

HAS HARNESSSED THE OCEAN. An Old Sailor Shows a Marvellous Invention for Propelling Vessels.

Movement of Sea and Ship Compresses Air Which Supplies the Power.

His Device Given a Successful Test on Narragansett Bay Before Prominent Men.

IT COULD NOT BE USED IN A CALM.

The Cargo Is Hung on Trunnions to Meet the Motion of the Waters, Thus Furnishing Its Own Motive Power.

Providence, R. I., Jan. 13.—A new invention, which promises to revolutionize the coastwise freight carrying trade of the world, was successfully tested in Providence to-day. A number of the leading men in local financial circles were present at the trial, and all were enthusiastic at the success of the device.

While many of the foremost inventors have been spending years in attempting to harness Niagara Falls, an old sailor has succeeded in harnessing the ocean, and, if one may judge by the success of the model, it will not be long before the cost of fuel will be one of the smallest items in the expense of running a freight steamer.

The invention is nothing more nor less than the utilization of the forces of the ocean to obtain therefrom a means of motive power for craft at sea. If there are any two things of which there is an overabundance on the ocean it is air and motion, and the inventor has succeeded in obtaining his motive power from these simple factors.

DETAILS OF THE DEVICE.

The details of the device are simple. The air compressors are housed on deck, and any motion of the water forces the air into them by means of a plunger in a vessel of three thousand tons, only one-third of the space would be used, and in this space there would be a large steel compartment, which would be hung on trunnions in such a manner as to meet every motion of the waves.

As yet the inventor has devised no scheme for storing the air, so it would be necessary for vessels to get up steam when entering a harbor. The test, however, has demonstrated that the invention can be used with the greatest success at any point not less than two miles from shore.

Mr. Price has also succeeded in putting his invention to other uses. As was demonstrated to-day, the same power can be utilized to run a dynamo, by which the boat can be lighted by electricity, and to run the monkey engine, with which the sails are hoisted and lowered.

The invention is one of plain mechanics, the force of weight and the power contained in the roll and swell of the ocean having been used to furnish the motive power. It is estimated that the cost of placing this complete device in an ordinary boat will not exceed $5,000. It can be used in any large or small sailing vessel.

THE STOCK ALREADY TAKEN.

All of the stock in the present company has already been taken by Providence capitalists, and New York and Boston financial men are already considering the advisability of forming a syndicate to control the sub-company in the country and Europe. The company has already been capitalized for $250,000, but the secret of the invention has been kept so close until to-day, when the public test was made in Narragansett Bay. The working model is seven feet long, and is built like an ordinary barge. It is supplied with a swinging cargo and an ordinary rudder and propeller.

The inventor, George W. Price, was born in Smithtown, Long Island, January 14, 1850. On March 14, 1864, he made his first voyage, as a cabin boy, and from that time until June of last year he has followed the sea. On September 4, 1876, he was followed the sea on the steamer Senora, from San Francisco to Liverpool. He has also been in the United States revenue service, and his last position was first mate on the Benjamin F. Poole.

For more than ten years Mr. Price has been at work upon his invention; and only last year he made a practical demonstration of the device, and it was so successful that he decided to leave the sea and perfect his plans. His first step was to charge upon a cabin boy, and to make a model of the work of building his model, which was done at the works of the Crutcher Company, in this city. Mr. Price does not claim that his invention will at present make more than from seven to twenty miles an hour, so while it would be of little value to the fast ocean steamers, the great saving in fuel and running expenses will make it of inestimable value to the slower ocean steamers and the freight and other vessels that are engaged in the coastwise trade. It is to be placed on the market at once.

MARYLAND'S NEW SENATOR. The Battle Begins To-day and May Be Long and Exciting.

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 13.—The question as to who will become heir to the seat in the United States Senate now occupied by Charles H. Gibson is far from being settled, although the Legislature will begin balloting to-morrow. All efforts to bring about a Republican caucus have failed, and the situation is as bad as mixed as it was a month ago. If each of the aspirants for Senatorial honors has properly diagnosed his chances there will be at least six Maryland statesmen occupying Mr. Gibson's seat when that gentleman's term has expired.

To-night the adherents of the different candidates are putting in their best work. Nothing but the Senatorial contest is talked of. There is an absolute lack of business; there is not even party management. It is with rare, free for a change, that the great deal of talk about the so-called Eastern Shore law, and the sacred obligation which office holders claim rests upon every legislator to observe it.

This law provides that one of Maryland's Senators in the Senate of the United States shall be a resident of the eastern portion of the State. There has been a growing disposition within recent years to ignore this law, the claim being made that it is unconstitutional to begin with, and, secondly, as the eastern section of the State has but per cent of the State population, it is not entitled to equal representation with the Western Shore. The contest for the Senate seat, which is now being waged in the Eastern Shore, is the result of the fact that the Legislature of the Sixth Maryland District, who engineered Lloyd Lowndes's campaign, is the leader in the Senatorial contest. It is making a fight against the field. The Republican forces have been prevented from holding a Republican caucus. Mr. Gibson's successor may be chosen Wednesday, but the contest is not expected to be a bitter one.

SOME STUDENTS FAVORED. Peculiar Examinations of Applicants for Teachers' Licenses.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 13.—There has been a suspicion in the State Department of Public Instruction that the examinations which are held on the same date throughout the State on which to base a license to teach in the schools have not, in the least, been honestly conducted in several districts of the State. Superintendent Skinner has been suspicious of the examinations held under Sanford J. Stanton, Commissioner in the Second District of Oswego County.

The papers for the uniform teachers' examinations are prepared in the Department of Public Instruction and sent by express to the Commissioner in the Second District two days before the date set for the examinations. The packages containing the papers are not to be opened until the hour set for the examinations. Mr. Skinner said to-day that he was suspicious of the State Department has been suspicious of Mr. Stanton's good faith in conducting these examinations and on Wednesday last Mr. E. M. Ellis, chief clerk of the department, was sent to Parish, Oswego County, where he entered for examination. Mr. Ellis discovered that the chief clerk in the Parish had been tampering with the examinations and had assisted students. The result has been that the examination has been annulled and the students whose names were on the list will not be allowed to conduct any more.

AROUSSED OVER "BAT" SHEA. New Papers Before the Governor and a Public Meeting Called in Troy.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 13.—District Attorney Kelly, of Troy, called upon Governor Morton at the Executive Chamber to-day. He stated that he had been served with motion papers in the application for a new trial for "Bat" Shea, and he called to inform the Governor that his services were at the disposal of the people in the matter, while at the same time he did not wish to stand in the way of the Governor as regards the appointment of other counsel as was done at the time of Shea's prosecution.

It is likely that George Raines, of Rochester, and ex-Assistant District Attorney John C. Van Hook, of Troy, are the attorneys designated to conduct the case of the People against Shea, will again be retained to oppose the application for a new trial. District Attorney Burlingame has filed his report on the McGough confession in the case of Shea, and the report is being reviewed by the Governor. Neither he nor the Governor will make public his contents.

WARNING HASTENED TO OBEY. Sent to the Mayor the Garbage Contract Which Had Caused a Reprimand.

Mayor Strong presided at a meeting of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, held yesterday to receive the form of contract which the Corporation Counsel had prepared for the final disposition of garbage by the Street Cleaning Department. It was the delay in this matter that induced the Mayor to order Colonel Vining at the last meeting of the Board. Mr. Strong presented the contract which he had drawn up, but as none of the other members had read it, he was not permitted to discuss it until to-morrow morning, when it will be discussed in detail.

TAMMANY MEN ARRANGED. Leader Boyle and Mr. Broderick Deny Provoking an Assault on Two Lawyers.

James W. Boyle, the Tammany leader of the Seventh Assembly District, and William H. Broderick, head of the subpoena servers in the District Attorney's office, were in Jefferson Market Police Court yesterday to answer to a charge preferred against them by Walter Sanford Lawton, a lawyer, living at No. 227 West Fifteenth street, and Charles E. Foote, of the same address.

The two complainants said they had been assaulted by four men, on Fourteenth street, and had reason to believe that Boyle had hired the men for the purpose. The trouble arose, it is said, from internal dissensions in the Seventh Assembly District General Committee of Tammany Hall. It seems that the complainants were not pleased with the way Leader Boyle conducted affairs, and started in to fight him, but he proved the stronger, and when the election and primaries were held they were dropped from the committee.

THE NIGARAGUA WATERWAY. Major Ludlow to Make an Inspection of the Great Canals of the World.

Washington, Jan. 13.—An evidence that the report of the Nicaragua Canal Commission, now in the hands of President Cleveland, does not conclusively rule out the proposed interoceanic American waterway is feasible, or its construction by the United States impossible, is shown in the fact that Major William Ludlow, Chairman of the Commission, is about to leave London, where he is the chief of the American Embassy, on a tour of ship canal inspection to familiarize himself with the great artificial waterways, the physical difficulties which have been surmounted in constructing them, and the economic changes that they have wrought in marine transportation.

OUTCASTS BEST A NIGHT. If a Harmless Man Applies Twice for Shelter He Goes to the Workhouse.

The City Allows Wanderers to Sleep in Waiting Rooms F. of East Twenty-sixth Street.

FREE SOUP AND BREAD MORNINGS. During the Cold Nights the Space Was Not Sufficient to Permit All the Men to Lie Down at Full Length on the Boards.

Nearly three hundred homeless men slept last night in the waiting rooms of the new city pier at the foot of East Twenty-sixth street. Until last night the number was much larger, but the more moderate weather of yesterday tended to lessen the sufferings of wanderers, and not so many were driven to the only free shelter which the city offers its poor.

ALDERMEN PLAN FOR POWER. Conferences on a Bill to Add to the Functions of the Board.

Alderman Ware will have a conference with Assistant Corporation Counsel Collins and O'Neill to-day, in reference to the preparation of a bill which will have for its object the granting of more power to the Board of Aldermen. The "City Dads" want to have the right of confirming the Mayor's appointments and also to elect a committee to a perpetual investigation of the city departments. The Aldermen have grown tired of merely being officials in name, and they are determined to have a more active part in the management of the city.

EPIDEMIC OF FRAUD IN CHILL. Santiago Startled by Another Successful Bank Swindle.

Panama, Jan. 5.—The Star and Herald says that the recent gigantic bank fraud in Chill has emboldened another fraud of $100,000. The Banco de Union, established in Santiago, has a branch bank at San Vicente, in the Department of Copiapo. A young man giving the name of Carlos Valdes Bravo, belonging to a commercial house at Pumo, recently deposited in the bank of San Vicente a check for $120,000. On the 26th of November a check for $50 was presented to the bank in Santiago and was cashed and a few days later another check was presented for $120,000. Before paying this sum the bank's agent sent a telegram to the agent at San Vicente, inquiring if Carlos Valdes Bravo had funds in the bank to that amount. A few minutes afterward an answer came back in the affirmative, and in consequence the check was paid.

RUMPUZ OVER OLEOMARGARINE. Characterization of the Bill as Frivolous Calls Forth Rebukes.

Berlin, Jan. 13.—In the Reichstag to-day the Oleomargarine bill was brought up for discussion. In the course of the debate Herr von Social Democrat, who sits for Dusseldorf, characterized the measure as frivolous. Dr. von Boettcher, Imperial Minister of the Interior, resented the term "frivolous" used by Herr Harm, declaring it to be unparliamentary, especially in view of the fact that the bill had been approved by the Bundesrat.

END OF MISER SCHWARZ. Found Freezing and Starving Within Touch of His Hoard of Gold.

Plenty of Wood Was at Hand, but He Begged Not to Have a Fire Built. HE HAD ONCE BEEN A RICH MAN. Much of His Fortune Had Been Lost by Investing in Third Mortgages, but Nearly $1,000 Was Found in His Bed.

PETER CLEMENSE SCHWARZ, for years known at Rahway, N. J., as a miser, was found in a dying condition last Sunday morning in the hotel where he had lived alone. For many years he had been supported by the town, but when the Government gave him a pension the Postmaster cut off his ration. His wife had long been supported by the town of Linden at the Roselle almshouse. Schwarz was once a very rich man, but lost the greater part of his fortune by loaning his money on third mortgages.

HE HAD LIVED IN A SMALL HOUSE ON ST. GEORGE AVENUE, OWNED BY A MR. WESCOTT, FOR MANY YEARS. His landlord had been in the habit of calling to get letters to mail for the old fellow, who was in his seventieth year. Sunday morning he found the miser, almost frozen to death, lying in a semi-unconscious condition on a mattress with nothing to cover him but rags. He wore only a shirt, though several suits of fairly good clothes were hanging in the room.

WESCOTT WANTED TO BUILD A FIRE, but Schwarz complained of the extravagance. There was plenty of wood in the room. Wescott ran for a doctor, but when they reached the house the miser was dead. The house was filled with old rags, broken bottles, odd shoes, scraps of leather, beef bones and a general assortment of junk. The only food found were potatoes and a few beans. Dr. Hough said starvation and exposure had been the causes of death.

HIDDEN IN THE BED WAS FOUND A BOX containing $1,000 in gold. In a bag secreted in an old coffee pot was coin enough to swell the fortune to $1019.37. There is thought to be about as much more money secreted in the house.

SCHWARZ WENT INTO THE ARMY as a private in Company C, Thirtieth New Jersey Volunteers, and afterward enlisted as a substitute. He had had help from the State Soldiers' Home and a bottle of medicine from there was found in his hotel room. The body has been taken in charge by the authorities and will be buried out of the money found. The useless articles found in the house have been burned by order of the Board of Health.
