

"WHEN THE HURLYBURLY'S DONE, WHEN THE BATTLE'S LOST AND WON"

Music hath charms to soothe the Serbian breast. A native at work on his bagpipes.

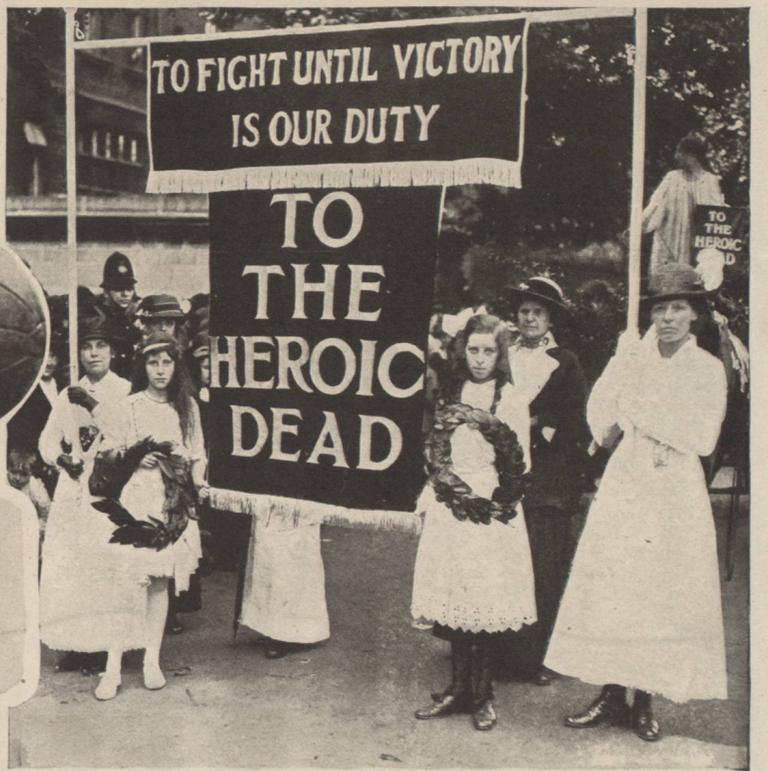

The man with the gun at the top of the world. An Anzac sentry on the Western front.

Alfieri Picture Service.

A football match with death. Private Draper, of the East Surrey Regiment, holding the ball he dribbled in the charge on the German trenches

Photo from Janet M. Cummings.

London mourns her war's dead. A banner in the women's war procession.

Photo Underwood & Underwood.

A wilderness in the Somme. Happy families once tilled the soil now ploughed by shrapnel,

Photo Paul Thompson.

What is left of Trones Wood—an official photograph from the West front.

Alfieri Picture Service.