

MOSCOW'S GORGEOUS SHOW IS READY.

A Display of Barbaric Splendor Such as Russia Alone Can Produce.

Millions of Dollars to Be Spent in the Coronation Festivities.

Private Persons Vie with the State in Producing the Most Brilliant Displays.

FRANCE'S ARTISTIC TRIUMPH.

She Has Ransacked Her Domains for Beautiful Works of Art to Be Shown in Her Embassy at Moscow.

Moscow, May 16.—Immense preparations are being made for the popular fête, which is to be held on the Khodynsky Plain on the 20th.

Planned on the sides by the exhibition buildings and the race course, it stretches away into the country. It was here that Napoleon massed his troops before marching into the city of Moscow.

By Julian Ralph.

London, May 9.—Private advices which I have received from Moscow indicate that the glowing reports which are reaching Europe in respect to the coronation festivities are in no way exaggerated.

The outlay on these festivities is enormous and will never be fully ascertained, since diplomatic and private persons have to expend sums of money which, unless as in the case of the former, they are furnished by the State.

One of the most remarkable sights will be the illumination of the Kremlin by electric light, it being computed that the entire precincts of this place, including palaces, cathedrals, oratories, armories and fortresses, will be ablaze with no fewer than half a million lamps of which, however, a certain proportion will be of gas and oil.

J. M. BARRIE'S LATEST EFFORT.

He Writes a New Play and Frohman Gets It for Production Here.

London, May 16.—J. M. Barrie has finished a new play, not yet named, which has been bought by Charles Frohman for production by the Empire stock company.

Frohman is arranging with Olga Netherstone to appear in "Carmen" in London.

CHARLES DICKENS BETTER.

Son of the Noted Novelist Recovering His Health.

London, May 16.—Charles Dickens, eldest son of the great novelist, who has been seriously ill at Brighton, is improving now and is much better.

HARSH WORDS FOR JAMESON.

A London Newspaper Calls the Adventurer "A Rash Fool."

London, May 16.—Dr. Jameson is harshly criticized in To-day, which says: "A more contemptible, imbecile and discreditable piece of business than the Jameson raid it would be difficult to find on the pages of English history."

Krueger's Message to Chamberlains.

Prerogative of the President Krueger has sent this dispatch to Mr. Chamberlain:

"The Government of the South African Republic is glad to receive assurance that full inquiry will be made into the allegations against the British South Africa Company and its directors. The Government will follow the inquiry with interest.

Thanks for your expressions of sympathy with my wife, who is improving."

HEAVY FINES FOR TRANSVAAL PRISONERS.

Leaders Must Pay $125,000 Each and Be Banished Ten Years.

Frederick Grey, One of the Pretoria Prisoners, Goes Mad and Kills Himself.

Minor Offenders Will Also Have to Pay Fines and Leave the Country.

BOERS' GOVERNMENT CRITICISED.

Cape Argus Declares There is No Reason or Justice in Imprisoning White Political Prisoners in the Transvaal.

Cape town, May 15.—A private message from Pretoria, which was shown to American Consul Knight, says that the four reform leaders of Johannesburg will be fined $125,000 each and be sentenced to ten years' banishment, and the remaining sixty will be fined $7,500 each and given some term of banishment, but the Executive Council is inclined to make the period one year in the case of the latter.

Suicide of a Prisoner.

A profound sensation has been caused throughout the country to-day by the news of the suicide of Frederick Grey, a reform prisoner, who cut his throat with a razor this morning. He had been melancholy the whole week, and at times completely insane. His fellow prisoners on Thursday urged the authorities to take knives and razors from him, but the latter replied they thought that Grey was shamming.

He was found this morning in a closet huddled on the floor, with a big gash in his throat, and a razor was at his side. He expired a few minutes after removal from the jail to the hospital. The event cast a gloom over the other prisoners.

Captain Mein and Fritz Mosenthal have been allowed to give bail on account of ill-health.

Barney Barnato expressed sympathy with the prisoners.

The Cape Argus, discussing the Grey tragedy to-day, says: "The world will bear with horror of this one phase of the Pretoria tragedy which it is our mournful duty to record. As we have warned the Pretoria Government, and it should not be necessary to address such warnings to a civilized government, there are no arrangements in the Transvaal which allow of the imprisonment of white political prisoners being anything but a gross cruelty."

"The sufferings of all the prisoners while a dilatory Executive is considering the case week after week, are shown to be very real from reports as to the health of some of the gentlemen. We shall not be surprised if there are further fatal tragedies, for which, under the circumstances, very serious responsibility will attach to the Pretoria Executive."

WORKING HARD FOR RHODES.

Titled Britons Making Great Efforts in Behalf of the Diamond King.

London, May 16.—The members of the Rhodesian party in London vie with each other in their attempts to improve their position in the eyes of the public by social and philanthropic work. The Duke and Duchess of Fife, the latter a daughter of the Prince of Wales, and Sir Horace and Lady Farquhar have been busy in this direction during the past week, and the official Committee of Warwick, formerly known as Lady Brooke, has been working so hard in behalf of the "Diamond King" that she has made herself sick.

The Marlborough Club, the favorite resort of the Prince of Wales, is the head centre of the pro-Rhodes manoeuvres. The Duke of Fife, the Duke of Abercorn, and Sir Horace Farquhar, all directors of the British South Africa Company, are members of the club.

Thinks Armenian Troubles Ended. Washington, May 16.—Alexander W. Terrell, Minister to Turkey, arrived in Washington from Texas this morning in obedience to a summons from the President. He considers the Armenian troubles as practically ended.

Mr. Terrell had interviews to-day with the President and Secretary Olney.

herself worthy of her alliance, and Austria and Germany do not intend to let themselves be beaten in the matter of display. I fancy, though, the French Ambassador, who is the dean of the diplomatic corps, will achieve the greatest artistic triumph, owing to the efforts of his Government. The most luxurious furniture which the republic can supply, acres of costly gobelins, priceless oil paintings, masterpieces of sculpture, artistic bronzes and wagon loads of curios and knick-knacks are being sent from Paris to Moscow specially for the festival. Each embassy gives entertainments to its visitors, unless the official programme be modified. The British Ambassador alone has the honor of entertaining the Czar and Czarina at a banquet. The entertainment offered to the people is, without a doubt, likely to be one of the most interesting points in the programme. Nothing like it is ever seen in any part of the world. Miles of tables are prepared on the Khodynsky Field, outside the city gates, from which sweetmeats and other luxuries will be distributed to the people. In addition, handsome iron goblets will be presented to all visitors, and the number is likely to amount to over 400,000. When the visitor has received his mug he can go off to any one of the twenty-three enormous sheds close by and regale himself with beer and meat, although he is apparently limited to one allowance. The arrangements which have been made this time for the entertainment of the people are, as a matter of fact, on a far less extensive scale than those at the coronation of Alexander II., when unlimited wine and roasted sheep, ducks, chickens and hams were distributed to whoever cared to partake of them. The innovation is said to be due to the economical turn of mind of the present Czar, although I fancy the outlay on general decorations and illuminations will increase the bill which his predecessor had to pay by at least 25 per cent. A gigantic fair is being organized, in which everything will be gratis, though the mind of the Russian peasant is very simple and only requires entertainment which the average workman in other European or American cities would regard as childish. There will, of course, be unlimited fireworks; what would a coronation be without fireworks? Undoubtedly, however, the chief attraction for visitors to these festivities will be far less the mere decorations, illuminations and ceremonies, however lavish they may be, than the view which will be presented by the mixture of nations which in a short time will be assembled on the banks of the Moskva. When one remembers that the Russian domain extends from the German frontier east to the Pacific, from the Siberian steppes in the north to the Turkistan plateaus in the south, one may form some idea of the variety of peoples, of costumes and customs, which will be represented at these festivities. No dominion in the world includes such a motley mixture of nations and people, who will be all represented not, as too often is the case, with the edge of their true nature worn away by semi-contact with civilization, but in all their primitive simplicity and uncouthness. This is the source from which the charm of these festivities will come. The religious ceremony will doubtless be imposing—the paganism of the Greek Church always are, since its religious services are far and away the most impressive of any form of Christian worship now extant and admirably harmonize with the national taste for symbolism, poetry and display. It is hardly too much to say, moreover, that there is not a trade, profession, or nationality which is not writ large in some peculiarity of costume, and when one thinks of the assortment of national types which is being brought together, one is forced to the conviction that this added to the mixture of nations and peoples, and the intelligence which Russians are now, as always, lavishing upon national festivities will be productive of a spectacle which is hardly likely to be reproduced in our generation.
