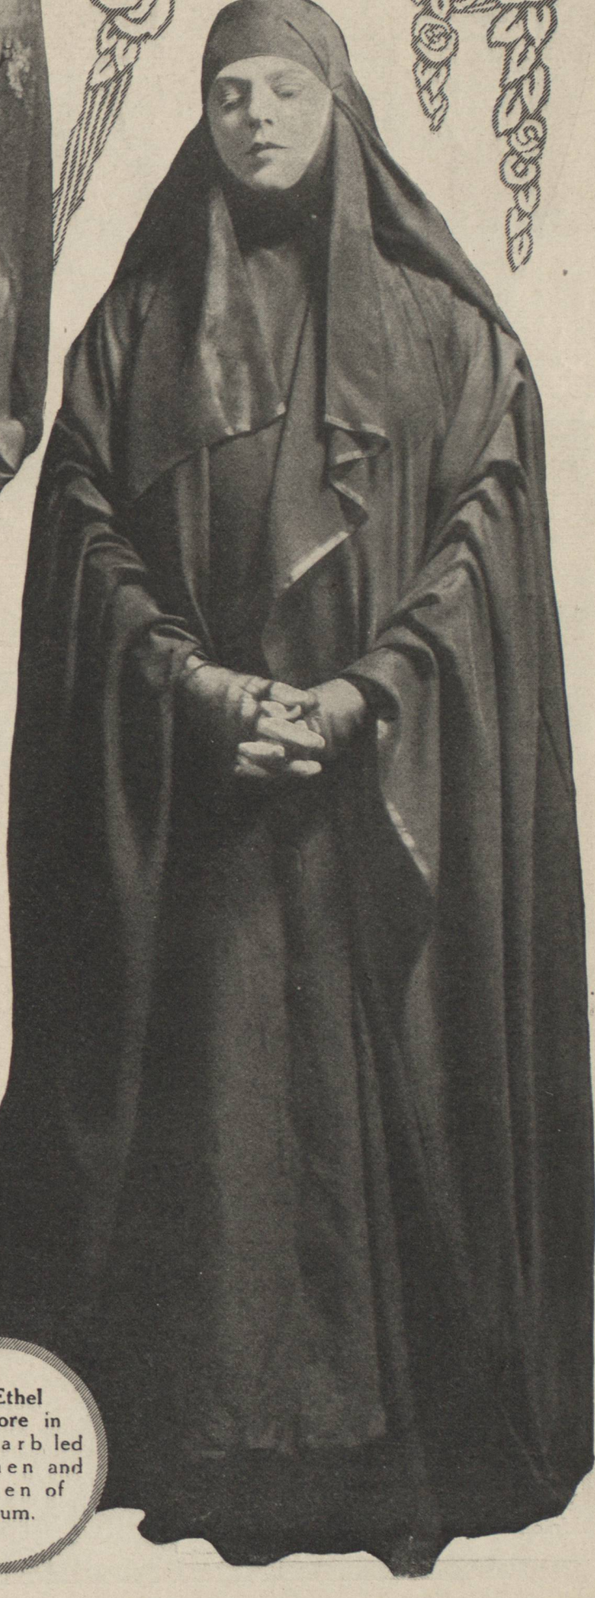
A Glittering Miniature of an East Indian Festival Was the Ten Allies Ball, Which Netted Close to $50,000 for War Charities

Photos by Pach Bros., © Pach Photo News

The Misses Mathilda and Lilly Liebert, daughters of the French Consul in New York.

Lady Alexander Colebrook as Britannia and John Moffat as an Indian prince.

Miss Olive Oliver, in the garb of Saint Genevieve, patron saint of Paris. Miss Oliver won the automobile offered for the best costume.



Miss Kathryn Bache, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jules Bache, in costume a la Bakst.

Miss Margaret Mayo danced in a gypsy costume of white satin and gilt.

Mme. Alla Nazimova in the costume in which she led the Russian section.

Miss Helen Reeves and Maurice Roche, Miss Reeves as a Red Cross nurse.

Miss Ethel Barrymore in sombre garb led the women and children of Belgium.