

The Parade of Society and the Fashions in the Avenue

Mrs. James Gordon Douglas, known also in Newport and Boston, on a shopping tour.

Miss Violet King (left) and a friend take the air on a sunny day.

Mrs. Angier Duke, Yended against the cold.

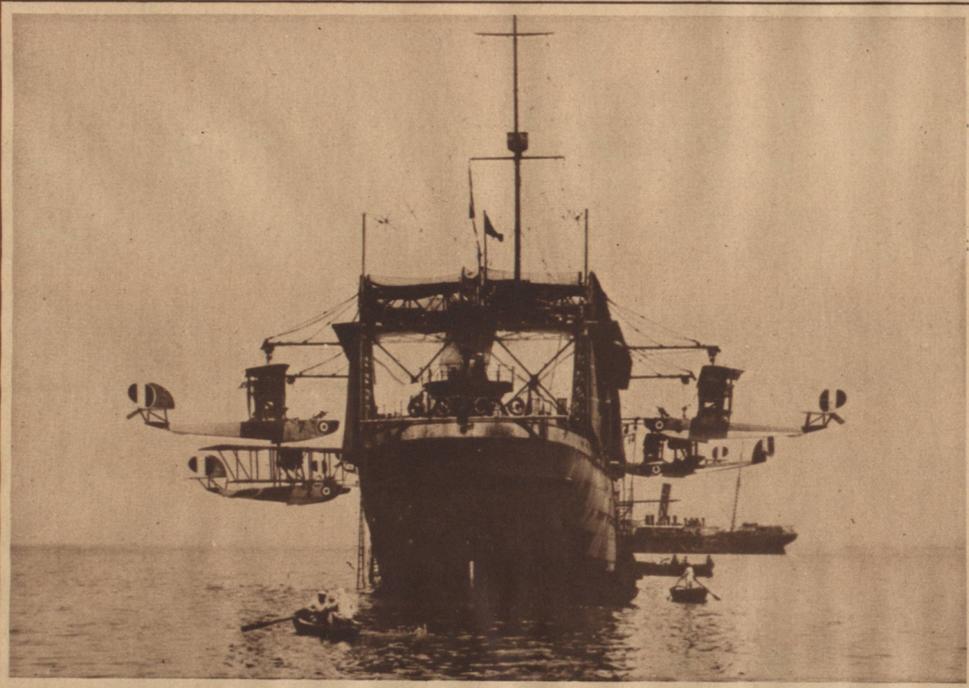

Mrs. Robert Brewster believes in early Christmas shopping.

Miss Genevieve Clendenin and Miss Violet Tiffany.

Miss Audrey Hoffman

(Left) The newest thing in warships—a mother craft of hydroplanes, with a few of them hung out to dry. Six of them may be stowed aboard this floating dove-cote. Gilliams Service.

(Right) The famous representations of rivers in the Tuileries Gardens, Paris, appropriately defended against Hun air raids with a studding of captured German helmets. French Official Press Illustrating.

An inspiring vista. Down the Champs Elysées, Paris, route of the German army of occupation in 1871, now lined with their lost guns, trophies of Marshal Foch's armies of righteous vengeance. Press Illustrating