

British wounded on Menin Road waiting to be taken to the dressing station after a recent hard-won victory. All roads leading from the battlefield were equally littered with human wreckage. Western Newspaper Union.

Right—The stern of the UC-5—now the "U-Buy-a-Bond"—on exhibition in Central Park for the Liberty Loan campaign. Paul Thompson.

Right—Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the U. S. Food Administrator, who recently came to New York to plead the cause of food conservation in behalf of suffering Belgian mothers now facing a winter of starvation for themselves and their children. Paul Thompson.

Toronto's greatest military wedding since the war. Miss Margaret Eaton Burden becomes the bride of Canada's hero-aviator, Major William Bishop, V. C., D. S. O., who has won many military decorations for his brave flights in France. Gilliams Service.

The high, knife-like cut-water of one of Uncle Sam's destroyers—most successful arm of the navy in ferreting out and running down German U-boats. Burnell Poole.
