

Courtesy of Macbeth Galleries

Afternoon Tea

by Richard E. Miller

Five o'clock tea in the garden on a drowsy summer's afternoon, the fair participants in their quaint gowns against a background of a richly colored Japanese parasol—most refreshing to the eyes of the weary city dweller is the quiet charm of Mr. Miller's delightful picture.

AMERICAN LITHOGRAPHIC CO., N.Y.