing and exploited children. Information is disclosed to NCMEC to assist it in its efforts to provide technical assistance and education to parents and local governments regarding the problems of missing and exploited children, and to operate a nationwide missing children hotline to permit members of the public to telephone the Center from anywhere in the United States with information about a missing child.

Release of information to the news media: Information permitted to be released to the news media and the public pursuant to 28 CFR 50.2, may be made available from systems of records maintained by the Department of Justice unless it is determined that release of the specific information in the context of a particular case would constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy.

Release of information to Members of Congress: Information contained in systems of records maintained by the Department of Justice, not otherwise requested to be released pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552, may be made available to a Member of Congress or staff acting upon the Member's behalf whom the Member or staff requests the information on behalf of and at the request of the individual who is the subject of the record.

Release of Information to the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) and to the General Services Administration (GSA): A record from a system of records may be disclosed as a routine use to NARA and GSA in records management inspections conducted under the authority of 44 U.S.C 2904 and 2906.

The NCIC identifies each specific agency entering or receiving information and maintains a record of those transactions. This transaction record must be monitored and reviewed on a regular basis to detect any possible misuse of criminal history data. f. Each State Control terminal shall build its data system around a central computer, through which each inquiry must pass for screening and verification. The configuration and operation of the center shall provide for the integrity of the data base.

2. Communications: a. Lines/channels being used to transmit criminal history information must be dedicated solely to criminal justice, i.e., there must be no terminals belonging to agencies outside the criminal justice system sharing these

SYSTEM MANAGER(S) AND ADDRESS:

Director, Federal Bureau of Investigation, J. Edgar Hoover F.B.I. Building, 9th and Pennsylvania Avenue NW., Washington, D.C. 20535.

NOTIFICATION PROCEDURES:

Same as the above.

RECORD ACCESS PROCEDURE:

It is noted the Attorney General is exempting this system from the access and contest procedures of the Privacy Act. However, the following alternative procedures are available to requester. The procedures by which an individual may obtain a copy of his computerized Criminal History are as follows:

If an individual has a criminal record supported by fingerprints and that record has been entered in the NCIC CCH File, it is available to that individual for review, upon presentation of appropriate identification and in accordance with applicable State and Federal administrative and statutory regulations.

Appropriate identification includes being fingerprinted for the purpose of insuring that he is the individual that he purports to be. The record on file will then be verified as his through comparison of fingerprints.

Procedure 1. All requests for review must be made by the subject of his record through a law enforcement agency which has access to the NCIC CCH File. That agency within statutory or regulatory limits can require additional identification to assist in securing a positive identification.

2. If the cooperative law enforcement agency can make an identification with fingerprints previously taken which are on file locally and if the FBI identification number of the individual's record is available to that agency, it can make an on-line inquiry of NCIC to obtain his record on-line or, if it does not have suitable equipment to obtain an on-line response, obtain the record from Washington, D.C. by mail. The individual will then be afforded the opportunity to see that record.

3. Should the cooperating law enforcement agency not have the individual's fingerprints on file locally, it is necessary for that agency to relate his prints to an existing record by having his identification prints compared with those already on file in the FBI or possibly, in the State's central identification agency.

CONTESTING RECORD PROCEDURES:

The subject of the requested record shall request the appropriate arresting agency, court, or correctional agency to initiate action necessary to correct any stated inaccuracy in his record or provide the information needed to make the record complete.

RECORD SOURCE CATEGORIES:

Information contained in the NCIC system is obtained from local, State, Federal and international criminal justice agencies.

SYSTEMS EXEMPTED FROM CERTAIN PROVISIONS OF THE ACT:

The Attorney General has exempted this system from subsection (c)(3) and (4), (d), (e) (1), (2) and (3), (e)(4) (G), (H), (e)(8) (f) and (g) of the Privacy Act pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552a (j)(2) and (k)(3). Records Maintained in FBI Field Divisions—FBI field divisions maintain for limited periods of time investigative, administrative and correspondence records, including files, index cards and related material, some of which are duplicated copies of reports and similar documents forwarded to FBI Headquarters. Most investigative activities conducted by FBI field divisions are reported to FBI Headquarters at one or more stages of the investigation. There are, however, investigative activities wherein no reporting was made to FBI Headquarters, e.g., pending cases not as yet reported and cases which were closed in the field division for any of a number of reasons without reporting to FBI Headquarters.

Duplicate records and records which extract information reported in the main files are also kept in the various divisions of the FBI to assist them in their day-to-day operation. These records are lists of individuals which contain certain biographic data, including physical description and photograph. They may also contain information concerning activities of the individual as reported to FBIHQ by the various field offices. The establishment of these lists is necessitated by the needs of the Division to have immediate access of pertinent information duplicative of data found in the central records without the delay caused by a time-consuming manual search of central indices. The manner of segregating these individuals varies depending on the particular needs of the FBI Division. The information pertaining to individuals who are a part of the list is derivative of information contained in the Central Records System. These duplicative records fall into the following categories:

(1) Listings of individuals used to assist in the location and apprehension of individuals for whom legal process is outstanding (fugitives):

(2) Listings of individuals used in the identification of particular offenders in cases where the FBI has jurisdiction. These listings include various photograph albums and background data concerning persons who have been formerly charged with a particular crime and who may be suspect in similar criminal activities; and photographs of individuals who are unknown but suspected of involvement in a particular criminal activity, for example, bank surveillance photographs:

(3) Listings of individuals as part of an overall criminal intelligence effort by the FBI. This would include photograph albums, lists of individuals known to be involved in criminal activity, including theft from interstate shipment, interstate transportation of stolen property, and individuals in the upper echelon of organized crime.

(4) Listings of individuals in connection with the FBI's mandate to carry out Presidential directives on January 8, 1943, July 24, 1950, December 15, 1953, and February 18, 1976, which designated the FBI to carry out investigative work in matters relating to espionage, sabotage, and foreign counterintelligence. These listings may include photograph albums and other listings containing biographic data regarding individuals. This would include lists of identified and suspected foreign intelligence agents and informants:

(5) Special indices duplicative of the central indices used to access the Central Records System have been created from time to time in conjunction with the administration and investigation of major cases. This duplication and segregation facilitates access to documents prepared in connection with major cases.

In recent years, as the emphasis on the investigation of white collar crime, organized crime, and hostile foreign intelligence operations has increased, the FBI has been confronted with increasingly complicated cases, which require more intricate information processing capabilities. Since these complicated investigations frequently involve massive volumes of evidence and other investigative information, the FBI uses its computers, when necessary to collate, analyze, and retrieve investigative information in the most accurate and expeditious manner possible. It should be noted that all investigative information, which is placed in computerized form, is actually extracted from the main files and that the duplicative computerized information is only maintained as necessary to support the FBI's investigative activities. Information from these internal computerized subsystems of the "Central Records System" is not accessed by any other agency. All disclosures of computerized information are made in printed form in accordance with the routine uses which are set forth below.

Records also are maintained on a temporary basis relevant to the FBI's domestic police cooperation program, where assistance in obtaining information is provided to state and local police agencies.

Also, personnel type information dealing with such matters as attendance and production and accuracy requirements is maintained by some divisions.

(The following chart identifies various listings or indexes maintained by the FBI which have been or are being used by various divisions of the FBI in their day-to-day operations. The chart identifies the list by name, description and use, and where maintained, i.e. FBI Headquarters and/or Field Office. The number in parentheses in the field office column indicates the number of field offices which maintain these indices. The chart indicates, under "status of index," those indexes which are in current use (designated by the word "active") and those which are no longer being used, although maintained (designated by the word "inactive"). There are 27 separate indices which are classified in accordance with existing regulations and are not included in this chart. The following indices are no longer being used by the FBI and are being maintained at FBIHQ pending receipt of authority to destroy: Black Panther Party Photo Index; Black United Front Index; Security Index; and Wounded Knee Album.

AUTHORITY FOR MAINTENANCE OF THE SYSTEM:

Federal Records Act of 1950 Title 44, United States Code, Chapter 31, Section 3101; and Title 36, Code of Federal Regulations, Chapter XII, require Federal agencies to insure that adequate and proper records are made and preserved to document the organization, functions, policies, decisions, procedures and transactions and to protect the legal and financial rights of the Federal Government. Title 28, United States Code, Section 534, delegates authority to the Attorney General to acquire, collect, classify, and preserve identification, criminal identification, crime and other records.

ROUTINE USES OF RECORDS MAINTAINED IN THE SYSTEM, INCLUDING CATEGORIES OF USERS AND THE PURPOSES OF SUCH USES:

Records, both investigative and administrative, are maintained in this system in order to permit the FBI to function efficiently as an authorized, responsive component of the Department of Justice. Therefore, information in this system is disclosed to officials and employees of the Department of Justice, and/or all components thereof, who have need of the information in the performance of their official duties.

Personal information from this system may be disclosed as a routine use to any Federal agency where the purpose in making the disclosure is compatible with the law enforcement purpose for which it was collected, e.g., to assist the recipient agency in conducting a lawful criminal or intelligence investigation, to assist the recipient agency in making a determination concerning an individual's suitability for employment and/or trustworthiness for employment and/or trustworthiness for access clearance purposes, or to assist the recipient agency in the performance of any authorized function where access to records in this system is declared by the recipient agency to be relevant to that function.

In addition, personal information may be disclosed from this system to members of the Judicial Branch of the Federal Government in response to a specific request, or at the initiation of the FBI, where disclosure appears relevant to the authorized function of the recipient judicial office or court system. An example would be where an individual is being considered for employment by a Federal judge.

Information in this system may be disclosed as a routine use to any state or local government agency directly engaged in the criminal justice process, e.g., police, prosecution, penal, probation and parole, and the judiciary, where access is directly related to a law enforcement function of the recipient agency, e.g., in connection with a lawful criminal or intelligence investigation, or making a determination concerning an individual's suitability for employment as a state or local law enforcement employee or concerning a victim's compensation under a state statute. Disclosure to a state or local government agency, (a) not directly engaged in the criminal justice process or, (b) for a licensing or regulatory function, is considered on an individual basis only under exceptional circumstances, as determined by the FBI.

Information in this system pertaining to the use, abuse or traffic of controlled substances may be disclosed as a routine use to federal, state or local law enforcement agencies and to licensing or regulatory agencies empowered to engage in the institution and prosecution of cases before courts and licensing boards in matters relating to controlled substances, including courts and licensing boards responsible for the licensing or certification of individuals in the fields of pharmacy and medicine.

Information in this system may be disclosed as a routine use in a proceeding before a court or adjudicative body, e.g., the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission and the Merit Systems Protection Board, before which the FBI is authorized to appear, when (a) the FBI or any employee thereof in his or her official capacity, or (b) any employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice has agreed to represent the employee, or (c) the United States, where the FBI determines it is likely to be affected by the litigation, is a party to litigation or has an interest in litigation and such records are determined by the FBI to be relevant to the litigation.

Information in this system may be disclosed as a routine use to an organization or individual in both the public or private sector if deemed necessary to elicit information or cooperation from the recipient for use by the FBI in the performance of an authorized activity. An example would be where the activities of an individual are disclosed to a member of the public in order to elicit his/her assistance in our apprehension or detection efforts.

Information in this system may be disclosed as a routine use to an organization or individual in both the public or private sector where there is reason to believe the recipient is or could become the target of a particular criminal activity or conspiracy, to the extent the information is relevant to the protection of life or property.

Information in this system may be disclosed to legitimate agency of a foreign government where the FBI determines that the information is relevant to that agency's responsibilities, and dissemination serves the best interests of the U.S. Government, and where the purpose in making the disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the information was collected.

Relevant information may be disclosed from this system to the news media and general public where there exists a legitimate public interest, e.g., to assist in the location of Federal fugitives, to provide notification of arrests, and where necessary for protection from imminent threat of life or property. This would include releases of information in accordance with 28 CFR 50.2.

A record relating to an actual or potential civil or criminal violation of the copyright statute, Title 17, United States Code, or the trademark statutes, Titles 15 and 17, U.S. Code, may be disseminated to a person injured by such violation to assist him/her in the institution or maintenance of a suit brought under such titles.

The FBI has received inquiries from private citizens and Congressional offices on behalf of constituents seeking assistance in locating individuals such as missing children and heirs to estates. Where the need is acute, and where it appears FBI files may be the only lead in locating the individual, consideration will be given to furnishing relevant information to the requester. Information will be provided only in those instances where there are reasonable grounds to conclude from available information the individual being sought would want the information to be furnished, e.g., an heir to a large estate. Information with regard to missing children will not be provided where they have reached their majority.

Release of Information to Members of Congress:

Information contained in this system, the release of which is required by the Freedom of Information-Privacy Acts, may be made available to a Member of Congress or staff acting upon the Member's behalf when the Member or staff requests the information in behalf of and at the request of the individual who is the subject of the record.

Release of Information to the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) and the General Services Administration (GSA):

A record from a system of records may be disclosed as a routine use to NARA and GSA in records management inspections conducted under the authority of 44 U.S.C. 2904 and 2906, to the extent that legislation governing the records permits.

POLICIES AND PRACTICES FOR STORING, RETRIEVING, ACCESSING, RETAINING, AND DISPOSING OF RECORDS IN THE SYSTEM:

STORAGE:

The active main files are maintained in hard copy form and some inactive records are maintained on microfilm. Investigative information which is maintained in computerized form may be stored in memory, on disk storage, on computer tape, or on a computer printed listing.

RETRIEVABILITY:

The FBI General Index must be searched to determine what information, if any, the FBI may have in its files. Index records, or pointers to specific FBI files, are created on all manner of subject matters, but the predominant type record is the name index record. It should be noted the FBI does not index all individuals who furnish information or all names developed during the course of an investigation. Only that information considered pertinent, relevant, or essential for future retrieval, is indexed. In certain major cases, individuals interviewed may be indexed to facilitate the administration of the investigation. The FBI has automated that portion of its index contomated that portion of its index containing the most recent information—15 years for criminal related matters and 30 years for intelligence and other type matters. Automation will not change the "Central Records System"; it will only facilitate more economic and expeditious access to the main files. Searches against the automated records are accomplished on a "batch off-line" basis for certain submitting agencies where the name search requests conform to FBI specified formats and also in an "on-line" mode with the use of video display terminals for other requests. The FBI will not permit any organization, public or private, outside the FBI to have direct access to the FBI indices system. All searches against the indices data base will be performed on site within FBI space by FBI personnel with the assistance of the automated procedures, where feasible. Automation of the various FBI field office indices has been under way for approximately five years; completion is anticipated during FY 1988. This automation initiative has been on a "day-one" basis. This indices system points to specific files within a given field office. Additionally, certain complicated investigative matters may be supported by specialized computer systems or by individual microcomputers. Indices created in these environments are maintained as part of the particular computer system and accessible only through the system or through printed listings of the indices.

The FBI will transfer historical records to the National Archives consistent with 44 U.S.C. 2103. No record of individuals or subject matter will be retained for transferred files; however, a record of the file numbers will be retained to provide full accountability of FBI files and thus preserve the integrity of the filing system.

SAFEGUARDS:

Records are maintained in a restricted area and are accessed only by agency personnel. All FBI employees receive a complete background investigation prior to being hired. All employees are cautioned about divulging confidential information or any information contained in FBI files. Failure to abide by this provision violates Department of Justice regulations and may violate certain statutes providing maximum severe penalties of a ten thousand-dollar fine or 10 years imprisonment or both. Employees who resign or retire are also cautioned about divulging information acquired in the jobs. Registered mail is used to transmit routine hard copy records between field offices. Highly classified records are hand carried by Special Agents or personnel of the Armed Forces Courier Service. Highly classified or sensitive privacy information, which is electronically transmitted between field offices, is transmitted in encrypted form to prevent interception and interpretation. Information transmitted in teletype form is placed in the main files of both the receiving and transmitting field offices. Field offices involved in certain complicated investigative matters may be provided with on-line access to the duplicative computerized information which is maintained for them on disk storage in the FBI Computer Center in Washington, D.C., and this computerized data is also transmitted in encrypted form.

RETENTION AND DISPOSAL:

As the result of an extensive review of FBI records conducted by NARA, records evaluated as historical and permanent will be transferred to the National Archives after established retention periods and administrative needs of the FBI have elapsed. As deemed necessary, certain records may be subject to restricted examination and usage, as provided by 44 U.S.C. Section 2104.

FBI record disposition programs relevant to this System are conducted in accordance with the FBI Records Retention Plan and Disposition Schedule which was approved by the Archivist of the United States and the U.S. District Court, District of Columbia. Investigative, applicant and administrative records which meet the destruction criteria will be destroyed after 20 or 30 years at FBI Headquarters and after 1, 5, 10 or 20 years in FBI Field Offices. Historical records will be transferred to the National Archives after 30 or 50 years, contingent upon investigative and administrative needs. The administrative indices and listings described within this System were appraised separately and disposition authority established. (Job No. NC1-65-82-4 and amendments)

SYSTEM MANAGER(S) AND ADDRESS:

Director, Federal Bureau of Investigation; Washington, D.C. 20535.

NOTIFICATION PROCEDURE:

Same as above.

RECORD ACCESS PROCEDURES:

A request for access to a record from the system shall be made in writing with the envelope and the letter clearly marked "Privacy Access Request". Include in the request your full name, complete address, date of birth, place of birth, notarized signature, and other identifying data you may wish to furnish to assist in making a proper search of our records. Also include the general subject matter of the document or its file number. The requester will also provide a return address for transmitting the information. Requests for access to information maintained at FBI Headquarters must be addressed to the Director, Federal Bureau of Investigation, Washington, D.C. 20535. Requests for information maintained at FBI field divisions or Legal Attaches must be made separately and addressed to the specific field division or Legal Attache listed in the appendix to this system notice.

RECORD SOURCE CATEGORIES:

The FBI, by the very nature and requirement to investigate violations of law within its investigative jurisdiction and its responsibility for the internal security of the United States, collects information from a wide variety of sources. Basically, it is the result of investigative efforts and information furnished by other Government agencies, law enforcement agencies, and the general public, informants, witnesses, and public source material.

SYSTEMS EXEMPTED FROM CERTAIN PROVISIONS OF THE ACT:

The Attorney General has exempted this system from subsections (c)(3), (d), (e) (1), (2) and (3), (e)(4) (G) and (H), (e)(8) (f), (g), of the Privacy Act pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552a (j) and (k). Rules have

CATEGORIES OF INDIVIDUALS COVERED BY THE SYSTEM:

Current and former inmates under the custody of the Attorney General who are to be scheduled for hearings under Commission procedures. Former inmates includes those presently under supervision as parolees or mandatory releasees and those against whom a revocation warrant has been issued.

CATEGORIES OF RECORDS IN THE SYSTEM:

(a) Docket sheets—Each region and the National Appeals Board in Washington maintains a cumulative series of docket sheets in time sequence showing Commission action. Principal data elements are name and register number of inmate, offense, sentence, and previous and present Action. The appeal docket includes the data and type of appeal in addition to much of the above data. These provide a continual running record of the basic data elements per inmate and former inmate. Docket sheets are used to input this information into a computer program which produces printouts of identical information and certain statistical reports. (b) Hearing schedules—Shortly after inmates are incarcerated, their names appear on an eligibility list prepared by the Bureau of Prisons, for initial parole hearings. Following the hearing, the Commission may order that the inmate be denied parole, granted a presumptive parole date, granted an effective (within six months) parole date or continued to a 15 year reconsideration hearing. Other types of hearings and reviews are provided for in the Code of Federal Regulations as part of parole, rescission or revocation procedures. All of the different types of hearings and reviews are placed on schedules for examiners to process when they visit the various institutions or hold "local" hearings. The data elements are similar to those on the docket but indicate the number and type of hearing or review to be held instead of the result.

AUTHORITY FOR MAINTENANCE OF THE SYSTEM:

18 U.S.C. 4201-4218, 5005-5041, 28 CFR Part O, Subpart V, and 28 CFR Part 2.

PURPOSE(S):

The system constitutes the agency's records upon which it bases all its decisions with respect to every stage of parole consideration from initial hearing to termination of parole supervision. For example, it is used by USPC hearing examiners to perform a prehearing review and to conduct the inmate's initial parole hearing. After that hearing, it is maintained in the appropriate regional office where it provides the principal information source for all decisions leading to parole or denial of parole, and all decisions following release to supervision. It is used at USPC headquarters when appeals come before the National Appeals Board or when needed by legal counsel and others on the headquarters staff. It is used by employees at all levels, including USPC members, to provide information for decisionmaking in every area of USPC responsibility. Files of released inmates are used to make statistical studies of subjects related to parole and revocation. Finally, the file is maintained to provide the rationale of USPC actions when an agency determination is questioned by members of the public or challenged in judicial proceedings.

ROUTINE USES OF RECORDS MAINTAINED IN THE SYSTEM, INCLUDING CATEGORIES OF USERS AND PURPOSES OF SUCH USES:

(a) The system may be used as a source for disclosure of information which is solely a matter of public record and which is traditionally released by the agency to further public understanding of its criminal justice system, including but not limited to offense, sentence data, and prospective release date.

(b) The system may be used to provide an informational source for responding to inquiries from Federal inmates, their families, representatives, and Congressional offices.

(c) Record from the system of records may be routinely disclosed to U.S. Probation Officers for the performance of their official duties.

(d) In the event that the USPC is informed of a violation or suspected violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records may be disclosed to the appropriate agency, whether Federal, State, local or foreign, charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order, issued pursuant thereto.

(e) Records from this system may be disclosed to a Federal, State or local agency or court if that agency or court requests information for an official purpose to which the documents appear to be relevant.

(f) A record from this system may be disclosed to a person or to persons who may be exposed to harm through contact with a particular parolee or mandatory releasee (or to persons in a position to prevent or minimize such harm), if it is deemed to be necessary to give notice that such danger exists.

(g) Lists of names of parolees and mandatory releasees entering a jurisdiction and related information may be disclosed to law enforcement agencies upon request as may be required for the protection of the public for the enforcement of parole conditions.

(h) Disclosure of USPC notices of action may be made (1) by the Office of Public Affairs of the U.S. Department of Justice to the public generally, and (2) by USPC to specific crime victims and witnesses (as those terms are used in the Victim and Witness Protection Act of 1982), from the files of prisoners whose applications for parole have been decided by USPC. The purpose of such disclosure is to further understanding of the criminal justice system by the public and by crime victims and witnesses.

(i) Incidental disclosure of file material may be made during the course of a parole or parole revocation hearing to victims and witnesses of crime and other legitimately interested persons authorized by USPC to attend such hearing, so as to further their understanding of the case to permit their intelligent comment with respect to USPC's decision.

(j) Records which are arguably relevant to litigation in which the Parole Commission has an interest, or to the litigation defense of its present or former employees (if the Department of Justice has agreed to provide representation) may be disclosed from a current or former inmates' or parolee's file by disseminating in proceedings before a court or tribunal at any time deemed appropriate by the Government's attorney.

(k) A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a current or former criminal justice official who is a defendant in a lawsuit brought by, or which involves, an individual who is the subject of a file maintained in this system of records, provided that such litigation arises from allegations of misconduct on the part of the defendant while a criminal justice official, and that the records are arguably relevant to the matter in litigation. Such records may be disclosed to the defendant to facilitate the preparation of his or her defense.

(l) Records from this system may be disclosed to any person performing any service for the USPC pursuant to authority exercised by the Chairman under 18 U.S.C. 4204(b) (1) through (8), and for the purposes contemplated by that statute.

Alteration of the March AFB, CA, Airport Radar Service Area; Final Rule

DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION*Federal Aviation Administration*14 CFR Part 71*[Airspace Docket No. 87-AWA-1]*Alteration of the March AFB, CA, Airport Radar Service Area*AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This action modifies the Airport Radar Service Area (ARSA) at March Air Force Base (AFB), CA. This ARSA modification adjusts the lateral limits to exclude that airspace in the immediate vicinity of Lake Mathews from regulatory status. Additionally, this rule creates a subarea to the southeast which facilitates containment of jet arrivals within ARSA airspace.

EFFECTIVE DATE: 0901 UTC, February 11, 1988.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mr. Joe Gill, Airspace Branch (ATO-240), Airspace-Rules and Aeronautical Information Division, Air Traffic Operations Service, Federal Aviation Administration, 800 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, DC 20591; telephone: (202) 267-9252.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:*History

On August 2, 1985, the FAA proposed to designate Airport Radar Service Areas (ARSA) at 11 airports, including the March AFB, CA (50 FR 31472). The FAA, after carefully considering all comments received and making alterations where appropriate, adopted the proposal and published the final rule in the December 9, 1985, issue of the Federal Register (50 FR 50254) with an effective date of January 16, 1986.

On July 24, 1987, the FAA proposed to amend Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Part 71) to modify the March AFB, CA, ARSA (52 FR 27972). This rule modifies the ARSA at the March AFB airport. Interested parties were invited to participate in this rulemaking proceeding by submitting written comments on the proposal to the FAA. Additionally, the FAA held an informal airspace meeting for this proposal on September 30, 1987. Section 71.501 of Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations was republished in FAA Handbook 7400.6C dated January 2, 1987.

Three comments were received, two by mail and one at the airspace meeting, objecting to the proposal. It was agreed, after conversations with the affected parties, to resolve two of the objections and adopt the Orange County Soaring Association recommendation of altering the lateral boundaries of the new subarea to the southeast which resolved two of the objections.

In addition, the Soaring Society of America (SSA) was very concerned about the Letter of Agreement concerning the Perris Window. The SSA wanted to ensure that the Letter of Agreement was not abolished and in addition that the letter should stipulate automatic activation during specific days and times. The Orange County Soaring Society, RAPCON Chief and military renegotiated the letter to the satisfaction of the local users. The existing functioning and call up is operating to the satisfaction of the signatories. Therefore, we see no need for automatic activation. We have been assured that the subject area has been available when it was requested.

The other objection raised at the airspace meeting was that by lowering the ARSA, jets would be able to fly lower, and Ontario TRACON would not be able to handle the increased activity from the lowered floor. The FAA does not agree. The ARSA floor does not establish the altitude to which jets may descend. That is established by Instrument Approach Procedures and Minimum Vectoring Altitudes. The FAA also finds that the lowered floor will not increase the workload at Ontario TRACON. The reduction in size to the northwest will more than offset any increase due to the new floor to the southeast.

Regulatory Evaluation

This amendment to the March AFB ARSA is intended to improve both the safety and utility of the affected airspace. The action lowering the floor of the ARSA from approximately 2,500 feet AGL to approximately 1,500 feet AGL, along a corridor of airspace between five and ten miles southeast of the airport is intended to enclose and protect the primary arrival path of March AFB. The benefits of this improvement in safety can be achieved without imposing any appreciable costs on other users of the adjacent airspace, primarily the operations out of Perris Valley Airport, located just outside the western boundary of the corridor. Following implementation of the original ARSA, a local agreement was established to accommodate the soaring, hang gliding, and parachuting operations based at Perris Valley. The provisions of this agreement will need to be modified slightly as a result of this amendment, but it will continue to accommodate the needs of these operators. Further, the 1,500 foot AGL floor of the ARSA would provide sufficient access to the Perris Valley traffic pattern to ensure that the operations of powered aircraft to and from this airport would not be adversely impacted.

The action eliminating from the ARSA a small amount of airspace located between five and ten miles from March AFB in the vicinity of Lake Mathews is not expected to result in any costs associated with a reduction in the affected airspace because the affected airspace is clear of the traffic patterns of March AFB and other local airports. Further, various users will benefit from the restoration of this airspace.

International Trade Impact Analysis

This amendment will only affect terminal airspace operating procedures at one location within the United States. As such, it will have no effect on the sale of foreign aviation products or services in the United States, nor will it affect the sale of United States aviation products or services in foreign countries.

Regulatory Flexibility Determination

The Regulatory Flexibility Act of 1980 (RFA) was enacted by Congress to ensure that small entities are not unnecessarily and disproportionately burdened by government regulations. Small entities are independently owned and operated small businesses and small not-for-profit organizations. The RFA requires agencies to review rules that may have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities.

The small entities that potentially could be affected by these modifications to the ARSA are the soaring, hang gliding, parachuting, and flight training operations that use the airspace in the vicinity of March AFB. Throughout the ARSA program the FAA has attempted to eliminate potentially adverse impacts on flight training, as well as soaring, ballooning, parachuting, ultralight, and banner towing activities, by developing special procedures to accommodate these activities through local agreements between ATC facilities and the affected organizations. Such an agreement was made with the small entities at Perris Valley Airport following initial establishment of the March AFB ARSA, and this agreement will be continued, with some minor modifications, following adoption of this amendment. Further, these users will have an additional amount of airspace over Lake Mathews made available to them by this amendment.

For these reasons, the FAA certifies that this amendment will not result in a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities, and a regulatory flexibility analysis is not required under the terms of the RFA.

The Rule

This action modifies the Airport Radar Service Area (ARSA) at March AFB, CA. The lateral limits of the ARSA will be slightly reduced to exclude airspace in the vicinity of Lake Mathews. Additionally, this creates a subarea to the southeast with a lower floor to facilitate jet arrival containment within ARSA airspace.

For the reasons discussed above, the FAA has determined that this regulation (1) is not a "major rule" under Executive Order 12291; and (2) is not a "significant rule" under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034; February 26, 1979).

[Airspace Docket No. 87-AWA-21]

Alteration of the Burbank-Glendale-Pasadena Airport, CA, Airport Radar Service Area*AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This action modifies the Airport Radar Service Area (ARSA) at the Burbank-Glendale-Pasadena Airport, CA. This ARSA modification will adjust the lateral limits to exclude several areas of the present ARSA which do not receive adequate radar and/or communications coverage. Additionally, this rule will exclude additional surface area in the vicinity of Whiteman Airport to accommodate airport traffic patterns.

EFFECTIVE DATE: 0901 UTC, February 11, 1988.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mr. Joe Gill, Airspace Branch (ATO-240), Airspace-Rules and Aeronautical Information Division, Air Traffic Operations Service, Federal Aviation Administration, 800 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, DC 20591; telephone: (202) 267-9252.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:*History

On August 2, 1985, the FAA proposed to designate Airport Radar Service Areas (ARSA) at 11 airports, including the Burbank-Glendale-Pasadena Airport, CA, (50 FR 31472). The FAA, after carefully considering all comments received and making alterations where appropriate, adopted the proposal and published the final rule in the December 9, 1985, issue of the Federal Register (50 FR 50254) with an effective date of January 16, 1986.

On August 7, 1987, the FAA proposed to amend Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Part 71) to modify the Burbank-Glendale-Pasadena Airport, CA, ARSA (52 FR 29470). Interested parties were invited to participate in this rulemaking proceeding by submitting written comments on the proposal to the FAA.

Four comments were received, all in favor of the changes proposed for the Burbank ARSA. The Soaring Society of America objected to the ARSA program in general but supported the proposed alterations.

Regulatory Evaluation

The modifications to the Burbank-Glendale-Pasadena Airport ARSA are intended to improve the utility of the affected airspace. The amendment eliminates a small amount of airspace from the ARSA and is not expected to result in any costs associated with a reduction in the controlled airspace. The affected airspace currently is not within sufficient radar and/or communications coverage necessary to provide ARSA services because of terrain features. Adjusting the ARSA boundaries will not alter this situation. Reconfiguring the ARSA to more accurately reflect the terrain characteristics will improve the efficiency of its operations, and benefit the various users, especially the users of Whiteman Airport, due to the restoration of this airspace.

The FAA has determined that the economic impact of this amendment is so minimal as not to require further regulatory evaluation. A copy of the regulatory evaluation for the original Burbank-Glendale-Pasadena ARSA is available for review in FAA Airspace Docket No. 85-AWA-2.

International Trade Impact Analysis

This amendment will only affect terminal airspace operating procedures at one location within the United States. As such, it will have no effect on the sale of foreign aviation products or services in the United States, nor will it affect the sale of United States aviation products or services in foreign countries.

Regulatory Flexibility Determination

The Regulatory Flexibility Act of 1980 (RFA) was enacted by Congress to ensure that small entities are not unnecessarily and disproportionately burdened by government regulations. Small entities are independently owned and operated small businesses and small not-for-profit organizations. The RFA requires agencies to review rules that may have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities.

Throughout the ARSA program the FAA has attempted to eliminate potentially adverse impacts on satellite airports within five-nautical miles of ARSA centers and the small businesses based at these airports, as well as flight training, soaring, ballooning, parachuting, ultralight, and banner towing activities, by developing special procedures to accommodate these activities through local agreements between ATC facilities and the affected organizations, or in some cases, providing exclusions for these airports. This modification of the Burbank-

Glendale-Pasadena Airport ARSA will slightly expand the exclusion in the vicinity of Whiteman Airport and ease local operations for this airport.

For these reasons, the FAA certifies that this amendment will not result in a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities, and a regulatory flexibility analysis is not required under the terms of the RFA.

The Rule

This action modifies the Airport Radar Service Area (ARSA) at the Burbank-Glendale-Pasadena Airport, CA. The lateral limits of the ARSA will be slightly reduced to exclude airspace in several areas of the present ARSA which do not receive adequate radar and/or communications coverage commensurate with the ARSA program and associated services, and to accommodate the airport traffic patterns at Whiteman Airport.

For the reasons discussed above, the FAA has determined that this regulation (1) is not a "major rule" under Executive Order 12291; and (2) is not a "significant rule" under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034; February 26, 1979).

[Docket No. 76N-0482]

Topical Antimicrobial Drug Products for Over-the-counter Human Use; Final Monograph for OTC First Aid Antibiotic Drug Products*AGENCY: Food and Drug Administration.ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) is issuing a final rule in the form of a final monograph establishing conditions under which over-the-counter (OTC) topical first aid antibiotic drug products are generally recognized as safe and effective and not misbranded. FDA is issuing this final rule after considering public comments on the agency's proposed regulation, which was issued in the form of a tentative final monograph, and all new data and information on topical first aid antibiotic drug products that have come to the agency's attention. This final monograph is part of the ongoing review of OTC drug products conducted by FDA.

DATE: December 12, 1988.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In the Federal Register of April 1, 1977 (42 FR 17642), FDA published, under § 330.10(a)(6) (21 CFR 330.10(a)(6)), an advance notice of proposed rulemaking to establish a monograph for OTC topical antibiotic drug products (21 CFR Part 342), together with the recommendations of the Advisory Review Panel on OTC Topical Antimicrobial II Drug Products, which was the advisory review panel responsible for evaluating data on the active ingredients in this drug class. Interested persons were invited to submit comments by June 30, 1977. Reply comments in response to comments filed in the initial comment period could be submitted by August 1, 1977.

In accordance with § 330.10(a)(10), the data and information considered by the Panel were put on display in the Dockets Management Branch (HFA-305), Food and Drug Administration, Rm. 4-62, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857, after deletion of a small amount of trade secret information.

The agency's proposed rule, in the form of a tentative final monograph, for OTC first aid antibiotic drug products was published in the Federal Register of July 9, 1982 (47 FR 29986). FDA proposed to add a new Subpart B to Part 333 rather than continue the rulemaking under Part 342 as designated in the advance notice of proposed rulemaking for OTC topical antibiotic drug products. The redesignation of parts is discussed further in the tentative final monograph at 47 FR 29986. Interested persons were invited to file by September 7, 1982, written comments, objections, or requests for oral hearing before the Commissioner of Food and Drugs regarding the proposal. Interested persons were invited to file comments on the agency's economic impact determination by November 8, 1982. New data could have been submitted until July 11, 1983, and comments on the new data until September 9, 1983. Final agency action occurs with the publication of this final monograph, which is a final rule establishing a monograph for OTC first aid antibiotic drug products.

The OTC procedural regulations (21 CFR 330.10) now provide that any testing necessary to resolve the safety or effectiveness issues that formerly resulted in a Category III classification, and submission to FDA of the results of that testing or any other data, must be done during the OTC drug rulemaking process before the establishment of a final monograph. Accordingly, FDA is no longer using the terms "Category I" (generally recognized as safe and effective and not misbranded), "Category II" (not generally recognized as safe and effective or misbranded), and "Category III" (available data are insufficient to classify as safe and effective, and further testing is required) at the final monograph stage, but is using instead the terms "monograph conditions" (old Category I) and "nonmonograph conditions" (old Categories II and III).

As discussed in the proposed regulation for OTC topical first aid antibiotic drug products (47 FR 29986), the agency advises that the conditions under which the drug products that are subject to this monograph will be generally recognized as safe and effective and not misbranded (monograph conditions) will be effective 12 months after the date of publication in the Federal Register. Therefore, on or after December 12, 1988, no OTC drug products that are subject to the monograph and that contain nonmonograph conditions, i.e., conditions that would cause the drug to be not generally recognized as safe and effective or to be misbranded, may be initially introduced or initially delivered for introduction into interstate commerce unless they are the subject of an approved application. Further, any OTC drug product subject to this monograph that is repackaged or relabeled after the effective date of the monograph must be in compliance with the monograph regardless of the date the product was initially introduced or initially delivered for introduction into interstate commerce. Manufacturers are encouraged to comply voluntarily with the monograph at the earliest possible date and, as soon as they comply, a Form 6 (Form FD 356H, formerly Form FD 1675) will no longer be required. (See comment 2 below.)

In response to the proposed rule on OTC topical first aid antibiotic drug products, a bi-state drug information center, a drug manufacturers' association, and three drug manufacturers submitted comments. Copies of the comments and data received are on public display in the Dockets Management Branch. Any additional information that has come to the agency's attention since publication of the proposed rule is also on public display in the Dockets Management Branch.

In proceeding with this final monograph, the agency has considered all objections and the changes in the procedural regulations.

All "OTC Volumes" cited throughout this document refer to the submissions made by interested persons pursuant to the call-for-data notice published in the Federal Register of September 7, 1973 (38 FR 24391) or to additional information that has come to the agency's attention since publication of the notice of proposed rulemaking. The volumes are on public display in the Dockets Management Branch.

I. The Agency's Conclusions on the Comments*A. General Comments on OTC First Aid Antibiotic Drug Products

1. One comment contended that OTC drug monographs are interpretive, as opposed to substantive, regulations. The comment referred to statements on this issue submitted earlier to other OTC drug rulemaking proceedings.

The agency addressed this issue in paragraphs 85 through 91 of the preamble to the procedures for classification of OTC drug products, published in the Federal Register of May 11, 1972 (37 FR 9464); in paragraph 3 of the preamble to the tentative final monograph for OTC antacid drug products, published in the Federal Register of November 12, 1973 (38 FR 31260); and in paragraph 1 of the preamble to the tentative final monograph in the present proceeding (47 FR 29987). FDA reaffirms the conclusions stated in those documents. Court decisions have confirmed the agency's authority to issue substantive regulations by rulemaking. See, e.g., National Nutritional Foods Association v. Weinberger, 512 F.2d 688, 696-98 (2d Cir. 1975) and National Association of Pharmaceutical Manufacturers v. FDA, 487 F. Supp. 412 (S.D.N.Y. 1980), aff'd 637 F.2d 887 (2d Cir. 1981).

2. One comment stated that antibiotic dosage forms that would appear in 21 CFR Part 333 would be, by definition, generally recognized as safe and effective, and that agency approval of a Form 6 should not be required before marketing. The comment pointed out that this approach would be consistent with the requirements for all other OTC drug products that are subjects of OTC drug monographs and that were previously considered new drugs. Therefore, the comment requested that the requirement for a Form 6 be deleted for any antibiotic drug product that is subject to the final monograph on OTC first aid antibiotic drug products. The comment added that if Form 6 requirements are to be retained, then the effective date of the final monograph should be 24 months, rather than 12 months, after publication of the final rule. The comment pointed out that, although 12 months would be reasonable for most other drug products included in the OTC drug review, the Form 6 requirement for antibiotic drug products makes them a special case because FDA preapproval of the Form 6 submissions for manufacturing, control, and labeling changes is a time-consuming process.

The agency agrees that approval of an abbreviated antibiotic application (formerly a Form 6) is not a prerequisite to marketing an antibiotic drug product that meets the requirements of this final monograph. OTC drug products that meet the conditions established in Part 330 and the applicable monograph are generally recognized as safe and effective and not misbranded and may be marketed without an approved application or abbreviated application.

The agency recently revised 21 CFR 433.1 to make clear that an antibiotic drug that meets the general requirements established in 21 CFR 330.1 and the requirements of a final OTC drug monograph is exempt from the batch certification requirements of section 507 of the Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (the act) (21 U.S.C. 357) even without having an approved antibiotic application (formerly a Form 5) or an abbreviated antibiotic application. This clarification was proposed in the Federal Register of July 22, 1985 (50 FR 29702) and made final in the Federal Register of July 15, 1986 (51 FR 25523).

Because the final monograph does not become effective until 12 months after its publication, technically an abbreviated application would continue to be required for one year after publication of the final rule. The agency does not believe that this requirement is necessary for first aid antibiotic drug products that comply with the conditions of the final monograph. Therefore, manufacturers may market products that comply with the final monograph without an approved abbreviated application during this period, i.e., between December 11, 1987, and December 12, 1988. Manufacturers currently marketing these products under an approved abbreviated application should notify FDA when the product is being marketed under the final monograph, so that the applicability of the abbreviated application can cease. Eventually, FDA will revoke all applications and abbreviated applications that are in effect for products covered by the final monograph.

The request that FDA give a later effective date to the monograph to allow time for Form 6 approvals is moot because an abbreviated application (Form 6) is not required if the first aid antibiotic product meets the conditions of the final monograph.

3. One comment requested that conflicts between the tentative final monograph for OTC topical antibiotic drug products and the existing antibiotic regulations be resolved by incorporating appropriate sections of the existing antibiotic regulations in Subparts F of Parts 444, 446, and 448 into the OTC first aid antibiotic monograph and by deleting those portions that are so incorporated from the antibiotic regulations. The comment contended that this action would eliminate the confusion caused by conflicting requirements for a single product as well as distinguish clearly between antibiotic products that are generally recognized as safe and effective for OTC use and those that are still subject to prescription dispensing and premarketing approval. The comment stated that if necessary, to ensure a safe and effective product, the detailed standards and testing requirements found in the antibiotic regulations may be retained in the OTC drug monograph.

The agency agrees that appropriate portions of the regulations on dermatologic dosage forms in Parts 444, 446, and 448 should be incorporated into the final monograph for OTC first aid antibiotic drug products. The agency consequently is revising the format proposed in the tentative final monograph. The agency is not grouping and combining antibiotic ingredients on the basis of antibacterial activity, and including a cross-reference to Subpart F of Parts 444, 446, and 448. In this final monograph, FDA is including a complete listing of the antibiotic active ingredients (§ 333.110) and the combinations of those ingredients (§ 333.120) that are generally recognized as safe and effective, as well as the concentrations permitted for each of those ingredients and the appropriate dosage forms for the products. The dosage forms included in the monograph reflect those dosage forms currently identified in Subpart F of the specific antibiotic regulations (Parts 444, 446, and 448) that apply to OTC first aid antibiotics. There is an established testing methodology, derived from approved antibiotic applications, for these first aid antibiotic ingredients and combinations in the antibiotic regulations. The final monograph also includes references to the appropriate tests and methods of assay that are set forth in the existing antibiotic regulations and that are applicable to particular antibiotic ingredients and combinations.

All drug products included in the final monograph for OTC first aid antibiotic drug products are generally recognized as safe and effective and not misbranded. Therefore, they do not need premarket approval and are exempt from batch certification requirements. For both marketing control and agency regulatory purposes, it is necessary that appropriate standards and methodology i.e., tests and methods of assay, be established before a first aid antibiotic drug product can be considered generally recognized as safe and effective for OTC use. Any firm interested in marketing a single monograph ingredient in a dosage form not included in the monograph, or a combination of monograph ingredients not currently included in the monograph, may submit an antibiotic application to FDA for review and evaluation or file a petition (with appropriate supporting data, including proposed standards and methodology) to amend the monograph.

4. One comment disagreed with the agency's tentative decision to transfer products and claims for skin wound protectants that do not contain antimicrobial active ingredients to the rulemaking for OTC skin protectant drug products. The comment argued that, although a skin wound protectant may not contain an antimicrobial ingredient, the indications for use of the product (protect wounds against microbial contamination) place it more appropriately in the rulemaking for OTC topical antimicrobial drug products than in the rulemaking for OTC skin protectant drug products. The comment contended that skin protectants are generally used on intact skin and do not serve the same function as skin wound protectants, which are indicated for prevention of wound contamination by providing a physical barrier to the entry of dirt and bacteria. The comment added that if the absence of active [antimicrobial] ingredients prohibits the inclusion of skin wound protectants in the monograph for OTC antimicrobial drug products, then there is justification for classifying skin wound protectants that act only as a physical barrier to contamination as medical devices because skin wound protectants "act simply as a physical barrier to contamination and do not affect the structure or function of the body or exert a microbiocidal effect."

The agency believes that the concerns raised by the comment are rendered moot by FDA's decision not to adopt the Panel's recommendation for separate categories of "skin wound protectants" and "skin wound antibiotics." This rulemaking is intended to address only OTC topical drug products that contain antibiotics. Therefore, as FDA explained in the tentative final rule, only one category is necessary for this rulemaking—"first aid antibiotics."

FDA is placing all products that are considered as "skin wound protectants" and that do not contain an antibiotic in the skin protectant rulemaking for consideration of the skin wound protectant claims. The tentative final monograph for OTC skin protectant drug products, published in the Federal Register of February 15, 1983 (48 FR 6820), includes in proposed § 347.50(b) (1) the indication "For the temporary protection of minor cuts, scrapes, burns, and sunburn." This skin protectant category, which is similar to the skin wound protectant indication recommended by the Antimicrobial II Panel (42 FR 17680), covers the type of product described in the comment.

Because this final monograph applies only to products containing an antibiotic, the agency is not considering in this document the issue of whether skin wound protectants that do not contain antimicrobials should be subject to the skin protectant rulemaking or be considered a medical device. That issue will be discussed in the rulemaking for OTC skin protectant drug products.

B. Comments on Labeling of OTC First Aid Antibiotic Drug Products

5. One comment contended that FDA does not have the statutory authority to prescribe exclusive list of terms from which indications for use of OTC drug products must be drawn and to prohibit labeling terminology which is truthful, accurate, not misleading, and intelligible to the consumer. The comment also expressed its intention to make a more detailed statement on the exclusivity policy at the September 29, 1982 hearing on this issue.

In the Federal Register of May 1, 1986 (51 FR 16258), the agency published a final rule changing its labeling policy for stating the indications for use of OTC drug products. Under the final rule, the label and labeling of OTC drug products are required to contain in a prominent and conspicuous location, either (1) the specific wording on indications for use established under an OTC drug monograph, which may appear within a boxed area designated "APPROVED USES"; (2) other wording describing such indications for use that meets the statutory prohibitions against false or misleading labeling, which shall neither appear within a boxed area nor be designated "APPROVED USES"; or (3) the approved monograph language on indications, which may appear within a boxed area designated "APPROVED USES," plus alternative language describing indications for use that is not false or misleading, which shall appear elsewhere in the labeling. All required OTC drug labeling other than indications for use (e.g., statement of identity, warnings, and directions) must appear in the specific wording established under an OTC drug monograph where exact language has been established and identified by quotation marks in an applicable monograph or other regulation, e.g., 21 CFR 201.63 or 330.1(g).

In the tentative final monograph (47 FR 29999), supplemental language relating to indications had been proposed and captioned as Other Allowable Indications and Other Allowable Statements. Under FDA's revised labeling policy (51 FR 16258), such statements are included at the tentative final stage as examples of other truthful and nonmisleading language that would be allowed elsewhere in the labeling. In accordance with the revised labeling policy, such statements would not be included in a final monograph. However, the agency has decided that, because these additional terms have been reviewed by FDA, they should be incorporated, wherever possible, in final OTC drug monographs under the heading "Indications" as part of the indications developed under that monograph. (See part III, paragraph 3. below—SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT CHANGES FROM THE PROPOSED RULE.)

6. One comment disagreed with the agency's proposed substitution of the word "doctor" for "physician" in OTC drug labeling. The comment stated that because "physician" is a term that is recognized by people of all ages and social and economic levels, there is no need for the change, which would be costly and provide no benefit. The comment further contended that "physician" is a more accurate term, whereas "doctor" is a broad term that could confuse and mislead the lay person into taking advice on medication from persons other than medical doctors, such as optometrists, podiatrists, and even chiropractors. Another comment favored the use of common, simple, and easily understood language in labeling. This comment noted that both "doctor" and "physician" are equally accurate and meaningful and argued that neither term should be prohibited, but instead flexibility to use either term should be allowed.

In an effort to simplify OTC drug labeling, the agency proposed in a number of tentative final monographs, including the one for OTC first aid antibiotic drug products, to substitute the word "doctor" for "physician" in OTC drug monographs on the basis that the word "doctor" is more commonly used and better understood by consumers. Based on comments received to these proposals, the agency has determined that final monographs and any applicable OTC drug regulation will give manufacturers the option of using either the word "physician" or the word "doctor." This final monograph provides that option (see § 333.150(e)).

7. Noting that the Panel defined an antibiotic as an agent that either destroys susceptible bacteria or arrests their development, one comment disagreed with the agency's proposed Category II classification of the claim "Helps kill bacteria." The comment contended that this claim is accurate "in that an antibiotic is capable of either killing bacteria or affecting them so that they can be eliminated more easily by the body's natural defenses." The comment argued that this claim has been used for decades with no known harm to the consumer due to product misuse and that, because first aid antibiotics are not indicated for treatment of infection, the potential for harm due to misuse is also reduced. According to the comment, the agency's concern is theoretical and not substantiated. The comment requested that the agency allow the phrase "helps kill bacteria" as a Category I claim for OTC first aid antibiotics.

In the tentative final monograph, the agency noted that "according to the definition in section 507(a) of the act (21 U.S.C. 357(a)), antibiotics have the capacity to inhibit or destroy microorganisms." (See comment 12, 47 FR 29991.) However, the agency expressed its belief that "the claim 'helps kill bacteria' is misleading to the average consumer because the word 'kill' implies elimination of all bacteria on the skin when, in fact, topical antibiotics only decrease the number of certain bacteria on the skin." The agency still believes that the claim "helps kill bacteria" could be potentially misleading to the average consumer if directly associated with the term "infection" that is included in the indication. However, the agency acknowledges that this information is familiar to the average consumer and may be useful in describing the product's action or intended effect. Therefore, the agency would allow the claim to be included in labeling provided it is not intermixed with monograph labeling.

The OTC drug review program establishes conditions under which OTC drugs are generally recognized as safe and effective and not misbranded. One aspect of the program is to develop standards for certain parts of the labeling of OTC drug products. FDA has found that it is simply not practical—in terms of time, resources, and other considerations—to set standards for all labeling found on OTC drug products. Accordingly, OTC drug monographs directly address only those labeling items that are related in a significant way to the safe and effective use of covered products by lay persons. These labeling items are the product statement of identity; names of active ingredients; indications for use; directions for use; warnings against unsafe use, side effects, and adverse reactions; and claims concerning mechanism of drug action.

The agency finds that the claim "helps kill bacteria" requested by the comment, while descriptive of the action of first aid antibiotic drug products, does not relate in a significant way to the safe and effective use of these products and, therefore, is outside the scope of the monograph.

However, the OTC drug review is also intended to ensure that OTC drug products are not misbranded. Therefore, the agency evaluates claims made on OTC drug product labels on a product-by-product basis, under section 502 of the act (21 U.S.C. 352), to determine whether those claims are false or misleading. Any claim that is outside the scope of the monograph, even though it is truthful and not misleading, may not appear on any portion of the labeling that is required by the monograph. Such a claim also may not detract from the required information. Therefore, the claim requested by the comment may be included on the labeling of OTC first aid antibiotic drug product provided that it is not intermixed with labeling established by the monograph, and that it is not false or misleading.

C. Comments on Gramicidin

8. One comment objected to the Category III classification of gramicidin for safety, stating that the Antimicrobial II Panel apparently decided that gramicidin should be placed in Category III because it "is a potent hemolytic agent." The comment contended that the data supporting this conclusion appear to be quite sparse and are probably a carry-over from the remote observation by Heilman and Herrell (Ref. 1) in 1941 that tyrothricin, a crude preparation containing tyrocidine and gramicidin, had in vitro hemolytic properties against rabbits' and sheep's erythrocytes. The comment cited the animal study by Robinson and Molitor (Ref. 2) as indicating that relatively large intravenous or intraperitoneal doses of gramicidin suspensions were needed to show toxicity. The comment contended that the doses used in this study should be compared with a daily topical human dosage of 0.0083 milligram per kilogram (mg/kg) (0.25 mg gramicidin per gram (g) of ointment, assuming application of 2 g ointment per day to a 60-kg subject). The comment also cited a report (Ref. 3) in which it was noted that an unpublished study by Leyden reports that gramicidin was not detected in the serum or urine of eight subjects with widespread atopic dermatitis or psoriasis who were treated twice daily for 7 days with 30 g of a cream containing (among other antibiotics) gramicidin 0.25 milligram per gram (mg/g).

The comment further noted that the safety and efficacy of gramicidin have been fully discussed in data submitted to FDA (as part of the drug efficacy study implementation (DESI) program) concerning a certified prescription topical product containing gramicidin, neomycin sulfate, nystatin, and triamcinolone acetonide. The comment concluded that the extensive use of gramicidin for over 20 years in both OTC and prescription topical preparations has not resulted in any reports of adverse effects related to any possibility of gramicidin toxicity.

After reevaluating the information on the safety of gramicidin and considering the data cited by the comment, the agency concludes that gramicidin is not generally recognized as safe for OTC use as a first aid antibiotic. The Panel recommended that the safety of gramicidin be studied to determine both systemic and topical toxicity. The Panel said specifically that the amount of gramicidin absorbed through the skin following topical application and the hemolytic (red blood cell breakdown) potential of gramicidin resulting from absorption through fresh superficial wounds need to be determined (42 FR 17660). This information has not been provided.

The agency disagrees with the comment that evidence of hemolytic activity of gramicidin is sparse and notes that reports of such activity were published after the report cited by the comment (Ref. 1). Although, as the comment stated, Heilman and Herrell (Ref. 1) first reported that crude tyrothricin was hemolytic, they later reported that purified gramicidin was also hemolytic (Ref. 4). Dubos and Hotchkiss (Ref. 5) and Rammelkamp and Weinstein (Refs. 6 and 7) concluded that the hemolytic effect of tyrothricin was primarily the result of the tyrocidine content of tyrothricin, although they noted that gramicidin in high concentrations also exhibited hemolytic and leukocytolytic effects. There have also been some reports in which gramicidin was modified in an attempt to reduce the hemolytic activity (Ref. 8, 9, and 10). Lewis et al. (Ref. 8) found that treatment of gramicidin with formaldehyde lowered the hemolytic activity of gramicidin 80 to 90 percent without decreasing its antibacterial properties. Schales and Mann (Ref. 9), although noting that the hemolytic effect of gramicidin was considerably slower than that of tyrocidine, found that various gramicidin derivatives had hemolytic activity that varied from 2 to 87 percent of that of gramicidin. Rambhav and Ramachandran (Ref. 10) evaluated the hemolytic activity of gramicidin and several modified gramicidins and concluded that the peptide-bound ethanolamine residue was implicated in the hemolytic activity of gramicidin.

Even though Robinson and Molitor (Ref. 2) reported that gramicidin was not toxic when given orally (at 1,000 mg/kg) or injected subcutaneously or intradermally, gramicidin was highly toxic upon parenteral administration. Acute parenteral dosages of 1.25 mg/kg gramicidin administered intravenously or 10 mg/kg administered intraperitoneally were not lethal in mice. The lethal dose for mice by the intravenous route was 3.75 mg/kg.

In most dogs, daily intravenous dosing of gramicidin at 2 mg/kg was lethal within 2 to 3 days. Robinson and Molitor noted that in the case of tyrothricin, daily blood examinations showed that all dogs receiving 2 to 4 mg/kg tyrothricin developed marked leucocytosis. Dogs tolerating more than 10 consecutive doses of the drug became anemic, the erythrocyte count ranging from  $2.06 \times 10^5$  to  $3.95 \times 10^5$  cells per cubic millimeter. One dog with marked leucocytosis and anemia returned to normal after 2 months during which no drug was given. Robinson and Molitor suggested that this finding might indicate that the anemia caused by daily injections of tyrothricin is related to the hemolytic properties, which it can display in vitro. The authors noted that gramicidin had no apparent effect upon the blood picture during the short period that the animal survived. They also suggested that equivalent doses of gramicidin might have a similar effect as tyrothricin if the animal could tolerate a larger number of consecutive doses.

Robinson and Molitor noted that the impossibility of preparing true aqueous solutions of gramicidin made it difficult to interpret the data, particularly the data from the intravenous test groups in which physical factors such as large particle size may influence the results. They suggested that in view of the insolubility of gramicidin, it is possible that the effects observed were not caused by a specific pharmacodynamic action but rather were caused by nonspecific physical or physicochemical properties. Robinson and Molitor concluded that it is doubtful whether the toxicological results they reported of parenteral use in animals would have a direct bearing on the clinical use of gramicidin topically, except that application to deep lacerated wounds might approach the experimental conditions present in intravenous injection. Therefore, they cautioned against use of gramicidin where rapid and direct absorption into the bloodstream is likely to occur. As noted above, the Panel was concerned about the hemolytic potential of gramicidin resulting from absorption through fresh superficial wounds. The agency concurs based on the above discussion.

As the comment noted, Leyden (Ref. 3) reported that no significant blood or urine levels could be detected in human subjects after very extensive topical application of a cream containing 0.25 mg/g gramicidin, neomycin sulfate, and polymyxin B sulfate to atopic dermatitis or psoriasis. However, only eight subjects were studied. A limited report of this type is not adequate to establish general recognition of the safety of this ingredient for OTC first aid use. The report does not indicate whether the drug was applied to intact or broken skin, does not describe the assay method, and does not state how many subjects were treated with the cream that contained gramicidin or how many were treated with an alternate ointment that did not contain gramicidin. The information provided seems, on the whole, rather limited especially when the no-effect toxic dose of gramicidin is unknown.

The comment also referred to a prescription product containing gramicidin in combination with other ingredients that is being evaluated under the agency's DESI program. As discussed in comment 9 below, the agency concluded in a DESI notice published in the Federal Register of April 17, 1985 (50 FR 15227) that the combination drug policy is satisfied with respect to nystatin and triamcinolone acetonide, two of the four ingredients in the prescription product, for the treatment of cutaneous candidiasis, and the company has agreed to reformulate the product to delete neomycin and gramicidin, the other two ingredients (Ref. 11).

The agency concludes that sufficient data have not been submitted on the absorption of gramicidin and on the hemolytic potential of gramicidin resulting from absorption through fresh superficial wounds. Accordingly, gramicidin is not being included in this final monograph.

(11) OR 000003, Docket No. 84N-0067, Dockets Management Branch.

9. One comment disagreed with the Category III classification of gramicidin for effectiveness. The comment submitted three studies that it claimed demonstrated the effectiveness of gramicidin (in combination with neomycin) (Refs. 1, 2, and 3) and pointed out that the Panel considered the combination of gramicidin D and neomycin to be rational because it broadens antibacterial coverage against the gram-positive organisms most likely to be found in superficial skin wounds (42 FR 17678).

As additional support for the effectiveness of gramicidin, the comment cited the agency's acceptance of a study by Dillon, Maddox, and Ware (Ref. 4), along with other data, as "sufficient evidence to support the claim 'first aid to help prevent infection in minor cuts, scrapes, and burns' for all topical antibiotics" (47 FR 29992). The comment concluded that "the Panel itself resolved the efficacy issue vis-a-vis gram-positive organisms and the rationality of the combination with neomycin, and the FDA has now ruled in support of the efficacy of all topical antibiotics while simultaneously revising the indication ('first aid to help prevent infection') in a manner that favors use of a potent, anti-gram-positive, non-systemically used antibiotic." The comment further noted that efficacy and safety had been fully discussed in data submitted to FDA concerning a certified prescription topical product that contains gramicidin, neomycin sulfate, nystatin, and triamcinolone acetonide.

The comment contended that there is adequate support for a Category I designation for gramicidin for use in combination only, as "first aid to help prevent infection in minor cuts, scrapes, and burns." The comment requested that the agency revise § 333.110(c) to include the following: "Gramicidin 0.25 milligrams per gram for use only in combination as provided in section 333.120."

After reevaluating the information on the effectiveness of gramicidin and considering the data cited by the comment, the agency concludes that gramicidin cannot be included in the final monograph as a first aid antibiotic.

One in vivo study cited by the comment (Ref. 1) shows that a combination of neomycin and gramicidin decreases the number of organisms from experimentally induced Staphylococcus aureus infections. In the tentative final monograph, the agency cited this study as one of four references to support the conclusion that "reducing the number of bacteria on the skin may help prevent infection in minor skin injuries. It is well documented in the medical literature that applying topical antibiotics to skin wounds reduces the number of bacteria at the site of application and serves as an adjunct to cleansing wounds." (See 47 FR 29991 to 29992.)

Two of the publications cited by the comment reported the same clinical study (Refs. 2 and 3). In this study, conducted over an 18-month period, 204 children who had sustained major thermal burns received a triple antibiotic cream formulation containing gramicidin, neomycin, and polymyxin B. The results from use of the cream were compared with those from an earlier period without topical chemotherapy against wound infection or with only topical nitrofurazone. The improvement in overall results was significant when the triple antibiotic cream formulation containing gramicidin, neomycin, and polymyxin B was applied topically.

The agency notes that in these studies (Refs. 1, 2, and 3) gramicidin was used in combination with other ingredients, and that there is no evidence to demonstrate the specific contribution that gramicidin made to the combination.

The Panel stated that the gramicidin-neomycin combination " * * * is rational since it broadens antibacterial coverage against the gram-positive organisms most likely to be found in superficial skin wounds, and also decreases the likelihood of encountering a bacterial strain resistant to both antibiotics as well as the chance of developing an infection that might be resistant to both antibiotics" (42 FR 17678). Nevertheless, the Panel concluded that "prudent scientific judgment does not permit the conclusion that merely arguing their efficacy by analogy is sufficient" (42 FR 17678).

The study by Dillon, Maddox, and Ware (Ref. 4), which did not involve gramicidin, was cited by the agency to demonstrate that antibiotics that have been shown to inhibit or to reduce the number of bacteria under non-OTC conditions in induced wounds or in major wounds can also be presumed to be effective in helping to prevent infection under OTC conditions in minor cuts, scrapes, and burns. The agency's statement on this study in the preamble to the tentative final monograph was intended to show that a claim of "first aid to help prevent infection" was appropriate for OTC topical antibiotics that have sufficient effectiveness data. However, it was not intended to justify reclassification of gramicidin (or of any other antibiotics for which there are no in vivo data) into Category I (monograph) status.

In addition, the comment referred to a prescription product that contains neomycin and gramicidin in combination with other ingredients and that is being evaluated under the agency's drug efficacy study implementation (DESI) program. Under DESI, the agency concluded in 1972 that this product was possibly effective for all of its labeled indications relating to use in various dermatoses and as an anti-infective agent (37 FR 12856). Subsequently, the agency concluded that the data on this product did not demonstrate that each component made a significant contribution to the claimed effects of the drug. (See the Federal Register of September 25, 1981 (46 FR 47408).) On October 20, 1981, the manufacturer of the product (which also submitted the comment at issue) requested a hearing, and on November 24, 1981, it filed data and other information in support of its hearing request.

After the firm submitted this comment to this OTC drug rulemaking, the agency published a DESI notice to grant the firm a hearing on the proposal to withdraw approval of the new drug applications for the prescription product. (See the Federal Register of September 17, 1984; 49 FR 36439.) At a prehearing conference held on January 11, 1985, the agency concluded that the combination drug policy is satisfied with respect to nystatin and triamcinolone acetonide, two of the four ingredients in the prescription product, for the treatment of cutaneous candidiasis, and the company agreed to reformulate the product to delete neomycin and gramicidin (Ref. 5). (See the Federal Register of April 17, 1985; 50 FR 15227.)

Therefore, the agency concludes that the evidence submitted to date does not demonstrate that gramicidin (alone or in combination) is effective for use as a first aid antibiotic drug product. The agency recommends that a well-designed, double-blinded study be conducted to show in vivo efficacy of gramicidin by itself or as a contributor to a combination.

Accordingly, gramicidin is not being included in this final monograph.

D. Comments on Combination Drug Products

10. One comment requested that FDA expand the proposed allowable concentrations for bacitracin, bacitracin zinc, and neomycin sulfate to include the concentrations of these ingredients in all combinations currently approved for OTC use in the antibiotic regulations. The comment pointed out that § 448.510e permits a bacitracin concentration of 400 units per g for a combination bacitracin-neomycin sulfate-polymyxin B sulfate ointment, and that § 448.513c permits a bacitracin zinc concentration of 400 units per g and a neomycin sulfate concentration equivalent to 3 mg neomycin for a combination bacitracin zinc-neomycin sulfate-polymyxin B sulfate ointment. The comment stated that it is not clear why these concentrations were omitted from the tentative final monograph. The comment added that to resolve these conflicts between the OTC topical antibiotic tentative final monograph and the antibiotic regulations, the tentative final monograph should be revised so that bacitracin and bacitracin zinc concentration could be 400 or 500 units per g, and the allowable concentration for neomycin sulfate could be the equivalent of 3 or 3.5 mg neomycin.

As discussed in comment 3 above, the agency is revising the format for listing monograph antibiotic ingredients from that used in the tentative final monograph. In this final monograph, the agency is listing each generally recognized as safe and effective ingredient and the dosage forms of that ingredient that have been specified in the antibiotic regulations. The agency is also revising the combinations of first aid antibiotic drug products to specify the particular antibiotic ingredients, the concentrations permitted for each of these ingredients, and the dosage forms currently identified in the specific monographs in the antibiotic regulations that apply to OTC drug monograph first aid antibiotics. These revisions correct the conflicts in FDA's proposed regulations that the comment pointed out.

11. Two comments disagreed with the agency's decision not to include antibiotic-anesthetic combinations in the tentative final monograph until data were submitted to show that the population that would use these combinations on skin wounds would not be at risk and until information is submitted to show that the combinations meet the criteria in 21 CFR 330.10(a)(4)(iv) (47 FR 29996).

One of the comments stated that, except for a possible safety issue, sufficient information to meet all the remaining criteria of 21 CFR 330.10(a)(4)(iv) is presently in the record. Both comments pointed out that combinations of certain antibiotics and anesthetics are allowed under the antibiotic certification regulations (§§ 444.542a [neomycin sulfate ointment with 200 milligrams benzocaine per gram of ointment]; 444.542j [neomycin sulfate-polymyxin B sulfate-gramicidin ointment with 10 milligrams benzocaine per gram of ointment]; 448.510a [bacitracin ointment with a suitable local anesthetic]; and 448.510e [bacitracin-neomycin sulfate-polymyxin B sulfate ointment with a suitable local anesthetic]), and that Form 6's for products containing these combinations have been approved by FDA for OTC use. One comment also noted that the Topical Analgesic Panel's recommended monograph for OTC external analgesic drug products (44 FR 69768, 69864; December 4, 1979) provides for combinations of many Category I analgesics, anesthetics, or antipruritics with single Category I topical antimicrobial active ingredients or combinations of Category I topical antimicrobial active ingredients.

The comments contended that the agency's concern that the presence of an anesthetic will mask symptoms of infection is unfounded because OTC antibiotics are indicated for "first aid" use and not for the treatment of existing infections. One comment argued that the absence of a safety issue with OTC use of such combinations is demonstrated by the lack of a single adverse reaction report for such products in the records of FDA's Division of Drug Experience. The comment added that 21 CFR 310.300 and 310.301 require that the holder of an approved antibiotic application report adverse reactions to FDA. The comment requested that the agency include any reports of adverse reactions that are in its files in the administrative record of this proceeding as new data for use in determining whether there is any risk to the population in approving OTC antibiotic-analgesic combinations. The comment stated that the absence of adverse reaction reports in FDA's files constitutes data supporting both the general safety of such OTC combination products and the conclusion that masking of infection should not be a concern. The other comment added that the action of the anesthetic ingredient does not persist for the entire 8- to 24-hour period between applications of the product. Thus, the comment argued, it is hardly conceivable that inclusion of the anesthetic could mask symptoms of a worsening infection and present a hazard to consumers.

Concerning the requirements of 21 CFR 330.10(a)(4)(iv), one comment pointed out that only Category I ingredients would be allowed in these combinations, and that the label claim for the product would be to help prevent infection and to provide relief of pain associated with minor wounds. The comment added that the contribution of the respective ingredients to these claimed effects is known, that the combination does not decrease safety or effectiveness, and that such combination therapy would be rational because it is common knowledge that pain usually accompanies minor wounds.

One comment concluded that the antibiotic-anesthetic combinations permitted under the existing antibiotic certification regulations should also be permitted in the OTC first aid antibiotic monograph and requested that the agency provide for such combinations in the final monograph. The other comment further requested that all combinations of Category I first aid antibiotics and Category I local anesthetics be approved as Category I combinations.

Based on the points raised by the comments and after further review as discussed below, the agency has reconsidered its decision in the tentative final monograph and now agrees with the comments that certain topical antibiotic-anesthetic combinations are Category I.

The agency acknowledges that in the tentative final monograph it pointed out that no data on such combinations had been reviewed by the Panel or submitted in comments (47 FR 29996). The agency stated, however, that it was conceivable that the combination could provide rational therapy for OTC use.

Upon further review, the agency finds that the combination of a topical antibiotic with a local anesthetic has had a marketing history that predates the OTC drug review. For example, on June 29, 1972 (37 FR 12857), a notice on certain OTC topical antibiotic products under the DESI program deferred action on these products pending the results of the OTC drug review. This DESI notice included products containing topical antibiotics combined with the local anesthetic benzocaine (four products) or with dipiperdon hydrochloride (one product). These antibiotic-anesthetic drug products currently have first aid labeling claims, such as "to help prevent infection" and "as an aid for the temporary relief of discomfort in minor cuts, burns, and abrasions." Also, as the comments noted, combinations of certain antibiotics and anesthetics for topical use are currently allowed under the antibiotic certification regulations. A review of the FDA adverse drug reaction reports failed to show any adverse reaction reports for these combinations.

Both the advance notice of proposed rulemaking (44 FR 69865) and the tentative final monograph (48 FR 5852, 5868; February 8, 1983) for OTC external analgesic drug products provide for combinations of Category I external analgesic, anesthetic, or antipruritic ingredients with Category I topical antimicrobial active ingredients. The agency notes that no adverse comments about masking infection or other objections have been received from the medical community regarding the combination in that rulemaking.

Although the tentative final monograph for OTC external analgesic drug products provides only for combinations of Category I external analgesic, anesthetic, or antipruritic ingredients with Category I topical antimicrobial active ingredients identified in Part 333, Subpart A, the agency believes that combinations with first aid antibiotics (Part 333, Subpart B) are also appropriate. The combination of a first aid antibiotic and an external analgesic, anesthetic, or antipruritic is similar in action and intended use to the combination of a topical antimicrobial and an external analgesic, anesthetic, and antipruritic and will be included in this final monograph for first aid antibiotic drug products.

The agency agrees with the comment that OTC first aid antibiotics are not labeled for the treatment of existing infections and are limited to use on minor injuries for not longer than 1 week with warnings to stop use and to consult a doctor if the condition persists or gets worse. Accordingly, the agency concludes that combinations of first aid antibiotic and local anesthetic ingredients provide rational concurrent therapy for a significant proportion of the target population and that the combination is suitable for OTC use under adequate directions for use and warnings against unsafe use, as required under § 330.10(a)(4)(iv).

The agency proposed in § 348.50(b)(2) of the tentative final monograph for OTC external analgesic drug products (48 FR 5868) the following indication for local anesthetics: "For the temporary relief of" (select one of the following: "pain," "itching," or "pain and itching") (which may be followed by: "associated with" (select one or more of the following) "minor burns," "sunburn," "minor cuts," "scrapes," "insect bites," or "minor skin irritation,")). This indication is very similar to the indication for first aid antibiotics in § 333.150(b) of this final monograph, which reads, "First aid to help * * * prevent" (select one of the following: "infection," "bacterial contamination," or "infection or bacterial contamination") "in minor cuts, scrapes, and burns." Therefore, it would be reasonable for an individual with a minor cut, scrape, or burn to apply both a local anesthetic drug product and a first aid antibiotic drug product to the same minor wound.

First aid antibiotics are included in the monograph based on labeling that they be used only on small areas of the body for a minor cut, scrape, or burn, and that they bear a warning that they not be applied over large areas of the body. Accordingly, those proposed Category I claims for external analgesic drug products that refer to conditions other than minor wounds, and particularly conditions likely to involve large areas of the body (e.g., sunburn), would be nonmonograph for the topical antibiotic-anesthetic combination drug product.

The agency acknowledges the Panel's concern that the addition of an anesthetic to a topical antibiotic drug product could pose safety problems by masking signs of infection. However, the agency believes that appropriate labeling can be written to alleviate this concern. In the tentative final monograph, the agency proposed the following warning in § 333.150(c)(2): "Stop use and consult a doctor if the condition persists or gets worse. Do not use longer than 1 week unless directed by a doctor." The rationale for this warning was discussed in comment 9 of the tentative final monograph (47 FR 29990). The agency believes that this warning adequately informs consumers using these products when to consult a doctor, if necessary, even if the product is an antibiotic-anesthetic combination.

A number of topical antibiotic-anesthetic combinations have been marketed OTC for a number of years under current antibiotic monographs in 21 CFR Parts 444 and 448 (see below). FDA is currently including some of these combinations in this final monograph, as discussed below, so that it conforms to the current antibiotic regulations in the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR).

In conclusion, the agency is including in the final monograph only those topical antibiotic-anesthetic combinations that include Category I ingredients from both the external analgesic and first aid antibiotic rulemakings and that are subject to a current CFR antibiotic monograph with labeling containing adequate directions under which the layman can use the drug safely and efficaciously. The following anesthetic-antibiotic combinations currently have CFR monographs:

Section 444.542a(a)(1)(i)(j)—Neomycin sulfate ointment with benzocaine.

Section 444.542c(a)(1)(i)—Neomycin sulfate lotion with dipiperodon hydrochloride and aluminum dihydroxyallantoinate.

Section 444.542j—Neomycin sulfate-polymyxin B sulfate-gramicidin-benzocaine ointment.

Section 448.510a—Bacitracin ointment (with a suitable local anesthetic).

Section 448.510e—Bacitracin-neomycin sulfate-polymyxin B sulfate ointment (with a suitable local anesthetic).

Neomycin sulfate lotion combined with the local anesthetic dipiperodon hydrochloride under § 444.542c is not being included in this final monograph. Dipiperodon has not been included in the rulemaking for OTC external analgesic drug products. Accordingly, a topical antibiotic-anesthetic combination containing dipiperodon is not being included in the first aid antibiotic final monograph. Because gramicidin is not included in this final monograph, the combination included in § 444.542j is also not being included in the monograph. Both of these combinations still require a drug application to be marketed.

The agency interprets the term "suitable local anesthetic" as currently specified in § 448.510a and § 448.510e of the antibiotic regulations to mean any of the ingredients identified in § 348.10(a) of the tentative final monograph for OTC external analgesic drug products. These are identified as amine or "caine"-type local anesthetics and include:

- (1) Benzocaine 5 to 20 percent.
- (2) Butamben picrate 1 percent.
- (3) Dibucaine 0.25 to 1 percent.
- (4) Dibucaine hydrochloride 0.25 to 1 percent.
- (5) Dimethisoquin hydrochloride 0.3 to 0.5 percent.
- (6) Dyclonine hydrochloride 0.5 to 1 percent.
- (7) Lidocaine 0.5 to 4 percent.
- (8) Lidocaine hydrochloride 0.5 to 4 percent.
- (9) Pramoxine hydrochloride 0.5 to 1 percent.
- (10) Tetracaine 1 to 2 percent.
- (11) Tetracaine hydrochloride 1 to 2 percent.

Because the above local anesthetics are not yet subject to a final monograph, FDA cannot refer in this first aid antibiotic final monograph to a final regulation that does not currently exist. Nonetheless, consistent with the approach taken by FDA in the final monograph for OTC antacid drug products (21 CFR 331.15), the agency is listing these combinations in general terms as combinations of drug classes rather than combinations of specific ingredients, because the nonantibiotic ingredients are not yet subject to a final rule. FDA is including the following first aid antibiotic-anesthetic combinations in the final monograph: in § 333.120(b)(1) the combination of bacitracin and any single generally recognized as safe and effective amine or "caine"-type local anesthetic active ingredient and in § 333.120(b)(2) two combinations of bacitracin-neomycin sulfate-polymyxin B sulfate and any single generally recognized as safe and effective amine or "caine"-type local anesthetic active ingredient.

Until the agency makes a determination on which local anesthetic ingredients to include in the final external analgesic monograph, it will take no regulatory action against such products based solely on the combination of ingredients, provided that the combinations are marketed in accordance with this final monograph, contain a local anesthetic as proposed in § 348.10(a) of the tentative final monograph for OTC external analgesic drug products, and are consistent with an antibiotic monograph in 21 CFR Part 444 or Part 448. Products meeting these conditions may be marketed without a drug application.

At this time, because benzocaine is specifically identified as the local anesthetic in a combination that would otherwise have been included in this final monograph, i.e., neomycin sulfate ointment with benzocaine, the agency is likewise withholding action until the external analgesic monograph, which presently proposes to include benzocaine among specific ingredients, is finalized. In the interim, such a combination can continue to be marketed only under a drug application.

When the final monograph for OTC external analgesic drug products is issued, the agency will amend § 333.120(b) (1) and (2) to include the appropriate cross-reference to the local anesthetics included in that monograph. If benzocaine is included in that final monograph, the agency will also amend Part 333 to provide for the neomycin-benzocaine combination.

II. Agency-initiated Changes

1. In the Federal Register of April 17, 1985 (50 FR 15107) FDA announced that, under the agency's DESI program, several topical antibiotic drug products that previously were available by prescription had been reformulated, switched from prescription to OTC status, and labeled as first aid antibiotic drug products. These products are bacitracin zinc-polymyxin B sulfate topical powder (§ 448.513d), bacitracin zinc-polymyxin B sulfate topical aerosol (§ 448.513e), and neomycin sulfate-polymyxin B sulfate cream (§ 444.5421). In the Federal Register of October 2, 1986 (51 FR 35211), the agency amended the antibiotic drug regulations to provide for a new OTC dosage form of bacitracin-polymyxin B sulfate topical aerosol (§ 448.510f). Because these products are marketed OTC and contain only monograph ingredients, and because CFR antibiotic regulations have been established for these combinations, the agency is including them in this final monograph for OTC first aid antibiotic drug products.

Labeling information for these combinations appears in § 333.160 of this final monograph.

One product, described in § 444.5421, was a reformulation of a cream product that originally contained neomycin sulfate, polymyxin B sulfate, and gramicidin. Gramicidin was not included in the reformulated product because of a lack of sufficient evidence to support its effectiveness, either alone or in combination (50 FR 15108). (See also comments 8 and 9 above.) Two products, a powder and an aerosol, described under § 448.513d and § 448.513e, originally contained neomycin sulfate, polymyxin B sulfate, and bacitracin zinc. Neomycin was removed from these products because of concerns about the safety of applying neomycin in aerosol solution or powder dosage forms over extensive burns or wounds (50 FR 15108). Because of these concerns, the agency has determined that neomycin-containing drug products for OTC use should be limited to ointment and cream topical dosage forms. Therefore, neomycin-containing powders and aerosols are not included in this final monograph for OTC first aid antibiotic drug products. In addition, FDA revoked the antibiotic regulation that allowed OTC labeling for a neomycin aerosol product, described in § 444.542d, because this drug product is no longer manufactured (49 FR 34350; August 30, 1984).

2. The agency notes that the labeling directions recommended by the Panel for all topical antibiotics in the advance notice of proposed rulemaking in § 342.50(c) was intended to limit the area of application, namely: "* * * apply a small amount (an amount equal to the surface area of the tip of a finger) directly to the affected area and cover with sterile gauze if desired. May be applied 1 to 3 times daily." (See 42 FR 17681.) In the tentative final monograph, the agency proposed simpler directions that did not limit the amount of product to be applied to an amount equal to the surface area of the tip of a finger (proposed § 333.150(d); 47 FR 29999).

Based on concerns about neomycin toxicity, as discussed below, and to better inform the consumer of the maximum size of an injury that would be suitable for self-treatment, the agency has reevaluated the directions and has decided to adopt directions for use of ointment and cream products based on the Panel's recommendations. These directions, which are set forth in § 333.150(d)(1), state "* * * Apply a small amount of this product (an amount equal to the surface area of the tip of a finger) on the area 1 to 3 times daily * * *"

3. Because powder products and aerosol products are applied in a different manner, the agency has added separate directions for using powders and aerosols in § 333.150(d) (2) and (3).

4. Neomycin sulfate was listed in Category III in the Panel's report because of safety concerns about the potential of this ingredient to cause sensitization or antibiotic-resistant staphylococci (42 FR 17666). Neomycin sulfate was reclassified as a Category I first aid antibiotic in the tentative final monograph. After reviewing the Panel's report and the comments, the agency concluded that the short-term use of neomycin in minor cuts and burns would not present a toxicologic risk. The agency concurred with the Panel's conclusion that no further toxicologic testing is needed for neomycin for OTC topical use (47 FR 29995).

The agency has further reviewed neomycin toxicity, including ototoxicity (having a deleterious effect upon the eighth nerve or upon the organs of hearing and balance), that may result from administration by any route when systemic absorption occurs, including application to extensive wounds or burns. In most reports of ototoxicity occurring after topical application of neomycin, "topical" has been interpreted in the broadest sense. For example, it has been interpreted to include irrigation of wounds with solutions of neomycin or intraperitoneal and intrapleural instillations and inhalations (Ref. 1). Moreover, the quantities applied have been comparable to those used in systemic therapy (Ref. 1).

There have been isolated reports of deafness resulting from local application of neomycin-containing preparations to treat extensive skin damage from burns or other causes (Refs. 2 through 7). In most of these reports, the neomycin was applied in aerosol preparations (Refs. 2 through 5). In all cases, treatment was for severe conditions, not for OTC uses commonly encountered (i.e., minor cuts, scrapes, and burns), and the amount of drug used was greater than that being proposed for OTC use.

The agency believes that application of neomycin in an ointment or cream topical dosage form to small areas of the body (minor cuts, scrapes, and burns) would not result in significant systemic absorption. Panzer and Epstein (Ref. 8) reported that single external exposure of normal human skin of the entire body of 6 adult male subjects, and portions of the body of 9 other subjects, to neomycin sulfate ointment for 6 hours did not result in any percutaneous absorption of neomycin sulfate that could be detected by the usual bioassay methods. Bushby (Ref. 9) reported that Leyden found that no significant blood or urine levels of neomycin could be detected in 8 human subjects with at least 50 percent involvement of their body with psoriasis or atopic dermatitis who were treated twice daily for 7 days with 30 g of either a petrolatum ointment containing neomycin-polymyxin B-bacitracin zinc or a cream containing neomycin-polymyxin B-gramicidin.

Livingood (Ref. 10) found that systemic absorption through burns is more likely to reach measurable blood levels when neomycin sulfate in aqueous solution is applied locally as a compress than when neomycin sulfate ointment is topically applied. Livingood determined blood serum levels of neomycin in 16 patients after neomycin ointment and/or neomycin in aqueous solution had been applied to extensive denuded skin surfaces for at least 1 week. Evidence of systemic absorption of neomycin was found in only 2 of these patients, and in both patients neomycin compresses had been applied on a denuded surface that resulted from second and third degree burns and covered about 20 percent of the body.

The agency concludes that the labeling in this final monograph, i.e., warnings against prolonged use of first aid antibiotic drug products and against use on deep extensive wounds, is adequate for all the antibiotics included in the final monograph, including neomycin. However, the agency believes that it is prudent to specify the dose more fully. Accordingly, as discussed above, the agency has revised the directions in this final monograph to limit the size of the area to be treated by directing consumers to apply only an amount of the product equal to the surface of the tip of a finger. (See also part III, paragraph 7, below—SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT CHANGES FROM THE PROPOSED RULE.) The agency believes that the labeling (indications, warnings, and directions) required for OTC first aid antibiotic drug products is sufficient to provide adequate information for the safe OTC topical use of neomycin-containing and other first aid antibiotic drug products.

III. Summary of Significant Changes From the Proposed Rule

1. OTC first aid antibiotic drug products that conform to this monograph are exempt from the requirements for approved applications or approved abbreviated applications or for antibiotic batch certification. (See comment 2 above.)

2. The agency is modifying the "scope" that was proposed in § 333.101 of the tentative final monograph. The scope in this final monograph does not include the phrase "the exemptions established in § 433.1, and the applicable sections of Subpart F of Parts 444, 446, and 448." (See comment 3 above.)

3. The agency has reviewed the labeling proposed in the tentative final monograph and has concluded that the indication proposed in § 333.150(b)(1), "First aid to help prevent infection in minor cuts, scrapes, and burns," and the other allowable indications proposed in § 333.150(b)(2) are very similar and should be combined to avoid duplicative words in the labeling. The section entitled "other allowable statements," proposed in § 333.150(b)(3), has not been included in the final monograph in accordance with the current exclusivity policy. (See comment 5 above.) The revised indication is as follows: "First aid to help" [select one of the following: "prevent," ("decrease" ("the risk of" or "the chance of")), ("reduce" ("the risk of" or "the chance of")), "guard against," or "protect against"] [select one of the following: "infection," "bacterial contamination," or "skin infection"] "in minor cuts, scrapes, and burns."

4. The agency has revised the format for listing antibiotic ingredients and combinations of those ingredients in the monograph to specify the particular antibiotic ingredients, the concentrations permitted for each of those ingredients, and the dosage forms currently identified in the specific monographs in the antibiotic regulations that apply to OTC Category I first aid antibiotics. First aid antibiotic drug products in this final monograph include only those products that have established testing methodology in 21 CFR Parts 444, 446, and 448. Consequently, the agency has modified the format of the final monograph from that proposed in the tentative final monograph, in which antibiotics were grouped and combined solely on the basis of antibacterial activity, without consideration of testing methodology. (See comments 3 and 10 above.)

5. The following combinations are being included in this final monograph: Bacitracin-polymyxin B sulfate topical aerosol, bacitracin zinc-polymyxin B sulfate topical aerosol, bacitracin zinc-polymyxin B sulfate topical powder, and neomycin sulfate-polymyxin B sulfate cream. (See part II, paragraph 1 above—AGENCY-INITIATED CHANGES.) Further, directions that are consistent with the labeling of currently marketed products are being provided for aerosol and powder dosage forms. Aerosol products will bear the following statements under the heading "Directions": "Clean the affected area. Spray a small amount of this product on the area one to three times daily. May be covered with a sterile bandage." Powder products will bear the following statements under the heading "Directions": "Clean the affected area. Apply a light dusting of the powder on the area one to three times daily. May be covered with a sterile bandage." Cream products will have the same directions as ointment products.

6. The agency is including in the final monograph several combinations of first aid antibiotics and local anesthetics. These specific combinations are currently provided for in the antibiotic regulations. (See comment 11 above.) These antibiotic-anesthetic drug products currently have first aid labeling claims such as "to help prevent infection and as an aid for the temporary relief of discomfort in minor cuts, burns, and abrasions." In addition to the required indication contained in § 333.150(b), the agency is providing in this final monograph that products containing first aid antibiotic ingredients combined with a local anesthetic ingredient may contain an additional indication as follows: "First aid for the temporary relief of" (select one of the following: "pain," "discomfort," "pain or discomfort," or "pain and itching") "in minor cuts, scrapes, and burns." (See § 333.160(b)(2).) As discussed in comment 11 above, claims for OTC external analgesic drug products that refer to conditions other than minor wounds, particularly conditions likely to involve large areas of the body (e.g., sunburn), are nonmonograph for the antibiotic-anesthetic combination drug product.

7. The agency has revised the directions for using first aid antibiotic drug products to better inform the consumer of the maximum size of an injury that would be suitable for self-treatment. The directions for ointment and cream products read as follows: " * * * Apply a small amount of this product (an amount equal to the surface area of the tip of a finger) on the area 1 to 3 times daily * * *." (See Part II, paragraph 2, above—AGENCY-INITIATED CHANGES.) Because powder products and aerosol products are applied in a different manner, the directions instruct the consumer to "apply a light dusting of the powder" or to "spray a small amount of this product."

IV. The Agency's Final Conclusions on OTC First Aid Antibiotic Drug Products

Based on the available evidence, the agency is issuing a final monograph establishing conditions under which OTC first aid antibiotic drug products are generally recognized as safe and effective and not misbranded. Specifically, the following ingredients are included in this final rule for OTC first aid antibiotic use: Bacitracin, bacitracin zinc, chlortetracycline hydrochloride, neomycin sulfate, oxytetracycline hydrochloride (for use in combination only), polymyxin B sulfate (for use in combination only), and tetracycline hydrochloride. FDA has determined that the one other ingredient considered in this rulemaking, gramicidin, is a nonmonograph ingredient. Any drug marketed for use as an OTC first aid antibiotic that is not in conformance with the final monograph (21 CFR Part 333, Subpart B) will be considered a new drug within the meaning of section 210(p) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act

(21 U.S.C. 321(p)) and may not be marketed for this use unless it is the subject of an approved antibiotic application or abbreviated antibiotic application. Conversely, any drug marketed for use as an OTC first aid antibiotic that is in conformance with the final monograph does not need prior approval for marketing.

No comments were received in response to the agency's request for specific comment on the economic impact of this rulemaking (47 FR 29986). The agency has examined the economic consequences of this final rule in conjunction with other rules resulting from the OTC drug review. In a notice published in the Federal Register of February 8, 1983 (48 FR 5806), the agency announced the availability of an assessment of these economic impacts. The assessment determined that the combined impacts of all the rules resulting from the OTC drug review do not constitute a major rule according to the criteria established by Executive Order 12291. The agency therefore concludes that no one of these rules, including this final rule for OTC first aid antibiotic drug products, is a major rule.

The economic assessment also concluded that the overall OTC drug review was not likely to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities as defined in the Regulatory Flexibility Act, Pub. L. 96-354. That assessment included a discretionary Regulatory Flexibility Analysis in the event that an individual rule might impose an unusual or disproportionate impact on small entities. However, the requirement for a Regulatory Flexibility Analysis under the Regulatory Flexibility Act does not apply to this final rule for OTC first aid antibiotic drug products because the proposed rule was issued prior to January 1, 1981, and is therefore exempt.

As discussed in the Federal Register of July 9, 1982 (47 FR 29998), the agency is removing § 369.6 and portions of §§ 369.20 and 369.21 applicable to OTC first aid antibiotic drug products, because these portions of the regulations are superseded by the requirements of this final monograph (Part 333, Subpart B). The items being removed include the entry for "ANTIBIOTICS FOR EXTERNAL USE FOR PREVENTION OF INFECTION" under § 369.20 and the entries for "ANTIBIOTIC-CONTAINING DRUGS FOR EXTERNAL USE FOR PREVENTION OF INFECTION," "BACITRACIN-CONTAINING OINTMENTS," "BACITRACIN (ZINC BACITRACIN)-POLYMYXIN OINTMENT; BACITRACIN-

POLYMYXIN-NEOMYCIN OINTMENT," and "OXYTETRACYCLINE AND POLYMYXIN B SULFATE" under § 369.21. Although other regulations concerning an OTC drug product are usually removed when an applicable final monograph is published, the agency is not removing the sections of the antibiotic regulations in Subpart F of Parts 444, 446, and 448 that apply to the tests and methods of assay for those first aid antibiotics that are contained in the final monograph. Instead, the final OTC drug monograph will cross-reference the tests and methods of assay contained in those parts of the regulations, in compliance with section 507(e) of the act (21 U.S.C. 357(e)). (See comment 3 above.)

Standards; Notice of Proposed Rulemaking and Public Forums

DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION*Federal Highway Administration*49 CFR Part 383*[FHWA Docket No. MC-87-18]*Commercial Driver Testing and Licensing Standards*AGENCY: Federal Highway Administration (FHWA), DOT.ACTION: Notice of proposed rulemaking and public forums.

SUMMARY: The FHWA proposes to amend Part 383 of the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Regulations (FMCSRs) to establish minimum standards for State testing and licensing of commercial motor vehicle (CMV) drivers. This document contains alternative proposals for establishing standards which include commercial driver licensing and testing procedures to be used by the States; knowledge, skills, and abilities which drivers of different types of CMVs must possess; and the information to be contained on the commercial driver's license (CDL) issued by the States. The standards also would require that CMV drivers take and pass the appropriate knowledge and skills tests by April 1, 1992, in order to be qualified and licensed to operate a CMV. Under the Commercial Motor Vehicle Safety Act of 1986 (the Act), the standards must be established by July 15, 1988. The FHWA has proposed three alternative approaches for the States to meet the testing and licensing standards. The first alternative requires each State to submit to FHWA a plan for its testing and licensing program that demonstrates that the State is complying with the Act. In the second alternative, the FHWA has proposed specific testing and licensing standards which the State could use as the minimum standards. The first alternative would maximize flexibility to the States to meet the Act by describing State requirements in terms of general performance standards. The second alternative would reduce flexibility in return for a greater degree of national uniformity in commercial driver testing. The third alternative would allow each State a choice between either of the two main alternatives. The FHWA will hold several forums on these proposals to explain the alternatives and obtain comments on them from the public.

DATE: Comments must be received on or before February 9, 1988. Public forums will be held on the dates and places as follows:

Washington, DC—January 19, 1988. The forum will be held in the Federal Aviation Administration Auditorium, 800 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, DC 20591; Atlanta, Georgia—January 21, 1988; St. Louis, Missouri—January 26, 1988; and Los Angeles, California—January 28, 1988.

All forums will be held 1:00 p.m.—5:00 p.m., local time and will be open to the public. Sites for the forums in Atlanta, St. Louis, and Los Angeles, will be announced locally and in the Federal Register.

Individuals who may be interested in participating at any of the forums should express their desire to do so in writing, at least 2 weeks in advance of the forum they will attend, to: Mr. Stanley Hamilton, Office of Motor Carriers, 400 Seventh Street, SW., Washington, DC 20590.

The forums will be chaired by a panel composed of representatives of the FHWA, States, and industry. Speakers are invited to make a short presentation, approximately 5 minutes, which will be followed by an opportunity for questions and comments from the panel. Written information and comments will also be accepted for inclusion in the docket at these forums and may be submitted (preferably in triplicate) to the FHWA representative at the forum.

Additional information on any of these forums is available from Mr. Stanley Hamilton, (202) 366-0665.

ADDRESS: All written comments must be signed and should refer to the docket number that appears at the top of this document and should be submitted (preferably in triplicate) to Room 4205, HCC-10, 400 Seventh Street, SW., Washington, DC 20590. All comments received will be available for examination at the above address from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., ET, Monday through Friday, except legal holidays.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Ms. Jill L. Hochman, Office of Motor Carrier Standards, (202) 366-4009, or Mr. Thomas P. SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:*Background

Currently, only 32 States issue some form of a classified driver's license (i.e., a license which makes a distinction between types of vehicles the holder may operate). Of these, only 12 require State-conducted, behind-the-wheel testing of all applicants in a vehicle which represents the type which the driver operates or expects to operate. The other 20 States waive testing if the applicants meet certain conditions, such as certification of training and testing by their employer, and two States recognize training schools. The remaining 18 States and the District of Columbia do not require applicants to demonstrate their driving skills in the types of vehicles they drive or intend to drive. Drivers in these States who may be qualified to drive only a passenger car may also drive an 18-wheeler to a three-axle intercity bus.

The Congress enacted the Commercial Motor Vehicle Safety Act of 1986 (Title XII of Pub. L. 99-570) to address these problems. Section 12005 of the Act directs the issuance of minimum testing standards to ensure the fitness of drivers of CMVs. In general, the standards must include written and driving tests. The written tests must cover the driver's knowledge of Federal regulations related to the safe operation of CMVs contained in Title 49 of the FMCSRs (49 CFR Chapter III) and knowledge of the vehicle's safety systems. The skills tests must be taken in a vehicle representative of the type of vehicle that each person operates or expects to operate. Also, the standards must ensure that persons are qualified to operate a CMV according to regulations published in the FMCSRs, to the extent that these regulations are applicable to such persons. In addition, the standards must ensure that drivers of CMVs which contain hazardous materials are qualified to operate such vehicles and have a working knowledge of the hazardous materials regulations. Finally, minimum scores for passing the tests must be established.

Section 12006 requires establishment of minimum uniform standards for issuance of CDLs by States. At a minimum, each person to whom a CDL is issued must pass written and driving tests that meet the established standards. Also, CDL documents must contain certain information and be tamperproof.

Section 12009 delineates requirements with which States must comply in order to avoid having Federal-aid highway funds withheld. Some of these requirements are related to issuance of a CDL and must be addressed in the proposed driver licensing procedures. Generally, these requirements define the conditions which must be met for a State to issue a CDL, the information a State must provide to the Commercial Driver's License Information System (CDLIS) about its CDL holders, and the checks a State must make of each applicant's driving record before issuing the CDL.

Throughout implementation of the Act, the FHWA has solicited comment from the States, industry, and the general public. These cooperative efforts help to ensure the commercial driver's licensing program is effective and practical. The FHWA used information and recommendations from several sources in developing the alternative approaches in this proposed rule.

In August 1986, the FHWA published an advance notice of proposed rulemaking (ANPRM) at 51 FR 27567 on the feasibility, scope and practical implementation of a single and classified licensing system. The FHWA received 107 comments to Docket MC-125, Notice No. 86-9, by the November 5, 1986, closing date. Additional comments were received after that date and were also considered in developing this document.

The FHWA also received views and comments during two workshops. The first was funded by the FHWA and sponsored by the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators (AAMVA) and Highway Users Federation for Safety and Mobility (HUFSA) on January 22 and 23, 1987, for State, industry, and driver groups. The second was funded and sponsored by the FHWA on July 14 and 15, 1987, for State, industry and driver groups with an interest in the clearinghouse and related licensing issues. In addition, the FHWA considered advice received from the National Motor Carrier Advisory Committee (NMCAC) which conducted two meetings, announced in the Federal Register (51 FR 45981 and 52 FR 2814) and open to the public, on January 12-13 and February 4, 1987. The transcripts or recommendations from the workshop and the NMCAC meetings have been included as part of Docket MC-125.

The final rule and request for comments on the Commercial Driver Licensing Standards; Requirements and Penalties published in the Federal Register on June 1, 1987, implements provisions of the Act required to be effective July 1, 1987. The FHWA requested comments on several issues in that publication. These comments were considered in developing this proposal. Comments received before and after that final rule are also included in Docket MC-125. Relevant comments and suggestions are addressed as appropriate, in the section discussions which follow.

The final rule issued on June 1, 1987, discussed several question areas, including the definition of a commercial motor vehicle and what types of vehicles should be subject to the requirements of Part 383. For example, this question area considered issues such as the minimum gross vehicle weight rating for which Part 383 would apply, as well as whether and to what degree the requirements should be extended to cover vehicles carrying hazardous materials that are not required to be placarded. Comments have been received on these issues and are being evaluated. The FHWA intends to issue a separate notice of proposed rulemaking to address these concerns.

This document sets forth three alternatives to the standards required by the Act for States to use to test and license CMV operators. Alternative 1 intends to grant maximum latitude and discretion to the States in establishing their CDL program. Alternative 2 is more detailed and specific regarding the design and operation of a State's CDL program. Alternative 3 would provide States a choice of submitting a State plan (Alternative 1) or comply with the detailed and specific regulation (Alternative 2).

The FHWA also seeks comments on the desirability of different levels of CDL program discretion in the final standards than those reflected in the three regulatory alternatives included in this document. Additional suggestions regarding the form and content of the final standards are encouraged. Public comment is also requested on any scientific research or accident data related to driving and testing programs.

Regardless of the regulatory approach finally chosen, it is intended that the issued standards be minimum standards. States would have full discretion to impose additional or more stringent requirements in their CDL program.

Alternative Approaches

The Act was passed because of the public attention and concern for improving safety on the Nation's highways. As a result of these concerns, the Congress reviewed truck safety practices and concluded that standards used by many States to test and license heavy truck and bus drivers are inadequate and nonuniform. To remedy these concerns and assure the public that all CMV operators possess at least the minimum knowledge and skills necessary to safely operate their vehicles, the Act directs the Secretary to develop minimum test and licensing standards which all States must meet.

In response to this mandate, the FHWA considered whether to propose very specific and detailed standards or more general standards that would give the States greater discretion in implementing the testing and licensing programs mandated by the Act. The FHWA has decided to propose two principal alternatives for consideration by the States and other interested parties, and a third alternative that would allow States to use either of the two main alternatives.

The FHWA did not have sufficient information to justify the rejection of either approach to writing minimum standards. Thus, two principal alternatives are included in this proposal for comment and consideration. Under Alternative 1, the States would have maximum flexibility to develop and implement a commercial motor vehicle driver licensing program which meets the requirements of the Act. Each State would be required to submit its plan to the FHWA explaining how its licensing program meets the requirements in the Act. The FHWA would then review each plan to determine whether it is likely to be effective in determining whether a person is qualified to operate a CMV.

Under Alternative 2, the FHWA would issue a relatively detailed level of standards, especially with regard to the content of basic tests, number and type of vehicle classifications, method of testing, and license document information. States would have to meet those specific testing and licensing standards in order to satisfy the requirements of the Act.

The FHWA requests comments on the desirability of each of the two main alternatives. The FHWA also seeks comment on a third alternative—whether the States should have a choice to meet the requirements of the Act using either of the two principal alternatives.

The FHWA believes that all three alternatives meet the requirement in the Act for the establishment of standards for the testing and licensing of CMV operators. The first and third alternatives emphasize the Administration's goal of encouraging the States to develop their own policies to achieve program objectives. They provide States with the maximum administrative discretion possible. To ensure that the mandate of the Act is met, the FHWA will review State plans under Alternative 1 or Alternative 3 if the State chooses to submit a plan. These approaches avoid overly intrusive Federal oversight, and at the same time establish the Federal role to ensure that the State programs meet the intent of the Act. A State program based on the standards presented in Alternative 2 (or if a State chooses to follow the detailed requirements option of Alternative 3) also would meet the requirements of the Act. Even under Alternatives 2 and 3, the States are not restricted to the standards contained in Alternative 2; States may develop more comprehensive testing and licensing processes which achieve the goals and objectives of the Act. This provision also gives States flexibility in achieving their program objectives.

While maximum latitude and discretion for the States resides with Alternative 1, Alternative 2 would provide the States with some flexibility to improve upon or add to the proposed standards. The FHWA also invites public comment on modifications to Alternative 2 to accomplish the intent of the Act and provide the States with greater flexibility to implement the Act's goals for minimum and uniform testing and licensing procedures. Additional alternatives within the general framework of Alternative 2 could deal with parts of the proposed rule or could propose an entirely different method. For example, a commenter could reflect an alternative for Subpart H—Tests that would give a State complete flexibility on procedures to administer licensing tests. Or, a commenter could propose that standards for Subpart G—Required Driver Knowledge and Skills only contain the broad categories of knowledge and skills, and the details contained in the proposed rule would be provided as a guideline rather than as a mandatory requirement. A commenter could also propose that the testing and licensing standards deal with the initial licensing of a CMV driver and that States have complete flexibility on whether or not, or on what basis to test drivers who apply for license renewals, upgrades, or transfers from another State. These are meant to be examples of suggestions that commenters may wish to make; any other suggestions are also welcome.

Section 12011 of the Act requires that Federal-aid highway funds be withheld from States which do not substantially comply with any requirements of this rule, beginning in FY 1994. Thus, the level of detail contained in the proposed Alternative 2 may influence decisions on the adequacy of State programs. The FHWA requests comments from all States on this issue; those which currently have classified licensing and testing programs, as well as those which do not.

Alternative 3: Narrative Description

The FHWA also requests comment on a third alternative under which each State would decide whether to comply with all of Alternative 1 or all of Alternative 2. The FHWA would stipulate that each State must advise the FHWA on which Alternative it would comply with for testing and licensing persons to drive commercial motor vehicles.

Alternative 3 provides the States flexibility in deciding how to carry out its testing and licensing responsibilities while meeting the minimum Federal standards. Under Alternative 3, each State would have the prerogative to determine which regulatory alternative provides an appropriate framework for managing its activities in a way that best suits the States's own needs.

Commenters should address whether the FHWA should adopt Alternative 3 if the States and other docket commenters are divided in their preference for Alternative 1 or 2. Alternative 3 embodies an implicit trade-off between providing flexibility to the States and achieving uniformity in the licensing and testing of drivers of commercial motor vehicles. In light of these considerations, commenters should address whether they believe Alternative 3 is a desirable or superior alternative and explain why.

Paperwork

While developing the proposed testing and licensing standards, the FHWA recognized that the proposal could impose a major paperwork burden on States and drivers. The FHWA attempted, to the extent practical, to design the three alternatives to make them compatible with testing and licensing procedures now used by the States and to minimize the burden increase. The FHWA, however, believes that an increase in these burdens may be necessary to accomplish the goals and objectives of the Act. The FHWA invites comments on these alternatives, as well as other approaches commenters may suggest, which would reduce the burden without compromising safety. The FHWA is particularly interested in ways to simplify the procedures, minimize the potential expense of licensing CMV drivers, and allow States sufficient latitude to be innovative in the testing of CMV drivers.

The rest of this supplementary section contains a summary of the requirements of the Act addressed by this proposal and a section-by-section analysis of the two alternative approaches.

Section-by-Section Analysis

Two Section-by-Section analyses are included in this proposed notice: Alternative 1 and Alternative 2. Regulatory language for each alternative follows the Section-by-Section analysis.

Alternative 1: Section-by-Section Analysis

Subpart B—License Requirements

This subpart sets forth general requirements that drivers be tested and licensed in accordance with the Act. This proposed subpart is the same in both Alternatives 1 and 2. A full discussion of these general requirements is contained in the Section-by-Section analysis accompanying Alternative 2 below.

Subpart E—State Testing and Licensing Plans

Section 383.71 Formulation of testing and licensing plan.

The FHWA recognizes that the States and their licensing agencies have the capability to develop and implement programs to ensure the fitness of CMV operators consistent with the goals of the Act. Many States are already developing programs which may already comply with the Act and effectively establish that CMV operators have the skills and knowledge necessary to safely operate such vehicles.

Since the Act directs the FHWA to establish minimum standards to ensure the commercial motor vehicles are qualified, the FHWA would require States to develop commercial driver's license plans that meet the Act's objectives.

Each State would be required to submit to the FHWA a plan for its testing and licensing programs. The State's programs would have to meet the driver licensing and testing requirements of sections 12005(a)(1) through 12005(a)(8) of the Act, the licensing requirements of section 12006 of the Act, and the requirements of section 12009.

State plans would show how commercial motor vehicle operators would be required to take and pass written and driving tests and to take their driving tests in a vehicle that is representative of the class or type which they operate. Written tests would need to be designed to test the drivers' knowledge of safe vehicle operations, vehicle safety systems, safe operating procedures for various traffic and weather conditions and relation of cargo to vehicle control at a working level. The written tests must also be designed so that they ensure that drivers of commercial motor vehicles carrying hazardous materials have the appropriate working knowledge of regulations, handling procedures, emergency equipment and response procedures for hazardous materials transportation.

Section 12005(a)(7) of the Act states that regulations for testing of CMV operators shall ensure that each person taking such test is qualified to operate commercial motor vehicles under regulations issued by the Secretary and contained in Title 49 of the CFR, "to the extent such regulations are applicable to such person." These requirements, found in Part 391 of the FMCSRs, apply to drivers of motor vehicles engaged in interstate commerce. In response to section 12005(a)(7), the proposed rule would require that States demonstrate in their plans the means to ensure that applicants meet the applicable Federal driver qualification requirements if the applicant operates or expects to operate in interstate commerce. States would continue to have the responsibility to establish intrastate driver qualification standards and to determine the applicant's compliance with these standards.

Enforcement of driver compliance with the driver qualifications requirements would continue under current practice of roadside inspections, carrier audits, and other State and Federal enforcement avenues. The driver license agencies would also play a related enforcement role by obtaining required certifications, maintaining commercial driver records, completing required checks of these records, and making appropriate notifications to the CDLIS. States would also have the option to have their driver license agencies assume greater review of driver medical and other qualifications during the licensing process.

Section 383.21 currently requires that persons who operate CMVs shall have only one driver's license. Also, section 12009 of the Act requires that a State not issue a CDL to an individual whose license is suspended, revoked, or canceled or who is disqualified from operating a CMV. To ensure these requirements are met by drivers applying for a CDL, the FHWA proposes that States would include in their plans methods to check and consider information in the CDLIS and the National Drivers Register (NDR) about such drivers before issuing a CDL to determine if the driver is licensed elsewhere and to provide information to the CDLIS as required by the Act.

Section 383.73 Approval of Plan.

States would be required to submit their commercial driver's license program plans to the FHWA no later than July 15, 1989, and within 30 days following any significant change in such plan. The FHWA would approve State plans, provided the FHWA determines that these plans are likely to result in an effective program that ensures that only qualified driver applicants are licensed.

The proposed rule also encourages, but does not require, States to periodically review and evaluate their programs. In addition, the FHWA would be able to withdraw its approval in cases where the FHWA determines that the State program is no longer effective, after the State has an opportunity for comment.

Section 383.75 Third party testing.

Section 12005(c)(3) of the Act allows for third parties to administer driving tests. The FHWA proposes that States may use a third party to administer driving skills tests. According to the Act, a third party may be a person (including a department, agency, or instrumentality of a local government). The FHWA proposal would allow a broad interpretation of this provision to include another State or public or private organizations with which the State has an agreement.

The State would submit to the FHWA its agreements for having a third party administer tests along with its commercial driver's license plans. When the FHWA approves the State's commercial driver's license plan, the third party testing agreements would also be approved.

Section 383.77 Substitute for driving skills test.

This section provides an option to the State to grandfather certain current CMV operators from the driving test. The FHWA proposes the same procedure for Alternatives 1 and 2. A full discussion of the substitute test procedure is contained in § 383.77 of the Alternative 2 Section-by-Section Analysis.

Subpart F—Motor Vehicle Groups and Endorsements

As part of its commercial driver's license program plans, each State would require driver applicants to demonstrate knowledge and driving skills for the category of vehicle for which the applicant requests a license. The FHWA proposes the same vehicle groups and endorsements for Alternatives 1 and 2. A full discussion of the vehicle groups and endorsements is contained in the Alternative 2 Section-By-Section Analysis.

Subpart G—Required Knowledge and Skills

This subpart would require that for a person to be issued a CDL, he/she must be familiar with the FMCSRs and any safety system of the vehicle he/she intends to drive. This subpart also would require all operators of vehicles carrying hazardous materials to have a working knowledge of the hazardous materials regulations issued by the Department. These drivers would also be required to know how to handle hazardous materials, operate emergency equipment, and follow appropriate emergency response procedures. The FHWA requests public comment on whether the hazardous materials knowledge requirements should apply only to drivers of commercial motor vehicles which are placarded.

Subpart H—Tests

This subpart would establish the minimum passing scores for the various tests which States would administer. The minimum passing scores would be the same in both Alternatives 1 or 2. The Subpart H section in the Alternative 2 Section-by-Section Analysis contains a full discussion on minimum scores.

Subpart I—[Reserved]

Subpart J—Commercial Driver's License Document

This subpart includes the standards for CDL documents. The FHWA proposes the same document requirements for Alternatives 1 and 2. Subpart J in the Alternative 2 Section-by-Section includes a full discussion on the document to be issued.

Alternative 2: Section-by-Section Analysis

This section-by-section analysis includes a discussion of each Subpart in Part 383 which is modified by this proposal. Subpart B is modified to require that CMV drivers be tested and licensed in accordance with the Act. Subparts E through J are proposed sections pertaining to testing and licensing procedures, vehicle categories, required knowledge and skills, test giving, and the license document. Subpart I is reserved for the future specifications of the CDLIS. Each of these subparts, beginning with the changes to Subpart B, is discussed below:

Section 383.23 Commercial driver's license.

According to the requirements which became effective on July 1, 1987, drivers of CMVs can have only a single license. This section proposes additional requirements for persons who operate CMVs. After April 1, 1992, all operators of CMVs shall take and pass written and driving tests that meet the minimum standards promulgated by FHWA. Operators of CMVs with special handling characteristics such as a double trailer combination, or a vehicle required to be placarded for hazardous materials, would also be required to take and pass additional tests to obtain an endorsement to the CDL authorizing him/her to operate such a vehicle. This proposal would also require CMV drivers to possess a CDL while operating a CMV. The CDL would be issued by States only to drivers who pass both the written and driving tests.

To allow novice drivers to obtain the necessary training in a CMV, the FHWA would allow States, if they so choose, to issue limited learner's permits. The issuance of a learner's permit would not be a precondition to issuing a CDL. However, States may choose to make learner's permits available for limited time periods to first-time applicants for use in behind-the-wheel training on public roads or highways and/or taking the required skills tests in traffic. States which issue learner's permits for CMV drivers would do so as a continuation of their existing learner's permit programs and may also require applicants to pass test(s) prior to issuance of the learner's permit for the specific vehicle groups or endorsement desired. Conditions for issuance of a learner's permit and circumstances under which such permits may be used would be determined by the State of issuance.

Subpart E—Testing and Licensing Procedures

This section contains the testing and licensing procedures for CDLs. The proposed tests would be for each vehicle group in which the applicant operates or wishes to operate, and would be at least cover the knowledge and skills described in Subpart G. Knowledge tests could be given in written, oral, and/or automated format. Skills tests would have to be given in a vehicle that is representative of the group of vehicle which the applicant operates or expects to operate.

Verification of Driver Qualifications. Section 12005(a)(7) of the Act states that regulations for testing of CMV operators shall ensure that each person taking such tests is qualified to operate commercial motor vehicles under regulations issued by the Secretary and contained in Title 49 of the CFR, "to the extent such regulations are applicable to such person." These requirements, found in Part 391 to the FMCSRs, apply to drivers of motor vehicles engaged in the interstate commerce. In response to section 12005(a)(7), the proposed rule would require that States include in the commercial driver license application process, a means for applicants to certify that they meet the applicable Federal driver qualification requirements if the applicant operates or expects to operate in interstate commerce. States would continue to have the responsibility to establish intrastate driver qualification standards and to determine the applicant's compliance with these standards.

Enforcement of driver compliance with the driver qualifications requirements would continue under current practice of roadside inspections, carrier audits, and other State and Federal enforcement avenues. The driver license agencies would also play a related enforcement role by obtaining required certifications, maintaining commercial driver records, completing required checks of these records, and making appropriate notifications to the CDLIS. States would also have the option to have their driver license agencies assume greater review of driver medical and other qualifications during the licensing process.

Section 383.71 Driver application procedures.

In general, a CMV operator would obtain his/her license in the State in which he/she is domiciled. The FHWA proposes that every CDL applicant complete the following process to obtain his/her CDL for the first time (other than renewals or transfers):

(a) An applicant subject to 49 CFR Part 391 would certify that he/she meets the driver qualification requirements of Part 391 as a condition to taking the tests;

(b) Pass a knowledge test to demonstrate that he/she is familiar with the regulations designed to ensure the public safety and with the skills needed to safely operate the type of vehicle that he/she operates or expects to operate;

(c) Certify that the vehicle in which he/she will take the driving skills tests is representative of the type of vehicle he/she operates or expects to operate;

(d) Pass the necessary driving skills tests; and

(e) Provide all information required by the standard.

If he/she satisfies all of the requirements described above, surrenders his/her existing noncommercial license and is not disqualified according to Subpart D, then the State may issue the applicant a CDL.

The FHWA proposes that any driver who applies for a renewal of his/her CDL would make the certification of driver qualification, and provide an update of required information. In addition, holders of the hazardous materials endorsement (§ 383.123) would be further tested and must pass the hazardous materials test to retain that endorsement. The hazardous materials endorsement retest would help keep drivers of such vehicles current on changes in the hazardous materials regulations and safety related procedures.

For those commercial drivers who wish to drive a vehicle in a different vehicle group, the FHWA proposes that the driver would make the certification of driver qualification, certify that the vehicle in which he/she takes the driving skills tests is representative of the type of vehicle he/she operates or expects to operate, and pass the tests related to the upgraded vehicle group or endorsement.

Any driver who moves (i.e., changes his/her domicile) from another State or jurisdiction would be required to apply for a new CDL within 30 days of moving and to surrender his/her current CDL as a condition of receiving a new CDL. Such a driver would make the certification of driver qualification and provide any new or updated information. The new State may require that the driver be retested.

Section 383.73 State procedures.

This section outlines the procedures which a State would follow, as a minimum, for the issuance of a CDL which meets the requirements of the Act.

Driver Manual—The FHWA proposes that States would make available to all CDL applicants information on the licensing procedures, qualifications, and tests required by the State and the knowledge and skills each driver applicant must possess. The knowledge and skill requirements are described in Subpart G.

Initial CDL—Prior to the first-time issuance of a CDL to a person, the State would:

(a) Adopt a program for testing and ensuring the fitness of persons to operate CMVs in accordance with the standards;

(b) Ensure that persons choosing to operate in interstate commerce and subject to Part 391 of the FMCSRs make the appropriate certifications regarding their qualifications prior to being issued a CDL;

(c) Issue CDLs only to persons who pass written and driving tests for the operation of a CMV which comply with these standards;

(d) Issue CDLs which contain information and other specifications included in the standard;

(e) For persons moving from another State or jurisdiction, request and consider the applicant's driving record from the prior State of issuance before issuing an initial CDL and require the applicant to surrender his/her noncommercial license;

(f) Not issue a CDL to a person who is disqualified from operating a CMV, or whose driver's license is suspended, revoked, or canceled;

(g) Issue CDLs only to persons domiciled in the State; except persons domiciled in a foreign jurisdiction that does not test and issue licenses meeting the standards may be issued a commercial driver certificate;

(h) Notify the CDLIS of the issuance of a CDL and provide the CDLIS with information on that driver. (The required information will be discussed in a separate rulemaking or other action on the CDLIS.)

The FHWA expects most or all States to develop a licensing program consistent with the Act's requirements. However, if the Administrator determines that a State will not adopt and implement a program to test and license CMV drivers according to standards included in this part by April 1, 1992, FHWA proposes to allow drivers from such States to obtain a commercial driver's certification (CDC) from a State which does conform to the testing standards. The FHWA believes that issuance of a CDC rather than a CDL from another State is the best way to ensure that these drivers do not violate the single license-single record requirement.

Drivers from nonconforming States would be prohibited from obtaining a CDC until October 1, 1991. This period (October 1, 1991, to April 1, 1992) will allow drivers sufficient time to go to another State to apply for a CDC and be tested. The CDCs would be issued according to the standards described in § 383.73 and would be considered a valid CDL only when used in conjunction with the driver's State-issued license.

Multiple License and Driver's Record Check—Section 383.21 currently requires that persons who operate CMVs shall have only one driver's license. Also, section 12009 of the Act requires that a State not issue a CDL to an individual whose license is suspended, revoked, or canceled or who is disqualified from operating a CMV. To ensure these requirements are met by drivers applying for a CDL, the FHWA proposes that States check and consider information in the CDLIS and the National Drivers Register (NDR) about such drivers before issuing a CDL to determine if the driver is licensed elsewhere.

Prior to April 1, 1992, a check of only the CDLIS and the NDR may not yield complete information about the driver because he/she does not yet have a CDL and would not be reflected in the CDLIS. To eliminate this problem, the FHWA proposes that States check with all other States to determine if the driver is licensed elsewhere. By April 1, 1992, all operators of CMVs must be tested and licensed based on the Federal standards. Once licensed, information on all CMV drivers will be contained in the CDLIS and the State can check solely with the CDLIS and the NDR for the license status of the applicant.

Before April 1, 1992, the FHWA proposes that States have the option to perform the check either prior to issuing a CDL or to verify the information for each driver applicant within 60 days after issuing a CDL. This proposal would allow States to complete the necessary checks before the time when the CDLIS is operational. The check may occur by any means, including mail or electronic checks.

During the period before April 1, 1992, a State may determine that a driver to whom it has issued a CDL has a valid license from another State or has a suspended, revoked or canceled license, or has been convicted of or charged with a disqualifying offense from another State. In this case, the State that issued the CDL would suspend or revoke the driver's CDL within 30 days. However, the FHWA believes that after April 1, 1992, and when the CDLIS is fully operational, this provision would no longer be necessary because the States would determine the driver's status before issuing the CDL.

Although the States would not be required by this rule to check the NDR until it is determined to be operational by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administrator, it is recognized that the States are exploring the development of systems which would enable them to access both CDLIS and the NDR prior to that time. Because States are authorized to access the NDR under separate legislation, efforts in this regard are encouraged.

Transfers—The FHWA proposal includes requirements for a person who has a CDL and then changes his/her State of domicile and applies for a CDL from his/her new State. For these cases, the State would have the option to accept the credentials of that driver or to require that the driver be further tested according to its own testing and licensing procedures. At a minimum, the new State of domicile would be required to obtain the certification of driver qualification, information updates and complete the driver record checks that would be required for issuance of an initial CDL. The State would also be required to retest those drivers who wish to retain his/her hazardous materials endorsement. The FHWA believes this proposal would ensure that such drivers continue to be knowledgeable about the safe operations and requirements related to hazardous materials.

Renewals—Under the proposal, State procedures for renewing a CDL would include the certification of driver qualification, updates of information that would be required to be included on the CDL and completion of a check of the driver's record. As mentioned in the earlier section, a driver who desires to retain his/her hazardous materials endorsement would be required to successfully complete the test being given by the State for the hazardous materials endorsement to ensure he/she continues to be knowledgeable about hazardous materials regulations and safety procedures.

Upgrades—The FHWA proposes that the State follow a combination of procedures whenever a driver changes the vehicle group in which he/she is currently licensed to operate. The driver applicant would have to provide the certification of driver qualification and information specified under the renewal section, and would be tested for the different portion(s) of the CDL as if he/she were making an initial application.

License Issuance and Notification—This paragraph in the proposed rule specifies that if the driver applicant has successfully met the requirements for a CDL, he/she can be issued a CDL or CDC. Once the document is issued, the State would inform the CDLIS and provide it with the appropriate information.

Certification of Fitness. Section 12005(a)(8) of the Act allows the Secretary to consider a requirement that States issue certificates of fitness to operate a CWV to each person who passes the required tests. Such a requirement would accommodate drivers whose States do not participate in the commercial driver licensing program and drivers from contiguous foreign countries whose licensing standards do not meet the Federal standards and would ensure that such drivers do not violate the single license requirement. The FHWA proposes that States issue CDCs only to such drivers. Drivers from a State which does not comply would be able to obtain a CDC only after October 1, 1991. Foreign drivers would be able to obtain a CDC after FHWA determines that their countries or political subdivisions do not test and license consistent with the standard.

A CDC would not be valid as a stand alone document. The CDC would be issued under the same requirements as a CDL and would only be valid in combination with a valid license issued by the drivers' State of domicile or country of residence. The CDC would only be issued after the driver takes and passes tests which meet the Federal standard.

Drivers with these certificates would continue to notify their State of licensure or country of domicile of any violation as described in § 383.31 and of any suspensions, revocations, and cancellations as specified in § 383.33. In addition to notifying the State of licensure, the FHWA proposes that drivers with these certificates would notify the State which issued the CDC of any violation or license suspension, cancellation, or revocations as described in §§ 383.31 and 383.33. This action would ensure that each CMV operator has a driver's record consistent with the goals of the Act in both States. Also, it would ensure that appropriate information about the driver is included in the CDLIS and would ensure that these records can be appropriately monitored by States.

CDL Revocation—This paragraph proposes minimum revocation requirements for persons who falsify the information or certification required to be provided by CDL applicants. If a State determines that a person falsified the information, the State would revoke the license within 30 days.

Reciprocity—Section 12009(a)(14) of the Act requires that States allow any person who has a valid CDL and who is not disqualified from operating a CMV, to operate a CMV in the State. The FHWA proposes to include this requirement in § 383.73 as a condition for States to issue a CDL which meets the standards.

Section 383.75 Third party testing.

Section 12005(c)(3) of the Act allows for third parties to administer driving tests. The FHWA proposes that States may use a third party to administer driving skills tests. According to the Act, a third party may be a person (including a department, agency, or instrumentality of a local government). The FHWA proposal would allow a broad interpretation of this provision to include another State or public or private organizations with which the State has an agreement. Because of concerns that third party testers may compromise standards adopted by the States, agreements between States and third parties would need to include the provisions required by the Act as well as additional provisions that would establish mechanisms to ensure that people who pass the tests given by third parties would have passed tests had they taken them from the State. Under the FHWA proposal, third parties may give driving tests if the following conditions are met:

(a) Tests given by the third party are the same as those which the State would give;

(b) The State's agreement with the testing party allows the FHWA or its representative and the State to conduct random examinations, inspections, and audits without prior notice;

(c) The State agrees to conduct on-site inspections at least annually;

(d) All third party examiners meet the same qualification and training standards as State examiners; and

(e) State employees periodically "check-ride" with examiners on actual tests, or States periodically test a sample of drivers who were examined by third parties to compare pass/fail results.

Section 383.77 Substitute for driving skills test.

The FHWA recognizes that CMV drivers are professionals who are, as a group, highly experienced in the skills needed to operate such vehicles. In response to the overwhelming number of comments from the States and the motor carrier industry in this regard, the FHWA proposal provides States an option to allow certain drivers to substitute a good driving record and experience for the driving skills test. States would be able to exercise this option only for the basic skills tests. The provision would not be used for the knowledge tests or the tests related to the proposed endorsements, except for the driving skills test required for the air brake endorsement. The option would apply to drivers of commercial motor vehicles who were licensed before July 15, 1988, and who either (1) have a good driving record and have previously passed an acceptable skills test or (2) have a good driving record in combination with certain driving experience. The FHWA believes that for many current drivers, their experience is an appropriate indication that the individual has the minimum driving skills to operate a commercial motor vehicle. Accordingly, the FHWA believes that this provision would not diminish public safety or overall safe operation of commercial vehicles.

A State which chooses to exercise this option would have to adopt criteria to eliminate certain applicants from consideration under this provision. As a minimum, an applicant must be licensed before July 15, 1988, and must:

(1) Certify that he/she has not committed certain offenses; and

(2) Certify that he/she has previously passed an acceptable skills test or has certain experience driving a commercial motor vehicle.

The FHWA looked at the practices used by several States to determine whether applicants who are transferring their licenses from another State need to take driving tests. Based on these current practices, the FHWA proposes that an applicant would first have to certify that he/she has not violated the single license or disqualification provisions in Part 383. In addition, an applicant could not have a violation of State or local law relating to motor vehicle traffic control (other than a parking violation) arising in connection with any traffic accident or a record of an accident where he/she was at fault, during the 2 years immediately preceding application for a CDL. Second, the applicant would have passed an acceptable skills test—i.e., one which was given by a State with a classified licensing and testing system, and which was taken by the driver behind-the-wheel in a vehicle representative of the type or classification which the applicant operates or expects to operate. In lieu of an acceptable skills test, the applicant may qualify for an exception to the driving skills test that is based on prior experience. In this case, an applicant would be required to have 2 years experience of driving a vehicle that is representative of the type or class of vehicle for which he/she wishes to obtain a CDL. A State would need to ensure that the applicant has this experience through mechanisms such as requiring the employer to provide certification.

Question Area: Licensing Procedures

Comments are specifically requested on:

(1) What proof of domicile, if any, school an applicant be required to provide to the State for initial licensing renewals, upgrades, and transfers? Should applicants be required to provide a specific mailing address rather than a post office box?

(2) The FHWA has proposed that States continue their existing learner's permit programs for CMV drivers. Should there be any Federal standard for learner's permits? What time period, if any, should be included if such a standard were adopted?

(3) When the CDLIS is operational, the statute provides a maximum period of 60 days for States to check the driver's record any up to a 30-day period for States to notify the CDLIS of the issuance of a CDL or CDC. This may be excessive. Should the FHWA shorten these time periods? If so, what would be the appropriate future maximum time periods for the record check and for the notification?

(4) Is it appropriate for the testing and licensing standards to require a CDL holder to retake the complete set of tests, after he/she has had his/her CDL for a certain period of time? For example, should the complete set of tests be required 1 year prior to renewal or 10 years after the applicant first receives a CDL? What timeframes would be appropriate for these cases?

(5) What additional conditions and standards should be contained in the standards for the State agreements for third party testers to limit potential for abuse and conflicts of interest? Would it be appropriate to strengthen or eliminate requirements for such provisions? Should the third party be required to provide evidence to the State when an applicant successfully passes a test?

(6) Should the States be given the option of accepting another State's hazardous materials endorsement instead of retesting the driver when he/she transfer his/her CDL from another State? Also, is it appropriate to require periodic retesting for any driver to retain his/her hazardous materials endorsement as the FHWA has proposed? If so, what timeframe should be required?

(7) The FHWA's proposal requires drivers from States which do not comply with the standard to obtain a CDC. An alternative would be to require such drivers to get a CDL from a State of their choice. In this case, the FHWA's standard could preempt any State residency laws which require individuals who reside in the State to be licensed in that State. What would be the benefits and costs of this alternative as it compares to the FHWA proposal? How could the related legal problems with respect to preemption of State laws be resolved?

(8) In addition to notifying their State of licensure, drivers who obtain a CDC according to the proposal would also need to notify the State which issued the CDC of any violation or license cancellation, revocation, or suspension. These notifications would help ensure that the driver's CDC is invalidated by the State which issued it when and if the driver is disqualified. What methods can be used to ensure that these drivers are notifying both States of the proper information? Are there ways, such as requiring these drivers to get a CDL as suggested in Question 7 above, which can reduce the potential complexity of enforcing these requirements? If so, what are they and how would they be enforced?

Subpart F—Vehicle Groups, Representative Vehicles, and Endorsements.

In accordance with section 12005 of the Act, any applicant for a CDL must demonstrate driving skills in a vehicle which is representative of the type of vehicle such person operates or expects to operate. Four broad vehicle groups are proposed by FHWA to help define the types of vehicles which would be considered acceptable representative vehicles. These groups reflect different vehicle handling characteristics under different traffic conditions and situations. Thus, separate skills and in some cases, knowledge tests are required for each group. These tests are described in Subpart G.

Section 383.91 Vehicle groups.

The four vehicle groups proposed by FHWA are:

"Combination Vehicle"—any combination of vehicles with a Gross Combination Weight Rating (GCWR) of 26,001 pounds or more provided the vehicle or trailer being pulled is at least 10,001 pounds Gross Vehicle Weight Rating (GVWR). Drivers who successfully complete the test requirements for this group may also operate vehicles in the Heavy Straight Truck and Small Vehicle groups without passing additional tests.

"Bus"—any vehicle designed to carry more than 15 passengers, including the driver. Drivers who successfully complete the test requirements for this group may also operate vehicles in the Small Vehicle group without further tests (except for any endorsements required). (An alternative approach to defining the bus vehicle group is discussed at length under the question areas included later in the Preamble for this section of the proposed rule.)

"Heavy Straight Truck"—any vehicle with a Gross Vehicle Weight Rating of 26,001 pounds or more, or any combination of vehicles with a GCWR of 26,001 pounds or more provided the trailer or vehicle being pulled is not greater than 10,000 pounds GVWR. Drivers who successfully complete the test requirements for this group may also operate vehicles in the Small Vehicle group without further tests.

"Small Vehicle"—any vehicle with a GVWR or GCWR of under 26,001 pounds. This group is proposed in order to ensure that operators of vehicles within these weight limits that are required to be placarded for hazardous materials are qualified and have the basic knowledge and skills needed to safely operate such vehicles. (Drivers of vehicles which carry hazardous materials would also be required to obtain a separate endorsement.) Also, individual State licensing requirements for vehicles in these weight limits which would not otherwise be subject to Part 383 could be covered by this proposed group.

Section 383.93 Endorsements.

The FHWA is proposing endorsements to the CDL designed to ensure that the operators of CMVs with specialized handling characteristics possess specialized knowledge and skills related to those vehicles. Drivers of such equipment must demonstrate these knowledge and skills, in addition to the knowledge and skills required for the basic vehicle group. Endorsements are proposed for: (1) Air brakes for any vehicle so equipped which would not be included in the Combination Vehicle Group, (2) double/triple trailers, (3) articulated buses, (4) cargo tanks, and (5) vehicles that carry hazardous materials in quantities sufficient to be placarded. For the air brake and cargo tank endorsements, the driver must pass knowledge and skills tests. For the other endorsements, the driver will be required to pass a knowledge test.

Vehicle Groups—Responses received by FHWA to Docket MC-125 supported classification of vehicles according to weight and number of articulation points. The AAMVA, the American Automobile Association (AAA), the American Trucking Association (ATA), the HUFSA, and the NMCAC suggested specific vehicle classifications to FHWA. The vehicle groups included in this proposal generally follow the recommendations by AAMVA, ATA, and HUFSA. The exception is the separate group for buses which follows the NMCAC recommendation. Because of the critical passenger safety-related factors associated with the transportation of passengers, a separate test for buses is proposed. The AAA recommended a separate vehicle class for tandem tractor-trailers; the proposed endorsements recognized the additional operational consideration of these types of vehicles.

Endorsements—Accident analyses indicate that the driver's actions and reactions are the principal causal factors in the majority of accidents involving motor carriers. The operation of certain heavy trucks and buses also requires specific skills and knowledge unique to their configuration, and loading and handling characteristics. Of particular concern are vehicles that have increased articulation points, vehicles which carry cargoes that change the handling and operating characteristics of the vehicle, or vehicles which require unique knowledge to operator safely. Therefore, FHWA proposes that operators of such vehicles have knowledge about the safe operation of these vehicles in addition to the knowledge related to the vehicle groups.

The FHWA's data on accidents related to equipment failure consistently show brake defects as the most frequently reported cause of accidents related to mechanical defects. Thus, the FHWA would include knowledge and skills related to air brakes as part of the basic requirements for the Combination Vehicle Group since the majority of vehicles in this group are so equipped. Safe operation of other CMVs that may be equipped with air brakes requires such drivers to have additional knowledge and skills and the FHWA's proposed standard would require operators of such other CMVs to have an air brake endorsement.

According to data in the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration's (NHTSA's) Fatal Accident Reporting System,<sup>1</sup> the number of multitrailer combination vehicles involved in fatal accidents as a percent of the number of all fatal accidents involving all combination vehicles increased from 4.1 percent in 1975 to 4.8 percent in 1985. While this increase may not be significant, the relative incidence of accidents involving operation of doubles or triples compared to tractor-semitrailer operation continue to be subject to much debate and study. The results of these debates and research efforts yield no conclusive results; except that it is clear that there are differences in the operation of double or triple trailers compared to the operation of tractor-semitrailers. For example, offtracking of "twins" at low speeds has been shown to be significantly less than that which occurs at low speeds for a tractor semitrailer. On the other hand, a vehicle with shorter wheelbases, such as those typically used with twins, may be more difficult to control when turns are entered at high speed. Therefore, FHWA proposes that drivers who operate or expect to operate doubles or triples be required to have an endorsement to their CDL in order to operate those vehicles.

For reasons similar to those described above, FHWA's proposed standard also includes a requirement that operators of articulated buses possess an endorsement. Research done by the Urban Mass Transportation Administration (UMTA) and reported in its November 1984 "Planning Handbook for Articulated Buses," page 39, found that most metropolitan transportation agencies "have reported somewhat worse accident experience with artics (articulated buses) than with standard buses." The articulated bus endorsement would be separate from the double/triple trailers endorsement because the requirements for carrying passengers are different from other operations, and the safety systems of buses are different from other CMVs.

The FHWA recognizes that cargo tank operations present special concerns. For example, in 1986, there were 818 accidents reported to the FHWA involving cargo tank trucks transporting hazardous materials resulting in 136 fatalities, 761 injuries, and over $17 million in property damage. In the same year there were 1,278 accidents reported by nonhazardous materials cargo tank carriers, resulting in 142 fatalities, 1,177 injuries and over $17 million property damage. The most important operating difference between driving a cargo tank motor vehicle and a standard dry freight truck is liquid product surge which may be the most significant condition that a cargo tank driver must be able to mitigate. Other factors that may threaten vehicle stability, therefore presenting a safety risk, include: Sloshing liquids in various cargo tank designs; various loading conditions; and the impact of liquids on driving maneuvers such as braking, backing, turning, and combined braking/steering maneuvers. It is important that the drivers of these vehicles be given special emphasis during the licensing process, and FHWA's standard includes a requirement that drivers of cargo tanks have an endorsement.

Section 12005(a)(5) of the Act requires that drivers of vehicles that carry hazardous materials demonstrate a knowledge of hazardous materials regulations and emergency procedures. The FHWA proposes to implement this provision of the Act by including a special hazardous materials endorsement in the standard. Also, drivers of cargo tanks transporting hazardous materials would obtain an endorsement both for cargo tanks and hazardous materials.

Representative Vehicles—Section 12005(a)(2) of the Act requires that the skills test be taken in a vehicle representative of the type which the person operates or expects to operate. While there were no specific questions in Docket MC-125 on the types of vehicles in which applicants for a CDL should be required to demonstrate their driving skills, several commenters addressed the concern in their responses to questions about the requirements of an operator test. Generally, the commenters leaned toward testing in the type of vehicle the driver intends to drive. The National Transportation Safety Board (NTSB) recommended that applicants be tested in the largest vehicle allowable in a given class. Such a requirement could place an unreasonable burden on a driver applicant to obtain for test purposes only, a vehicle other than one he/she typically operates or expects to operate. Alternatively, it would place a burden on States to acquire or to have available such vehicles for applicants to use for the tests. Comments are invited on whether this burden on States would be reasonable.

The FHWA proposes, however, that applicants be required to take their skills test in a representative vehicle—one that meets the definition of the vehicle group in which they drive or intend to drive—and to certify such to their State. The FHWA believes that the driving tests will adequately determine the ability of the driver to operate any CMV within that group. The FHWA proposes that the applicant certify to the licensing authority at the time of the test that the vehicle that he/she uses for the skills tests is a representative vehicle. The FHWA believes that the States should have flexibility in allowing drivers to use vehicles other than the exact vehicle or type of vehicle which the driver operates or expects to operate. States would also have the option of providing the representative vehicle for any vehicle group. This flexibility could resolve problems associated with bringing unique vehicles, such as fire trucks and specialized auto transporters, to the skills test location while allowing States to require testing with such vehicles where appropriate. As specified in § 383.75, States would also have the option of allowing other persons or employers to administer the skills tests.

Question Area: Vehicle Groups and Endorsements

The FHWA requests comment on the following specific issues:

(1) All Groups—Except for the bus group, the vehicle groups proposed by FHWA are distinguished by two factors: the weight rating of the vehicle and the weight rating of the trailer being pulled. Public comment is sought on whether the groups of vehicles should be separated only by the combined weight rating regardless of the size of the vehicle being towed.

(2) Small Vehicle Group—The principal reason this group is proposed is to provide a category of licenses for operators of vehicles which are under 26,001 pounds GVWR but which carry hazardous materials. The proposed rule also requires the driver to certify that the vehicle used in the skills test represents the type of vehicle used by the driver. Is such certification by the driver sufficient given the various types of vehicles which fall into this category which are placarded for hazardous materials? Public comment is also requested on whether the group should be split to include vehicles up to 10,000 pounds GVWR or GCWR and vehicles between 10,001 and 26,000 pounds GVWR or GCWR. Also, public comment is requested on whether the driving skills within these two potential groups can be differentiated in an on-road test.

(3) Bus Group—Because buses vary considerably by length of wheelbase and by height and weight, the knowledge and skills which a driver of a large transit bus would possess may be significantly different from those of a driver of a large van, a small school bus, or a large intercity bus. Canada's national safety code separates buses by the number of passengers carried. For example, a typical Canadian Class 2 provincial license permits operation of any bus of any seating capacity, and the Class 4 provincial license permits operation of buses with seating capacity of not more than 24 passengers. The FHWA, therefore, is considering an alternative which would use a 24 person threshold to separate the bus vehicle group into two groups; Large Bus and Small Bus. Under this scheme the air brake knowledge and skills could be part of the mandated test for the Large Bus Group. What would be the costs and benefits related to this alternative approach? Can the skills between these groups be differentiated in a test? Would requiring drivers of all Large Buses to demonstrate skills with an air brake equipped vehicle pose problems for drivers of large school buses (greater than 24 passengers) which may not be so equipped? What other ways could this group be subdivided?

(4) Double/Triple Trailers and Articulated Buses—Operators of both double/triple and articulated buses would be required to obtain endorsements based on separate but similar knowledge tests. Since the required knowledge for these endorsements is similar (see discussion under Subpart G), the FHWA is considering an alternative which would combine the two into one endorsement: Articulated Vehicles. This approach would result in fewer types of endorsements and therefore, fewer different pieces of information to be recorded on a CDL and in the driver's record. What would be the costs and benefits of this approach? Are the knowledge requirements for operators of Double/Triple and Articulated Buses similar enough to be combined into one endorsement?

(5) Air Brake—The FHWA has proposed that operators of all CMVs in the Combination Vehicle Group have knowledge and skills related to air brakes as part of the basic test standards. The air brake endorsement is included in the FHWA proposal so that drivers of CMVs which may fall into the other vehicle groups, but which are equipped with air brakes, have the necessary knowledge and skills related to the safe operation of such braking systems. The FHWA has proposed this knowledge and skill test to be included by States within the basic exam for the Combination Vehicle Group. The majority of vehicles included in this group are equipped with air brake systems. In cases where a driver operates a vehicle in the Combination Vehicle Group which is not equipped with air brakes, a State could restrict to non-air brake-equipped vehicles the license of such drivers, rather than requiring such drivers to take tests which cover air brakes. How many restrictions would be likely to result? An alternative approach would be to require a separate air brake endorsement for drivers of any vehicle so equipped (e.g., Combination Vehicles and Large Buses). The FHWA requests comment on this alternative approach.

Subpart G—Required Driver Knowledge and Skills

This section describes the knowledge and skills which CMV operators would be required to have and demonstrate for each vehicle group and endorsement. Information about these skills and knowledge areas would be included in drivers' manuals available to driver applicants. States may also require knowledge of and include questions related to any unique or special traffic laws and regulations within their jurisdictions.

Section 383.111 Required knowledge.

A primary cause of accidents is improper vehicle control in adverse environmental conditions and/or emergency traffic situations. More than 20 percent of the preventable accidents involving CMVs are attributable to this cause. Other primary causes of accidents include: Following too closely; failure to maintain control, improper/erratic lane change; improper turning; starting and braking improperly; and failure to yield right-of-way. To ensure that all CMV drivers are at least aware of these dangers and the correct driving responses, an appropriate number of these areas must be covered in questions on the knowledge examinations.

Safe Operation Regulations. Section 12005(a)(4)(A) of the Act requires that tests ensure that drivers have working knowledge of regulations pertaining to safe operation of commercial vehicles issued under Title 49, CFR. To meet this requirement, the FHWA proposes that applicants be provided with information about the regulations contained in Parts 391 through 397 and that applicants be tested on this information.

Commercial Motor Vehicle Safety Systems. Section 12005(a)(4)(B) requires that drivers have a working knowledge of the proper use of the safety systems of commercial vehicles. The FHWA proposes that tests to ensure drivers have this "working knowledge" cover such items as proper use of lights, horns, side and rear-view mirrors, proper mirror adjustments, fire extinguishers, symptoms of improper operation revealed through instruments, vehicle operation characteristics, diagnosing malfunctions, and proper use of these safety systems during emergencies.

Safe Vehicle Control. Section 12005(a)(1) requires each CMV operator take written knowledge tests. The FHWA proposes that such tests cover the CMV operator's knowledge of the procedures used to safely operate the vehicles under various traffic and road conditions, and under various weather and lighting conditions.

Relationship of Cargo to Vehicle Control. The FHWA is also proposing that drivers have general knowledge about cargo placement, balance, securement and its relationship to safe vehicle operations for the particular vehicle group.

Vehicle Pre-Trip, Post-Trip, and Other Inspections. Pre-trip inspections as well as periodic inspections and repair are important actions which help prevent breakdowns and improve safety. Therefore, the FHWA's proposal includes a requirement that CMV drivers must know and understand the various inspection procedures:

Combination Vehicle and Bus Knowledge. The FHWA is proposing that an operator of a motor vehicle which falls into the Combination Vehicle or the Bus Group be tested on additional information as part of the basic knowledge requirements. The information is delineated in § 383.111 and for Combination Vehicles addressed knowledge and skills related to air brakes and for Bus Vehicle covers procedures related to passengers.

Section 383.113 Required drivers skills tests.

Section 12005(a) of the Act requires that each driver applicant demonstrate his/her ability to safely operate a vehicle that is representative of the class of type of vehicle he/she operates or expects to operate. The FHWA proposes that each driver applicant be required to demonstrate the basic skills included in this proposal; the State would also test any other skills it deems appropriate and necessary. The skills tests would be conducted entirely in actual road conditions or in a combination of road and off street conditions. The decision as to where the skills test will be conducted would remain at the discretion of the States. However, regardless of where the skills test is conducted, an applicant for a CDL would have to demonstrate that he/she is capable of operating the CMV safely.

Applicants for each vehicle group would be required to successfully demonstrate the basic vehicle control skills as well as safe driving skills. The specific skills which would be required are contained in § 383.113 (a) and (b).

The FHWA proposes that an operator of special types of CMVs obtain an endorsement to his/her CDL because of the knowledge and skills needed, in addition to the knowledge and skills contained in §§ 383.111 and 383.113, to safely operate such vehicles. Endorsements to the CDL would be required to operate vehicles equipped with air brakes, double/triple trailers; articulated buses; cargo tankers; or vehicles involved in transportation in hazardous materials. Each of the endorsements would require additional knowledge tests. The air brake and cargo tank endorsements would also require each driver to take and pass a skills test in a representative vehicle. Information on these knowledge areas and skills would be included in the drivers' manuals. The FHWA's specific proposals for each endorsement standard are contained in Subpart G and are summarized below:

Section 383.115 Air brake endorsement

To obtain an air brake endorsement for vehicles which are not included as part of the Combination Vehicle Group, driver applicants would demonstrate knowledge of the operation of air brakes; pre-trip inspection requirements; proper use of fail-safe devices, monitoring devices and alarms; inspection procedures; and ways to determine that a system's component is in need of repair. Drivers of vehicles equipped with air brakes would also need to pass a driving test on a vehicle equipped with air brakes and on the skills which make up a pre-trip inspection

Section 383.117 Double/triple trailers endorsement.

Increased length, larger freight capacity and greater number of articulation points lead to differences in handling and performance characteristics of double/triple trailers. Each applicant would demonstrate his/her knowledge in a test of unit assembly and hookup, trailer placement, handling and stability characteristics, and potential problems of such vehicles in traffic. Skills test(s) are not proposed for this endorsement because of the lack of evidence as to the specific skills which a driver can be tested on which would be different from the skills required in the basic test(s). Comments are invited on this issue.

Section 383.119 Articulated bus endorsement.

Each applicant for an articulated bus endorsement would demonstrate his/her knowledge in a test on the same types of information specified for the double/triple trailers endorsement test, except for those items related to coupling and uncoupling of the vehicle. These applicants would also demonstrate knowledge of rules pertaining to operation of passenger transport vehicles and proper braking and emergency procedures.

Section 383.121 Cargo tank endorsement.

Each applicant for a cargo tank endorsement would demonstrate his/her knowledge in areas such as vehicle operations under different loadings, product density, cargo tank type and construction. The driver would also have knowledge of and be tested on the causes and prevention of cargo surge, and the likelihood of rollover due to improper control of cargo surge.

Each driver who wishes to obtain a cargo tank endorsement to his/her CDL would also demonstrate his/her skills by taking a skills test in a partially loaded cargo tank (between 30 and 60 percent full in each compartment). As proposed in § 383.121(b), each driver would demonstrate, among other things, the ability to put the vehicle in motion smoothly, to stop the vehicle smoothly, negotiate turns and lane changes, and select and change to proper gear without clashing.

The FHWA fully expects that States would make agreements with employers to allow the employer to administer the cargo tank skills test as a third party. Such agreements would reduce the potential costs and liabilities which may occur because of the requirement that the skills test for a cargo tank endorsement be taken with a partially loaded cargo tank.

Section 12005(a)(5) of the Act requires that an individual who will operate vehicles carrying hazardous materials shall be qualified to operate a CMV in accordance with all regulations pertaining to the transportation of hazardous materials issued under the Hazardous Materials Transportation Act.

The FHWA proposes that such operators would demonstrate his/her knowledge of these areas to obtain an endorsement to his/her CDL as follows:

(a) Hazardous material regulations—would include the Hazardous Material Table, shipping paper requirements, hazardous material packaging, marking, labeling, and placarding requirements;

(b) Hazardous material handling—would include the different procedures to be utilized for different kinds of hazardous materials, loading and unloading of materials, cargo segregation, and regulations regarding the routing of materials (in tunnels, on highways etc.), attendance of vehicles, parking, fueling, and vehicle repair;

(c) Operation of emergency equipment—would include knowledge of when and how such equipment is to be used and any other precautions that the vehicle operator must implement to protect the public; and

(d) Emergency response procedures—would include general knowledge of appropriate and necessary actions for all types of hazardous materials and specific knowledge for any type of freight that person expects to transport.

Question Area: Required Knowledge and Endorsements

The FHWA requests input from the public on these endorsement tests. Specific areas where public comment is requested are:

(1) Whether or not skills tests should be included as part of the standard for all endorsements? If so, under what conditions would it be appropriate to allow States the option to recognize employer certification of training and testing in lieu of endorsement skills tests and/or knowledge tests?

(2) What would be the impact on safety of the proposals described in Question 1?

(3) If a State accepts employer certification as a substitute for the skills test, what, if any, requirements for such certification should be indicated in the Federal standards?

(4) Knowledge of Parts 398 (Migrant Workers) and 399 (Employee Health and Safety) is excluded from the test standard. Should knowledge of these requirements be included in the standard for the knowledge tests for the CDL?

(5) The FHWA is aware of the possibility of using simulators for skills testing. For what portions of the skills tests would the use of a simulator be appropriate? What are the advantages and disadvantages associated with the use of a simulator? Which, if any, skills can and cannot be evaluated given current technological constraints of simulators?

(6) Is there some basic knowledge of hazardous materials which all CMV operators, even those who do not need a hazardous materials endorsement, should be required to demonstrate prior to receiving a CDL?

Subpart H—Tests

To ensure that all drivers have the knowledge and skills to safely operate a CMV on the public roadways, every CDL applicant must pass tests which demonstrate the person's knowledge or skills described in Subpart G and H. To the extent practicable, the tests should have similar content, similar test administration procedures, and similar scoring procedures to establish uniform testing of CMV operators anywhere in the country. This section contains the test administration methods and standards for minimum passing scores which the FHWA is proposing for the knowledge and skills tests.

Section 383.131 Procedures.

Because licensing examinations within a State are given to different applicants, at different times, in different locations, and by different examiners, it is critical to minimize any impact of these differences. The FHWA proposes that test procedures and methods be standardized and documented by the State and provided to its licensing examiners.

The FHWA proposes that States develop procedural information for the test applicant and for the test examiner. The directions for the test applicant would explain, as clearly and simply as possible, what he/she must do to take the test. These directions would be given by the license test examiner and/or would be a part of the test (content information would be made available to the applicant through a driver manual). For the knowledge and skills tests, the directions given to the driver applicant would cover the purpose of the test, how to choose a response, how to make a response, any time limits, and any other special procedures determined by the State. Directions for taking knowledge tests would differ depending on the particular testing format used by the States (e.g., paper, oral or automated equipment for knowledge tests). All information provided to the applicant would be at or below the sixth grade reading level. The FHWA understands that this level of reading competency would be sufficient to fully test driver's knowledge without discriminating based on literacy.

Directions for the examiner would include the information the examiner must give to the applicant, information about how to conduct the tests, how to score, and for the skill tests, specific testing information, e.g., what is being tested, how it would be tested, how it would be scored. In addition, directions to the examiner would list the skills to be tested (from Subpart G); identify where and how the skills would be tested; and how the performance of the skills would be scored. As part of the scoring, the correct response and how to determine that it is a correct response would also be provided to the examiner. Standardized scoring sheets for the skill tests would be provided, as well as standardized driving instructions for the applicant.

Section 383.133 Test methods.

The States would be required to establish specific testing and scoring procedures and the associated administrative procedures that meet the standards. Testing procedures would, however, be standardized within the State and meet the testing requirements as stipulated in this rule. In other words, the knowledge and skills tests would uniformly assess the performance of applicants regardless of the location of the test.

To assure that the knowledge and skill tests can accurately determine the proficiency of CDL license applicants, the tests would be required to be reliable. Accordingly, the FHWA proposes that the "knowledge" tests contain a minimum of at least 30 items per test which cover all of the knowledge areas described in Subpart G for that vehicle group and that the tests have a reliability coefficient of at least  $r=0.90$ . This proposed requirement is based on commonly accepted testing principles to assure reliability and validity of any knowledge test. A State would have flexibility to choose a specific method for giving the knowledge test as long as the tests meet the standards. For example, the knowledge tests could be administered by paper and pencil, orally or given on automated equipment. States may also arrange for tests to be given with an oral interpreter as appropriate. (This would not relieve the interstate driver of the language requirements contained in § 393.41.) To assure that the "skill" tests are reliable, it would be required that the reliability coefficient between any two examiners be at least  $r=0.80$ . This coefficient has been established as a minimum in the TORQUE Tests developed by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

Specific methods for skill testing and scoring would be determined by the State. For example, the States may use a single score for a right hand turn starting with the initiation of the right turn signal and ending following the turn and cancellation of the turn signal, or they may use several scores for the turn comprised of the different performances involved in a right hand turn—initiates the turn signal, uses appropriate lanes, uses the right side mirror(s), blocks inside traffic, stays in roadway, cancels turn signal—or they may use some combination of the two approaches. The latter approach being a "disaggregate" or "elements" test approach which is used in the TORQUE tests.

The FHWA proposes that the CDL examiners would be required to be qualified to administer the tests. A qualified examiner would have to demonstrate the ability to use the standardized procedures as stipulated in this section.

For the knowledge tests, the FHWA proposes that the driver applicant would correctly answer at least 80 percent of the questions to pass. For the skills tests, all skills identified as being required for the standard tests would be performed by all applicants. The passing score depends on how a State administers the tests. For example, if a State tests the applicant on successful completion of general skills, such as completion of a right turn, the passing score must be 100 percent. If the State uses a "disaggregated" or "elements" test approach, the driver would need to demonstrate all the required skills, but the lowest acceptable passing score would be 80 percent. The State would automatically fail any driver applicant who does not obey traffic laws or causes an accident during the test.

The State would determine the appropriate amount of time an applicant must wait in order to retake any test which he/she fails. The State would also determine the maximum number of times a person may take and fail any test before he/she may be prohibited by the State from obtaining a CDL. The FHWA invites comment on the appropriateness of requiring, through regulation, minimum time periods (such as 1 week) between taking tests to give the applicant time to study and become prepared to successfully complete the test.

Subpart J—Commercial Driver's License Document

This section includes standards for CDLs that are required by section 12006 of the Act. Generally, these State-issued documents would be, to the maximum extent practicable, tamperproof, and would include information as described below. The FHWA has also included in the proposal a sample set of uniform CDL document specifications which may be used by States.

Section 383.153 Information on the document.

The information that would be required to be included on all CDLs issued by the States is that which is delineated in section 12006 of the Act. This section requires the CDL document to include the social security number or other information appropriate to identify the driver. Although the FHWA is aware of "state-of-the-art" technologies that may be available to help identify the driver, such as retinal imaging, digital dental records, and thumbprints, their use is not required as part of the standard because of concerns about their costs and benefits. Therefore, the FHWA proposes to require the driver's social security number, along with a color photograph of the driver and his/her date of birth, sex, weight, height, hair color, and eye color to help identify the CDL holder. The FHWA proposal does not mandate a specific requirement in order to give States flexibility to use current identification methods. As technology evolves and better, more cost-effective identification means become available, States would be free to impose such methods.

The FHWA's proposal would also require the CDL to contain the statement that the license is a "Commercial Driver's License," the driver's signature, and endorsements. The FHWA proposes that uniform codes for vehicle groups and endorsements be used. The proposed codes are intended to provide uniformity for enforcement purposes. Eventually, the codes would make the CMV driver documentation easily recognizable to enforcement officials. For example, a CDL with A-HM would be recognized by enforcement officials across the country to mean the driver is authorized to drive a combination vehicle and has a hazardous materials endorsement.

Section 383.155 Tamperproofing requirements.

Section 12006 of the Act requires that the CDL document be tamperproof to the maximum extent practicable. A tamperproof license is one which is designed, manufactured and/or processed to protect against counterfeiting, forgery, and alteration, i.e., it would be beyond the capabilities of the general public to reproduce or change the document. All State licensing authorities would be required to use license materials and procedures to reasonably assure that their licenses are tamperproof. At a minimum, each State would continue to use the same tamperproof method it currently uses for noncommercial licenses. The FHWA has provided the States flexibility to use current technologies to make the CDL tamperproof. However, as the technology is improved and new methods become cost-effective, the States would be free to improve tamperproof methods.

Section 383.157 Commercial driver's certificate document.

Under FHWA's proposal, a CDC issued by a State would contain the same information, except for the statement that the document is a "Commercial Driver's Certificate," rather than a CDL.

Section 383.159 Document specification.

The FHWA has proposed an optional set of specifications for CDL and CDC documents which can be used by the States which desire to issue and achieve a uniform CDL document. A State that chooses to follow these sample specifications would issue a CDL or CDC card which would not exceed 2½ inches high and 3¾ inches wide—ANSI standards for financial records. The information described in § 383.153 as contained on the card would be placed as shown in Illustrations A and B at the end of Subpart J.

Question Area: CDL Documentation

(1) Can the information proposed to be included on the CDL be readily placed on existing documents? What, if any, additional information is required? What would be the benefits and costs of requiring, in the standard, that the drivers' fingerprints be included?

(2) Should the sample specifications for a CDL be included in the standard; i.e., mandated for all States? If so, what information should be added or deleted? Should the driver's fingerprints be included?

(3) The FHWA recognizes that technologies are emerging, such as "smart cards" or magnetic strips, which would allow States to cost-effectively store/retrieve biometric data in conjunction with issuing a CDL. Should the FHWA require the use of such automated data-encoding technologies and if so, what would be the appropriate phase-in time period?

(4) Although FHWA's proposal uses the social security number as the number to identify CMV operators, FHWA recognizes that there are several new and developing technologies that could be used to uniquely identify each CMV operator. These technologies include retinal imaging, digital dental records, and thumbprints, among others. Should any of these technologies be required as part of the standard? What would be the related costs and benefits of these technologies? The FHWA seeks information and recommendations on timing and methods for development, demonstration, and implementation of these technologies.

(5) The FHWA is also aware of developing technologies to make a document tamperproof, beyond most methods currently used by States for driver license documents. Such new methods include use of halograms, fine line patterns, use of light refracting seals, use of magnetic strips, etc. The FHWA requests comments on the suitability of such technologies for the CDL documentation.

(6) For commercial driver certificates that would be issued to foreign drivers, what would be the appropriate identification number to use in lieu of the social security number?

Question Area: State Compliance

The Act requires that the Secretary withhold Federal-aid highway funds from those States who do not comply. The FHWA requests guidance from the States on the criteria and procedures to be used by the Administrator to determine whether the States have implemented CDL tests and testing procedures that meet the requirements of this Section. Is it appropriate for the Governor to certify that the State is in compliance? Should the FHWA monitor the licensing procedures and, if so, on what basis? What is the most practical and cost effective method that can be used to certify that the States are in compliance? Should the FHWA approve each of the States' programs? If so, how often should the FHWA review these determinations?

Regulatory Impact

The FHWA has determined that this action does not constitute a major rule under Executive Order 12291. The proposed rule is not expected to result in an annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more, or lead to a major increase in costs or prices, or have significant adverse effects on the United States economy. However, because of the public interest in the issue of commercial motor vehicle safety and the expected benefit in transportation, this proposed rule is considered significant under the regulatory policies and procedures of the DOT. For this reason and pursuant to Executive Order 12490, this rulemaking action has been included on the Regulatory Program for significant rulemaking actions.

The economic impacts of this rulemaking that will occur are primarily mandated by the statutory provisions themselves. Since an analysis of impacts, including economic factors, is necessarily involved in the preparation of related motor vehicle safety regulations, an overall regulatory evaluation has been prepared for the various rulemaking actions that will be issued to implement the Act. This evaluation, which addresses some of the provisions contained in the final rule issued on June 1, 1987, and this proposed rule, has been placed in the public docket and is available for inspection in the Headquarters office of the FHWA, 400 Seventh Street, SW., Washington, DC 20590. A regulatory evaluation addressing the specific impacts associated with this NPRM is currently being prepared.

A significant part of the motor carrier industry and other employers covered by the Act are made up of small firms, from one-person, one-truck operations of some owner-operators, to the thousands of small fleet operators throughout the country. For this reason, the benefit and cost considerations described in the preliminary regulatory evaluation/initial regulatory flexibility analysis as applicable to employers and the motor carrier industry in general, are equally applicable to the small entity component of the industry. Small entities have been represented at public meetings held to discuss the Act and small entities have had the opportunity to submit comments to the public docket established in conjunction with FHWA's August 1, 1986, ANPRM (49 CFR Part 391). The FHWA is fully committed to doing all that it can to ensure that no undue burdens are placed on small entities as a result of this proposal.

5. Part 383, Subpart B is revised by adding a new § 383.23 to read as follows:

Subpart B—License Requirements

§ 383.23 Commercial driver's license.

(a) General rule. (1) Effective April 1, 1992, no person shall operate a commercial motor vehicle unless such person has taken and passed written and driving tests which meet the Federal standards contained in Subparts F, G, and H of this part for the commercial motor vehicle that person operates or expects to operate.

(2) Effective April 1, 1992, except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, no person shall operate a commercial motor vehicle unless such person possesses a CDL which meets the standards contained in Subpart J of this part, issued by his/her State or jurisdiction of domicile.

(b) Exceptions. (1) If, after October 1, 1991, a commercial motor vehicle operator is domiciled in a State which does not test drivers and issue a CDL in accordance with the Federal standards contained in Subparts F, G, and H of this part, the person shall obtain a CDC from a State which does comply with the testing and licensing standards contained in such Subparts F, G, and H.

(2) If a commercial motor vehicle operator is domiciled in a foreign jurisdiction which, as determined by the Administrator, does not test drivers and issue a CDL in accordance with, or similar to, the standards contained in Subparts F, G, and H of this part, the person shall obtain a CDC from a State which does comply with the testing and licensing standards contained in such Subpart F, G, and H.

(c) Learner's permit. State learner's permits, issued for limited time periods according to State requirements, shall be considered valid commercial driver's licenses for purposes of behind-the-wheel training on public roads or highways and for taking required driving tests, which a State may give in traffic.

6. Part 383 is amended by adding Subparts E, F, G, H, I, and J to read as follows:

Subpart E—Testing and Licensing Plans

§ 383.71 Formulation of testing and licensing plan.

(a) Each State shall develop a plan for testing and licensing persons who operate or expect to operate a commercial motor vehicle. The plan shall describe the procedures, resources and facilities which the State intends to devote to the commercial driver's license program activities. Each plan must be approved by the FHWA as demonstrating that the State:

(1) Requires a person to pass written and driving tests to operate a commercial motor vehicle;

(2) Requires a person to pass a driving test in a commercial motor vehicle which is representative of the type of vehicle such person operates or expects to operate;

(3) Has in effect and enforces a law which provides that any person with a blood alcohol concentration level at or above the level established by the Secretary when operating a commercial motor vehicle is deemed to be operating under the influence of alcohol;

(4) Administers different tests for each different class of commercial motor vehicle described in Subpart F;

(5) Authorizes a person to operate a commercial motor vehicle only by issuance of a commercial driver's license which contains the information described in Subpart J;

(6) For commercial driver's licenses issued prior to April 1, 1992, checks with every other State to determine whether the person has a valid driver's license in another State;

(7) Checks with the CDLIS, when it is determined to be operational by the Administrator, to determine whether the driver applicant already has a CDL, whether the applicant's license has been suspended, revoked, or canceled, or if the driver applicant has been disqualified from operating a commercial motor vehicle;

(8) Checks with the National Driver Register (NDR), when it is determined to be operational by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administrator, to determine whether the driver applicant has:

(i) Been disqualified from operating a motor vehicle (other than a commercial motor);

(ii) Had a license (other than a CDL or CDC) suspended, revoked or canceled for cause in the 3-year period ending on the date of application; or

(iii) Been convicted of any offenses contained in section 205(a)(3) of the National Driver Register Act of 1982 (23 U.S.C. 401 note);

(9) Before issuance of a CDL, requests from any other State which has issued a CDL to such person all information pertaining to the driving record of such person;

(10) Notifies the CDLIS within 30 days after the issuance of a CDL;

(11) Within 10 days of the disqualification of the holder of the CDL or any suspension, revocation or cancellation (of 60 days or more), notifies the CDLIS and the State which issued the license;

(12) Within 10 days of conviction of a CDL holder for a violation of a State or local law relating to motor vehicle traffic control occurring within its boundaries, notifies the State which issued the license;

(13) Does not issue a CDL to person during a period in which such person is disqualified from operating a commercial motor vehicle or the driver's license of such person is suspended, revoked, or canceled;

(14) Does not issue a CDL to person who has a CDL issued by any other State unless such person first returns the driver's license issued by the other State;

(15) Only issues a CDL to persons domiciled in the State, except that a State may issue a CDC to a person domiciled in another State or foreign jurisdiction if the Administrator has determined that the commercial motor vehicle testing and licensing standards in the State or foreign jurisdiction do not meet the standards contained in this Part. A State shall issue a CDC in the same manner as it issues CDLs;

(16) Imposes a penalty for operating a commercial motor vehicle while not having a CDL, while having a driver's license suspended, revoked, or canceled, or while being disqualified from operating a commercial motor vehicle;

(17) Allows any person to operate a commercial motor vehicle within its boundaries if such person is not disqualified from operating a commercial motor vehicle and has a CDL:

(i) Which is issued by any other State in accordance with the minimum Federal standards for the issuance of a CDL, and

(ii) Which is not suspended, revoked, or canceled.

(18) Has in effect and enforces minimum Federal disqualifications and penalties under Subpart D or comparable provisions.

(b) Each State should submit the plan to the FHWA no later than July 15, 1989, and within 30 days following significant changes in its commercial driver's license program. The plan should demonstrate that the proposed State CDL program is likely to be effective in ensuring that the State only issues a CDL to a person qualified to drive a CMV.

§ 383.73 Approval of plan.

(a) Within 90 days following its receipt, the FHWA shall review the plan and notify the State of its acceptability in demonstrating that the State complies with the requirements of this Part.

(b) The state should evaluate its CDL program periodically to ensure its effectiveness in ensuring that the State only issues a CDL to persons qualified to drive a commercial motor vehicle.

(c) The FHWA may withdraw approval of any State plan. Prior to withdrawal of any approval of a State plan for lack of effectiveness, a State shall have an opportunity to demonstrate that its CDL program is effective and meets the requirements of this Part.

§ 383.75 Third party testing.

(a) Third party tests. A State may allow a person (including another State, an employer, a private driver training facility or other private institution, or a department, agency or instrumentality of a local government) to administer the skills tests as specified in Subpart G and H of this part, if the following conditions are met:

(1) The tests given by the third party are the same as those which would otherwise be given by the State; and

(2) The third party has an agreement with the State with at least the following provisions:

(i) Allow the FHWA, or its representative, and the State to conduct random examinations, inspections and audits without prior notice;

(ii) Require the State to conduct on-site inspections at least annually;

(iii) Require all third party examiners meet the same qualification and training as State examiners; and

(iv) Require that State employees periodically take the tests actually administered by the third party as if the State employee were a test applicant, or that States periodically test a sample of drivers who were examined by the third party to compare pass/fail results.

(b) Proof of testing by a third party. Driver applicants who take and pass driving tests administered by a third party shall provide evidence to the State licensing agency that he/she has successfully passed the driving tests administered by the third party.

(c) The State shall submit to the FHWA any agreement for third party testing with the State's testing and licensing plan. The FHWA's approval of the plan shall also constitute approval of the agreement.

§ 383.77 Substitute for driving skills tests.

At the discretion of a State, the driving skill tests may be waived for drivers licensed before July 15, 1988, and substituted with either an applicant's driving record and previous passage of an acceptable skills test, or an applicant's driving record in combination with certain driving experience. The State shall impose conditions and limitations to restrict the applicants from which a State may accept alternative requirements for the skills test. Such conditions must require at least the following:

(a) An applicant must certify that he/she:

(1) Has not had more than one license since July 1, 1987;

(2) Has not had any license suspended, revoked, or canceled since July 1, 1987;

(3) Has not has any convictions for any type of motor vehicle for the disqualification offenses contained in § 383.51 since July 1, 1987; and

(4) Has not had any violation of State or local law relating to motor vehicle traffic control (other than a parking violation) arising in connection with any traffic accident or has no record of an accident where he/she was at fault, during the 2 years immediately preceding application for a CDL; and

(b) An applicant must provide evidence and certify that:

(1) He/she has previously taken a skills test given by a State with a classified licensing and testing system, and that the test was behind-the-wheel in a representative vehicle for that applicant's driver's license classification; or

(2) He/she has operated, for at least 2 years, immediately preceding application for a CDL, a vehicle representative of the commercial motor vehicle the driver applicant operates or expects to operate.

Subpart F—Motor Vehicle Groups and Endorsements

§ 383.91 Motor vehicle groups.

(a) Vehicle group descriptions. Each driver applicant must possess and be tested on his/her knowledge and skills, described in Subpart G of this part, for the vehicle group(s) for which he/she desires a CDL. The vehicle groups are as follows:

(1) Combination vehicle—any combination of motor vehicles with a Gross Combination Weight Rating (GCWR) of over 26,001 pounds or more provided the motor vehicle or trailers being pulled have a Gross Vehicle Weight Rating (GVWR) of over 10,000 pounds.

(2) Bus—any vehicle designed to carry more than 15 passengers, including the driver.

(3) Heavy straight truck—any vehicle with a GVWR of 26,001 pounds or more, or any combination of motor vehicles with a GCWR of 26,001 pounds or more provided the vehicle or trailers being pulled have a GVWR of not more than 10,000 pounds.

(4) Small Vehicle—any motor vehicle with a GVWR or GCWR of under 26,001 pounds.

(b) Representative vehicle. For purposes of taking the driving test, a representative vehicle is any motor vehicle which meets the definition of that vehicle group.

(c) Relation between vehicle groups.

Each driver applicant who desires to operate in a different vehicle group from the one which his/her DCL or CDC authorizes shall be required to retake and pass all related tests, except the following:

- (1) Drivers who have passed the knowledge and skills test for a combination vehicle may operate a heavy straight truck or a small vehicle;
- (2) Drivers who have passed the knowledge and skills test for a bus may operate a small vehicle; and
- (3) Drivers who have passed the knowledge and tests for a heavy straight truck may operate any small vehicle.

§ 383.93 Endorsements.

(a) General. In addition to taking and passing the knowledge and skills tests described in Subpart G of this part, all persons who operate or expects to operate the type(s) of motor vehicle described in paragraph (b) of this section shall take and pass specialized tests to obtain each endorsement. The State shall issue CDL endorsements only to drivers who successfully complete the tests.

(b) Endorsement descriptions. Operators must obtain State-issued endorsements to his/her CDL or CDC to operate commercial motor vehicles which are:

- (1) Equipped with air brakes;
  - (2) Required to be placarded for hazardous materials;
  - (3) Cargo tanks;
  - (4) Double/triple trailers; or
  - (5) Articulated buses.
- (c) Endorsement testing requirements. The following tests are required for the endorsements contained in paragraph (b) of this section:

- (1) Air Brakes—a knowledge and skills test. The skills test must be taken in a motor vehicle equipped with air brakes;
- (2) Hazardous Materials—a knowledge test;
- (3) Cargo Tank—a knowledge and skills test;
- (4) Double/Triple Trailers—a knowledge test; and
- (4) Articulated Bus—a knowledge test.

Subpart G—Required Knowledge and Skills*§ 383.110 General requirements.

All persons who pass tests for the issuance of a CDL shall have knowledge of regulations pertaining to safe operation of a commercial motor vehicle issued by the Secretary and contained in title 49 of the Code of Federal Regulations, and any safety system of such vehicle he/she is authorized to drive with the issuance of a CDL.

§ 383.111 Hazardous materials requirement.

In the case of a person who operates or expects to operate a commercial motor vehicle carrying a hazardous material, such person:

- (a) Shall be qualified to operate a commercial motor vehicle in accordance with all regulations pertaining to motor vehicle transportation of hazardous materials issued by the Secretary under the Hazardous Materials Transportation Act; and
- (b) Shall have a working knowledge of—
  - (1) Such regulations,
  - (2) Handling such material,
  - (3) The operation of emergency equipment used in response to emergencies arising out of the transportation of such material, and
  - (4) Appropriate response procedures to be followed in such emergencies.

Subpart H—Tests*§ 383.131 Minimum passing scores.

(a) The driver applicant must correctly answer at least 80 percent of the questions on the knowledge test in order to achieve a passing score on such knowledge test.

(b) The passing scores for the skills test shall depend on the way the test is administered. If a disaggregated or elements test approach is used, the lowest acceptable passing score shall be 80 percent. If the test requires successful completion of general skills, the passing score must be 100 percent.

(c) If the driver applicant does not obey traffic laws, or causes an accident during the test, he/she shall automatically fail the test.

Subpart I—[Reserved]Subpart J—Commercial Driver's License Document§ 383.151 General.

The CDL shall be a document that is easy to recognize as a CDL. At a minimum, the document shall contain information specified in § 383.153.

§ 383.153 Information on the document.

All CDLs shall contain the following information:

- (a) The statement that the license is a "Commercial Driver's License."
- (b) The full name, signature, and mailing address of the person to whom such license is issued;
- (c) Physical and other information to identify and describe such person including date of birth (month, day, and year), sex, weight, height, eye color, and hair color;
- (d) Color photograph of the driver;

(e) The driver's social security number;

(f) The name of State which issued the license;

(g) The date of issuance and the date of expiration of the license;

(h) The group or groups of commercial motor vehicle(s) that the driver is authorized to operate, indicated as follows:

- (1) A for Combination Vehicle;
- (2) B for Bus;
- (3) C for Heavy Straight Truck; and
- (4) D for Small Vehicle;

(i) The endorsement for which the driver has qualified, indicated as follows:

- (1) AR for air brakes;
- (2) TT for double/triple trailers;
- (3) AB for articulated bus;
- (4) CT for cargo tank; and
- (5) HM for hazardous materials.

§ 383.155 Tamperproofing requirements.

States shall make the CDL or CDC tamperproof to the maximum extent practicable. At a minimum, a State shall use the same tamperproof method used for noncommercial drivers' licenses.

I. Background

The Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act of 1977, 30 U.S.C. 1201 et seq. (the Act) sets forth general requirements governing surface coal mining operations and surface impacts of underground coal mining. Sections 515(b)(24) and 516(b)(11) of the Act, 30 U.S.C. 1265(b)(24) and 1266(b)(11), require that surface coal mining and reclamation operations shall: to the extent possible using the best technology currently available, minimize disturbances and adverse impacts of the operation on fish, wildlife, and related environmental values, and achieve enhancement of such resources where practicable;

In addition, section 515(b)(2) of the Act, 30 U.S.C. 1265(b)(2), requires that the operator, in consideration of public health and safety and proposed land use, restore mined land to a condition capable of supporting the uses which it was capable of supporting prior to any mining or higher or better uses. Section 516(b)(10) imposes that same requirement on underground mines with such modifications as are necessary to accommodate the distinct difference between surface and underground coal mining.

To implement the requirements of these provisions and the provisions of the Endangered Species Act of 1973 (ESA), as amended (16 U.S.C. 1531 et seq.), the Bald Eagle Protection Act, as amended (16 U.S.C. 668 et seq.), the Fish and Wildlife Coordination Act, as amended (16 U.S.C. 661 et seq.) and other statutes protecting fish and wildlife resources, OSMRE promulgated 30 CFR 779.20, 780.16, 783.20, 784.21, 816.97, and 817.97 on March 13, 1979, as a part of the permanent regulatory program (44 FR 15356, 15359, 15364, 15369, 15410, 15437). Sections 779.20, 780.16, 783.20, and 784.21 were remanded by court decision and suspended by OSMRE (45 FR 51547, August 4, 1980).

On June 30, 1983, OSMRE revised §§ 816.97 and 817.97 (48 FR 30312) to clarify the relationship of the Act to the ESA and the Bald Eagle Protection Act. On October 1, 1984, the District Court for the District of Columbia remanded portions of these rules to modify requirements pertaining to endangered or threatened species and the protection of wildlife from toxic ponds. In re: Permanent Surface Mining Regulation Litigation II, No. 79-1144 (D.D.C. 1984). The court also ordered that §§ 779.20, 780.16, 783.20, and 784.21 be reinstated pending a new rulemaking. The sections were subsequently reinstated by OSMRE (50 FR 7274, February 21, 1985). Additional information regarding these actions is provided in the Federal Register as cited and in the preamble to the proposed fish and wildlife rules (51 FR 19498, May 29, 1986).

On May 29, 1986 (51 FR 19498) OSMRE proposed revisions to the fish and wildlife provisions of §§ 779.20, 780.16, 783.20, 784.21, 816.97, and 817.97. The purpose of the proposed revisions was to comply with the court decision and to revise and clarify the rules. Throughout the development of the final rules, OSMRE solicited public comment and recommendations. A 70-day period for public comment was provided, ending August 7, 1986, and the public was given the opportunity to request public hearings. However, no public hearings were requested and therefore none were held.

II. Final Rule and Response to Public Comments on Proposed Rule

OSMRE received over 200 comments from representatives of industry, environmental groups, State regulatory authorities, Federal and State fish and wildlife agencies and private citizens. OSMRE has reviewed each comment carefully and has considered the commenters' suggestions and remarks in writing these final rules.

The majority of the comments received on the proposed rule were specific in nature and are discussed in the section-by-section analysis portion of the preamble. Several comments were received in direct response to OSMRE's request for guidance on questions raised in the preamble to the proposed rules. These comments and general concerns expressed by commenters are addressed in the section that follows.

Hereinafter, unless otherwise noted, references to §§ 779.20, 780.16, and 816.97 (surface mining rules) also apply to the counterpart underground mining rules at §§ 783.20, 784.21 and 817.97.

General Comments

OSMRE suspended §§ 779.20 and 780.16 on August 4, 1980 (45 FR 51547) and reinstated these same regulations on February 21, 1985 (50 FR 7274). During the period when the Federal rules were suspended State regulatory authorities could omit or, if desired, adopt special permitting rules pertaining to fish and wildlife. In the preamble to the proposed rules (51 FR 19499), OSMRE specifically requested comments on whether the experiences and events of the four and one-half years when the Federal rules were suspended justify Federal regulation requiring either premining resource information or protection and enhancement plans or both. Based upon remarks from commenters and for the reasons discussed below, OSMRE has concluded that such regulations are necessary.

Most commenters indicated that Federal regulation requiring both premining resource information and protection and enhancement plans are necessary for the protection of fish and wildlife resources. One commenter further stated that because OSMRE is the regulatory authority for Indian lands and in Federal program States such as Georgia and Washington, without Federal regulations, the fish and wildlife resources in these States and lands would not be protected as section 515(b)(24) of SMCRA demands. OSMRE agrees with the commenter that Federal rules are needed in Federal program States and for Indian lands.

Three commenters felt that permitting regulations for fish and wildlife resources information are not justified or needed. Two of these commenters stated that fish and wildlife resources were adequately protected under their approved state programs during the four and one-half year period in which the Federal regulations were suspended. One of the commenters cited as an example a situation where a species currently proposed to be listed as threatened had been protected. Although certain states may be protecting fish and wildlife resources, OSMRE has concluded that these rules are needed to define Federal standards regarding the submission of permit information needed to assure minimum standards of protection.

Another commenter felt that the proposed regulations appeared to be a rekindling of the ongoing efforts of Federal and State fish and wildlife agencies to gain decisionmaking authority in the permitting process. The commenter believed that such authority was not granted by Congress but would be granted by the final regulations. OSMRE considered the role given the Federal and State fish and wildlife agencies by SMCRA and has adopted a final rule that clarifies that the various Federal and State fish and wildlife agencies act in an advisory capacity to the regulatory authorities. Regulatory authorities retain their responsibility for making decisions on the completeness and adequacy of applications for SMCRA permits.

OSMRE also requested comments in the preamble to the proposed rules (51 FR 19499) on whether fish and wildlife information and planning requirements can be addressed effectively under one section as proposed or whether they should remain as separate and distinct sections as in the existing rules under Parts 779 and 780. OSMRE has decided that the fish and wildlife information and planning requirements can be addressed under one section as has been adopted in the final rule.

Several commenters agreed with the proposal that fish and wildlife information and planning requirements be addressed under one section. One commenter who disagreed stated that existing Part 779 requires specific resource information for each component of the premine environment, including wildlife (§ 779.20). Similarly, the commenter stated, Part 780 requires a resource protection plan for each component of the premining environment, including wildlife (§ 780.16). The commenter contended that if fish and wildlife baseline data collection and protection requirements are to be combined as one section under Part 780, then all other environmental resource components should be similarly treated. Otherwise, the combination of the two fish and wildlife requirements may de-emphasize the importance of baseline data collection, since this requirement is being shifted in the final rule to Part 780 which deals with resource protection. The commenter suggested that OSMRE be consistent in its treatment of each resource component.

OSMRE believes that the combining of §§ 779.20 and 780.16 will not result in a loss of importance attached to the collection of fish and wildlife baseline data. Requirements for data collection for certain resources (such as hydrology and geology) are combined with the requirements for protection plans for those resources, while in other cases the requirements for information collection and the plans remain separate (such as soils and land use). It is OSMRE's intent to combine resource information collection and protection plan requirements whenever possible because of the logical link between baseline information pertaining to a resource and the protection and enhancement of that resource.

In the preamble to the proposed rules (51 FR 19499), OSMRE solicited comments on whether or not there are distinct differences between surface and underground mining that would justify differences in the regulations. After considering remarks from commenters, and for the reasons discussed below, OSMRE has determined that the same requirements should apply to both surface and underground mining.

Several commenters indicated that from a fish and wildlife protection and enhancement perspective there are no distinct differences between surface and underground mining that justify differences in the regulations. Three commenters expressed concerns over subsidence-related impacts on fish and wildlife resources. These commenters further suggested that subsidence impacts receive special attention during the permit review and interagency consultation process. OSMRE disagrees with the commenters that the impacts of subsidence on fish and wildlife need special attention because 30 CFR 784.21(b) will cover any problem not covered under OSMRE's regulations at 30 CFR 784.20 which provide for detailed subsidence control plans to protect renewable resource lands. One commenter was concerned that underground mining could temporarily disrupt the flow of alluvial water into a surface drainage and cause adverse impacts to the downstream aquatic ecosystem. OSMRE believes that such concerns are adequately addressed under existing rules concerning hydrology. Studies of the hydrologic regime required under existing 30 CFR 784.14(e) and 784.14(f) would identify any potential adverse impacts to surface drainage from proposed underground mining. 30 CFR 773.15(c)(5) requires that before a permit application is approved, the regulatory authority must find in writing that the proposed operation has been designed to prevent material damage to the hydrologic balance outside the permit area. Also under 30 CFR 817.57, a buffer zone around streams exists within which most mining disturbances may not occur without a specific finding that environmental resources of such streams will not be adversely affected.

One commenter suggested that the last statement in the Summary of the preamble misleads the public into believing that the proposed rule would provide added protection to endangered or threatened species. The commenter contended that this is not true since the proposed rule does not provide any additional protection, for Federally-listed endangered or threatened species but merely reinstates the original (1979) protection for State-listed species. The commenter is correct in recognizing that the proposed rule would reinstate the protection previously given to State-listed endangered or threatened species in OSMRE's March 13, 1979 rulemaking (44 FR 15410, 15437). However, the proposed rule contains other important provisions that provide added protection. The final rule prohibits surface coal mining operations which are likely to jeopardize the continued existence of endangered or threatened species, not just those operations which are certain to do so, as provided in the existing rules. Also, the final rule clearly establishes the requirement for permit applicants to provide site-specific resource information in their applications when the permit area or adjacent area are likely to include endangered or threatened species.

Two commenters expressed support for the rules as proposed. One commenter stated that the proposed rules contain rather specific requirements on the type of fish, wildlife, and related resource information which must be provided in the permit application by the permit applicant. The commenter further stated that the regulatory authority in his particular state has established a permit review process whereby the State fish and wildlife agencies themselves, not the applicant, provide this information to the regulatory authority. The commenter sought final rules that would have sufficient flexibility to allow for this means of providing wildlife resource information. Although the final rule adopted today would not preclude such a system, the applicant retains the ultimate responsibility for assuring that all the permit application requirements are met.

One commenter questioned how the proposed rule would address the additional protection standards afforded fish, wildlife, and habitats listed under Tribal statutes. The commenter is reminded that OSMRE is the regulatory authority on Indian lands and that Parts 779, 780, 783, 784, 816, and 817 are included in the Indian lands program (30 CFR Part 750) through cross-referencing. When implementing the Indian lands program, OSMRE will treat species and habitats protected under Tribal statutes in a manner similar to those protected by State statutes.

One commenter stated that OSMRE's draft Environmental Assessment (EA) for this rulemaking should be revised to include additional decision alternatives. This suggestion was taken into consideration in the preparation of the final environmental assessment.

A. Fish and Wildlife Permitting Requirements

Resource Information—30 CFR 780.16(a)/784.21(a).

As proposed, § 780.16(a) provided that each application shall include fish and wildlife resource information for the permit area and adjacent area. Furthermore, it required the scope and level of detail for such information to be determined by the regulatory authority in accordance with any written guidance provided by State and Federal agencies with responsibilities for fish and wildlife. The proposed rule required that the information include, at a minimum, the existence of any threatened or endangered species, eagles, migratory birds or other species requiring special protection, and habitats of unusually high value for fish and wildlife. After considering the commenters' remarks, OSMRE has changed § 780.16(a)(1) in the final rule so that the scope and level of detail for fish and wildlife information will be determined by the regulatory authority in consultation with State and Federal agencies with responsibilities for fish and wildlife. Similarly, a new provision was added to require the information to be sufficient to design the protection and enhancement plan required under paragraph (b). Thus, although the level of detail may vary from permit to permit, the fish and wildlife resource information needed for each permit application will be carefully considered by the regulatory authority and those agencies with expertise in the resource area. This procedure will insure that sufficient information will be included to establish a meaningful protection plan.

Three commenters expressed concern that the proposed rules eliminate the requirement existing in § 779.20(b) for permit applicants to contact the regulatory authority to determine what fish and wildlife information will be necessary. One commenter felt that such contact increased the chances of receiving a complete and accurate application which could be easily reviewed by the regulatory authority. Another commenter was concerned that the proposed deletion will leave applicants with too little direction regarding site-specific data collection requirements. The third commenter believed that consultation early in the permitting process will give the respective agencies more time to determine whether specific studies should be required and will prevent unnecessary expenditures by permit applicants. OSMRE agrees that advance planning and consultation can help to reduce delays in processing permits and to avoid unnecessary expenses. As stated in the preamble to the proposed rule, however, OSMRE does not believe it is necessary to impose a Federal rule requiring all applicants to contact their respective regulatory authorities since some regulatory authorities may find it more appropriate and cost effective to set forth in either rules or guidance documents specific requirements for fish and wildlife information for mining in certain areas. Applicants should contact the regulatory authority early in the permitting process if they are unable to determine what information will be needed to meet regulatory requirements.

Proposed § 780.16(a) provided that the scope and level of detail for resource information be determined by the regulatory authority "in accordance with any written guidance" provided by State and Federal fish and wildlife agencies. OSMRE has deleted this provision in the final rule and replaced it with language requiring the regulatory authority to determine the scope and level of detail of resource information in consultation with State and Federal fish and wildlife agencies. This new language was adopted because several commenters requested that the final rule provide for consultation between the regulatory authority and Federal and State fish and wildlife agencies on what information is needed to permit applications to protect fish and wildlife resources. Some of these commenters felt that early consultation with State and Federal fish and wildlife agencies would be an effective means of cooperatively resolving resource issues while others believed that through consultation available information could be shared and determinations could be made on whether site-specific studies would be necessary. One commenter on this topic expressed concern that by specifying that only written guidance be provided by State and Federal fish and wildlife agencies, there would be less interaction between wildlife management and coal permitting. Although OSMRE does not believe that such a result would necessarily occur, OSMRE has changed the rule to provide for consultation. Consultation may include both oral and written advice, participation by these agencies in the development of technical guidance documents, memoranda of understanding, and other communications necessary to protect fish and wildlife resources.

Many commenters suggested that OSMRE more clearly indicate when site-specific fish and wildlife resource information would be required. Accordingly, OSMRE has added new paragraph (a)(2) in the final rule that will require site-specific resource information when the permit area or adjacent area are likely to include listed or proposed endangered or threatened species of plants or animals or their critical habitats; habitats of unusually high value for fish and wildlife; or other species or habitats identified through agency consultation as requiring special protection. One commenter suggested that when any special resource values in proposed § 780.16(a) (1), (2), or (3) are identified, the regulatory authority should require site-specific, in-depth studies of fish and wildlife and their habitats. OSMRE agrees that site-specific resource information is necessary for such identified species and habitats and has addressed the commenter's concern by the addition of paragraph (a)(2) to the final rule.

One commenter expressed concern over OSMRE's rationale for the substitution of the phrase "resource information" in § 780.16(a) for the term "study" as required under previous § 779.20(a). The term "resource information" is intended to allow for the use of existing fish and wildlife information, in addition to any site-specific studies authorized under § 780.16(a)(2).

One commenter contended that the deletion of the requirement for site-specific data would have deleterious effects on fish and wildlife and that existing information is often out-of-date, incomplete, or not relevant to the site, and/or otherwise of limited value for determining degree of impact. OSMRE is sensitive to this concern and, as stated above, has added new paragraph (a)(2) to address when site-specific information is required.

Another commenter, who is currently developing a computer-based fish and wildlife data system, stated that its data system may not provide enough site-specific information on all proposed permit areas and therefore believed that the responsibility for providing information on fish and wildlife and their habitats should rest with the applicant. OSMRE agrees. As discussed in the preamble to the proposed rule, the authority to require site-specific studies has been retained but the restriction that a study be the only means to achieve compliance is removed. The need for site-specific studies will be determined by the regulatory authority through the consultation process required in the final rule. Site-specific studies could include aquatic sampling of streams to determine their "importance" as one commenter suggested.

One commenter suggested that "minimum standards" be established in the final rules for those areas that are not designated as critical habitat or that are otherwise sensitive, as outlined in proposed § 780.16(a)(1)-(3). This commenter contended that most mining operations are likely to occur in the "non-critical" fish and wildlife habitats and therefore in the majority of cases, the proposed rules provide no minimum standards to the regulatory authority on what resource information must be part of the permit application. OSMRE has added the requirement in § 780.16(a)(1) that the resource information be sufficient to design the protection and enhancement plan. Because of the diversity and variability of lands between and within regions, OSMRE cannot establish minimum resource information standards in the Federal rules for "non-critical" fish and wildlife habitat. Instead, OSMRE has determined that a more practical and as protective an approach will be for the regulatory authority to make these decisions within the framework of that information needed to assure an appropriate fish and wildlife management plan.

Several comments were received regarding the qualification requirements of those individuals compiling or reviewing fish and wildlife information. The commenters felt that the required information should be developed and/or reviewed by professional biologists. OSMRE disagrees that there is a need to specify qualifications for the preparers and reviewers of fish and wildlife information. The applicant is responsible for the accuracy and completeness of the submitted information and the regulatory authority is required to consult with agencies which possess the needed resources to competently evaluate the applicant's data.

Proposed rule § 780.16(a)(1) required permit applications to contain information on listed and proposed endangered or threatened species of plants or animals and their critical habitats listed by the Secretary under the Endangered Species Act of 1973, as amended (16 U.S.C. 1531 et seq.), and those species and habitats protected by similar State statutes. Commenters generally supported and endorsed this provision of the proposed rule. One commenter felt that listed or proposed endangered or threatened plants should be protected by separate requirements within the vegetation information requirements in existing § 779.19. OSMRE believes it appropriate to address both plants and animals that are afforded special protection under the ESA and similar State statutes under one section for administrative and continuity reasons. Another commenter requested clarification with regard to the reference to "state statutes." This commenter asked if an operation is to be located in a particular state, whether the proposed language would require that the fish and wildlife information address species which are not protected under that state's statute but are protected under the statutes of other states? Section 780.16(a)(2)(i) of the final rule would apply to only those species protected under Federal law and to those species protected under the laws of the state where the particular mining operation is located.

One commenter asked OSMRE to define a "proposed" endangered or threatened species. A "proposed species" as defined under existing 50 CFR 402.02 means any species of fish, wildlife, or plant that is proposed in the Federal Register to be listed under section 4 of the Endangered Species Act of 1973, as amended, 16 U.S.C. 1531 et seq. States with similar statutes may have various definitions for the term "proposed" or may use different terms for species under this classification.

Proposed § 780.16(a)(2) required information about eagles, migratory birds, and other species identified as requiring special protection under State or Federal law. OSMRE has modified this provision and numbered it in the final rule as § 780.16(a)(2)(iii). The final rule requires information on other species or habitats identified through agency consultation as requiring special protection under State or Federal law. OSMRE has deleted the specific reference to eagles and migratory birds. Instead, such species would be included in the general requirement to identify other species requiring special protection under State or Federal law.

Proposed § 780.16(a)(3) required information about habitats of unusually high value for fish and wildlife such as important streams, wetlands, riparian areas, cliffs supporting raptors, areas offering special shelter or protection, migration routes, and reproduction and wintering areas. OSMRE has adopted the proposed rule as final § 780.16(a)(2)(ii). One commenter requested that the term "wetland" be defined using the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's (FWS) Classification of Wetlands and Deepwater Habitats of the United States, 1979 (FWS/OBS-79-31, December 1979). Under the process outlined in the final rule, OSMRE believes it is unnecessary to define the term "wetland" because definitions in common usage by the appropriate State and Federal agencies are applied.

Three commenters suggested that the list of examples of habitat in proposed § 780.16(a)(3) be expanded to include additional habitat types and areas that they viewed as being of "unusually high value." OSMRE believes that the habitats provided as examples in the final rule are representative and not exclusive of the types that the regulatory authority should consider under this section. One commenter associated the term "migration routes" only with migratory birds and did not consider the term to be a type of habitat. OSMRE included the term "migration routes" under this section because of the different habitat types within migration routes utilized by such species as mule deer and elk in the western states.

Protection and Enhancement Plan—30 CFR 780.16(b)/784.21(b)

As proposed, § 780.16(b) required that each application shall include a description of how, to the extent possible using the best technology currently available, the operator will minimize disturbances and adverse impacts on fish and wildlife and related environmental values, including compliance with the Endangered Species Act, during surface coal mining and reclamation operations and how enhancement of these resources will be achieved where practicable. After considering remarks from commenters and for the reasons discussed below, OSMRE has adopted § 780.16(b) as proposed.

One commenter suggested that the terminology "protection and enhancement plan" be changed to "mitigation and enhancement plan" and that acceptable definitions of "mitigation" and "enhancement" be provided. OSMRE has retained the terminology "protection and enhancement plan" as proposed. The terms "protection" and "enhancement" are consistent with terminology used in sections 515 and 516 of the Act. OSMRE does not believe that the term "enhancement" requires further definition when it is used in context in § 780.16(b).

Four commenters shared OSMRE's view of that enhancement of fish and wildlife values is practicable for almost all postmining land uses. Other commenters indicated that if a situation arises where fish and wildlife habitat enhancement measures are not practicable, the burden should fall to the applicant to indicate why enhancement is not practicable. OSMRE has reconsidered this provision and agrees that enhancement may not be practicable in all situations. Furthermore, the applicant should be afforded the opportunity to state why enhancement is not practicable. OSMRE has therefore modified § 780.16(b)(3)(ii) in the final rule to require that, where enhancement measures are not included in the permit application, the applicant shall provide a statement explaining why such measures are not practicable.

One commenter expressed concern that the proposed regulations requiring a protection and enhancement plan are silent on the enforceability of the plan by the regulatory authority. OSMRE reminds the commenter that the plan is a part of the permit application and thus is enforceable by the regulatory authority when the permit is issued.

Proposed § 780.16(b)(1) required that the description of how the operator will protect and enhance fish and wildlife values be consistent with the requirements of § 816.97. No comments were received regarding this subsection. OSMRE has therefore adopted the proposed rule as final § 780.16(b)(1).

Several commenters expressed concern that the proposed rule did not contain language which explicitly requires the protection and enhancement plan to cover the permit area and adjacent area. Two commenters requested that "adjacent area" be changed to "portions of the adjacent area where effects may reasonably be expected to occur." OSMRE does not agree that any change is necessary since "adjacent area" is already defined in § 701.5 to mean that area outside the permit area where a resource is, or reasonably would be expected to be, adversely impacted by proposed mining operations. Furthermore, § 780.16(b)(2) requires that the protection and enhancement plan apply at a minimum to resource information that is required for both the permit area and adjacent area in § 780.16(a). One commenter was concerned about substituting the terms permit area and adjacent area for mine plan area. OSMRE no longer uses the term mine plan area in the Federal rules. The revision of areal descriptors is discussed in 48 FR 14814. This substitution of terms will provide consistency in the terminology used in the Federal rules without affecting the substantive requirements for fish and wildlife plans required by § 780.16.

Three commenters expressed concern that the language of the proposed rule may leave some ambiguity by the generic reference to paragraph (a) and suggested that the language of § 780.16(b)(2) should read: "Apply, at a minimum, to species and habitats identified under paragraphs (a)(1), (a)(2), and (a)(3) of this section." OSMRE has rejected the commenters suggested language because, to be consistent with sections 515(b)(24) and 516(b)(11) of SMCRA, the protection and enhancement must not be limited to critical species and habitats.

Proposed § 780.16(b)(3)(i) required the protection and enhancement plan to describe the protective measures that will be used during the active mining phase of operation. The proposed rule specified that such measures may include the establishment of buffer zones, the selective location and special design of haul roads and powerlines, and the monitoring of surface water quality and quantity. OSMRE has adopted the proposed rule as final § 780.16(b)(3)(i). One commenter recommended that biological monitoring be added as an example of a protective measure under this section. OSMRE emphasizes that the protective measures provided as examples under this section are not an exclusive list to be considered by the applicant. Other protective measures such as biological monitoring may also be considered.

One commenter argued that the proposed regulations do not establish any minimum protection and enhancement measures. This commenter suggested the proposed rule require that protection and enhancement measures listed as discretionary in proposed § 780.16(b)(3)(i) and § 780.16(b)(3)(ii) be required in the plan when a determination is made by either the regulatory authority or the State or Federal fish and wildlife agency that these measures would improve the overall reclamation of the site for fish and wildlife resources. OSMRE believes the final rule provides the regulatory authority with sufficient guidance in § 780.16 (a) and (b) to determine what measures are necessary for the protection and enhancement of fish and wildlife. Section 515(b)(24) of SMCRA does not require specific protection and enhancement measures but rather requires each operation, to the extent possible using the best technology currently available, to minimize disturbances and achieve enhancement where practicable.

Proposed § 780.16(b)(3)(ii) required the protection and enhancement plan to describe the enhancement measures that will be used during the reclamation and postmining phase of operation to develop aquatic and terrestrial habitat. The proposed rule provided that such measures may include restoration of streams and other wetlands, retention of ponds and impoundments, establishment of vegetation for wildlife food and cover, and the placement of perches and nest boxes. One commenter believed that this section was inaccurate because the commenter did not view the restoration of streams and wetlands as a method of fish and wildlife enhancement. In his opinion, the term "restoration" indicated the return to a previous condition. OSMRE disagrees with the commenter since restored streams and wetlands may contain features that were not present during premining conditions. The addition of pools and riffles to a premine channelized stream is one example. Part of the commenter's concern is semantic. For example, one performance standard which the protection and enhancement plan implements, 30 CFR 816.43(a)(3), illustrates how closely the two concepts are and requires restoration or approximation of premining characteristics to promote the recovery and enhancement of the aquatic habitat.

A commenter stated that the establishment of vegetation for wildlife food and cover may not constitute wildlife enhancement. The commenter believed that a comparison of the premining vegetation and habitats and the proposed postmining revegetation plan must be made before one can determine if the revegetation plan would enhance wildlife. OSMRE does not agree that such a comparison must be made; however, a comparison of pre- and postmining vegetative conditions may be one approach to reflect that wildlife enhancement has been realized. Enhancement can also be achieved by developing a postmining land use plan that benefits or promotes a selected or featured fish and wildlife species or a diversity of species.

The same commenter agreed that some enhancement measures—such as the creation of impoundments—can be implemented during mining and that proposed § 780.16(b)(3)(ii) stipulates the enhancement measures to be implemented after mining. OSMRE agrees that impoundments are normally created during the active phase of mining and has used the word "retention" in reference to ponds and impoundments in the final rule.

One commenter suggested that this section of the proposed rules be amended to include consultation with the appropriate fish and wildlife agency to ensure that the premining habitat diversity found in the permit area and adjacent areas is protected as much as possible when reclaiming the site to a postmining land use. OSMRE believes that through the consultation process in § 780.16(a)(1) the permit review process required by §§ 773.13 and 773.15, habitat diversity will receive adequate consideration.

Proposed § 780.16(c) required that upon request, the regulatory authority provide the resource information submitted by permit applicants under paragraph (a) and the protection and enhancement plan submitted under paragraph (b) to the U.S. Department of the Interior, Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS) Regional or Field Office for their review. The proposed rule required that the information be provided within 10 days of receipt of the request from the Service. After considering remarks from commenters and for the reasons discussed below, OSMRE has adopted paragraph (c) as proposed. Several commenters supported the proposal while others offered suggestions for modifications. One commenter suggested that the final rule be expanded to require other information such as is found in the reclamation, revegetation and hydrologic balance restoration plans be provided to the USFWS if requested. OSMRE and the USFWS have discussed this provision and are in agreement that the resource information required under paragraph (a) and the protection and enhancement plan required under paragraph (b) will in most situations be sufficient for USFWS reviews. In those cases where an inspection of other parts of the permit application is desired, the USFWS can visit the location where the public file copy of the application is kept or make other arrangements with the regulatory authority to obtain the additional information.

Another commenter who acts as a liaison between the USFWS and a regulatory authority requested that the regulatory authority or the State agency charged with the protection of the plant and wildlife resources provide the resource information and the protection and enhancement plan to the USFWS.

OSMRE believes there is sufficient flexibility in the final rule to provide for this transfer as suggested by the commenter. One commenter expressed concern that the implementation of this provision could relegate State fish and wildlife agencies to a role where their comments are solicited but are never implemented. OSMRE does not believe that this will happen. Under § 780.16(a)(1), the regulatory authority is required to consult with both State and Federal agencies in setting information requirements. Regulatory authorities that are provided comments by fish and wildlife agencies must consider all comments in their decisions to issue permits. To be defensible, these decisions must be well-reasoned and consistent with the State regulatory program.

One commenter questioned how many days the Service would have to review and comment on the permit application. Section 773.13(b)(1) requires each regulatory authority to establish a reasonable time for the submittal of written comments or objections on permit applications by State and Federal fish and wildlife agencies and other public entities.

Two commenters opposed § 780.16(c) as proposed and urged deletion of the proposal from the final rule. The commenters contended that there was no basis in the statute for this provision. OSMRE does not agree. Sections 201(c)(2), (6), (12), and (13); 501(b), and 510(b) of the Act provide authority. Moreover, in order for the USFWS to discharge its responsibilities under the Endangered Species Act, Bald Eagle Protection Act and the Fish and Wildlife Coordination Act, and to assure that sections 515(b)(24) and 516(b)(10) of SMCRA are implemented, the USFWS must have access to information supplied under § 780.16.

B. Performance Standards

Sections 816.97(b)/817.97(b)

OSMRE proposed to amend § 816.97(b) to provide for the protection of endangered and threatened species by requiring that no mining activity shall be conducted which is likely to jeopardize the continued existence of endangered or threatened species listed by the Secretary or which is likely to result in the destruction or adverse modification of designated critical habitats of such species in violation of the Endangered Species Act of 1973, as amended (16 U.S.C. 1531 et seq.). The previous rule was more limited in that it prohibited only mining activity which will jeopardize the existence of endangered or threatened species or which will result in the destruction or adverse modification of designated critical habitats. OSMRE also proposed to require the operator to promptly report to the regulatory authority any State- or Federally-listed endangered or threatened species within the permit area of which the operator becomes aware. The proposed rule added the requirement to report State-listed species to the existing requirement that the operator report Federally-listed species. OSMRE has adopted § 816.97(b) as proposed.

Several commenters expressed support for this proposal. One commenter, however, noted that a number of states do not maintain state endangered species lists and instead classify certain species as "rare." OSMRE is aware that classification or terminology may differ in the various States; however, it is the protection afforded these special species under similar State statutes that is intended. This commenter further stated that it is not necessary or desirable to report immediately every threatened or endangered species observed within the permit area and cited an example of wintering bald eagles foraging over coal permit areas on a daily basis. Sections 515(b)(24) and 516(b)(10) require that disturbances to fish and wildlife and related environmental values be minimized. Accordingly, OSMRE has required, since 1979, that the operator promptly report the presence of certain species in the permit area. In the example provided, the eagles may be nesting or resting off the mine site but could be dependent upon a food source on the mine site and, thus, be adversely impacted by the mining operations. The reporting provision enables the regulatory authority to ensure compliance with the Endangered Species Act and with the Bald Eagle Protection Act.

One commenter suggested that the reporting requirement be expanded to include not only the permit area but also the adjacent area. The rule is sufficiently flexible to allow the regulatory authority to require reports of sightings on adjacent areas if it wishes to do so. This commenter further suggested that the rule be expanded to mandate consultation when the regulatory authority receives sighting reports from any person, unless the sightings are deemed to be frivolous. While the rule requires the operator to notify the regulatory authority whenever the operator becomes aware of an endangered or threatened species in the permit area, it does not preclude other persons from so notifying the regulatory authority. The regulatory authority would have discretion on whether to initiate the consultation process.

Two commenters objected to the inclusion of the term "any State" in the proposed rule. The commenters further stated that SMCRA does not extend protection to State-listed species. As discussed in the preamble to the proposed rule, OSMRE proposed to amend the existing rule to include "State-listed" species in response to the District Court's decision of October 1, 1984. In re: Permanent Surface Mining Regulation Litigation II, No. 79-1144, slip op. at pp. 58-63 (D.D.C. 1984). The deletion of a reference to State-listed species from the previous rule was found by the court to be contrary to section 515(b)(24) of the Act. The commenters objected to the requirement to report the presence of endangered or threatened species within the permit area because they believed it would require duplicative reporting inasmuch as an operator will have already reported in the permit application the existence of any endangered or threatened species. The commenters cited for support the District Court's decision upholding the Secretary's regulation which requires identification of critical habitats in the permit application but not during the mining operation. In Re: Permanent Surface Mining Regulation Litigation II, No. 79-1144 (D.D.C. October 1, 1984) Slip op. at 60-1. OSMRE does not agree with the commenter's reasoning that the court's decision regarding critical habitats also applies to the reporting of threatened or endangered species. Unlike critical habitats which are designated by the Secretary after an administrative proceeding, threatened and endangered species are mobile rather than stationary and may enter the permitted area after a permit is approved.

Sections 816.97(e)/817.97(e)

Sections 816.97 (e)(2) and (e)(3) of the existing regulations were republished in the proposed rule solely for editorial reasons to reflect the addition of § 816.97(e)(4) and not to make substantive changes. OSMRE has therefore adopted these proposed rules as final §§ 816.97(e)(2) and 816.97(e)(3).

As proposed, § 816.97(e)(4) required each operator to fence, cover, or use other appropriate methods to exclude wildlife from ponds which contain hazardous concentrations of toxic-forming materials. After considering remarks from commenters and for the reasons discussed below, OSMRE has adopted the proposed rule as final § 816.97(e)(4). One commenter expressed support for the rule as proposed. Five commenters asked for clarification as to what constitutes "hazardous concentrations of toxic-forming materials" and one suggested that OSMRE work with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to develop a standard definition for this term, consistent with the existing regulations for toxic-forming materials found in EPA's regulations at 40 CFR 261.2 and 40 CFR 261.3. OSMRE does not believe that further regulatory changes are necessary since OSMRE already defines "toxic-forming materials" in 30 CFR 701.5.

The final rules also amend §§ 779.10 and 783.10 which pertain to Federal information collection by deleting references to §§ 779.20 and 783.20 respectively. This amendment was necessary because §§ 779.20 and 783.20 have been deleted in the final rules.

Effect in Federal Program States and on Indian Lands

The final rules apply through cross-referencing in those States with Federal programs. This includes Georgia, Idaho, Massachusetts, Michigan, North Carolina, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Tennessee, and Washington. The Federal programs for these States appear at 30 CFR Parts 910, 912, 921, 922, 933, 937, 939, 941, 942, and 947, respectively. The final rules also apply through cross-referencing to Indian lands under the Federal program for Indian Lands as provided in 30 CFR Part 750.

III. Procedural Matters

Federal Paperwork Reduction Act

The information collection requirements of Parts 780 and 784 have been submitted to the Office of Management and Budget under 44 U.S.C. 3507. The following clearance numbers were assigned: 30 CFR Part 780 (OMB Control No. 1029-0036) and 30 CFR Part 784 (OMB Control No. 1029-0039). The information is needed to meet the requirements of sections 515(b)(24) and 516(b)(11) of Pub. L. 95-87, and will be used by the regulatory authority to assess the impact of proposed mining operations on fish and wildlife resources and the adequacy of proposed protection and enhancement plans. The obligation to respond is mandatory.

Executive Order 12291 and the Regulatory Flexibility Act

The Department of the Interior has determined that this document is not a major rule under E.O. 12291 and certifies that it will not have a significant economic effect on a substantial number of small entities under the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq.). The rule does not distinguish between small and large entities, and will make no change in the threshold for determining whether to approve permits for surface coal mining operations because of fish and wildlife considerations. No incremental economic effects are anticipated as a result of the rule.

National Environmental Policy Act

OSMRE has prepared an environmental assessment (EA) on the impacts on the human environment of this final rulemaking and has made a finding that the rules would not have a significant impact under section 102(2)(C) of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, 42 U.S.C. 4332(2)(C). The EA and finding of no significant impact are on file in the OSMRE Administrative Record Room 5131, 1100 L Street NW., Washington, DC.

(2) Site-specific resource information necessary to address the respective species or habitats shall be required when the permit area or adjacent area is likely to include:

(i) Listed or proposed endangered or threatened species of plants or animals or their critical habitats listed by the Secretary under the Endangered Species Act of 1973, as amended (16 U.S.C. 1531 et seq.), or those species or habitats protected by similar State statutes;

Authority: 30 U.S.C. 1201 et seq., sec. 115 of Pub. L. 98-146 (30 U.S.C. 1257), and 16 U.S.C. 470 et seq.

12. Section 784.21 is revised to read as follows:

§ 784.21 Fish and wildlife information.

(a) Resource information. Each application shall include fish and wildlife resource information for the permit area and adjacent area.

(1) The scope and level of detail for such information shall be determined by the regulatory authority in consultation with State and Federal agencies with responsibilities for fish and wildlife and shall be sufficient to design the protection and enhancement plan required under paragraph (b) of this section.

(2) Site-specific resource information necessary to address the respective species or habitats shall be required when the permit area or adjacent area is likely to include:

(i) Listed or proposed endangered or threatened species of plants or animals or their critical habitats listed by the Secretary under the Endangered Species Act of 1973, as amended (16 U.S.C. 1531 et seq.), or those species or habitats protected by similar State statutes;

(ii) Habitats of unusually high value for fish and wildlife such as important streams, wetlands, riparian areas, cliffs supporting raptors, areas offering special shelter or protection, migration routes, or reproduction and wintering areas; or

(iii) Other species or habitats identified through agency consultation as requiring special protection under State or Federal law.

(b) Protection and enhancement plan. Each application shall include a description of how, to the extent possible using the best technology currently available, the operator will minimize disturbances and adverse impacts on fish and wildlife and related environmental values, including compliance with the Endangered Species Act, during the surface coal mining and reclamation operations and how enhancement of these resources will be achieved where practicable. This description shall—

(1) Be consistent with the requirements of § 817.97 of this chapter;

(2) Apply, at a minimum, to species and habitats identified under paragraph (a) of this section; and

(3) Include—

(i) Protective measures that will be used during the active mining phase of operation. Such measures may include the establishment of buffer zones, the selective location and special design of haul roads and powerlines, and the monitoring of surface water quality and quantity; and

(ii) Enhancement measures that will be used during the reclamation and postmining phase of operation to develop aquatic and terrestrial habitat. Such measures may include restoration of streams and other wetlands, retention of ponds and impoundments, establishment of vegetation for wildlife food and cover, and the placement of perches and nest boxes. Where the plan does not include enhancement measures, a statement shall be given explaining why enhancement is not practicable.

(c) Fish and Wildlife Service Review. Upon request, the regulatory authority shall provide the resource information required under paragraph (a) of this section and the protection and enhancement plan required under paragraph (b) of this section to the U.S. Department of the Interior, Fish and Wildlife Service Regional or Field Office for their review. This information shall be provided within 10 days of receipt of the request from the Service.

§ 816.97 Protection of fish, wildlife, and related environmental values.

(b) Endangered and threatened species. No surface mining activity shall be conducted which is likely to jeopardize the continued existence of endangered or threatened species listed by the Secretary or which is likely to result in the destruction or adverse modification of designated critical habitats of such species in violation of the Endangered Species Act of 1973, as amended (16 U.S.C. 1531 et seq.). The operator shall promptly report to the regulatory authority any State- or federally-listed endangered or threatened species within the permit area of which the operator becomes aware. Upon notification, the regulatory authority shall consult with appropriate State and Federal fish and wildlife agencies and, after consultation, shall identify whether, and under what conditions, the operator may proceed.

(e) * * *

(2) Locate and operate haul and access roads so as to avoid or minimize impacts on important fish and wildlife species or other species protected by State or Federal law;

(3) Design fences, overland conveyors, and other potential barriers to permit passage for large mammals, except where the regulatory authority determines that such requirements are unnecessary; and

(4) Fence, cover, or use other appropriate methods to exclude wildlife from ponds which contain hazardous concentrations of toxic-forming materials.

PART 817—PERMANENT PROGRAM PERFORMANCE STANDARDS—UNDERGROUND MINING ACTIVITIES

Rangeland Research Grants Program for Fiscal Year 1988; Solicitation of Applications; Notice

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE*Cooperative State Research Service*Rangeland Research Grants Program for Fiscal Year 1988; Solicitation of Applications

Notice is hereby given that under the authority contained in section 1480 of the National Agricultural Research, Extension, and Teaching Policy Act of 1977, as amended (7 U.S.C. 3333), the Cooperative State Research Service (CSRS) of the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) anticipates awarding standards grants for basic studies in certain areas of rangeland research. No more than $80,000 will be awarded for the support of any one project, regardless of the amount requested. The award of any grant under the Rangeland Research Grants Program is contingent upon the availability of funds.

Under this program, the Secretary may award grants to land-grant colleges and universities, State agricultural experiment stations, and to colleges, universities, and Federal laboratories having a demonstrable capacity in rangeland research. Except in the case of Federal laboratories, each grant recipient must match the Federal funds expended on a research project based on a formula of 50 percent Federal and 50 percent non-Federal funding. Proposals received from scientists at non-United States organizations or institutions will not be considered for support.

Applicable Regulations

This program is subject to the provisions found at 7 CFR Part 3401 (51 FR 16152, April 30, 1986). These provisions set forth procedures to be followed when submitting grant proposals, rules governing the evaluation of proposals, processes regarding the awarding of grants, and regulations relating to the post-award administration of grant projects. Pursuant to section 1473 of the National Agricultural Research, Extension, and Teaching Policy Act of 1977, as amended (7 U.S.C. 3319), funds made available under this program to recipients other than Federal laboratories shall not be subject to reduction for indirect costs or for tuition remission costs; therefore, funds should not be requested for these costs except in the case of Federal laboratories. In addition, USDA Uniform Federal Assistance Regulations, 7 CFR Part 3015, as amended, apply to this program.

How to Obtain Application Materials

Copies of this solicitation, the Research Grant Application Kit, and the Administrative Provisions for this program (7 CFR Part 3401) may be obtained by writing to the address or calling the telephone number which follows: Proposal Services Unit, Grants Administrative Management, Office of Grants and Program Systems, Cooperative State Research Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Room 005, Justin Smith Morrill Building, 15th and Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, DC 20251-2200, Telephone: (202) 475-5048.

What to Submit

An original and nine copies of each proposal submitted under this program are requested. This number of copies is necessary to permit thorough, objective peer evaluation of all proposals received before funding decisions are made. In addition to other required forms and certifications included in the Research Grant Application Kit, each copy of each proposal must include a Form CSRS-661, "Grant Application." Proposers should note that one copy of this form, preferably the original, must contain pen-and-ink signatures of the principal investigator(s) and the authorized organizational representative.

Members of review committees and CSRS staff expect each project description to be complete in itself. Grant proposals must be limited to 10 pages (single-spaced) exclusive of required forms, bibliography and vitae of the principal investigator(s), senior associate(s) and other professional personnel. Attachment of appendices is discouraged and should be included only if pertinent to an understanding of the proposal.

All copies of each proposal must be mailed in one package. Please see that each copy of each proposal is stapled securely in the upper left-hand corner. DO NOT BIND. Information should be typed on one side of the page only.

Every effort should be made to ensure that the proposal contains all pertinent information when submitted. Prior to mailing, compare your proposal with the regulations contained in the Administrative Provisions which govern the Rangeland Research Grants Program, 7 CFR Part 3401. If applicable, the research grant proposal must state that the 50 percent non-Federal funding requirement will be met.

Where and When to Submit Grant Applications

Each research grant application must be submitted to: Proposal Services Unit, Grants Administrative Management, Office of Grants and Program Systems, Cooperative State Research Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Room 005, Justin Smith Morrill Building, 15th and Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, DC 20251-2200.

To be considered for funding during fiscal year 1988, proposals must be received in the Proposal Services Unit by the close of business on February 22, 1988. One copy of each proposal not selected for funding will be retained for a period of one year. The remaining copies will be destroyed.

Specific Areas of Research to be Supported in Fiscal Year 1988

Standard grants will be awarded to support basic research in certain areas of rangeland research. Proposals will be considered in the following specific areas: (1) Management of rangelands and agricultural land as integrated systems for more efficient utilization of crops and waste products in the production of food and fiber; (2) methods of managing rangeland watersheds to maximize efficient use of water and improve water yield, water quality, and water conservation, to protect against onsite and offsite damage to rangeland resources from floods, erosion and other detrimental influences, and to remedy unsatisfactory and unstable rangeland conditions; and (3) revegetation and rehabilitation of rangelands including the control of undesirable species of plants.

If necessary, further information may be obtained by calling Dr. Wayne K. Murphey, CSRS-USDA; telephone: (202) 447-2044.

Supplementary Information

The Rangeland Research Grants Program is listed in the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance under No. 10.200. For reasons set forth in the Final Rule-related Notice to 7 CFR Part 3015, Subpart V (48 FR 29115, June 24, 1983), this program is excluded from the scope of Executive Order 12372, which requires intergovernmental consultation with State and local officials.

Under the provisions of the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980 (44 U.S.C. 3504(h)), the collection of information requirements contained in this Notice have been approved under OMB Document No. 0524-0022.

Done at Washington, DC, this 4th day of December 1987.

John Patrick Jordan,
Administrator, Cooperative State Research Service.
