

PART VI.
NEW YORK TRIBUNE

The Tribune Graphic

SECTION ONE

SUNDAY
JULY 9, 1916

The "Philoctetes" of Sophocles, played at Amherst. The performance was given in the open air theatre on Pratt Field. The translation used was that of Professor Smith of the Greek department. Some of the choral songs were arranged from the "Iphigenia" music of Charles Wood, and others were originally composed by L. M. Knapp, '16, and E. B. Greene, '18; the singing was coached by Professor Bigelow, and the acting by Professors Smith, Whicher, and Young.

Charles E. Hughes parading with the members of his class during the Commencement exercises at Brown University at Providence, R. I., on June 21.

U. S. Senator Lodge and Major General Leonard Wood, U. S. A., at the Princeton Commencement.

Photo by Paul Thompson.

One thousand and eighty students stood up to receive their degrees at the Fifty-third Commencement exercises of the University of California in the Greek Theatre at Berkeley. President Benjamin Ide Wheeler delivered the address to the graduating class. Behind him sat Hiram W. Johnson, Governor of California, who conferred the military commissions on the University Cadets.

The Academic Procession at Princeton's Commencement.
Photo by Paul Thompson.

The Yale Battery showed its efficiency to the delight of thousands of alumni and students during Commencement week, but it didn't know that the call for active service was coming so soon.

Preparedness in military as well as mental training was one of the high notes of the Yale 1916 Commencement. Here is the Class of 1906 Sheff in the alumni parade on Class Day, wearing khaki and steel helmets. Photo by Paul Thompson.