

AMONG US MORTALS

DRAWN BY W. E. HILL

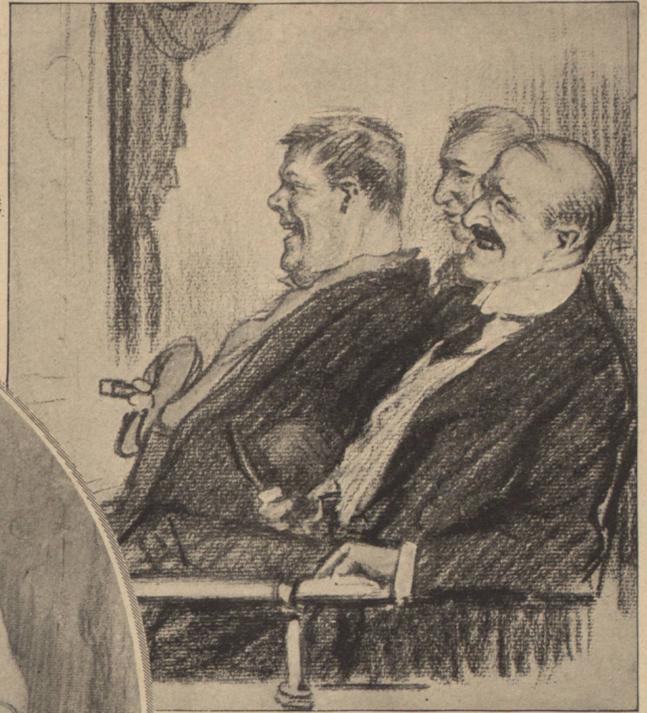

THE BURLESQUE SHOW

Lilly Romaine, soubrette, on the programme as "The Little Bombshell of Joy," living up to her reputation.

High society on the burlesque circuit—showing Mrs. Van Alstyne Nicklebocker dining with the Duke of Flub Dub on the lawn of her villa at Newport. The Duke has just interpolated a shady joke.

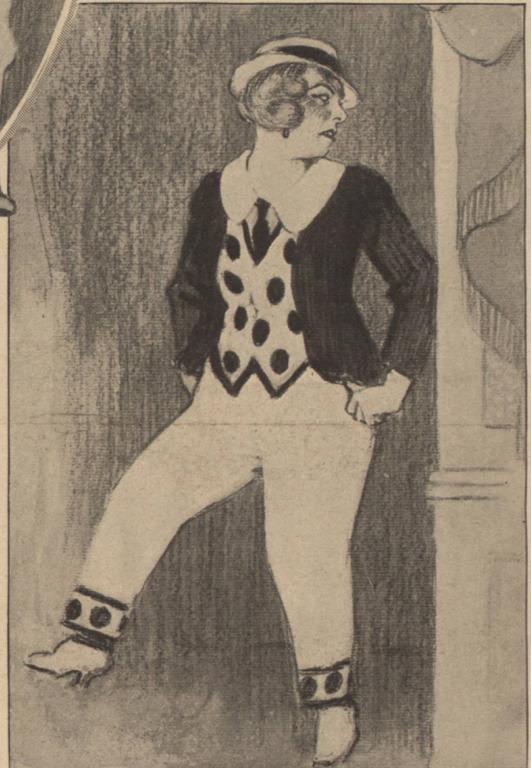

Neither the iceman nor the barber had heard that one before.

La Belle Emelineta, the special attraction of the olio.

"Gee—I'd hate to pull that old gag in my act!" Song and dance team from another show.

Chorus lady, who can bawl out a stage hand in the wings without getting out of step.

The extra verses of the topical song begin to grow racy.

Three of the chorus ladies in the baseball number.

Jimmy, who hasn't the price of a ticket, watching anxiously for a return check during the intermission.

The wife of the man who owns the show as Columbia in the big patriotic finale.
