

Mr. Thomas Nelson Page, U. S. Ambassador to Italy, drives through the streets of Rome in the royal tonneau with King Victor Emanuel. Mr. Page's genial Southern hospitality and courtesy have endeared him not only to his own countrymen in Rome, but to the Italian people as well.

The A. E. F.'s net stars, Captains Watson Washburn and Dean Mathey, with the famous Kolsch twins from Czechoslovakia. After defeating the twins in the semi-finals at the Inter-Allied Championship in Paris, the American duo lost the finals to the pair from Australia.

Mr. D. M. Linnard, President of the California Hotel Company, is pleased to announce that Edward S. La Bart, Eddie Mayer and John Russell—all associated with Wilson & Company, Chicago, in important positions—had heard of the good food served at the Belleclaire and decided to test it, especially as they themselves are vitally interested in the production of pure foods.

Their verdict concerning Belleclaire food and service is very favorable. They told me very frankly that they had never been served with better meals. I appreciate their complimentary remarks very much, because I know that these men know good food and when it is properly cooked.

One of their number—Mr. La Bart—took with him to Chicago a package of Belleclaire COFFEE CAKES which he says are the best he ever ate. Thus it is that the Belleclaire wins friends by serving good food cooked in a way that everybody accustomed to good eating gladly recommends to their friends.

The Belleclaire Golf and Country Club—the other member of the Belleclaire family—serves similar good meals at its club house at Bayside, Long Island.
