THE PATRIOTIC PARADE

Delegate from the Pocahontas Chapter of the Daughters of Daniel Boone, a little the worse for the heat.

Effect of just one more flag on the man who has been saluting it every time it passed in the parade.

The suspicious Mr. Homans is too busy watching for pick-pockets to enjoy the procession.

Mr. Adolph Hassenfeldt is not taking any chances, and now goes everywhere under Allied colors.

"Look, Royal, look! See Papal! See Papal!"

The delegation from the Ironmongers' Union shows a markedly individualistic idea of correct military order.

"When we saw Joffray we stood as near to him as I am to you—and he bowed right to me!"

The veteran of '61.
