

GREATEST CANVASS EVER MADE!

The Entire Drug Trade of Greater New York Pronounce Paine's Celery Compound Beyond Dispute the Best Spring Remedy.

Continued from Page 24.

steadily and there is if anything an increase in the sales of it this Spring.

J. Neergaard, No. 225 Fifth avenue:
"I find that Paine's celery compound is selling better this Spring than it has ever done before so far as my store is concerned. If you should ask me if I consider it a good seller, I would frankly answer 'Yes, a first class one.' There is no other blood purifier on the market which has a larger sale or which retains a better hold upon those who have begun to take it. I have not heard any one say that the compound failed in any way to come up to expectations. I know of no other Spring remedy that has so quickly established itself in public favor."

James M. Keane, of No. 252 Fifth avenue:
"The proprietors of Paine's celery compound can have no reason to complain of the patronage their remedy commands in this part of the city, to judge by my own sales of the compound. The increase in the demand for it keeps growing greater all the time. I am selling more of it this Spring than I ever did before, and that is saying a good deal for it. It distances all rival remedies. The public will have it in preference to any other blood purifier of the same kind. I have heard no complaints about it—only words of commendation. In fact, there is no other remedy that stands so high in the estimation of the public generally."

H. E. Hall, No. 120 Fifth avenue:
"Do I consider Paine's celery compound a good seller? Why, certainly. I sell a great deal of it. It is one of the best sellers among all the blood purifiers on the market. Perhaps I ought to amend that statement and instead of saying it is one of the best, admit that it is the best. It not only holds its own against all comers, but keeps increasing in popularity. I sell more of it now than ever. It apparently satisfies my customers, for I hear no complaints from any of them in regard to it. It results were not satisfactory I should quickly enough hear expressions of dissatisfaction. The absence of all such complaints show that those who buy the compound are pleased with it."

Evam M. Johnston, manager of the Fifth Avenue Drug Company, Limited, No. 522 Fifth avenue:
"How has Paine's celery compound been selling here this Spring? First rate. It never sold better than it is doing just at present. It sells faster than the other nerve tonics and blood purifiers we handle. I look upon it as one of the best sellers in the country. The same customers keep on using it, and their number is being continually added to by others who hear them speak well of it. That's a strong point about the compound. It satisfies its patrons. I have not heard one of them say that the remedy failed to afford relief. Its success is certainly unquestioned."

E. H. Wells, of No. 130 Fifth avenue:
"There is no denial of the fact that we sell a good deal of Paine's celery compound. The demand keeps up all the time. The compound holds the ground already won, and seems to be gaining more and more each Spring. We have been established here since 1874, and we understand perfectly the wants of this neighborhood. We have noticed all along the favor with which our customers have regarded the compound, and there is at the present time no indication of any falling off in their interest in it, but, on the contrary, every evidence of an increase in the good opinion entertained in regard to it. We have had nothing but praise from those who are in the habit of buying the compound. It is as good if not a better seller than any other of the blood purifiers and Spring remedies."

GEORGE W. BROOKS, NO. 1101 MYRTLE AVENUE, BROOKLYN.

"The buyer has something good to say about it. It is a preparation that stands the test of time well. I think it sells better than any other remedy of a similar nature."

H. O. Wichelns, of No. 218 Court street:
"We have a good, steady demand at all times for Paine's celery compound. There are some of our customers who believe that this remedy does them a great deal of good. They have given it what they consider to be a fair trial, and are well satisfied with the results. The demand this year shows an increase over 1895. While I have heard persons speak favorably of the compound, I have not had a single complaint against it from one of my customers. I have not heard one of them say that the compound failed to do what it said it would do for him. The sales of this medicine exceed those of any similar remedy. The public interest in the compound is wonderfully well maintained. Its friends are continually getting others to speaking well of it. I sell more of it now than I did last Spring. It is a quicker seller than any other nerve tonic in the market."

Franklin Koehler, No. 308 Court street:
"Of the various spring remedies we have in stock, Paine's celery compound is the one most often called for. Its sale is always good. It is particularly so this season. There is a greater demand for it now than there was this time a year ago. None of our customers has any fault to find with it. It appears to fully satisfy those who use it. None of the other nerve tonics equals it in popularity. It is the best seller of them all. Those who give it a trial continue its use, so they must believe that they derive benefit from it."

Clemons Parish, of No. 72 Henry street:
"We sell as much of Paine's celery compound as we do of any other medicine. It is a reasonable thing, and there is a large and steady demand for it. Its sales this Spring are as large, if not larger, than they were a year ago. It is one of the best sellers of its kind in the market. There are many believers in its efficacy as a Spring remedy and blood purifier. I have not heard any customer say that it failed to come up to expectations or made claims that were not warranted by results."

Philip Larkin, manager for H. O. Wichelns's drug store, No. 417 Hicks street:
"The sales of Paine's celery compound this Spring are good. They are better than they were a twelvemonth ago. I notice an increased demand for the compound. It is steady and sure. At times the demand is against Paine's, and having been so long in the market that must be said to be its best recommendation. We have a number of customers who continue to use it regularly, which is evidence that they think well of it."

JOHN WEISS, NO. 351 FOURTH AVENUE, NEW YORK.

W. D. Day, who runs the large pharmacy at Nos. 1304, 1306 and 1308 Broadway, said:
"I have been in business at this stand for twenty-five years and have handled Paine's celery compound ever since it came out. From a small beginning the demand has steadily increased, until now it has become the best-selling remedy in its class in my store. I have never had any complaints against it. Stephen Glain, the druggist at Halsey street, for ten years a druggist at No. 1275 Myrtle avenue, said to the reporter:

"I have to order Paine's celery compound every week, and often have trouble in getting it. It is the best seller I have struck yet. Especially among blood purifying remedies it is the best selling article I have. It has been a good seller ever since it first came out. The best evidence of the value of Paine's preparation is the confidence the people have in it, and the entire absence of any complaints. It seems the demand for it is so great that people cannot always get it when they want it, and people frequently come from some distance to my place to get it, knowing that I always keep a supply laid up. One time when I happened to be sold out a woman wanted a bottle, and rather than take anything else she waited until I had received a new supply. I do not hesitate to recommend it as a blood purifier and nerve tonic, and I can say that there are very few prepared medicines

W. Boehme, for ten years a druggist at No. 1275 Myrtle avenue, said to the reporter:
"I have to order Paine's celery compound every week, and often have trouble in getting it. It is the best seller I have struck yet. Especially among blood purifying remedies it is the best selling article I have. It has been a good seller ever since it first came out. The best evidence of the value of Paine's preparation is the confidence the people have in it, and the entire absence of any complaints. It seems the demand for it is so great that people cannot always get it when they want it, and people frequently come from some distance to my place to get it, knowing that I always keep a supply laid up. One time when I happened to be sold out a woman wanted a bottle, and rather than take anything else she waited until I had received a new supply. I do not hesitate to recommend it as a blood purifier and nerve tonic, and I can say that there are very few prepared medicines

W. Boehme, for ten years a druggist at No. 1275 Myrtle avenue, said to the reporter:
"I have to order Paine's celery compound every week, and often have trouble in getting it. It is the best seller I have struck yet. Especially among blood purifying remedies it is the best selling article I have. It has been a good seller ever since it first came out. The best evidence of the value of Paine's preparation is the confidence the people have in it, and the entire absence of any complaints. It seems the demand for it is so great that people cannot always get it when they want it, and people frequently come from some distance to my place to get it, knowing that I always keep a supply laid up. One time when I happened to be sold out a woman wanted a bottle, and rather than take anything else she waited until I had received a new supply. I do not hesitate to recommend it as a blood purifier and nerve tonic, and I can say that there are very few prepared medicines

W. Boehme, for ten years a druggist at No. 1275 Myrtle avenue, said to the reporter:
"I have to order Paine's celery compound every week, and often have trouble in getting it. It is the best seller I have struck yet. Especially among blood purifying remedies it is the best selling article I have. It has been a good seller ever since it first came out. The best evidence of the value of Paine's preparation is the confidence the people have in it, and the entire absence of any complaints. It seems the demand for it is so great that people cannot always get it when they want it, and people frequently come from some distance to my place to get it, knowing that I always keep a supply laid up. One time when I happened to be sold out a woman wanted a bottle, and rather than take anything else she waited until I had received a new supply. I do not hesitate to recommend it as a blood purifier and nerve tonic, and I can say that there are very few prepared medicines

"I have been in the drug business," said Mr. Brooks, "since the age of thirteen, and I do not hesitate to recommend Paine's celery compound to my customers. We sell lots of it. The demand keeps on increasing. It is one of the most standard remedies we have in stock, and we have many customers, who, after once using it, come back for more regularly. It is one of the best remedies we have, and this year especially we have sold a large quantity. Our trade this Winter in it has been heavy. Paine's is the only compound of its kind that I will have in the house. There are very few prepared remedies which I would care to recommend, but I have heard so many people say they have really been benefited by Paine's celery compound that it has gradually grown to be one of my favorites, and I push the sale of it along with remedies of my own manufacture. That shows my opinion of it."

The wholesale and retail drug firm of Yan Wyck & Mykrantz claims to do the largest business in upper Brooklyn. It is located at the corner of Tompkins avenue and Fulton street, and was established twenty years ago. Among others of their manufacturers is "Champane Mist," to promote the sale of which Mr. Mykrantz travels throughout the country. Said Mr. Mykrantz:
"My business carries me into every town in twenty States, and I know from observation that in nine-tenths of the drug stores in those twenty States Paine's celery compound is the very best selling article they have. I have never been in a store where it was not regarded as one of the leaders. Here in our own store we sell a great quantity of Paine's compound every month, and we have always found it a very ready seller. We find that it gives general satisfaction. Almost everybody who has ever used it comes back to buy a second bottle, and I do not think we have ever had a case of dissatisfaction. I can recall a number of cases of positive relief, and where it gave relief as a general tonic. Paine's is at the top of the heap. I do not hesitate to recommend it, knowing as I do the reputation it has all over the country. A great many motorists on the trolley lines come in and buy Paine's regularly, and they are men who have to face all sorts of weather. Paine's is one of the most popular of remedies, and I believe it has real merit."

Alfred A. Mitchell, for many years connected with Perry's pharmacy in the Sun and World buildings, and now wholesale and retail and manufacturing druggist in the fourteen-year-old stand at No. 1487 Broadway, says:
"There are only three kinds of prepared medicine that I buy in gross lots, and one of those three is Paine's celery compound. It is one of the biggest selling remedies out. It is of frequent occurrence with me to have people come back and buy it over and over again, and say they have been benefited by it. I believe it to be a good thing, and have always heard it spoken of well."

J. E. Rohrer, of Sumner avenue and DeCATUR street, for ten years a prominent druggist in upper Brooklyn:
"I remember," said he, "when my first customer came in for Paine's celery compound. He said he had heard of it and wanted to try a bottle. Shortly after, I had several more calls for it, and then I bought a quarter of a dozen bottles. From that time to the present the demand has ever been on the increase. I can say that it is, without doubt, one of the very best selling remedies of its class. One of the most noticeable than at other times, but it is always evident. Whatever advantage is gained is kept. As compared with other Spring medicines and blood purifiers of a similar character, I find that the compound is the best seller of all. It is making friends all the time and not losing any. I hear it spoken of favorably by such of our customers as use it. The same people keep on buying it, showing their confidence in its efficacy."

J. M. R. MacNary, of No. 1222 Bedford avenue:
"No one can question the merits of Paine's celery compound as a good-selling article. There is none that excels it in this respect. There is an active demand for it at all times. It is selling at the present time as well, if not better, than ever before. There is always a brisk demand for it in this neighborhood, and a large number of our customers use it. There is an increase in our sales of it as compared with the sales of last Spring. Its sale compares most favorably with that of any other nerve tonic or Spring remedy. In fact, it leads all the others."

William Vincent has occupied his well-known drug stand at No. 133 Broadway, near the ferry, for twenty-eight years.
"I have handled Paine's celery compound," he said, "since it came out. It is one of the best sellers we have, and gives better satisfaction than any other proprietary medicine. We hear more of our customers speak of it as giving good results than any other prepared remedy we keep. I think it is one of those remedies which leaves no bad after effects on the system. That is an important consideration. It is not enough to get mere temporary relief and then find that a poisonous ingredient has injured you in some other way, as is the case with some tonics. Celery is known to be a great nerve tonic, and that doubtless accounts for the excellent results obtained from Paine's preparation. We have no prepared remedy in the house which is in greater demand."

William Barget is one of the old-time pharmacists of Williamsburg. His stand is at the corner of Ewen and Scholtes streets. His medical advice is in constant demand by the people in his neighborhood. This is what he told the reporter about Paine's compound:
"Since Paine's celery compound was first introduced I have had it in my store. In the beginning we ordered it cautiously, only half a dozen at a time, as I always believe in 'going slow' with new things. The demand gradually increased, and we had to order it in larger and larger quantities, until now we have always a large supply on hand. It is the best seller of its kind that we have, and seems to enjoy the confidence of our customers as a nerve tonic and blood purifier. We have never yet had a complaint from a person purchasing it, and find that it gives general satisfaction. People frequently say that they have been benefited by it, and many keep a bottle always in the house. I can also say that I have never found it to have any reactionary effects and that it gives real benefit to its users. It is one of the best known remedies in the market, and seems to be supported by the very best testimonials everywhere. I am glad to add mine."

The drug store of C. Wuest & Son is one of the largest in the Eastern District of Brooklyn. The firm is composed of Carl Wuest and his son, William P. They have occupied the same stand for forty years. William was born in the house, and is a man of great political prominence. He was the regular candidate of the Democratic party in Kings County for Coroner and lacked only 1,000 votes of election.
"I remember well," he told the reporter, "when Paine's celery compound was first introduced. It has always been popular, and especially during the past year the growth in demand for it has been very great. I sell a dozen bottles now to where I did not formerly sell one bottle. I sell more of Paine's compound than of any other preparation of its kind, and we always keep a good supply on hand. The demand keeps right on picking up, and we have more calls for it every day."

Fred Besch is another veteran pharmacist of Williamsburg. He has been in the business since 1868. His well-known store is at Nos. 196 and 198 Ewen street. Said he:
"Paine's celery compound is one of the best selling remedies we have; in fact, we have nothing of its class that sells better. It must give benefit to our customers, as they come back for it. It sells much better than many remedies which have been on the market longer, and for the time it has been before the public it has had a marked success. We have every reason to speak well of it, and we consider it one of our most standard articles in stock."

George W. Brooks is proprietor of the "Old Bushwick Drug Store," which is located at No. 1161 Myrtle avenue, and was established in 1835. The United States Post Office, Sub-Station No. 45 is in his store. He is the oldest Post Office agent in Brooklyn.
"I have been in the drug business," said Mr. Brooks, "since the age of thirteen, and I do not hesitate to recommend Paine's celery compound to my customers. We sell lots of it. The demand keeps on increasing. It is one of the most standard remedies we have in stock, and we have many customers, who, after once using it, come back for more regularly. It is one of the best remedies we have, and this year especially we have sold a large quantity. Our trade this Winter in it has been heavy. Paine's is the only compound of its kind that I will have in the house. There are very few prepared remedies which I would care to recommend, but I have heard so many people say they have really been benefited by Paine's celery compound that it has gradually grown to be one of my favorites, and I push the sale of it along with remedies of my own manufacture. That shows my opinion of it."

The wholesale and retail drug firm of Yan Wyck & Mykrantz claims to do the largest business in upper Brooklyn. It is located at the corner of Tompkins avenue and Fulton street, and was established twenty years ago. Among others of their manufacturers is "Champane Mist," to promote the sale of which Mr. Mykrantz travels throughout the country. Said Mr. Mykrantz:
"My business carries me into every town in twenty States, and I know from observation that in nine-tenths of the drug stores in those twenty States Paine's celery compound is the very best selling article they have. I have never been in a store where it was not regarded as one of the leaders. Here in our own store we sell a great quantity of Paine's compound every month, and we have always found it a very ready seller. We find that it gives general satisfaction. Almost everybody who has ever used it comes back to buy a second bottle, and I do not think we have ever had a case of dissatisfaction. I can recall a number of cases of positive relief, and where it gave relief as a general tonic. Paine's is at the top of the heap. I do not hesitate to recommend it, knowing as I do the reputation it has all over the country. A great many motorists on the trolley lines come in and buy Paine's regularly, and they are men who have to face all sorts of weather. Paine's is one of the most popular of remedies, and I believe it has real merit."

Alfred A. Mitchell, for many years connected with Perry's pharmacy in the Sun and World buildings, and now wholesale and retail and manufacturing druggist in the fourteen-year-old stand at No. 1487 Broadway, says:
"There are only three kinds of prepared medicine that I buy in gross lots, and one of those three is Paine's celery compound. It is one of the biggest selling remedies out. It is of frequent occurrence with me to have people come back and buy it over and over again, and say they have been benefited by it. I believe it to be a good thing, and have always heard it spoken of well."

J. E. Rohrer, of Sumner avenue and DeCATUR street, for ten years a prominent druggist in upper Brooklyn:
"I remember," said he, "when my first customer came in for Paine's celery compound. He said he had heard of it and wanted to try a bottle. Shortly after, I had several more calls for it, and then I bought a quarter of a dozen bottles. From that time to the present the demand has ever been on the increase. I can say that it is, without doubt, one of the very best selling remedies of its class. One of the most noticeable than at other times, but it is always evident. Whatever advantage is gained is kept. As compared with other Spring medicines and blood purifiers of a similar character, I find that the compound is the best seller of all. It is making friends all the time and not losing any. I hear it spoken of favorably by such of our customers as use it. The same people keep on buying it, showing their confidence in its efficacy."

J. M. R. MacNary, of No. 1222 Bedford avenue:
"No one can question the merits of Paine's celery compound as a good-selling article. There is none that excels it in this respect. There is an active demand for it at all times. It is selling at the present time as well, if not better, than ever before. There is always a brisk demand for it in this neighborhood, and a large number of our customers use it. There is an increase in our sales of it as compared with the sales of last Spring. Its sale compares most favorably with that of any other nerve tonic or Spring remedy. In fact, it leads all the others."

William Vincent has occupied his well-known drug stand at No. 133 Broadway, near the ferry, for twenty-eight years.
"I have handled Paine's celery compound," he said, "since it came out. It is one of the best sellers we have, and gives better satisfaction than any other proprietary medicine. We hear more of our customers speak of it as giving good results than any other prepared remedy we keep. I think it is one of those remedies which leaves no bad after effects on the system. That is an important consideration. It is not enough to get mere temporary relief and then find that a poisonous ingredient has injured you in some other way, as is the case with some tonics. Celery is known to be a great nerve tonic, and that doubtless accounts for the excellent results obtained from Paine's preparation. We have no prepared remedy in the house which is in greater demand."

William Barget is one of the old-time pharmacists of Williamsburg. His stand is at the corner of Ewen and Scholtes streets. His medical advice is in constant demand by the people in his neighborhood. This is what he told the reporter about Paine's compound:
"Since Paine's celery compound was first introduced I have had it in my store. In the beginning we ordered it cautiously, only half a dozen at a time, as I always believe in 'going slow' with new things. The demand gradually increased, and we had to order it in larger and larger quantities, until now we have always a large supply on hand. It is the best seller of its kind that we have, and seems to enjoy the confidence of our customers as a nerve tonic and blood purifier. We have never yet had a complaint from a person purchasing it, and find that it gives general satisfaction. People frequently say that they have been benefited by it, and many keep a bottle always in the house. I can also say that I have never found it to have any reactionary effects and that it gives real benefit to its users. It is one of the best known remedies in the market, and seems to be supported by the very best testimonials everywhere. I am glad to add mine."

The drug store of C. Wuest & Son is one of the largest in the Eastern District of Brooklyn. The firm is composed of Carl Wuest and his son, William P. They have occupied the same stand for forty years. William was born in the house, and is a man of great political prominence. He was the regular candidate of the Democratic party in Kings County for Coroner and lacked only 1,000 votes of election.
"I remember well," he told the reporter, "when Paine's celery compound was first introduced. It has always been popular, and especially during the past year the growth in demand for it has been very great. I sell a dozen bottles now to where I did not formerly sell one bottle. I sell more of Paine's compound than of any other preparation of its kind, and we always keep a good supply on hand. The demand keeps right on picking up, and we have more calls for it every day."

best recommendations of it I ever heard was from a woman who suffered from nervous indigestion, and she said she never knew what life was until she began using Paine's preparation. Nearly everybody who uses it says the same thing, and I am sure one could not say anything stronger than that in favor of a remedy. Anything that I find to be good, I am glad to recommend, and I unhesitatingly recommend Paine's celery compound to my customers, although there are other medicines on which I make a better profit. Of the later-day preparations it is one of the most standard and is equally well known with the oldest and longest advertised. My sales of Paine's compound are mostly to people of the better classes, and as they buy two three and four bottles of it, that is a good evidence of what they think of it as a cure. I think it is a remedy druggists can safely recommend to their patrons. It has been before the public long enough and plenty of it sold to have had an opportunity of proving its merit, and unless it had merit it could never have stood the test so long and grown in favor as it has. It is practically the only medicine of its kind that has any sale with us. We have never heard any one say anything against it, or that it had failed to give them complete satisfaction. It is one of the very few preparations of its class which demand forces me to order in large quantities."

Aaron Goldberg, druggist, at No. 32 Ewen street, says:
"I have handled Paine's celery compound ever since it has been out, and many of my customers who have used it come back for more, and say that they have been benefited by it. The demand for it has increased notably during the past year, and I expect to see it keep on growing."

H. E. Miller, who has been a wholesaler and retailer of drugs for ten years and has a well-known stand at No. 633 Broadway, says:
"When Paine's celery compound first came out I thought it was like a good many other prepared medicines and did not buy any, but I soon had a number of calls and began to buy it in small lots. I have had to increase my orders steadily from time to time, and during the past year have sold more than ever before. Many of my customers after trying it come back and get more."

W. Boehme, for ten years a druggist at No. 1275 Myrtle avenue, said to the reporter:
"I have to order Paine's celery compound every week, and often have trouble in getting it. It is the best seller I have struck yet. Especially among blood purifying remedies it is the best selling article I have. It has been a good seller ever since it first came out. The best evidence of the value of Paine's preparation is the confidence the people have in it, and the entire absence of any complaints. It seems the demand for it is so great that people cannot always get it when they want it, and people frequently come from some distance to my place to get it, knowing that I always keep a supply laid up. One time when I happened to be sold out a woman wanted a bottle, and rather than take anything else she waited until I had received a new supply. I do not hesitate to recommend it as a blood purifier and nerve tonic, and I can say that there are very few prepared medicines

W. Boehme, for ten years a druggist at No. 1275 Myrtle avenue, said to the reporter:
"I have to order Paine's celery compound every week, and often have trouble in getting it. It is the best seller I have struck yet. Especially among blood purifying remedies it is the best selling article I have. It has been a good seller ever since it first came out. The best evidence of the value of Paine's preparation is the confidence the people have in it, and the entire absence of any complaints. It seems the demand for it is so great that people cannot always get it when they want it, and people frequently come from some distance to my place to get it, knowing that I always keep a supply laid up. One time when I happened to be sold out a woman wanted a bottle, and rather than take anything else she waited until I had received a new supply. I do not hesitate to recommend it as a blood purifier and nerve tonic, and I can say that there are very few prepared medicines

W. Boehme, for ten years a druggist at No. 1275 Myrtle avenue, said to the reporter:
"I have to order Paine's celery compound every week, and often have trouble in getting it. It is the best seller I have struck yet. Especially among blood purifying remedies it is the best selling article I have. It has been a good seller ever since it first came out. The best evidence of the value of Paine's preparation is the confidence the people have in it, and the entire absence of any complaints. It seems the demand for it is so great that people cannot always get it when they want it, and people frequently come from some distance to my place to get it, knowing that I always keep a supply laid up. One time when I happened to be sold out a woman wanted a bottle, and rather than take anything else she waited until I had received a new supply. I do not hesitate to recommend it as a blood purifier and nerve tonic, and I can say that there are very few prepared medicines

W. Boehme, for ten years a druggist at No. 1275 Myrtle avenue, said to the reporter:
"I have to order Paine's celery compound every week, and often have trouble in getting it. It is the best seller I have struck yet. Especially among blood purifying remedies it is the best selling article I have. It has been a good seller ever since it first came out. The best evidence of the value of Paine's preparation is the confidence the people have in it, and the entire absence of any complaints. It seems the demand for it is so great that people cannot always get it when they want it, and people frequently come from some distance to my place to get it, knowing that I always keep a supply laid up. One time when I happened to be sold out a woman wanted a bottle, and rather than take anything else she waited until I had received a new supply. I do not hesitate to recommend it as a blood purifier and nerve tonic, and I can say that there are very few prepared medicines

W. Boehme, for ten years a druggist at No. 1275 Myrtle avenue, said to the reporter:
"I have to order Paine's celery compound every week, and often have trouble in getting it. It is the best seller I have struck yet. Especially among blood purifying remedies it is the best selling article I have. It has been a good seller ever since it first came out. The best evidence of the value of Paine's preparation is the confidence the people have in it, and the entire absence of any complaints. It seems the demand for it is so great that people cannot always get it when they want it, and people frequently come from some distance to my place to get it, knowing that I always keep a supply laid up. One time when I happened to be sold out a woman wanted a bottle, and rather than take anything else she waited until I had received a new supply. I do not hesitate to recommend it as a blood purifier and nerve tonic, and I can say that there are very few prepared medicines

W. Boehme, for ten years a druggist at No. 1275 Myrtle avenue, said to the reporter:
"I have to order Paine's celery compound every week, and often have trouble in getting it. It is the best seller I have struck yet. Especially among blood purifying remedies it is the best selling article I have. It has been a good seller ever since it first came out. The best evidence of the value of Paine's preparation is the confidence the people have in it, and the entire absence of any complaints. It seems the demand for it is so great that people cannot always get it when they want it, and people frequently come from some distance to my place to get it, knowing that I always keep a supply laid up. One time when I happened to be sold out a woman wanted a bottle, and rather than take anything else she waited until I had received a new supply. I do not hesitate to recommend it as a blood purifier and nerve tonic, and I can say that there are very few prepared medicines

W. Boehme, for ten years a druggist at No. 1275 Myrtle avenue, said to the reporter:
"I have to order Paine's celery compound every week, and often have trouble in getting it. It is the best seller I have struck yet. Especially among blood purifying remedies it is the best selling article I have. It has been a good seller ever since it first came out. The best evidence of the value of Paine's preparation is the confidence the people have in it, and the entire absence of any complaints. It seems the demand for it is so great that people cannot always get it when they want it, and people frequently come from some distance to my place to get it, knowing that I always keep a supply laid up. One time when I happened to be sold out a woman wanted a bottle, and rather than take anything else she waited until I had received a new supply. I do not hesitate to recommend it as a blood purifier and nerve tonic, and I can say that there are very few prepared medicines

W. Boehme, for ten years a druggist at No. 1275 Myrtle avenue, said to the reporter:
"I have to order Paine's celery compound every week, and often have trouble in getting it. It is the best seller I have struck yet. Especially among blood purifying remedies it is the best selling article I have. It has been a good seller ever since it first came out. The best evidence of the value of Paine's preparation is the confidence the people have in it, and the entire absence of any complaints. It seems the demand for it is so great that people cannot always get it when they want it, and people frequently come from some distance to my place to get it, knowing that I always keep a supply laid up. One time when I happened to be sold out a woman wanted a bottle, and rather than take anything else she waited until I had received a new supply. I do not hesitate to recommend it as a blood purifier and nerve tonic, and I can say that there are very few prepared medicines

W. Boehme, for ten years a druggist at No. 1275 Myrtle avenue, said to the reporter:
"I have to order Paine's celery compound every week, and often have trouble in getting it. It is the best seller I have struck yet. Especially among blood purifying remedies it is the best selling article I have. It has been a good seller ever since it first came out. The best evidence of the value of Paine's preparation is the confidence the people have in it, and the entire absence of any complaints. It seems the demand for it is so great that people cannot always get it when they want it, and people frequently come from some distance to my place to get it, knowing that I always keep a supply laid up. One time when I happened to be sold out a woman wanted a bottle, and rather than take anything else she waited until I had received a new supply. I do not hesitate to recommend it as a blood purifier and nerve tonic, and I can say that there are very few prepared medicines

W. Boehme, for ten years a druggist at No. 1275 Myrtle avenue, said to the reporter:
"I have to order Paine's celery compound every week, and often have trouble in getting it. It is the best seller I have struck yet. Especially among blood purifying remedies it is the best selling article I have. It has been a good seller ever since it first came out. The best evidence of the value of Paine's preparation is the confidence the people have in it, and the entire absence of any complaints. It seems the demand for it is so great that people cannot always get it when they want it, and people frequently come from some distance to my place to get it, knowing that I always keep a supply laid up. One time when I happened to be sold out a woman wanted a bottle, and rather than take anything else she waited until I had received a new supply. I do not hesitate to recommend it as a blood purifier and nerve tonic, and I can say that there are very few prepared medicines

W. Boehme, for ten years a druggist at No. 1275 Myrtle avenue, said to the reporter:
"I have to order Paine's celery compound every week, and often have trouble in getting it. It is the best seller I have struck yet. Especially among blood purifying remedies it is the best selling article I have. It has been a good seller ever since it first came out. The best evidence of the value of Paine's preparation is the confidence the people have in it, and the entire absence of any complaints. It seems the demand for it is so great that people cannot always get it when they want it, and people frequently come from some distance to my place to get it, knowing that I always keep a supply laid up. One time when I happened to be sold out a woman wanted a bottle, and rather than take anything else she waited until I had received a new supply. I do not hesitate to recommend it as a blood purifier and nerve tonic, and I can say that there are very few prepared medicines

W. Boehme, for ten years a druggist at No. 1275 Myrtle avenue, said to the reporter:
"I have to order Paine's celery compound every week, and often have trouble in getting it. It is the best seller I have struck yet. Especially among blood purifying remedies it is the best selling article I have. It has been a good seller ever since it first came out. The best evidence of the value of Paine's preparation is the confidence the people have in it, and the entire absence of any complaints. It seems the demand for it is so great that people cannot always get it when they want it, and people frequently come from some distance to my place to get it, knowing that I always keep a supply laid up. One time when I happened to be sold out a woman wanted a bottle, and rather than take anything else she waited until I had received a new supply. I do not hesitate to recommend it as a blood purifier and nerve tonic, and I can say that there are very few prepared medicines on hand since we have been in business and have found it to be one of the best selling remedies we keep, and of its class it is the most popular. It is certainly one of the most popular remedies there is and enjoys a good sale generally."

Said T. G. Frybergh, proprietor of "The Mason" at Myrtle street and Reid avenue:
"Paine's celery compound is the best selling remedy of its kind that we have on sale, and it is one of the most popular remedies in the market. It has outstripped in sale a remedy which formerly had a large sale, and we now have more calls for Paine's compound than for any other. We have had complaints against some other preparations, but never any against Paine's, and having been so long in the market that must be said to be its best recommendation. We have a number of customers who continue to use it regularly, which is evidence that they think well of it."

W. D. Day, who runs the large pharmacy at Nos. 1304, 1306 and 1308 Broadway, said:
"I have been in business at this stand for twenty-five years and have handled Paine's celery compound ever since it came out. From a small beginning the demand has steadily increased, until now it has become the best-selling remedy in its class in my store. I have never had any complaints against it. Stephen Glain, the druggist at Halsey street, for ten years a druggist at No. 1275 Myrtle avenue, said to the reporter:

"I have to order Paine's celery compound every week, and often have trouble in getting it. It is the best seller I have struck yet. Especially among blood purifying remedies it is the best selling article I have. It has been a good seller ever since it first came out. The best evidence of the value of Paine's preparation is the confidence the people have in it, and the entire absence of any complaints. It seems the demand for it is so great that people cannot always get it when they want it, and people frequently come from some distance to my place to get it, knowing that I always keep a supply laid up. One time when I happened to be sold out a woman wanted a bottle, and rather than take anything else she waited until I had received a new supply. I do not hesitate to recommend it as a blood purifier and nerve tonic, and I can say that there are very few prepared medicines

W. Boehme, for ten years a druggist at No. 1275 Myrtle avenue, said to the reporter:
"I have to order Paine's celery compound every week, and often have trouble in getting it. It is the best seller I have struck yet. Especially among blood purifying remedies it is the best selling article I have. It has been a good seller ever since it first came out. The best evidence of the value of Paine's preparation is the confidence the people have in it, and the entire absence of any complaints. It seems the demand for it is so great that people cannot always get it when they want it, and people frequently come from some distance to my place to get it, knowing that I always keep a supply laid up. One time when I happened to be sold out a woman wanted a bottle, and rather than take anything else she waited until I had received a new supply. I do not hesitate to recommend it as a blood purifier and nerve tonic, and I can say that there are very few prepared medicines

W. Boehme, for ten years a druggist at No. 1275 Myrtle avenue, said to the reporter:
"I have to order Paine's celery compound every week, and often have trouble in getting it. It is the best seller I have struck yet. Especially among blood purifying remedies it is the best selling article I have. It has been a good seller ever since it first came out. The best evidence of the value of Paine's preparation is the confidence the people have in it, and the entire absence of any complaints. It seems the demand for it is so great that people cannot always get it when they want it, and people frequently come from some distance to my place to get it, knowing that I always keep a supply laid up. One time when