Representative James J. Walsh.
Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.

This Company TRANSMITS and DELIVERS messages only on conditions limiting its liability, which have been assigned to the sender of the following message. Errors can be guaranteed only by repeating a message back to the sending station for comparison, and the Company will not hold itself liable for errors or delays in transmission or delivery of messages, beyond the amount of tolls paid thereon, in any case where the claim is not presented in writing within sixty days after the message is filed with the Company for transmission. This is an UNREPEATED MESSAGE, and is delivered by request of the sender, under the conditions named above.

To the Editor of the Journal:
I regard it as a most excellent paper. Its foreign service is the best in the country. There is no doubt in my mind as to its success.

THOS. T. ECKERT, President and General Manager.

N. H. COX,
Congressman from the Seventh Tennessee District.

THOS. T. ECKERT, President and General Manager.

JAMES J. WALSH,
Congressman from the Eighth New York District.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.
To the Editor of the Journal:
You have demonstrated what energy, pluck and enterprise can do in New York journalism. The paper is one of the best in the country to-day. It is bright, newsy and CLEAN. It has on its staff some of the best newspaper men in the world, and it is doing great work for the oppressed and the whole people of our country. I can congratulate the Journal and its staff on their unprecedented success in making the best and cheapest newspaper in the world. The paper should be in every home in the land.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.
To the Editor of the Journal:
The achievements of the Journal within the past few months have placed it in the front rank of the great newspapers of the country. As a gatherer of the news of the world it is unsurpassed. I see that it is eagerly welcomed every morning by members of Congress from all parts of the country. I heartily congratulate this new wonder worker in the work of journalism.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.
To the Editor of the Journal:
The Journal, under its present management, has made such progress that its character has wholly changed. It is now a newspaper in every sense of the word; a faithful and reliable chronicler of the world's events, and a conservative leader of metropolitan thoughts. In Washington we regard the enterprise which has brought the Journal to its present standard as a real benefit to the community, and the longer it continues the better it will be appreciated.

NO SUPERIOR FOR NEWS.
Representative Grove L. Johnson.
Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.
To the Editor of the Journal:
The Journal has undoubtedly stirred the ocean of newspaper life more than any other cause has succeeded in doing for many years. For news gathering and attractive presentation of the news it has no superior, and scarcely an equal.

MADE ITS FORCE FELT.
Representative Robert J. Gamble.
Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.
To the Editor of the Journal:
The Journal in every way is an admirable paper. It is enterprising, strong and accurate. It truly deserves the success it has attained, and has made its force felt among the great papers of the metropolis, as well as throughout the entire country.

HOW WELL HE LIKES IT.
Pennington, N. J., Feb. 12.
To the Editor of the Journal:
Your paper to-day, as I believe, stands without a peer in journalism. I have read New York papers for many years, but I have never had as good service as through your paper. You may know how well I like it, as I have extended my subscription to July, 1896. Give us the same solid news and you may expect a friend in

GROVE L. JOHNSON,
Congressman from the Second California District.

ROBERT J. GAMBLE,
Representative at-Large from South Dakota.

FRANK B. YOUNG,
Congressman from the Eleventh New York District.

NEW WONDER WORKER
Representative G. M. Curtis.
Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.
To the Editor of the Journal:
I cannot refrain from tendering you my congratulations on the excellence of your newspaper. I have watched its phenomenal development with increasing pleasure day by day, and believe that the paper has now reached a loftiness from which it may contemplate with pride and serenity the feeble struggles of its less lucky contemporaries for existence. To single out the interesting features of the Journal would be tantamount to reciting the merits of every article published, but permit me especially to compliment you on your foreign news service, which in the present circumstances of our differences with England and our eager desire for news about the Cuban rebellion is invaluable. Wishing you continued success in your good work, I remain,

COMPACT AND RELIABLE.
Fair Haven, Vt., Feb. 11.
To the Editor of the Journal:
It is with great pleasure that I daily read your paper, which arrives here before noon each day. I have been a subscriber to different New York daily papers for nearly twenty years, and your present paper suits me the best of any. You have all the news, compact and reliable, and that is what the business man of to-day wants.

SPLENDIDLY CONDUCTED.
To the Editor of the Journal:
The Journal is getting out a great paper, and it is undoubtedly among the leaders in New York journalism. It is splendidly conducted in all of its departments, and I congratulate it on its well deserved success. It is in every respect a most admirable newspaper.

FAIR AND ABOVE BOARD.
Representative Foster V. Brown.
Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.
To the Editor of the Journal:
It is one of the best newspapers I have ever read. I read it with a great deal of interest. In talks with other members, I find that they particularly like the Washington service. It is always fair and above board.

ENDEARED TO THE MASSES OF THE PEOPLE.
Representative James R. Howe.
Washington, D. C., February 12.
To the Editor of the Journal:
I read the Journal with great pleasure. It is good. It handles the leading questions of the day in an attractive manner, and in this way endears itself to the masses of the people.

VALUABLE NEWS SERVICE.
New York, Feb. 12.
To the Editor of the Journal:
I cannot refrain from tendering you my congratulations on the excellence of your newspaper. A RELIABLE AND WIDE AWAKE NEWSPAPER.
Representative Sereno E. Payne.
Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.
To the Editor of the Journal:
I have read the New York Journal for two months, and have found it a readable, reliable and wide awake newspaper. Its news columns are up-to-date, its editorials are able and its make-up is of the first class.

MISSING ANNA SCHWARTZ.
No News of the Fifteen-Year-Old Girl, Who Mysteriously Disappeared.
The fifteen-year-old girl, Anna Schwartz, who disappeared from her home on Sunday, has not been heard of since the day she left the house of her parents. The Schwartz family lives at No. 361 West Broadway. Herman Schwartz, the head of the family, is an old-time Eighth Warder, having lived in the district for twenty years.

HEARD LINCOLN'S SPEECH.
Members of Assembly Listen to its Reading and Then Adjourn.
Albany, N. Y., Feb. 12.—At the opening of the House this morning Mr. O'Grady stated that while he had suggested yesterday that the Legislature could better serve the interests of the State by meeting to-day and transacting business, still he thought the House should do something in memory of that grand man, who had been born on this day.

INDISPENSABLE TO A MAN IN PUBLIC LIFE.
Senator M. S. Quay.
Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.
To the Editor of the Journal:
I do not recollect having seen a copy of the Journal in the Senate of the United States until it forged to the front under its new management. It is now one of the great newspapers of the country that is indispensable to a man in public life who has any ambition at all to keep abreast of current news, events, and particularly of events and movements in the great world of politics.
