

Some of the Women Who Will Ride and Drive in the National Horse Show, Which Opens Saturday

Mrs. Walter H. Hanley, one of this country's most expert woman riders, will drive and ride her husband's harness and saddle entries at Madison Square Garden. This picture is said to exemplify absolutely correct form in the saddle. © Underwood & Underwood.

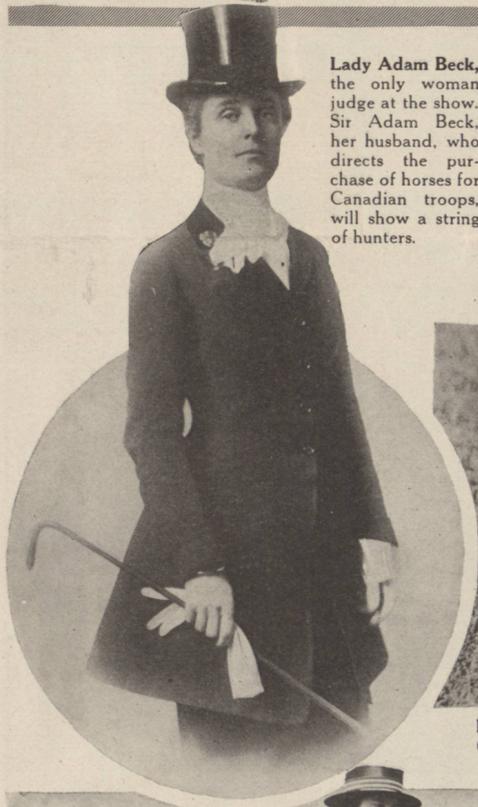

Miss Constance Vauclain, daughter of S. M. Vauclain, of Philadelphia, one of the largest exhibitors of saddle horses and ponies. Miss Vauclain drives and rides her own show entries.

Lady Victoria Brady, daughter of the Earl of Limerick, with her champion hunter, Kilkee. Kilkee won more championships in the summer shows than any other hunter.

Lady Adam Beck, the only woman judge at the show. Sir Adam Beck, her husband, who directs the purchase of horses for Canadian troops, will show a string of hunters.

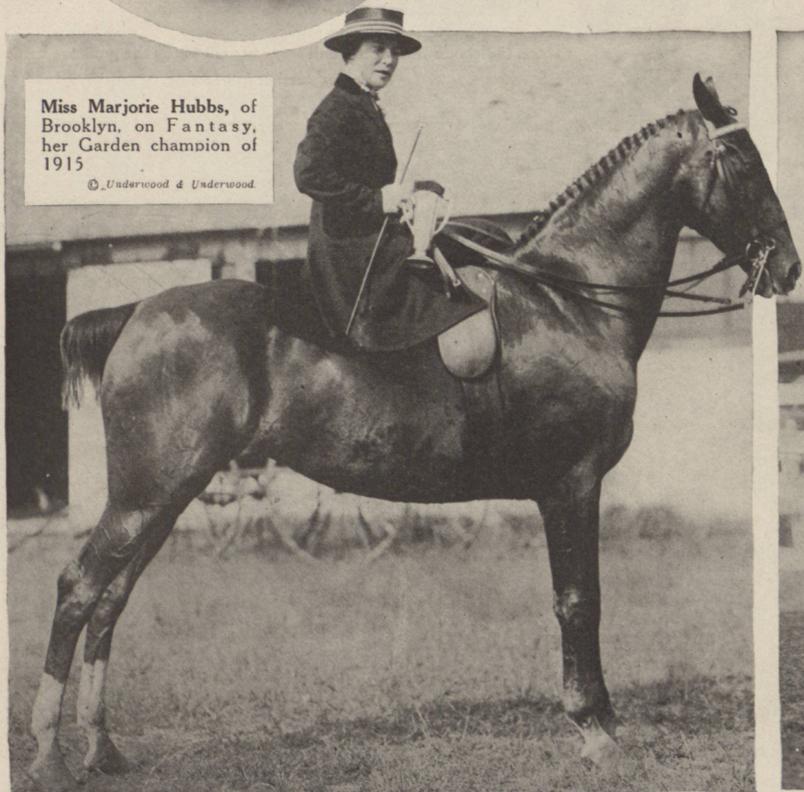

Mrs. Robert Guggenheim, daughter-in-law of Daniel Guggenheim, and her crack hunter, Golden Knut. Mrs. Guggenheim is among the best of the women riders. © Underwood & Underwood.

Miss Muriel Wiggin, daughter of A. H. Wiggin, president of the Chase National Bank. She has imported an English hackney pony to exhibit at the Garden.

Miss Marjorie Hubbs, of Brooklyn, on Fantasy, her Garden champion of 1915. © Underwood & Underwood.

Miss Isabella Wanamaker, daughter of William H. Wanamaker, of Philadelphia, driving her champion pair, Eve and Suave. The horses were once a country team of "long-tails."

