

A creation in which moleskin figures prominently

You can't get away from it—the French know how!

Winter Togs on the Champs Elysees

Photos by Mounnutt.

A wrap provided with interesting splashes of monkey fur.

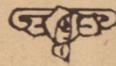

Elegance and a great deal of quiet charm make this costume a success.

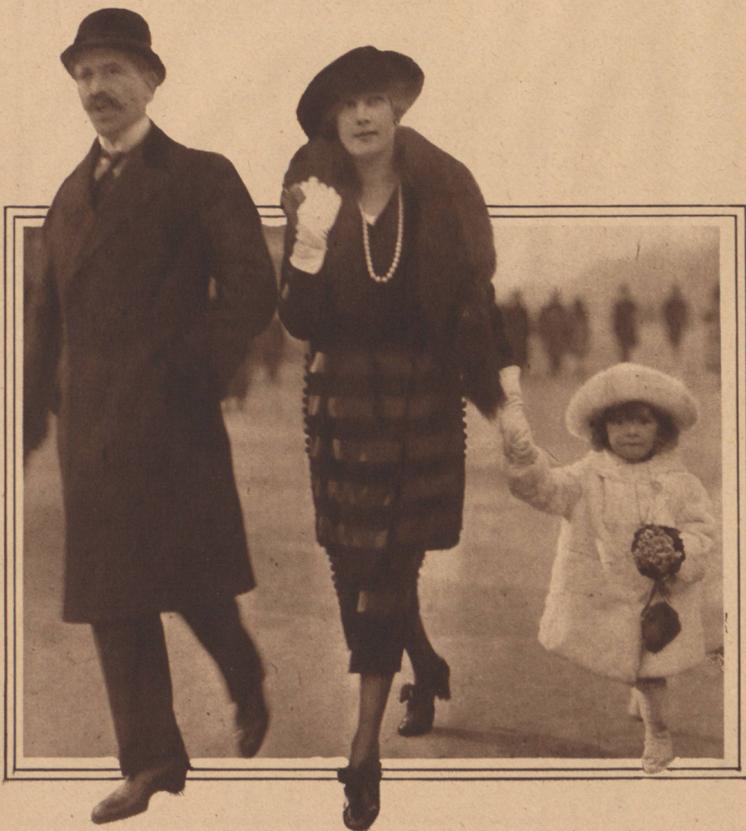

This hat combines brown satin and straw in a simple yet not severe fashion.
Photo Underwood & Underwood.

After all, furs aren't the exclusive property of the good old summertime. At this season of the year they combine with effectiveness the rather estimable quality of usefulness.

Here we encounter more of the popular monkey fur, employed generously but with much cleverness.

An unusual and stunning frock, vigorous and individual. The kiddie is all snug in white fur, and the violets are the kind you get in Paris and nowhere else on earth.
Photo Underwood & Underwood.

A saucy little hat, full of pep and bold, broken lines.

A rich arrangement of velvet and fur—just the thing for all sorts of occasions.
Photo Underwood & Underwood.

