

THE GERMAN SUBMARINE THAT CROSSED THE ATLANTIC—The Deutschland, with $1,000,000 of dyestuffs from Bremen, reached Baltimore on July 10. She covered 3,800 miles. She is 315 feet long. Her armament consisted of four revolvers.

© Underwood & Underwood

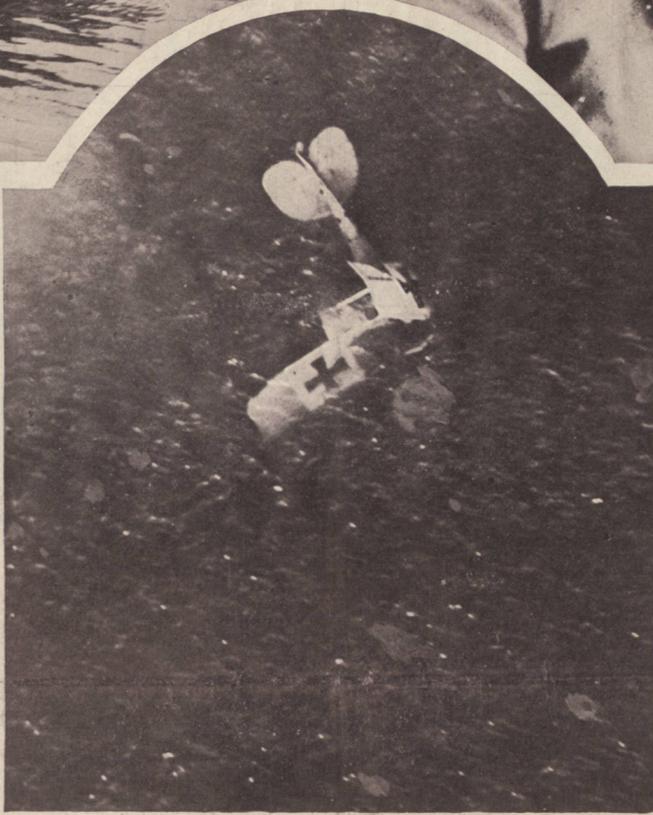

Captain Koenig of the German submarine Deutschland and Paul Hilken, of Baltimore, Baltimore agent of the North German Lloyd. Both predict that the Deutschland is the first of a fleet of German submarines that will break the blockade of the Allies.

© Underwood & Underwood

Society Worships the Dog at Southampton, L. I.—The real Dog Show of the year, so far as Society is concerned, is the Southampton show, held each July. Here are Virginia Thaw and Ginger—each worships the other. Photo by Kellar & White.

GERMAN BATTLEPLANE AFTER DEATH SHOT FROM BELGIAN BIPLANE—The German aviatik is the one which tried to bombard at La Ranne the home of the King and Queen of Belgium. The photograph shows it falling to the sea after being wrecked by Belgian bullets.

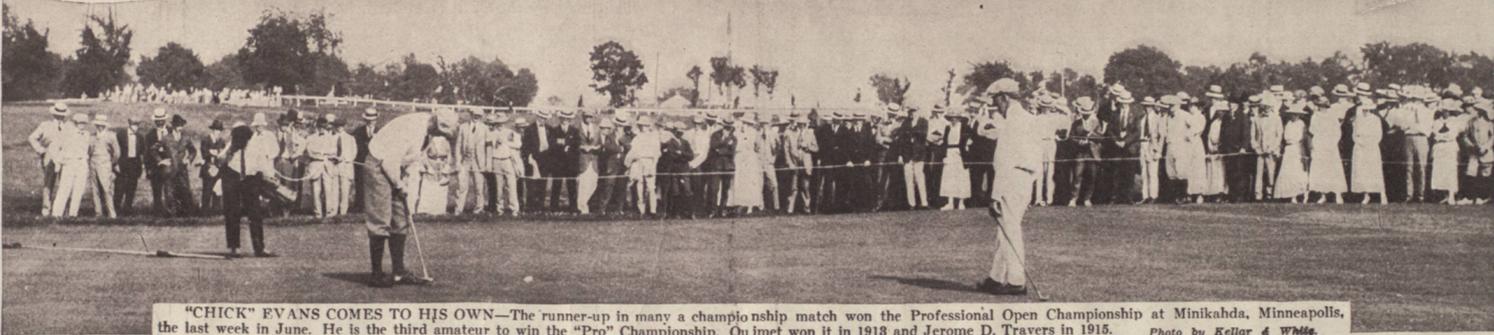

© Underwood & Underwood

Gladys Olcott, daughter of Mrs. Dudley Olcott, and her West Highland Terrier at the Southampton Dog Show. Hard job for the judges, either of Beauty or the Beast.

© American Press Association

CANDIDATE CHARLES E. HUGHES MEETS THE LADIES—At the summer home of Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, Roslyn, L. I., when Charles E. Hughes met the Women's National Convention Hughes Alliance. Front row, left to right, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Willcox, Mr. and Mrs. Hughes; Back row, Mrs. Nelson O'Shaughnessy, Mrs. C. E. Rumsey and Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney.

"CHICK" EVANS COMES TO HIS OWN—The runner-up in many a championship match won the Professional Open Championship at Minikahda, Minneapolis, the last week in June. He is the third amateur to win the "Pro" Championship. Ouimet won it in 1918 and Jerome D. Travers in 1915. Photo by Kellar & White.

RUE CHEVERT, VERDUN—This picture typifies the aspect of any of the villages taken by the French and English in the Battle of the Somme. As soon as a village is reduced to ruins and captured its streets are cleared for the next advance.

© Underwood & Underwood

