

Mary Pickford Picks a Peck of Pickled Peppers That Peter Piper Planted.

©Ira L. Hill Studio

Starting for the pepper field.

In the carpenter shop preparing fuel for Philadelphia Pepperpot.

Watching the peppers grow and listening to the early morning twitterings of the little peppers.

Registering irony in

"The Scorched Skirt."

The clothespin line in a new combination of thrill and pathos entitled "The Week's Wash."

The calf is not expected to till the pail. But the pail is expected to till the calf, mother having tilled a vacancy in a restaurant.

"Here Comes the Bride?" Not at all. It portrays the way Chicago University students recently entertained Mary Pickford at a reception.