

BOARD DECIDES

AGAINST RUSIE.

The Big Pitcher Must Submit to Fines and Remain Under Reserve.

Attorney John M. Ward's Arguments in His Behalf Rejected Unanimously.

WILL CONTEST THROUGH THE COURTS.

Session Held Behind Closed Doors and the Twiler's Early Acts Brought into Discussion—'Patsy' Tebeau Fined $200 for Rowdiness.

burg, June 29.—The Rusie case has decided. The big pitcher was fined by the New York club, and should not be remitted, according to decision of the league board of directors this afternoon. The finding was followed by a surprising decision in the early ball problem, and Oliver Tebeau was fined $200 for his recent conduct.

WARD ON THE RUSIE CASE.

To the Journal: Pittsburgh, Pa., June 29.—The Board of Directors of the National League has decided against Amos Rusie in his appeal from the fines inflicted by the New York club. And, furthermore, to cover up their decision and even up some old scores, they attempt to make it appear that Rusie had no case. Rusie, it will be remembered, was fined $100 in Baltimore on the ground that he was out of his hotel all night and under the influence of liquor. The second fine of $100 was imposed because it was claimed he played carelessly in a game of ball.

On the other hand, Mr. Freedman was permitted to recite in detail everything which, according to him, Rusie did from the time the club went South in March until the end of the season, the great mass of which has no possible bearing on the particular questions at issue. In addition, the New York club was allowed to submit a lot of evidence by affidavit, parts of which were mere arguments, other parts hearsay and a great deal of which was absolutely irrelevant. One affidavit deponent, Rusie had done in 1894. All this was against the strenuous, but vain protests of Rusie's counsel. Rusie based his case principally on his contract. One clause of that provides that for a first offence of drunkenness he might be fined not more than $25, for a second offence, $50, for a third offence $100, and for a fourth offence the penalty could be only suspension. Another clause of his contract says that for a violation of any clause of his contract he may be fined in an amount not to exceed $100. In the face of this contract he declared, the Board says the club had a right to fine him $100.

Rusie's contention was that the club could not assess cumulative fines; that it could not say at this late date that the total amount was meant to include a number of smaller fines; that even if the club had originally intended the fines to cover a number of offenses, it could not now slip in and apportion the amounts, so as to bring them within legal limits. Besides, the club is on record alleging specific offenses for which Rusie was fined. But the decision of the Board holds in spite of this, that the club may not only assess cumulative fines but at any time thereafter apportion them. Under this decision a club is made the absolute judge of when a player has offended, what offense he has committed and how much to fine him for it. It leaves absolutely no protection to a player under his contract, notwithstanding the positive limitations therein contained.

and he replied: "My statement covers everything." He also declined to state at whose motion, action was taken on Tebeau's appeal. John Ward was with him when he read the League statement. Said he: "So they went out of their wits. I thought I was talking to fair and decent men. Wholly irrelevant testimony, but did I present them. All I handed in was a telegram from Doyle, saying Rusie was fined for being out of his room in Baltimore. W. H. Clarke, of the New York team, could swear that Rusie was in his room and did not go out at all. He was in Baltimore, but he was prevented from so doing by Mr. Freedman."

TALMAGE FELL TO HOOKER Great Tennis at the Tuxedo Park Tournament Singles. Tuxedo Park, N. Y., June 29.—Tennis enthusiasts had a good opportunity of proving that their game is not giving way before encroaching golf when the Tuxedo tournament opened here to-day, with a stronger list of entries than it has known in years. The feature of the play was the match between Talmage, of Brooklyn, and Hooker, of New Haven. Talmage was evidently all at sea on dirt courts, and, after capturing the opening set, fizzled out and allowed Hooker to take the next two and the match. The doubles and consolation singles will be begun to-morrow.

GOODRICH, RULLER, SPRAGUE, FENNESSY, TOWNSEND, PERKINS, HOLLISTER, DERBY. This picture is reproduced from a snap-shot photograph taken for the Journal a few seconds after the Harvard Varsity crew finished in the four-cornered race last Friday. The men are waiting for their launch to come alongside and take them up to their quarters. Many of them have not recovered from the state of collapse into which they fell as soon as they ceased rowing. Derby, the bow oar, pulled like a giant throughout the race and finished as strong as an ox. Hollister, No. 2, was also quite fresh at the end, but Perkins, No. 3, was badly fagged, and his head dropped on his knees as the coxswain gave the word that the race had ended. Townsend, No. 4, was fresh at the end. Not so with Fennessy, No. 5, who is one of the best oars Harvard ever boasted of. He dropped at the finish and the picture shows his body still bent forward. The same may be said of Sprague, No. 6. Captain Barrick, at No. 7, was fairly fresh at the end, but Stroke Goodrich had a very tired feeling, though he was helped not a little by the hand of water that Coxswain Rust threw in his face as soon as he stopped rowing. A four-mile boat race is one of the most severe undertakings an athlete can indulge in.

"Kid" Gleason made a remarkable stop and throw in the fifth that cut off a hit, and Bill Clark distinguished himself by making several beautiful jumping catches of wild throws by Farrell.

The Giants made a good start in the sixth, and for a time everybody was shaky. Anderson and Shindle both hit safely, and were advanced a base on Connor's sacrifice. Lachance drove the leather into Harry Davis's territory, and this clever hit the holder pretty early and sent him to the plate, holding Anderson on third. McCarthy hit toward George Davis, but he was Mr. Baseball. Time of game, one hour and forty-five minutes. Attendance, 2,500.

PAVONIAS IN A BREEZE.

Jersey Corinthians Sailed an Ideal Regatta on the Lower Bay Yesterday.

An eight-knot breeze from the westward, a smooth sea and a sunny sky were the conditions under which the twenty-second annual regatta of the Pavonia Yacht Club was sailed yesterday. Twenty-six yachts out of fifty-two entries started in the various classes, but by far the prettiest race of the day was between Maxie Moore's Cygnets and W. B. Crowtage's sloop Nomad. These yachts were never more than a quarter of a mile apart from the time they crossed the starting line until they dashed between the stakeboats and the old black spar buoy which marks the shoal ofyster Island. Nomad led by three minutes and thirty-seven seconds.

The steamer Laura M. Starin accompanied the boats over the course with her accustomed freight of pretty girls. There was a fresh breeze when the preparatory whistle was sounded at 11:50, and the start for the big fellows was at noon. The sloop Nomad was the first boat across the line. Princess and Forsyth followed in the order named and the two remaining boats crossed in a bunch aside from Mary II., of the catboats, which closed in on the rear of the entire line. Her skipper being wily enough to await the beginning of the obituary shortly after noon.

The same skipper won D. B. class. T. C. Roach's Kears had a knockdown at the shoal end of the course, which resulted in considerable water, which had to be pumped out before she started. The race was handicapped thirty seconds owing to this mishap.

The small boats sailed around Fort Lafayette, and the larger boats sailed around the spar buoy. The race was a very interesting one, and the spectators were very much interested. The regatta was a success, and the yachtsmen were very much pleased with the results.

and. During this leg the Cygnets set a coaching topmast while all the big sloops took in their gaff-topmasts and in the broad reach for the home mark, sailed under mainmast, staymast and jib.

In the broad reach from Coney Island Point to the finish line, although Cygnets had the weather position, she was outdistanced by Nomad, which crossed the line in advance of her competitor from the New York Athletic Club. Nomad was a walk-over in the schooner class, although she was a class that her old enemy Royal would appear against her. Princess won in the big catboat class, and Kears captured the prize in her class by three minutes and thirty-four seconds. Elizabeth's Mary II. was an easy winner, and Presto, as usual, had a virtual gift of the first place in her class. Tennessy's Mary II. was an easy winner, and Presto, as usual, had a virtual gift of the first place in her class.

GNOME WAS HANDICAPPED.

Breeze Lends Excitement to the Stamford Yacht Club Regatta.

The Stamford Yacht Club held its annual regatta yesterday off Shippan Point, under the rules of the Yacht Racing Union of Long Island Sound. The course for the first class covered eighteen miles, that for the second twelve miles and that for the third six miles. All were handicapped, and the race was southwesterly, freshening at the finish to lead excitement.

There was no seaway and the weather was delightful for fair weather sailing. It will be observed that the actual time of the GNOME as recorded was according to the schedule of her fellow in the half-inter class. As a matter of fact she was handicapped, her actual time of crossing the line being 11:55:30. Summary:
