

Theda Bara regards this as one of her best photographs. She can't get away, though, from the vampire look which thrills William Fox photo play audiences.

Pauline Frederick as a Spanish dancer in the Famous Players Film Company's forthcoming production, "The World's Great Snare."

Valeska Suratt is going to have some more of those gowns that make womankind gasp, in a new William Fox photo play scheduled for August.

Seen Through The Screen Door

Here's the erstwhile El Capitan and Dr. Syntax, otherwise known as De Wolf Hopper, as he looks in the Triangle Hollywood studio.

Frank Daniels as Kernel Nutt in a Vitagraph photo play is still a "Wizard of the Nile."

Isn't it pleasant to be a movie actor? This is merely a rehearsal of an automobile wreck in the Morosco photo play, "The American Beauty," starring Myrtle Stedman.

Dorothy Kelly, who twinkles for Vitagraph playgoers, irrespective of rain or shine.

Billie Burke and Henry Kolker in George Kleine's production of "Gloria's Romance."