

In the picture above we see the German horde retreating across the Rhine near Bonn, slowly, laboriously, with dragging spirits. And below the same defeated troops entering Berlin through the famous Brandenburg Gate. Hardly a triumphant entry, despite the curious banner, which reads, "Peace With Freedom." They are returning home to a city rocking with revolution. Photos by Mouskault.

