

GEORGE LAW NEAR DEATH'S DOOR.

Late Last Night His Physicians Declared His Recovery to Be Impossible.

His Wife and Other Relatives at His Bedside Awaiting the Inevitable End.

MILLIONAIRE AND LOVER OF SPORT.

Born Heir to an Immense Fortune, He Began His Business Career as a Street Car Driver for His Father.

George Law, the well-known street railroad man and millionaire, is dying at his home, No. 250 Fifth avenue, Dr. Martin Burke, the family physician, and Drs. Janeway and Gouley, whom he called in consultation, have abandoned all hopes. The patient may die at any moment, they said last night.

The disease from which Mr. Law is suffering is erysipelas. He has been ill with it for the past four weeks. At the outset of the attack Mr. Law underwent an operation, performed by Dr. Burke. He rallied, but suffered a relapse and prostration followed. Owing to his weak condition it was decided not to remove him to the country.

The disease did not assume a serious form until the morning. Mr. Law's splendid physique, until then, gave him hope that he would recover. Between 10 and 11 a. m. on Sunday, however, he became unconscious, and up to a late hour last night continued in that condition. Dr. Burke is in constant attendance upon him. He reports that there is noticeable a general sinking and that the patient is gradually nearing the end.

The news of Mr. Law's illness spread about town last night and occasioned general regret among his acquaintances. A number of friends called at the house to express their sorrow. Mr. Smith, the father-in-law of Mr. Law, said that the family were prepared for the worst. There was not the slightest chance of recovery. Mr. Law's three sisters are all out of town.

Mrs. Haines is in Italy and Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Wright are at Cambridge, Mass. George Law is fifty-three years old and a native of this city. His father, George Law, built High Bridge and the old aqueduct, organized most of the East River ferries and the Eighth and Ninth avenue street car lines, and, at his death, left $10,000,000, of which $8,000,000 was left to his son, George.

The latter, after being graduated from Columbia College, entered the street railway business. In order to give him a practical training, his father made him act as a car driver.

Then he became a clerk in the office and superintendent of the Ninth avenue line. He was married on September 24, 1874, to Miss Olga Smith by the Rev. George Central Judge, assistant rector of the Church of the Heavenly Rest.

Previous to his marriage Mr. Law was one of the best gamblers in New York. He was a friend and patron of pugilists, and in 1880 created a sensation by chartering a train, taking a number of sportsmen to California and presenting them with diamond rings and gold watches.

In 1888 he was engaged to Miss Josephine Mack. After his marriage to Miss Smith Mack brought a breach of promise suit which, in last accounts, was down for trial this fall.

VESTVALLI HIS NAME.

Man Who Threw Himself from a High Wall in Front of a Train Held for Examination.

M. Henri de Vestvalli was a prisoner in the Morrisania Police Court yesterday on a charge of attempted suicide. Magistrate Bram held him for examination on July 8. Vestvalli is a musician, whose parents came to this country from Alsace. He sprang from a high wall at One Hundred and Seventy-seventh street and Vanderbilt avenue in front of a New York Central train on Sunday evening. His body struck the track and bounded to one side just as the train flashed past. He would be seriously injured.

He was taken to Fordham hospital, from which place he was discharged yesterday afternoon. The man had refused to give any information about himself. He said in the Police Court that he had not a very distinct recollection of what had occurred on Sunday evening.

The prisoner said that he had received a musical education in Westchester, where he had played for George Hart, Emma, Melba, Nordica and other equally well known singers. Latterly he has been playing in dance halls at Coney Island.

JOHN MORIARTY DEAD.

Well-Known Furniture Man Succumbed After a Long Illness.

John Moriarty, known as "the furniture man," died Sunday evening after an illness of eight weeks, of a complication of diseases, at his home, No. 95 East Tenth street.

Mr. Moriarty was born in the County Kerry forty-six years ago, and came to this country when he was one year old with his father, Eugene Moriarty. He was educated in the public schools of this city, and before he was twenty years old he became a salesman for the Brooklyn Furniture Company, in which concern he afterwards became a partner. About sixteen years ago he established the furniture house which has since been known as the Moriarty store, at No. 1 Avenue Four. He was very successful.

He leaves a widow but no children. Three brothers survive him. They are Thaddeus, of the firm of Jordan, Moriarty & Co., of Park Row, and West Twenty-third street, an ex-school commissioner; Daniel and Philip. The latest named served through the late war.

LOOKING FOR TEACHERS.

Board of School Superintendents Going Over the List of Applicants.

The Board of Public School Superintendents is diligently going over the list of applicants for places as teachers. From the list of about 750, who graduated at the Normal College or passed the special examinations, they are selecting 207 for permanent substitutes.

Under the rule they are to be called upon whenever ill ness causes vacancies in the ranks of regular teachers. Last year 400 new teachers were appointed to regular places from the eligible list. This year it is probable that at least the full number now on that list will be required when the schools open in September.

FLINT'S NEW CLIPPER LINE.

The clipper ship belonging to Flint & Co., which have been plying between this port and San Francisco since 1857, will not be loaded by agents on commission after August 1. The firm has decided to establish a regular line of clippers between this port and the Golden Gate under the immediate supervision of the company.

George Law at the Point of Death.

He is ill at his home, No. 250 Fifth avenue, with erysipelas, and late last night the attending physician said he might not live until morning. His wife and other relatives are with him, and are prepared for the worst.

MRS. VANDERBILT OFF FOR SOUTH DAKOTA.

The Pretty Wife of Jacob H. Vanderbilt Wants Her Divorce Absolute.

Wearied of the Unsuccessful Fight for Increased Alimony She Decides on More Radical Steps.

SHE WAS THE DAUGHTER OF A LAUNDRESS.

That Fact, It is Said, Caused the Opposition of Captain "Jake" to His Son's Marriage, and All Their Subsequent Unhappiness.

Mrs. Marie Ann Smith Vanderbilt has gone to South Dakota to secure an absolute divorce from Jacob H. Vanderbilt, of Staten Island. The defendant is a son of Captain "Jake" Vanderbilt, and a nephew of the Commodore.

Mrs. Vanderbilt is his second wife. Mary Ann Smith was the daughter of a thrifty laundress in Cazenovia, New York. She was a bright, pretty young woman and had many offers of marriage, but her mother and she were ambitious. So when the widowed son of Captain Vanderbilt was made a captive, everybody wished her all happiness.

Captain "Jake" Vanderbilt did not countenance the marriage. He was president of the Staten Island Railroad, in which place he was succeeded by Erasmus Wiman. He considered that young Jacob's marriage to Mary Ann Smith was detrimental to his interests.

His influence told, and in 1888 young Mrs. Vanderbilt secured a limited divorce, and Judge Barrett, in granting the application for alimony, said, in his opinion, that she had been treated very shamefully. He granted the divorce, $100 a month alimony and permission to seek for an increase if her husband's means increased.

Last fall she applied for $3,000 a year alimony, alleging that her husband's income was more than $5,000. But she lost. Then she went to Colonel Robert Ingersoll, and finally, disgusted by failure, decided to go to South Dakota for absolute divorce. She has been gone two weeks.

In recent years Mrs. Vanderbilt became well known in certain circles of this city. She is a woman of striking appearance, and is not more than thirty-two years old. She has been a notable guest at some of the well-known Bohemian dinners, and her rather Bohemian tastes enabled her to cut almost as much of a figure in her own world as Mrs. Alva Vanderbilt did in hers.

COL. WARING'S REPORT MADE.

New Methods of Disposing of Garbage Under Consideration.

In the absence of Mayor William F. Stong the report on the final disposition of garbage was yesterday submitted by Commissioner of Street Cleaning George E. Waring, Jr., to Acting-Mayor Jeremiah E. Waring.

In his statement Commissioner Waring says: "There are no two opinions as to the barbarism of the practice of depositing the matters in the sea, a practice that is both wasteful and pernicious. "While nothing like a definite conclusion has been reached, there is a fair chance of securing a good result in the letting of a contract for the incineration or utilization of garbage, according to the specifications now advertised. It is not unlikely that it will be found practicable and advisable to modify our methods of collecting garbage very materially."

Colonel Waring's assistants have made a careful study into the various systems in vogue in other cities, and the results of their investigations are embodied in this report, which concludes as follows: "We have full details as to the economy and efficiency of each plant investigated, and we are under obligations to you for details of information only for our own special guidance."

PEROR TO HUNT WHALES.

He Will Attack the Monsters in a Torpedo Boat.

By Henry W. Fischer. In April, July 6.—Emperor William is preparing to hunt for whales. When he reaches the waters of Norway it is his intention to kill several whales. He will approach the monsters in a torpedo boat and hurl what are known as explosive harpoons at them.

HUSBAND AND WIFE WOUNDED IN SLEEP.

Both Were Mysteriously Cut on Their Necks, She More Seriously Than He.

Friends of the Family Scout the Theory of Attempted Murder and Suicide.

PERHAPS THE WORK OF ROBBERS.

Nothing in the House, However, Was Disturbed and the Victims Know No Possible Reason for Such an Assault on Them.

Marion, N. Y., July 6.—A mysterious attempt was made early this morning to murder Frank O. Murdock, a carpenter and contractor by trade, and his wife. The couple and their two children, a daughter about seventeen years of age and a younger son, all returned to their home early last night and were in bed in good season.

At about 4 o'clock this morning, Mr. Murdock says, he was awakened with some difficulty by his wife, and told by her that she was bleeding. He noticed that blood was dripping from his own face and he thought that his nose was bleeding, and told her that the blood perhaps came from that. He got up, however, and lighted a lamp, and it was then discovered that Mrs. Murdock had been seriously cut down across the left side of her neck, and that there was a similar cut, though not so bad as one, on himself. A doctor was immediately summoned and the wounds were dressed. That of the wife is quite a serious one, and had it been only a little deeper would have been fatal.

The two children were sleeping upstairs, while the parents slept down stairs. The doctor says that when the alarm was given she heard a noise like the closing of a door. The children were in no way injured, and nothing in the house was disturbed, with the exception of the razor which Mr. Murdock had shaved himself with the day before. This was missing, and no trace of it can be found, and it is thought that it was probably used in the attempt at double murder and suicide, whichever it may be.

AT A LOSS TO EXPLAIN IT. The theory of robbery can hardly be sustained, as nothing in the house was disturbed, unless it be that the perpetrators of the deed were frightened away from accomplishing their end. The noise which the daughter says she heard may have been the rattling of the razor, or the sound of the door being closed, or the sound of the razor being given for such a course. Mr. Murdock is said to have a happy home, and no financial troubles. Mr. Murdock can give no possible reason why the act was done, as he says he knows of no personal enemy.

GEN. P. M. B. YOUNG DEAD. Was Minister to Guatemala on Leave of Absence—A Major-General at Twenty-four Years of Age.

General P. M. B. Young, of Atlanta, Ga., United States Minister to Guatemala, died of Bright's disease at 12.30 o'clock yesterday forenoon, in the Presbyterian Hospital. General Young was about sixty years old. He arrived in this city from Guatemala June 24.

He had long suffered with the malady of which he died, and upon the voyage to New York, his condition became alarming. Upon his arrival he telegraphed the State Department that he would remain in the hospital until he was strong enough to reach his home in Washington.

He was admitted to the Presbyterian Hospital as a private patient of Dr. Janeway. His condition improved somewhat, and he expected soon to be able to continue his way South. Dr. Thomas Jones, General Young's brother-in-law, is staying at the Hotel Marlborough, and has arranged for sending him to Carlisle, Pa., for treatment.

Pierce Mason Butler Young was born in Sparenburg, S. C., on November 25, 1836. He was educated at the military school at West Point, and received his commission as lieutenant at West Point. Within a few months of his graduation from there he was sent to the front in the Confederate army, and he immediately distinguished himself by his valor. He soon attained the title of First Lieutenant of Artillery, and when twenty-four years of age, was a Major-General of cavalry.

During the war he served under General William H. T. Sherman, and took part in many engagements. After the war he was returned to his father's plantation near Carlisle, and lived quietly until his election to Congress under the Reconstruction act. He was the only Democrat elected to the House and served three terms. In 1871 he was chosen as America's representative to the Paris Exposition.

President Cleveland, in 1885, appointed General Young Consul-General to Honduras. Before the expiration of his term he resigned because of ill health, and when Cleveland died, his second son, he appointed General Young Minister to Guatemala and Honduras. He left Honduras in 1887, but was chosen as a member of the United States Senate in 1890 because of illness.

DROWNED OFF THE PIER.

Herbert Morgan, a Ship's Steward, Sank and Almost Took His Would-Be Rescuer Down With Him.

Herbert Morgan, nineteen years old, a steward on the White Star steamship Germania, lying at pier 45, North River, was drowned while bathing off the pier at 3.50 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

He, with two other young men employed on the steamship, went swimming. Morgan must have been seized with cramps, for he suddenly disappeared. The other two boys, John Robinson, a boatman, and the German, dived off the pier and swam to Morgan. The drowning man seized Robinson and dragged him under the water. The latter managed to get loose from him, but Morgan again caught him and dragged him under the water until his feet touched bottom.

Robinson finally broke loose from him and came to the surface. Morgan, however, was picked up by a boat which had been lowered from the ship. Morgan's body was recovered from the water. The dead man was a native of Liverpool.

FELL DEAD WHILE BATHING.

Rudolph Rosinsky, a Theatrical Agent Stricken with Apoplexy.

Rudolph Rosinsky, a theatrical agent of No. 1227 Broadway, died suddenly while bathing in the surf at Rockaway Beach Sunday afternoon. He was in the water with a party of friends when he was seen to throw up his hands and fall backward as a huge wave struck him and carried him up on the beach.

Dr. Lusk, Health Commissioner of Rockaway Beach, said that death was due to apoplexy. Rosinsky's body was taken to his late residence, No. 17 West Ninety-eighth street.

Rosinsky was born in this city fifty-five years ago, and achieved some prominence on the operatic stage. He abandoned opera to become agent for vaudeville artists. He was manager at various times for the Jockey troupe, the Schaefer family of acrobats, the Honlon troupe, Zazo and other noted performers. He had his headquarters in Paris, living there most of his time, and accumulated a handsome fortune from the time that he lost in the Panama Canal scheme.

A little more than two years ago he opened an office at No. 1227 Broadway. He was New York representative of Walter's Orpheum theatres, in San Francisco and Los Angeles. He leaves a wife, two sons and two daughters. His oldest son, a manager of the Paris agency, funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Funeral of Artist C. H. Johnson.

The funeral of Artist Charles Howard Johnson took place from the Calvary Baptist Church in West Fifty-seventh street yesterday morning. Rev. Dr. Robert MacArthur, pastor of the church, assisted by Dr. F. H. Morse, conducted the services, the former paying a glowing tribute to the work and worth of the deceased. Many of the best known illustrators of New York were present. The burial was in Woodlawn Cemetery.

Schools Forgive an Enemy.

Dr. Walter T. Scholes, yesterday, in Special Sessions, asked that Mrs. Mansfield, who pleaded guilty to assaulting the doctor, be released. Justice Jacob suspended sentence on this request. Mr. Mansfield was a witness in the Fleming trial, as was also Dr. Scholes. Mr. Mansfield wrote an article about the doctor in a German paper, which was the basis of the encounter and blows.

THE MARVEL HAS CLEAR OUTLINES.

In Other Medical Phenomena Time or Imagination May Have Assisted, but Neither Time Nor Imagination Ever Made the Deaf Hear—The Miracle Power of the Copeland Discovery Proven by the Achievement Which Has Shamed the Failure of the Ages and Rolled Away the Stone from the Tomb of Silence.

NO ROOM FOR DOUBT OR UNCERTAINTY.

The reason for the wonder over this avalanche of cures under the New Treatment, the reason that the attention of the whole world has been attracted by the marvel of results, is not difficult to define. There have been other medical Discoveries and other medical Phenomena, but none in the history of medicine to awaken so vast an interest. The phenomena of cures differ from all others in this respect; that the most startling occur in a field in which there is no room for doubt or uncertainty as to the cause, or question or hesitation as to the result. They occur in a field in which neither the imagination nor the nerves could contribute to the cure, and in which Time, the greatest of all healers, could have been no conditor to the work of the physician.

By no chance, by no accident, by no effect of faith has any case of Deafness ever been cured. Many physical ills are cured by Nature. Fifty per cent of those who are sick and take no medicine at all get well. Others who are sick go to mental healers or take Homoeopathic Remedies, and some of them are cured. But the deafness will do toward curing certain disorders. But there are disorders that Nature don't cure, that mental healers don't cure, that Homoeopathic Remedies don't cure. Deafness is one of them. In this field neither quackery nor chance has ever entered.

It was only by the work of the skillful physician that the lost hearing was ever restored, and even then up to a year ago the cases were so rare that they were remarkable even to the profession. Is it any wonder now that the sublime spectacle of thousands testifying to the return of their hearing through the magical influence of the New Treatment should not only awaken the attention of the whole world, but should maintain the interest of all scientists and of all physicians as the wonder grows and the number of those who testify that they were deaf and now hear increases?

DEAF FROM SCARLET FEVER.

G. J. Germond, 1252 Ponus street, New York City: "When I was three years old I had scarlet fever, and for six years I was totally deaf in my left ear. It discharged itself, but I suffered much from puffing, whistling noises in my head. The Copeland Physicians have completely restored my hearing. The discharge has stopped and the distressing noises have left me. I hear every word of conversation and understand with my left ear as well as with my right."

HEARING RESTORED AT 73.

William Kuisley, 10 Waverly place, New York City: "I am seventy-three years old. Fifteen years ago I became hard of hearing in my right ear and three years ago my ear became almost totally deaf. Since my treatment by the Copeland Physicians I can hear nearly as well with my right ear as with my left. I know that it is not remarkable for a man of 73 to be deaf, but I do think it very remarkable that a deaf man of 73 should have his hearing restored, as mine has been by the Copeland Physicians."

CURED OF TOTAL DEAFNESS.

M. J. Hoey, 252 North 2d street, Brooklyn: "About two years ago I became totally deaf in my left ear. I could not hear my watch tick. The Copeland Physicians treated me and I can now hear as well with my left as with my right ear."

DEAFNESS AND NOISES GONE.

J. B. Van Buskirk, Mariners' Harbor, Staten Island: "For over four years I was so deaf that I couldn't hear people talking to me in the same room. I went to the Copeland Physicians. The noises left my head and my hearing now is as good as it ever was."

LIFE-LONG DEAFNESS CURED.

John Gleason, 235 Centre Street, Trenton, New Jersey: "I had been deaf from birth. It was with great difficulty that I was taught to speak. I could not understand conversation, and could not hear even very loud sounds at a short distance. The Copeland Physicians have completely cured me. I hear as well as any one."

HIS HEARING NOW PERFECT.

Jacob Palmer, Dover, New Jersey: "For seventeen years I was deaf in both ears, and besides this affliction all the time there was a discharge from both my ears. I was told by medical experts that a person so far gone as I was could not be cured. I can hear better than I have been able to hear for seventeen years, and this, together with the disappearance of the discharge from my ears, makes me feel like a boy of fifteen years."

TOTALLY DEAF TWENTY YEARS.

Jacob Gemming, 528 East 10th street, New York City: "For twenty years I was totally deaf in my left ear and for two years my right ear was also deaf. I was told by medical experts that a person so far gone as I was could not be cured. I can hear better than I have been able to hear for seventeen years, and this, together with the disappearance of the discharge from my ears, makes me feel like a boy of fifteen years."

FATHER AND SON CURED.

Alfred Laemann, 198 Ferry street, Newark, New Jersey: "My son had been successfully treated for deafness by the Copeland Physicians, and when I found that I could not hear my watch tick with my left ear I went to them. My hearing has been completely restored."

HEARING RESTORED AND NOISES GONE.

Felix McManus, 237 Seventh Avenue, City, who is well known in hotel circles, was very deaf for a long time and suffered from noises in his head. In telling about his condition Mr. McManus said: "Nothing can be so annoying to a man as not to be able to hear what people say to him. It is exasperating to know some one is talking to you and not understand what they are saying, and it is just as exasperating to the person who has to repeat over and over again what he wants you to understand. That has been my unpleasant experience from being deaf."

SHE IS CURED OF BRONCHIAL CATARRH.

Mrs. George Glassing, Haverstraw, New York: "For more than a dozen years I was a terrible sufferer from the ravages of bronchial catarrh, and I coughed day and night all those years. Once for six weeks I could hardly get one hour's sleep in twenty-four. I was very sore through my breast from the cough. I could not lie down, because as soon as I did I would begin to cough. I coughed terribly. I went to some of the best known physicians in New York City, but all they were able to do for me was to give me temporary relief. "I lost flesh and strength with every day, and I kept getting thinner and weaker month after month. Then I lost my appetite and the senses of smell and taste left me. I had no desire for food, and what little I ate I could neither taste nor smell. My condition became so serious that I was very much worried, because I had my children to take care of, and oh that my cough was a daily reminder that I was getting worse. "But look at me now," said Mrs. Glassing, her face beaming. "I have gained flesh and I am six feet tall. That terrible cough is gone and I can sleep soundly. My appetite has come back and my senses of taste and smell have been restored to me. I took a course of treatment under the Copeland Physicians and followed their instructions faithfully. They furnished me the medicines and charged me very little. They have cured me, and to be cured of that awful disease is being presented with a priceless gift."

HEARING RESTORED AND NOISES GONE.

"My deafness came on suddenly and was accompanied by noises in my head that sounded like steam escaping from the safety valve of half a dozen locomotives. At times I was totally deaf in my left ear and could hear but little in my right ear. Then I could not understand what was said to me unless the person talking to me came close to me and talked in my right ear. "If I had not gone to the Copeland Physicians I would have been deaf yet, for they apparently are the only doctors who can cure deafness. I have heard from people who have been deaf and who have had their hearing restored by the Copeland Physicians. I was given a thorough course of treatment, but it cost very little. The restoration of my hearing was worth ten times to me what it cost to be cured of my deafness. "I can now hear at any distance in my left ear, which was very deaf, as well as in my right ear. I can hear what persons say to me now when they speak to me in a low voice, and I am delighted to be able to understand easily everything that is said. The noises in my head that bothered me so have entirely disappeared, too."

NOW I CAN HEAR AS WELL AS ANY ONE.

Edwin Brower, 248 East 21st street, New York City: "I was so hard of hearing that people would eggy to me: "What's the matter with you? Are you getting deaf?" "I would reply: 'No; not that I know of. While all the time I was deaf, but I didn't realize how deaf I was until somebody would tell me that they had asked me some question over and over again. You see, I was so deaf that I didn't know when a person was talking to me. When I saw that somebody was talking to me I was unable to tell whether they were shouting at me or speaking in an ordinary tone. The deafness made me stupid; that is, it made me slow of understanding. The deafness was a peculiar sensation to me. Sometimes it seemed as if my ears were entirely closed up and I would put my fingers into my ears in a vain attempt to open them to let in sound."

CURED OF EPILEPSY.

W. S. Saunders, 41 Charles street Park Ambury, New Jersey, suffered for three years from the effects of Epilepsy. Mr. Saunders said: "I first became a victim of Epilepsy in the Fall of 1893, and every three or four weeks I would be attacked by it. It distressed me. I had to give up my trade as a mechanic. I could not work. I heard of Copeland physicians and went to them. For the past seven months I have not had an attack or any of the symptoms of the disease. I have come strong and hearty, and am as well as ever I was in my life."

NOSE AND THROAT CURED.

Patrick Hannigan, 218 East 57th street, New York City: "My nose and throat would become so clogged that it was impossible to clear them. My breath was always foul and very offensive to any one near me. Now I am well and strong as when I was twenty, and can breathe freely through my nose and my son and other members of my family tell me that there is no more odor from my breath."

CURED OF ASTHMA.

George Pressner, 562 East 103rd street: "For years I suffered from Asthma. At times it was a terrible struggle for me to catch my breath. The choking sensation was awful. I cannot describe the suffering that I endured. I went to the Copeland Physicians hoping for a little relief. They have made it possible for me to sleep at night and I have more choking sensations. I breathe freely and feel to-day a perfectly well man."

COULD HARDLY BREATHE.

Christina Weter, 204 Clifton place, Brooklyn: "I had catarrh of the nose and throat for years. At times my nose would be so completely stopped up that I could not breathe through it. There was tightness and dull pain almost all the time across the bridge of my nose and over the eyes. My throat was at times dry and husky. My sleep was disturbed and my appetite was very uncertain. I went to the Copeland Physicians and took their treatment, carefully following their instructions. I am now entirely cured."

CURED OF NERVOUS DISEASE.

John O. Wentworth, 904 Eighth Avenue, New York City: "I was a great sufferer from a diseased stomach for twelve years. I was weak and dizzy and nervous, and I suffered from headaches. I feel that my duty state for the benefit of other sufferers is due to the treatment of the Copeland Physicians that I was restored to health. They worked on the brain and the nerves and the weakness and the headaches are all gone. The nervousness has left me, and my stomach is again strong and can retain its food."
