

WHAT BECOMES OF THE ORPHANS OF THE WAR?

Puch Photo News, Inc.

THESE FLEMISH GIRLS, whose fathers have been killed in battle, are cared for by charitable organizations in Versailles.

MANY BELGIAN ORPHANS are comfortably housed in Brussels. It is soup time in this picture, and there are plenty of Oliver Twists to ask for more.

ORPHAN GIRLS FROM Poperinghe are indulged with the luxury of dolls.

CHILDREN OF GERMAN soldier dead are sometimes sent to Holland. The photograph shows the arrival of a train load from Berlin.

KNITTING IS TAUGHT at Versailles to orphan children from the war-desolated villages of Belgium. They are keen pupils.

GERMANY GOES AT IT scientifically. The head nurse in a Berlin hospital is giving instructions for the proper care of orphan babies.