

New Zealand troops on their way to the firing line. Underwood & Underwood.

The New Zealand commander on a tour of inspection of the men's billets of a Canterbury regiment. Underwood & Underwood.

New Zealand soldiers making tea in a German dug-out. Underwood & Underwood.

New Zealand engineers resting in a shell hole. Underwood & Underwood.

English engineers clearing out wells in Palestine which the Turks dynamited and filled up with large stones. British Official, Underwood & Underwood.

What the Piave really looks like—A view across the river at the enemy's position. British Official, Underwood & Underwood.

Bridging a shell hole in Palestine to enable supplies to be brought forward quickly. The severe fighting here completely demolished a little village. International Film.