

Otto H. Kahn's daughter, Miss Maud Kahn, bought an automobile and offered it and her services to the British government. She is now in active service as dispatch bearer. Bain News.

When the President of China motors every mile of the road traversed is lined by Chinese soldiers. Underwood.

Congressman C. B. Miller, of Minnesota, member of the Foreign Affairs Committee, stops to chat with American jacksies on the steps of the Y. M. C. A.'s "Eagle Hut," in the Strand, London. Central News.

The four survivors of Russia's original regiment of 200 women, popularly known as the Battalion of Death. N. C. Travis.

Striking action picture of Indiana University's star punter, Hess. Central News.

BABIES
400,000 NOW STARVING
THEY WERE LIKE US BEFORE
WILL YOU LET THEM DIE?

Some of the Armenian children who marched through New York last week in the campaign to raise funds for Armenia's destitute. Underwood.

Somewhere on the Adriatic—these Italian marines have landed to unveil a simple but striking monument to their fallen comrades. An Italian torpedo boat stands by, while further out are other Italian war vessels. Central News.

Two big loaves and a biscuit—a trio of Camp Devens's good bakers. The National Army "dough" boy on the left is six feet three, as against the five feet two of his side partner. Int. Film.