

Courtyard, by Earll Horter.

The Old Curiosity Shop, Nantucket, by Earll Horter.

AMERICAN ETCHERS ARE COMING INTO THEIR OWN AS A NATIONAL GROUP. AN EXHIBITION OF THEIR WORK WILL BE ON VIEW, UNDER THE AUSPICES OF THE BROOKLYN SOCIETY OF ETCHERS, AT THE BROOKLYN MUSEUM, BEGINNING TUESDAY.

Greeley Photo Service

Two Tails That Twine as One, by Will Simmons.

St. Etienne du Mont, by Thomas Condon.

The Wandering Jew, by Eugene Higgins.

The Governing Board of the Pan-American Union at its first winter meeting in Washington, November 1. Beginning with Secretary of State Robert Lansing, chairman ex officio, who sits at the head of the table, the eight persons seated or standing on the left of the table are, in order, as follows: Romulo S. Naon, Ambassador of Argentina; Carlos M. de Pena, Minister of Uruguay; John Barrett, Director General of the Pan-American Union; Solon Menos, Minister of Haiti; Santos A. Domínguez, Minister of Venezuela; M. de Freyre y Santander, Chargé d'Affaires of Peru; Gustavo Munizaga Varela, Chargé d'Affaires of Chile; and Francisco J. Yanes, Assistant Director of the Pan-American Union. Beginning with the Brazilian Ambassador, Domício da Gama, who is seated on the right of Secretary Lansing, the eight on the right hand side of the table are, in order, as follows: Ignacio Calderón, Minister of Bolivia; Joaquín Méndez, Minister of Guatemala; Alberto Membreño, Minister of Honduras; Gonzalo S. Cordova, Minister of Ecuador; C. M. de Cespedes, Minister of Cuba; Rafael Zaldivar, Minister of Salvador; Joaquín Cuadra Zavaala, Chargé d'Affaires of Nicaragua, and J. E. Lefevre, Chargé d'Affaires of Panama.

The Youngest Senator-Elect is Josiah O. Walcott, of Delaware, photographed here with his law partner, Josiah Marvel, who managed his campaign. Mr. Walcott (on the left) is just thirty-nine years old.

Press-Illustrating Service