

Once again the Liberty Bell is sounded, as Mayor Smith, of Philadelphia, strikes it with a silver hammer, for the Liberty Loan. To the left is seen the horn of a phonograph recording the historic voice of the bell. Photo © International Film Service.

All branches of America's fighting forces turned out last week to parade for recruits. Here is a view of infantry passing the landship Recruit, at Union Square. Photo Kadel & Herbert.

Cadets from West Point in camp, where their training is being rushed to graduate the next class in August, nearly a year ahead of time. Photo © Underwood & Underwood.

The Manchuria, sinking stern first in New York Bay, after a crash in the fog with the U. S. Monitor Amphitrite. Photo © International Film Service.

Above, young marchers in the Flag Day parade held by the West One Hundred and Thirtieth Street Neighborhood Association. Photo © International Film Service.

To the right, Old Glory being carried in the parade in Brooklyn, with its honor guard of seven daughters of the borough. Photo Central News Service.

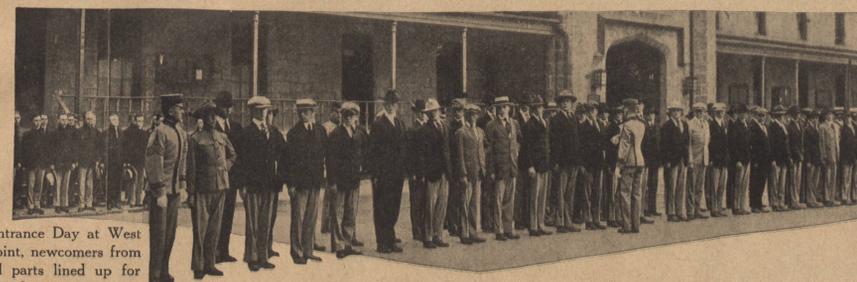

Above, girls from the Queens County Red Cross, who have volunteered to make bandages at the Y. M. C. A. Photo Press Illustrating Service.

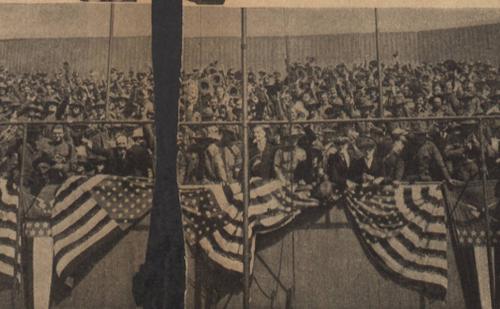

To the left, above, a drink of water behind the lines from a novel drinking cup—a discarded shell case. Photo © International Film Service.

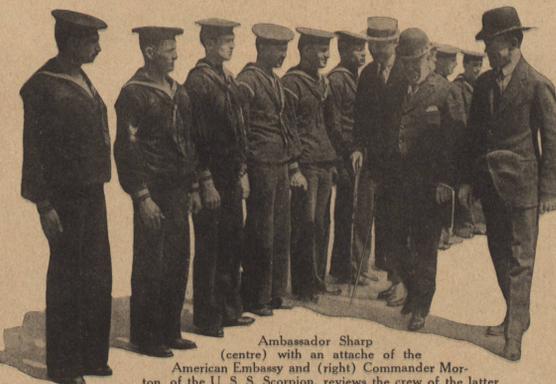

School children of Brooklyn exhibiting some of the produce raised by them at the Betsy Head Farm Gardens, at the general inspection of the city's food gardens last week. Photo © American Press Association.

Entrance Day at West Point, newcomers from all parts lined up for their first inspection. Photo © International Film Service.

Members of the 1st Regiment of Engineers, soon to sail for France, fill the bleachers at the Polo Grounds at a benefit ball game between St. Louis and the Yankees. Photo © International Film Service.

Ambassador Sharp (centre) with an attaché of the American Embassy and (right) Commander Morton, of the U. S. S. Scorpion, reviews the crew of the latter when it reaches Paris from Constantinople. Photo © International Film Service.

To the left, cleaning house aboard the battleship Recruit. The land-going mascot shares in the excitement of being photographed. Photo Central News Service.

Miss Helen Gil-leaudeau, who has been attracting much admiration at the Crescent Club tennis matches because of an extra fine game. Photo International Film Service.