

Last week Saturday saw a parade of New York's Very Own, when some 8,000 policemen and policewomen marched up Fifth Avenue. The service flag squad carries the proud record of the number of the department's soldier sons. Paul Thompson.

Right—General Pershing attends the international rowing race in Paris—at which Uncle Sam's nephews are second to cross the line—and is interviewed by a woman journalist. Central News.

Lady Baden-Powell, Sir Robert Baden-Powell, founder of the Boy Scout movement throughout the world, with Mr. Daniel C. Beard (in row above) and Mr. and Mrs. William G. McAdoo at the great meeting held last week in Madison Square Garden by the Boy Scouts of America. June 8 will usher in a campaign for 1,000,000 associate adult members for the national Boy Scout organization. International Film Service.

Vinson McLean, "America's richest boy." Surrounded from infancy with every safeguard, by some tragic chance the nine-year-old heir to the McLean-Walsh millions was killed by an automobile last Sunday in Washington. Underwood & Underwood.

Left—Miss Helen Colley, "Y" entertainer, and member of the "Over There" Theatre League, shares with her German dispatch dog the warmth of her souvenir shawl decorated with the insignia of the divisions she helped entertain. Western Newspaper Union.

The royal reviewing stand at the great London parade of troops from Britain's overseas provinces. Among those in the reviewing party easily identified are the King, the Queen, Queen Alexandra, Duke of Connaught, Sir Julian Byng, Sir Henry Rawlinson, Sir C. H. Harrington, Mr. Winston Churchill, Sir Douglas Haig and Sir H. Plumer. Central News.

The chiefs of the new Republic of Poland drive through the streets of Warsaw—General Pilsudski, first President, and Ignace Paderewski, beloved Prime Minister. Underwood & Underwood.

Right—Mrs. J. Borden Harriman opens the Salvation Army's $13,000,000 "Dough for Doughnuts" drive on the steps of the Sub-Treasury, eating one of the famous doughnuts to the hole. Paul Thompson.

A charming informal picture of England's Queen, with Princess Mary, driving through the flag-bedecked streets of Windsor at the celebration of St. George's Day. Central News.

To protect the delegates against annoyance from the curious or from possible molestation, the headquarters of the German delegation at Versailles are surrounded by a palisade seven feet high. Underwood & Underwood.

Mrs. Clark, Champ Clark himself, erstwhile and longtime Speaker of the House, with their soldier son, Lieutenant Colonel Bennett Clark. Paul Thompson.