Scenes Near The Verdun Fighting Line Where the German Host Still Presses.

A hospital section of the French army on skiis in the Vosges transporting the wounded by sled.

The interior of a church in Bethincourt, in the Meuse district, shattered by bombardment.

Refugees from the Verdun region arriving at a village in the rear of the fighting line.

The dog sentinel watches for the foe with his human comrade.