

BRYAN'S VIGOR AND VOICE RESTORED.

A Day of Refreshing Rest Has Done Wonders for the Candidate.

Returned to Washington from Baltimore Saturday Night Worn but Jubilant.

Church in the Morning, a Drive and a Few Calls the Record of the Sabbath.

PLEASED WITH HIS TRIP SO FAR.

Leaders at the Capital Go Over the Ground of the Campaign with the Chicago Nominee and Agree That Matters Are Looking Favorable.

Washington, Sept. 20.—Twenty-four hours of refreshing rest have restored William J.

James L. Norris, now assistant treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, called with his carriage and took Mr. Bryan for a drive around the city.

The enthusiasm over Mr. Bryan is remarkable. He was cheered when he came out of church, though it seemed distasteful, and a crowd of varying proportions has been in front of the pretty brownstone residence of Mr. Bryan all day long.

Mr. Bryan is saying nothing for publication, but it is known that his trip so far covering the border States, Missouri, Kentucky, North Carolina, Virginia and Maryland, has been of the most satisfactory nature.

grand stand, on Mount Royal avenue, and the rain fell with disagreeable persistence, but, despite these facts, William Jennings Bryan spoke to a vast multitude outside the Music Hall, and subsequently to an assemblage within the structure such as has never thronged the great auditorium before.

The meetings at which Mr. Bryan made his first bow to Baltimore audiences were remarkable both in point of numbers and for the enthusiasm displayed. Despite the weather, there were more than 35,000 people in and about the Music Hall.

At the sight of the old war horse of Democracy, and reminded of his open avowal for the Chicago platform and candidates when other leaders were turning from it one by one, the crowd gave the Senator the greatest ovation he ever received in his life.

Mr. Gorman took his reception modestly. He bowed and smiled and waved his hand to his admirers, who applauded him still more. The demonstration was a surprise, even to the warmest friends and admirers of Senator Gorman.

Mr. Bryan's getting to his feet was the signal for an increase in the volume of applause, and for five minutes the audience was wild. The utmost enthusiasm prevailed during the delivery of the speech, which occupied just about one hour.

"I can't, I can't," he exclaimed. By a mighty effort those around him pushed the STORM'S MAD WORK A QUEER SPECTACLE.

Thousands View the Wreckage at the Wind-Swept Summer Resorts.

Coney Island Beaches Strwn with the Debris of Buildings and Walks.

On Far Rockaway's Shore Lie the Ruins of a Big Restaurant and Other Structures.

VICTIMS OF THE GALE'S CAPRICE.

One Woman in Paterson Hurled Against a Building; Another Knocked Down; Sails Stripped from Masts and Boats Capsized.

The seaside resorts near New York yesterday profited from misfortune. Hundreds of visitors were attracted to Coney Island, Bath Beach and Rockaway by the desire to see the wreckage of Saturday evening's storm.

At Coney Island there was a Summer-day crowd along the beach. The visitors found an interesting scene. Overturned bath houses, lunch and popcorn stands and photographers' tents were mixed together, as if the island had been struck by a Western tornado.

Instead of the ice-railway, just back of the "Streets of Cairo," there was a pile of ruins. The structure had consisted of a gravity road, three hundred yards long, and a costly ice-making plant. A shed covered about two hundred feet of the road and the scheme was to keep this lined with ice, so that on hot Summer days the persons who delight in shooting down the gravity roads of Coney Island would find on this one a place to be suddenly cooled.

The wind unroofed the refrigerating plants, tore up the track and did damage estimated at $10,000. The smokestack fell across George C. Tillyou's electric light and power plant, doing at least $1,000 damage.

All the other pavilions along the surf suffered, and nearly a hundred small bath-houses were overturned.

The damage at Brighton and Manhattan beaches was not so great as at first reported, consisting chiefly in the breaking of windows and overturning of walks.

Escaped from Drownings.

During the gale Daniel E. M. Ferguson, son of Cornelius Ferguson; Peter Hagan, of No. 187 Eighteenth street, and Henry Franklin, of Bensonhurst, had a narrow escape from drowning. They were out in the catboat Lester, when it was capsized by a squall. Franklin jumped into the rowboat. Hagan was in the cabin, and Ferguson became entangled in the ropes.

At Bath Beach fifty feet of the roof over the pier in front of the Hotel Fort Lowry were blown down. One-half of the mass was lifted clear over the hotel and carried back 500 feet from the shore.

The roof of the New York Outing Club at Bath Beach was blown away, and the 45-foot sloop yacht Alidia, owned by Mr. Harry W. Brett, of the New York Produce Exchange, is a total loss there.

March waves were crowded along the south shore of Long Island in the vicinity of the Rockaways, but, so far as could be ascertained yesterday, there was no loss of life. The wife of a hotel keeper was caught on Seaside avenue by the swirling wind and had her skirts ripped off. At Watterson's Hotel, in Seaside, the lightning entered at the kitchen windows and wrecked the place.

The full force of the gale struck the Channel Beach Hotel and carried away a portion of the roof. Henry Splight, of Beach Channel, was in a large fishing smack which the wind capsized. Fishermen put in boats and rescued him. A son of District Superintendent John Farley and a boat's crew were caught in the storm about Far Rockaway and blown out to sea. Yesterday morning tidings were received that all had safely landed on Fire Island and spent the night there.

Big Restaurant Demolished.

At Far Rockaway the storm played its strangest pranks. In front of the United States Hotel was a large cafe and restaurant, of No. 82 Prospect street, who was passing the Paterson Savings Institution, was nicked in the head by the gale and thrown against the side of the building. She suffered greatly from the shock. Mrs. Annie Campbell, of No. 107 Jersey street, Paterson, was knocked down by the wind, receiving a cut on the face.

Two young sons of William Russell, of Railway, were spilled from a canoe while crabbing on Staten Island Sound. They saved themselves by clinging to the overturned boat.

At Long Branch, N. J., the Casino of the Scarborough Hotel was struck by lightning and the northern end wrecked.

At Woodbridge, N. J., a dozen horses attached to cars stamped and ran into the "day sheds" of a lumber company. Two of the horses' legs were broken.

ANARCHIST OUTFIT FOUND

Enough Dynamite to Blow Up Half of Chicago Discovered in a Trunk Left in a Boarding House as Security.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—An Anarchist's outfit, containing enough dynamite to blow up half of Chicago, was discovered to-day in the home of Mrs. A. Beyrel, No. 18 Sedgwick court. The find was made by accident. Two years ago Mrs. Beyrel had a lodger named Joseph Bestmann. He had lived in the family several months. One day he informed his landlady that he was going to Dallas, Texas, and not having sufficient funds to pay his bill, he left his trunk as security. The trunk, Bestmann said, contained valuable books.

Until to-day it remained stored away and unopened in the room that had been occupied by Bestmann. It occurred to Mrs. Beyrel this morning that moths might be in the books, so she determined to open the lid. Her son assisted her. They were surprised to find no books, but instead a satchel and a lot of soiled clothing. The son opened the satchel and nearly fainted when he hauled out eight dynamite cartridges, all fused together, so they would explode as one.

A search among the clothing revealed a box full of dynamite cartridges, such as the anarchist Ling used to blow off his head, and a large quantity of giant powder and other explosives. The police were notified and the outfit was carefully removed to Inspector Fitzpatrick's private office. There it was examined and all the explosives were found to be genuine.

Bestmann, Mrs. Beyrel says, claimed to be a cabinet maker, was about thirty-five years old and spent much of his time in his room. He has not been heard from since his departure. Besides the explosives the trunk contained Anarchist literature and a letter from Albert Parsons to Bestmann.

It was learned late this evening that Bestmann was in Chicago six months ago and that he boarded with Thomas Grief, of No. 54 West Lake street, in whose place most of the Anarchist meetings were held previous to the Haymarket riots.

HANNA STILL SATISFIED.

McKinley's Manager at His Cleveland Home, but Will Soon Return to the East.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 20.—Mark A. Hanna arrived here early this morning, and was driven to his home, Colonel Myron T. Herrick and Senator Cullom, of Illinois, dined with him this afternoon, and he has seen one else of consequence to-day. He intends to remain here till Monday, and will then leave for New York. He was asked: "How is the general situation?"

"Better," was his laconic reply, and he gave the same answer when asked of the situation in New York. Hanna further said that the free silver sentiment might or might not be dying out, but that Democratic and other silver speakers were not talking it so much as they had been.

JEALOUS, SHE TOOK A DRUG

Pretty Lillian Davis Tried to Commit Suicide with Laudanum.

Lillian Davis, twenty-one years old, of No. 228 West Thirty-seventh street, was taken to Bellevue Hospital yesterday after having attempted suicide. The janitor at the flat where she lived said he found her in what appeared to be a fit. On a table in her room was a two-ounce bottle that had contained laudanum.

A tall, dark woman called at the hospital and asked to see the patient. The visitor refused to give her name or say anything about the suffering woman further than that it "was due to jealousy." It was learned at No. 227 West Thirty-seventh street that the caller was Minnie Chase, who occupies the flat with Lillian Davis. She has not been seen at her flat since her friend was taken to the hospital unconscious.

The would-be suicide regained consciousness last night, but refused to offer any explanation of her act. The young woman, who is unusually pretty, says she has an aunt at Greenport, L. I.

HER HEART ON THE RIGHT SIDE.

Curious Discovery Made. During the Treatment of Louise Fisher.

Louise Fisher, seventeen years old, a servant, died in the New York Hospital yesterday from burns which she received nineteen months ago. Her home was in Walpole, N. H. It was while in service there that she sustained her injuries. She received local medical treatment, but did not regain her health. She came to this city a month ago, and had to be taken to the Gouverneur Hospital in an ambulance. From there she was transferred on August 26 to the New York Hospital.

A few days after she was admitted there the operation of skin grafting was resorted to and proved partially successful. Some of the wounds healed and others granulated. The probable cause of death was inflammation of the lung. Her burns were of the third degree; that is, they extended to the muscles. The autopsy will be held to-day by Coroner's Physician O'Hanlon. An odd feature of the case is that the girl's heart appears to be on the right instead of the left side of the body.

Bicycle Ball from Eight Scorers.

These eight cyclists were arrested by the Riverside Park police yesterday afternoon charged with reckless riding and scorching. Alfred March, thirty-two years old, No. 71 West Forty-third street; William Rohlf, nineteen, No. 408 Cominuplav avenue, Jersey City; Rudolph Wolant, eighteen, No. 275 Whiton street, Jersey City; Charles Kenshaw, nineteen, No. 118 West Ninety-seventh street; Arnold L. Scherer, eighteen, No. 123 West Ninety-seventh street; Harry Friedman, nineteen, No. 119 West Ninety-seventh street; John Doring, nineteen, No. 805 Washington street, Hoboken, and James Morrow, twenty-three, No. 54 India street, Brooklyn. Their bicycles were accepted as securities.

MASSACRED THE MONKS.

Rebels in Cavite Capture a Monastery and Slay All Its Inmates—BombarDED by Spanish Ships.

Madrid, Sept. 20.—A dispatch to the Imperialist from Hong Kong says that the rebels at Cavite, Philippine Islands, captured the monastery there and massacred the monks, putting them to death with knives.

Spanish warships afterward started a bombardment of the rebel position, but the shots fell short and no harm was done to the insurgents. Over a hundred rebels who had been previously captured by Spaniards were flung into a small dungeon at Manila. The next morning fifty-four of the prisoners were found dead, having been suffocated during the night.

The rebels are making headway in the interior.

Havana, Sept. 20.—Captain-General Weyler has ordered the release of Alfredo Hernandez Huguet, an American citizen, who was arrested two weeks ago. His release is conditional, however, upon his leaving Cuba.

Wreck Wrought at Coney Island by Saturday's Storm.

Bryan's vigor and voice. He left at 10 o'clock tonight for Baltimore. It was necessary in order to make train connections for Dover, Del., where he is scheduled to speak to-morrow. To do this he will have to take an early morning train from Baltimore.

Mr. Bryan returned from Maryland's seaport last night worn but jubilant. Senator Gorman had declared that the Baltimore meeting had demonstrated to him the certainty that his vote would be cast for the Democratic ticket by a large majority.

Campaign Outlook Discussed. There has been more or less of political consultation during Mr. Bryan's stay in Washington. Senators Gorman and Faulkner, and Representative McMilla talked with him yesterday and went over the ground of the campaign considerably in detail, so far as the short time available permitted. All agreed that matters were looking favorable and that the tendency of the masses toward Bryan was clearly increasing, especially in the so-called doubtful States.

Mark Hanna is not only spending close to $1,000,000 a week, but that he will have the most enormous corruption fund to use on election day which the country ever saw. It is believed, however, that the Hanna machine is breaking from its own weight, that the possession of so much money has aroused the greed of the Republican workers and that they are already "bleeding" Mark Hanna fearfully.

The Republican voters themselves, men who have hitherto voted the ticket stanchly, have figured out that the big interests back of Hanna are the ones which will profit by his success in November, and they are demanding their share in advance. It is estimated by shrewd judges that Hanna will have to disburse $1,000,000 in Illinois alone on election day, to get his own vote to the polls, let alone trying to corrupt the opposition.

BALTIMORE WENT WILD. Republicans and Gold Democrats Are Appalled at the Unprecedented Demonstration in Honor of Bryan Saturday Night.

Baltimore, Sept. 20.—Baltimore has talked of nothing to-day except the monster Bryan demonstration of Saturday night. The remarkable outpouring of the people of every class, and the unusual enthusiasm incident to the great gathering have simply appalled the Republicans and gold Democrats who had been predicting for weeks that the "affair," as they termed it, would be a grand fiasco.

crowd back far enough to get Mr. Bryan seated in a chair, and a couple of fans and a glass of water were hurriedly brought into action to relieve his exhausted condition.

The police then forced a way to the exit and Mr. Bryan was literally carried out of the building to the carriage awaiting him. There thousands of people were waiting to see him come out, and the police had additional work keeping them away from the carriage as it was driven to the Union depot, where the candidate took the train for Washington.
