Some of the French soldiers who are now tr ying to stem the German advance at Verdun. They are enjoying an hour of relaxation in an inn near the lines.

The Eyes of the World Are Centered on the Soldiers of France at Verdun.

Exclusive photographs taken by official French army photographers. Published by special arrangement with the Minister of War.

French soldiers holding service in one of the few churches left undemolished in the Argonne district.

A branch of a French trench running through a farm. Similar trenches form part of the defenses about Verdun.

Some of the Chasseurs d'Afrique at their morning toilet.