

Roger Babson, the commercial expert and economist, gains health and wealth by doing his work in an open air office in the Wellesley Hills, Mass. Note the "fingers" used by the typists.
© International News Service.

The universal gown for all occasions. With the lower panels removed as here shown it is a house or lounge costume.
© International News Service.

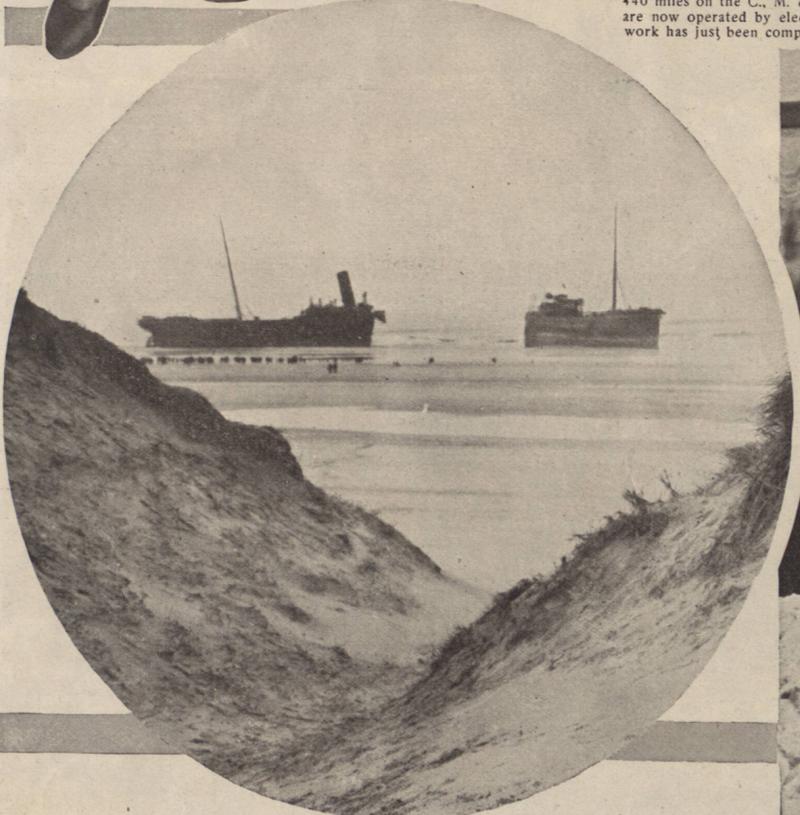

The Universal Gown, full panelled for formal or semi-formal occasions; pantallettes in seclusion.
© International News Service.

440 miles on the C., M. & St. P. Railroad, traversing part of the Rocky, Belt and Bitter Root Mountains, are now operated by electricity. It is called the largest piece of railroad electrification in the world. The work has just been completed at a cost of $20,000,000.
© International News Service.

A new method of snow disposal tested at the Plaza Hotel, New York. The snow is shovelled into a steam box; there it becomes water and runs into a sewer.
© Underwood & Underwood.

This remarkable photograph shows the British steamship Socotra, broken in two, after going ashore on the English coast. At low water sightseers walk alongside.
© International News Service.

