

War in general may be hell, but these boys at the Pelham Bay Training School are having the time of their life.

Paul Thompson.

A milk partnership of three in Salonica.

Underwood & Underwood.

A road just behind the lines. French troops (on the left) are coming down, while British troops (on the right) are moving up.

French and British artillery observers directing the fire, and batteries.

Press Illustrating.