

FAST IN A STREAM OF BOILING TAR.

Horrible Accident to Five Jersey Workmen in the Standard Oil Company's Yard.

They Were Pumping the Tar from Stills Into a Tank When the Seething Mass Overflowed.

CAUGHT BY THE SCORCHING CURRENT

Unable to Extricate Themselves, They Struggled and Shrieked in Agony Until Some Fellow-Workmen Went to Their Rescue.

Bayonne, N. J., March 8.—The Standard Oil Company's yard, at Constable Hook, near this place, was the scene shortly after midnight this morning of an accident in which five men narrowly escaped a most appalling death.

The men were at work pumping boiling tar from crude stills into a tank. They had performed the task many times before without mishap, and were not on the alert for danger. Suddenly, without a word of warning the tar boiled over and streamed down the side of the tank.

One of the workmen saw it coming, and shouted: "Look out!" but too late. The men dropped the shovels with which they were firing the stills and took to their heels. But they were not quick enough to escape the oncoming seething mass.

The boiling tar overtook them, enveloped their feet and legs to the knees, and they fell in the burning current.

For some moments they struggled to free themselves, but without success. Scarcely would they regain their feet when they would fall again, all the time emitting shrieks of agony. At first those who realized the awful struggle did not realize the horror that was being enacted, but when the truth came to them they lost not a second in hastening to the rescue.

It required all their strength to extricate the victims from the scorching flood that held them captive, and it was not without great risk to the rescuers themselves that the unfortunate workmen were at length dragged out of the boiling tar to a place of safety.

One cool-headed man ran off to summon an ambulance. Pending its arrival the victims lay on the ground, writhed in agony. The others did what they could to comfort them, but that was very little. At length the ambulance drove up with Dr. Dallas. He had been told the nature of the trouble, and was prepared to render immediate aid. He dressed the men's burns, and applied salves that somewhat relieved their suffering.

The victims were Michael Doyle, of No. 24 West Twenty-first street, both feet and hands terribly burned; Timothy Callahan, No. 23 West Fifteenth street, both feet, legs and one hand burned; Jonas Donohue, No. 10 West Eleventh street, both feet and one hand seriously burned; Ernest S. John, of No. 444 Avenue C, and John Olsen, of No. 672 Avenue D, both badly burned about the ankles.

PEEPER AT NEW BRUNSWICK.

An Organized Effort Now on Foot to Catch the Elusive Scamp.

New Brunswick, N. J., March 8.—A Peeping Tom, who is said to be an employe of the United States Rubber Company, has been annoying the residents of the Sixth Ward, particularly in Morrell, Seward and Bartlett streets, for some weeks past.

An organized effort has been made by the men in the neighborhood to hunt him down. While two or three women agree that the fellow who visited them is the same person, others have been unable to identify the peeper, and this fact has deferred a long-promised coat of tar and feathers.

The peeper's method is simple. Every night about 11 o'clock he chooses a house which shows a light in the upper rooms, such as might be taken for bedrooms. If there is a roofed porch attached to the house and the light is in the second-story window, he ascends by using a pair of climbing spurs, such as telegraph linemen use. Several persons have shot at the fellow, but he is so nimble that he has managed to be able to escape bullets.

Last night the peeper espied a light in a lower room of a house on the corner of Cedar street. He secured two loose flagstones and placed them against the side of the house. When the peeper was seen, Chase was given, but he escaped, as usual.

HIS SECOND OFFENCE.

Edward Moreland, of Passaic, Arrested for Betraying a Scranton Girl.

Passaic, N. J., March 8.—Edward Moreland, twenty-two years old, living on Pennington avenue, this city, was arrested yesterday upon a warrant issued at Scranton, Pa., charged with assault and betrayal. The charge is made by Miss Sarah Williams, of Scranton. She alleges she stopped at the home of the Morelands for six weeks last winter, and that she gave birth to a child. She claims Moreland is the father of it. It is claimed that Moreland had been in the habit of suffering from the effects of a drug he had given her. Moreland tried to escape when Patrolman Keenan was on duty, but was captured by the officer. Two years ago Moreland was arrested for betraying a girl here.

SWAM THE FRIGID STREAM.

An Elizabeth Boy's Bravado as the Result of a "Dare." ACTS

Elizabeth, March 8.—While seven-year-old Johnny Creely, of Morris avenue, this city, was playing with some other boys on the banks of the Elizabeth River, near Wayne street, some of the boys "dared" him to go in and take a swim.

Johnny stripped off his clothes and went in. He swam across the stream and back. No bad results have developed thus far.

A Floater Not Identified.

Burlington, N. J., March 8.—The decomposed body of a man floated down the river to this point to-day and was dragged ashore. No one here has been able to recognize the body. There was nothing on the corpse that would serve to identify it. The man appears to have been thick-set and middle-aged. It is thought the body came down the river in the ice and is from a distant point.

Suicide with Carbolic Acid.

After a quarrel with her husband, Mrs. Johanna Meyer, thirty-one years old, wife of John Meyer, a saloon keeper, of No. 42 Sherman avenue, Jersey City, yesterday attempted suicide by swallowing two doses of carbolic acid. She was taken to the Sixth Precinct Station House, and from there, after being attended by Dr. Connell, to Christ Hospital. She will die.

Brakeman Has a Leg Crushed. Henry Hampt, thirty-four years of age, of No. 26 Jerome avenue, Brooklyn, a brakeman employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad, had his left leg smashed yesterday while coupling cars in Jersey City. He was taken to St. Francis's Hospital.

THIEF BEHIND A CURTAIN.

A One-Armed Colored Man Captured in Jersey City After Committing a Small Robbery.

Arthur Brown, a one-armed colored man, of No. 227 Washington street, Jersey City, is locked up in Police Headquarters there, charged with burglary.

About 3 a. m. yesterday a young man rushed excitedly into the First Precinct Station House and announced that burglars were at work in George Trol's house, No. 114 Wayne street. A one-armed colored man, he said, had been found crouching behind a curtain in the parlor.

The reserves were turned out and hurried to the house, but no trace of the burglar was found. Entrance was effected by forcing a door in the basement window.

The only article taken was a pocketbook containing $10. The reserves started out to look for the colored man, and at 4:15 a. m. Policeman Keitt found Brown on Colgate street.

He was taken before the Trol family and identified as the man who crouched behind the curtain. He visited the house Saturday, and received food. The pocketbook was not found upon him. He is well known to the police.

AGAINST THE TROLLEY.

Mass Meeting of Montclair Residents to Resist the Invasion of That Place by an Electric Road.

Montclair, N. J., March 8.—A large number of people opposed to the introduction of the trolley in this place and more so the bill in the Legislature to give the Boards of Freeholders of the county roads, assembled last night in Arcadium Hall to take some means to prevent infringement upon the rights of the people.

Dr. Clarence W. Butler was in the chair. He called upon Charles D. Thompson, Jersey City lawyer, who reviewed the great influx of bills that had been introduced in past years in the interest of trolley corporations. The bill now in the Legislature known as 25, he said, is a very dangerous one, and if passed would deprive citizens throughout the State of their property rights, and it should be killed. The speaker urged that a full representation of people be made to the Legislature tomorrow afternoon when it came up for a hearing before the Committee on Corporations.

Clarence G. Miller, another strong anti-trolley man, after reviewing the vicious legislation of the past, incidentally paid his respects to County Counsel Joseph Mann, who, he declared, was working in the interests of the bill, while, at the same time, he was being paid by the taxpayers to look after their interests. "I expect to tell him," said the Colonel, "when I see him at Trenton, what a disgraceful thing it was for him to be there in the interest of that unscrupulous corporation."

Stuart J. Murray, one of the members of the Town Council, declared that a trolley franchise taking in the town was worth $500,000, and he expected to get it if the people had their say.

The meeting adjourned after nearly all present had promised to make an effort to go to Trenton and fight tooth and nail against the bill.

DR. REINER UNDISMAYED.

The Imprisoned Elizabeth Editor Buoyant and Philosophical—Are Ministers Also to Be Arrested?

Elizabeth, N. J., March 8.—Dr. Reiner, the imprisoned editor of the Elizabeth Evening Herald, in an interview to-day said that he had not had an night of such rest in twenty years as that of last night in his cell. He looked fit, as his eyes were bright, and his manner buoyant. Several preachers and other citizens have called upon him and he feels that his incarceration has not hurt him in the eyes of many people.

The heavy bail—$1000—he has not secured as yet, and he says he is willing to remain where he is and edit his paper from so long as necessary.

The report is current that one or two clergymen who have been vigorous champions of Dr. Reiner's case are to be arrested in charge of criminal libel. Reference to the arrest of the editor was made in local pulpits to-day.

SOUTH AMBOY APPOINTMENTS.

Selections of the Board of Education for the Ensuing Year.

South Amboy, N. J., March 8.—The Board of Education has selected Miss Edna Aken to fill the vacancy in Public School No. 1, caused by the resignation of Miss Media Everett. Miss Aken will have charge of the second Primary Department. Mr. R. M. Fitch has also been reappointed Supervisor of Public Schools.

The other appointments made for the ensuing year are as follows: School No. 3, principal, Miss K. Matoy; vice principal, Miss R. P. Willis; first intermediate department, Miss K. Connors; second intermediate department, Miss Watson; first primary department, Miss Hattie Martin; School No. 2, principal, R. M. Fitch; vice principal, Mrs. Hough; intermediate department, Miss Rutland; first primary department, Miss Eva Vandegrift; second primary department, Miss Bogart. Instructor of vocal music in both schools, Miss McAdams.

BOROUGH FIGHT TO BE LIVELY.

Both Parties Confident of Winning the South Amboy Election.

South Amboy, N. J., March 8.—The borough election, which will be held on Tuesday next, promises to be one of the closest and most exciting elections ever held in South Amboy. Both parties have selected strong candidates, and each side is naturally confident of victory.

The tickets to be voted are: Democratic ticket, Charles B. Pearce and Edward Gallagher; Justices of the Peace, William Birmingham, George Radwin and John S. Heston; Assessor, A. V. Applegate; Commissioner of Appeals, Melville Nichols; Constables, Thomas Adams and Thomas Monaghan; Freeholder, Charles Stuerwald; Councilmen, John E. Montgomery and Dr. E. B. Haines; Assessor, H. E. Flynn; Commissioner of Appeals, Samuel Newton; Constables, James McDonald and Albert P. Stutta.

A JEWEL OF A MOTORMAN.

He Stopped His Car in Time to Save Little Samuel Gels From Death.

Six-year-old Samuel Gels, while playing in front of his home, No. 659 Newark avenue, Jersey City, yesterday afternoon ran in front of motor car No. 28, of the Court House line. Motorman Francis Gallagher reversed the car as it struck the child, and Samuel escaped with a few slight bruises about the face. He was taken home.

Long Branch Pastor Resigns.

Long Branch, N. J., March 8.—To-day the Rev. Elliott Tompkins, pastor of the St. James Episcopal Church, at this place, sent a letter to one of the deacons to be read to the congregation, in which he announced his illness and said he was unable to perform the duties of his office. He closed by saying that he would resign as pastor of the church, his resignation to take effect June 1. The announcement caused considerable surprise, as there were only a very few who knew that he had any such intentions.

Do Not Encourage the Swindlers.

Several insurance swindlers are at work in Brooklyn. They are meeting with considerable success, collecting sums amounting to $100,000. One of the swindlers, Mrs. M. Simmons, of No. 934 Madison street, out of $5,000 the swindlers are supposed to have collected, and she has sent a letter to the police, asking them to arrest the swindlers, as they seem to know who are insured.

WOMEN THEIR MIELE

Newark Branch of Their Jewish National Council Demand Recognition.

Trustees of the Congregation, Composed of Men, Inclined to Combat Their Purpose.

TRADITIONS OF AGES IN DANGER!

The Women Want to Take a More Active Part in Sabbath-School Work, and Introduce Modern Methods of Instruction.

Newark, N. J., March 8.—Hebrew society in this city is much interested in the recent action decided upon by the Newark branch of the National Council of Jewish Women. This action is an innovation in Jewish customs and is signally opposed by the men. It consists in asking for recognition on the Board of Trustees of the congregation, a thing that in the history of the race has never yet been granted.

Some time ago the National Council, which has its headquarters in Chicago, granted a charter for the formation of a

JERSEY'S FIRST MOSQUITO

Stole Away Yesterday from Hackensack and Alighted on a Policeman's Nose.

It Was a Jersey City Bluecoat, and He Gave the Beaked Monster Battle Unto Death.

A BRIEF BUT EVENTFUL CAREER.

Facts Made Stranger Than Fiction by the Narrative of the St. George of the Brass Buttons Who Slew the Dragon.

He had an ulcer and a bill. And pecked in his coat to fill. From Hackensack he dashed one day. And met his end in deadly fray. The first mosquito of the season arrived in Jersey City yesterday. Two days ago an artist, who lives in Hackensack, saw him on the corner of a main street examining the lamp posts and renewing his acquaintance with the town. He was also noticed scanning the "Sunmer boarders wanted" column of the Hackensack paper. When it was reported that a mosquito had been in Hackensack the crowd at "The

A Tale of Two Jersey Towns.

Around Hackensack no householder thinks of economizing on dogs and no self-protesting burglar or tramp has the town on his visiting list. The empty dog house in the suburbs of Montclair, where man's faithful friend is scarce, is probably responsible for a dozen burglaries the past week in that vicinity.

The "paw" were both to believe it. Several wanted to know if it was a Staten Island product that had been warded across the bay, or a real never-genuine-unless-blown-in-the-beak Jersey mosquito. The man who had seen it declared that it was Jersey through and through, even to the lithe bunch of whiskers on the chin. It was also of the well-known twin screw brand that, as reported, scuttled the ship Idie Hour two years ago in order to get at the first cabin passengers, who as a precautionary measure had had themselves enamelled with a mosquito-proof preparation.

Some persons were sceptical about the mosquito's appearance in Hackensack, but when it was remembered that the Jersey delegation to Cleveland's first inauguration had in the suburbs of Montclair, where man's faithful friend is scarce, is probably responsible for a dozen burglaries the past week in that vicinity.

Saturday night it was known to have tried several side-doors in Woodlawn after hours. Yesterday it wandered into Jersey City full of excitement and bent on spending a quiet Sunday. The Jersey City police had been notified and were looking for it. About 4 o'clock in the afternoon, while Sergeant Charles Holder of the Sixth Precinct, was poring over the blotter and trying to get the night sergeant's writing, the animal arrived. Sergeant Holder, a truthful man, has given testimony before a number of police justices and judges of higher court. On his testimony men have been sent to prison, and his word can not be doubted.

The sergeant will not aver to it, but he believes that when the bird entered the station house through the open door it had on a Newmarket, carried an umbrella and a bottle of cough medicine labelled "A. J." and gave other evidences of its Jersey origin.

The sergeant's first impression was that it had come in to make a complaint, but in this he was mistaken. By way of emphasizing its presence, it lit upon the sergeant's nose, and while he took a half a minute to get the insect off, it proceeded to bite the first floor, with a bath and front windows. At least, it seemed so in the sergeant's vision.

Appearances in the Sixth Precinct are deceptive, and the mosquito had mistaken the place for a hole. NO MORE DEADLOCKS.

A Political Leader of New Brunswick Finds a Law That Makes Special Legislation for Aldermen-at-Large Unnecessary.

New Brunswick, N. J., March 8.—A law has been found by Robert Carson, a local Republican leader, which, if availed of, will give this city the choice of electing an Alderman-at-Large at the election next month. Already a bill has been introduced in the Legislature to enable cities of under 40,000 population to have an Alderman-at-Large, but such a law will be unnecessary, as far as New Brunswick is concerned, now that an easier plan has been found.

The present Board of Aldermen in New Brunswick consists of twelve members, and there are now six Democrats and six Republicans. When the new Board came into power last Spring there was a deadlock for four months, which seriously blocked municipal business, over the election of a President. Hundreds of ballots were taken, but neither side would give in. The election was finally decided by the toss of a coin.

In order to have an Alderman-at-Large, which will prevent a serious deadlock this Spring, it will be necessary to pass a resolution in the Common Council calling for the vote of the people on the question. Candidates may be named by the political party at the same election at which the question is submitted to the people, and if the vote is in favor of a new Alderman-at-Large, the candidate takes the office of President of the Board. The act under which this can be done is chapter 66 of the laws of New Jersey for 1892.

HURLED FROM A VAULT.

Frank Gilbert, a Clerk, Badly Burned in a West Hoboken Explosion.

A terrific explosion, the second within a year, and from the same cause—gas—occurred yesterday afternoon in the vault at the West Hoboken car sheds of the North Hudson County Railway.

Frank Gilbert, sixteen years old, a receiving clerk, having occasion to visit the vault for some books, as the gas was not lit, struck a match as he entered. An explosion followed, the building followed a flash of flame. Young Gilbert was hurled headlong from the vault. He was badly burned about the face and hands and also received a severe shock. He was taken to his home.

Several clerks at work in the outer office, from their seats, Train Dispatcher Wehler was about to enter the office as the explosion occurred. He was thrown down but not injured. A number of panes of glass in the outer office windows were shattered. The fire was quickly extinguished. The explosion was caused by the gas in the vault, which is always kept lighted, being blown out by the wind. The first accident was caused in a like manner.

DID THEY BREAK THE SAFE?

Three Men Arrested by Hoboken Police for the Clinton Store Robbery.

Detectives Nelson and Quinn, of the Hoboken police, yesterday arrested Edward L. O'Neill, twenty-five years old, of No. 141 Garden street; August Hanewinkel, twenty-five years old, of No. 125 Adams street, and Patrick Grogan, twenty-five years old, of No. 625 Henderson street, upon suspicion of having burglarized the feed store of Brook & Co., No. 202 Clinton street.

The safe was broken open and $40 taken. From the manner in which the work was done the police, when notified, concluded that the burglary had been committed by some one familiar with the place. A bar and which used around the store were tried to open the safe. The arrests of the three men followed. O'Neill, who is a relative of Mrs. Mary Brock, the owner of the store, and Hanswinkley are employed by her as drivers.

WASHINGTON TICKET NAMED.

Democrats Make Nominations for the Coming Spring Election.

Hackensack, N. J., March 8.—The Democratic primary of Washington Township for the Spring election was held Saturday night at the Hillside Hotel, and a ticket of prominent citizens was nominated to compete with the Republican nominees for the honor of guiding the public's affairs in the township for the ensuing year.

Henry G. Hering, the tallest man in Bergen County, commonly known as "The Towering Pine," or "Big Ben," because he stands six feet three inches, was nominated for Justice of the Peace, John W. Kinnon, the village estimator, for township clerk, and Thomas Clinton Demarest, an employe of the New York Custom House, and the veteran politician, for township committee.

ROAMING SHOELSS AT NIGHT.

John Swartz, Jr., of Jersey City, Found Scantly Clad on the Street.

Policeman Gannon, of the First Precinct, Jersey City, while walking along Wayne street at 3:45 a. m. yesterday noticed a man attired in a shirt and trousers in his stocking feet skulking along in the shadow of a house. He arrested the fellow, who said he was John Swartz, Jr., of No. 510 Grand street.

He had two old election lists in his hand. (Washington Star.) He is said to be in the habit of leaving his home at unseasonable hours.

Fell from a Trolley Car.

Newark, N. J., March 8.—Frank Pfrendt, of No. 109 Elizabeth avenue, Elizabeth, fell from a trolley car on Market street to-day and was badly injured about the head. After his injuries were dressed he was taken to his home.

Thirteen Plums Left on the Tree.

Trenton, March 9.—For the next two weeks the Senators and Assemblymen will have their hands full. It is pretty generally agreed that the 20th of this month will be the closing day of the session. To-night the committee of lawyers who have been engaged for the past two weeks in rounding up suggestions as to a constitutional amendment reorganizing the Judiciary will report.

Thirteen official plums are to be shaken off the gubernatorial tree, which is now pretty well stripped of the appointive fruit. The most important of these are the Clerk in Chancery, the State Prison Keeper and the Factory Inspector. Since the first-named officer has been reduced to a salary position there is not that wild rush for it which began immediately after Mr. Griggs was elected. Of course there are a lot of patriots who would like to serve the State for $5,000 per annum, but they are only fitted for the arduous duty of drawing the monthly stipend of $500. The Governor has not indicated in any way where his choice will fall in any of the three offices named. There is a legion of men who think their feet are just the size for the official shoes worn by "Larry" Fellows, incumbent of the Factory Inspectorship.

Sheriff John J. Tooley, of Hudson, will probably succeed Mr. Allen L. McDermott in the Chancery clerkship, and some Camden man may be selected for either the keepership or head of the Labor Department. Essex is not likely to be considered.

To-morrow is township election day, and consequently the two houses will adjourn over until Wednesday morning, in order that the legislators may return to their respective halliwicks and boss the job of electing or defeating candidates who have been nominated for various minor positions in the township governments. This does not seem to be a valid excuse for losing a legislative day, but the Solons think without their presence such elections would be null and void.

A MUSICAL CHINESE TRAMP He Turns Up at New Brunswick and is Liberally Entertained.

New Brunswick, N. J., March 8.—The most unique inmate of Haberman's tramp lodging house, on Neilson street, ever known even to the experienced proprietor, took up his quarters there yesterday. He is a Chinese hobo, a sad-faced knight of the road, with a curious instrument under his arm which he calls a "sam-sam."

Ching Lee is his name. He struck town last night. He walked down Church street, the cynosure of all eyes. He avoided the Chinese laundries on his way, and entered the first saloon and began to play on his "sam-sam." It was odd music, and a crowd was soon interested.

He passed his hat and the response was quite generous. When the bartender asked him what he would have he said he would take "ling-ting." The dispenser of drinks was nonplussed, but he handed over a glass of whisky with red apples and quantities. The Chinaman took the drink without so much as the twitching of an eye, and he learned the location of a lodging house, and thither he went. Every tramp in the place stayed up half the night to watch him play. He said little, but drank everything offered him.

He hurried there they saw a number of men having a lively wrangle. On the approach of the policeman, fired two shots and then disappeared. From a broad hobo Ching Lee fled. One of those pointed his revolver at the policeman, fired two shots and then disappeared. The policeman followed, but was unable to find him. They arrested Michael Carlo, who is said to have fractured his left leg. He was taken to the hospital at 3 a. m.

HE FORGED DALY'S NAME.

Warrant Issued in Long Branch for the Arrest of George Kench, Charged with Forging Two Checks.

Long Branch, March 8.—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of George Kench, a young mulatto, on a charge of forging the name of "Phil" Daly to two checks, on each of which he obtained money.

The first check, as alleged, was passed on a shoe dealer named Bartholmey. It was drawn on the First National Bank of Long Branch to the order of Kench. The other branch was W. K. Harvey, a groceryman.

Accident to a Tie Walker. Elizabeth, N. J., March 8.—Andrew Ruthenford, of Wilberton place, Newark, fell in a hole in the Central Railroad track while walking toward Newark last night and fractured his left leg. He was taken to the hospital at 3 a. m.

FIREBUGS IN BELLEVILLE.

Incendiaries Have Burned All the Buildings on the Pasquito Farm.

Belleville, N. J., March 8.—Within two weeks incendiary fires have totally destroyed all the buildings on the farm owned by Michael Pasquito on the Ridge road, near Beaver's Woods, opposite this town.

Two weeks ago, while Pasquito and his family were in New York, his wife was on the stoop of the house, set fire to, and the dwelling was burned to the ground. The place is thinly populated and far from a fire department.

On Thursday, just after Pasquito had filled the barn with hay, a match was applied to the building, and in a short time only a pile of ashes marked the spot.

WOMEN'S CLUBS IN RAHWAY.

The State Federation Will Hold its First Convention on March 20.

Rahway, N. J., March 8.—The State Federation of Women's Clubs will hold their first convention in the State House at Trenton on Friday, March 20, in the room lately allotted to them by the State officials.

The morning session will commence at 10 o'clock, when addresses and debates will be delivered by prominent members. After intermission the literary display and gold medals awarded to Mrs. Margaret T. Yardley will be exhibited.

A reception will follow at the Trenton Hotel, when Mrs. Housatonic will greet the members of the State Federation Clubs. An invitation is extended to all women interested in literary, philanthropic or social clubs.

A TEXAS DESPERADO.

For some time past the notorious desperado, Bill Doolin, and a gang of desperate followers, have been operating in Greer and Wichita counties. They started on their career of crime by killing a negro the latter part of December.

This act was followed by several robberies. The Texas Rangers, in charge of Sergeant Sullivan, who is well known in Fort Worth, got on their trail, and on December 27 surrounded the outlaws in Greer County and engaged in a desperate fight. Doolin was wounded, and Joe Beckham and an unknown member of the gang were killed outright. Doolin and two companions escaped to the Indian Territory, and Sunday Sergeant Sullivan, with Deputy Sheriff Abbott, of Wichita County, and eight others, all thoroughly armed, left Wichita Falls to effect the capture of Doolin. The report reached Fort Worth yesterday that Sergeant Sullivan had been killed in the fight that followed. The story is not believed, however, as Doolin is known to be dangerously wounded, and one of his companions has since deserted him.

Sergeant Sullivan is a brave and cautious soldier, and it is not thought he would permit Doolin to get the drop on him. Doolin is now at Sugg's camp, a few miles south of Fort Hill, in the Territory.

ALL EAGERNESS.

Looking Forward to the Brilliant Wedding of Miss Clark and Mr. Laidlaw.

She is the Millionaire Thread Manufacturer's Daughter and He a Scotch Merchant

TO LIVE IN THE "LAND O' CAKES."

Elaborate Preparations Under Way to Make the Event One of the Most Magnificent That New Jersey Has Ever Known.

Newark, March 8.—An event to which New Jersey society is looking forward eagerly is the marriage of Miss Beattie Clark, daughter of the multi-millionaire thread manufacturer, who has works in Scotland and in this city. On April 15 Miss Clark will become Mrs. Thomas Laidlaw. The preparations that are under way leave no room for doubt that the ceremony and attendant festivities will
