

POETESS CHANGES GREAT COURAGE.

Mr. Laimbeer's Filly Wins the Alabama Stakes from a Big Field at Saratoga.

JOCKEYS ARE DISCIPLINED.

But Taral Goes Scot Free, Although He Might Have Ridden Barracane Out.

TRACK POOR; ATTENDANCE GOOD

More Prominent People Present Than Have Been Seen for Many a Day, and Possible "Old Times" May Be Revived.

By Francis Travelsyan.

Saratoga, Aug. 5.—The rain that began to fall just before yesterday's steeplechase held on till early morning, and left the track in a condition that went far to spoil what would have been the best all-around day's sport since the meeting opened. The scratches were much fewer, however, than might have been expected, and a big field was left in for the Alabama Stakes for three-year-old fillies and the second of the maiden filly races. The former was a good race from every standpoint, and resulted in a very popular victory for Mr. Laimbeer's Poetess, who won the race in a manner that was soul-inspiring. The other stake, which was nearly so satisfactory, as Taral, who was riding the even-money favorite Barracane, got the worst of the start the filly bolting, and did not attempt to ride out. Even at that, Taral was scarcely justified in what he did, though beyond question he had very much the worst of the start. However, he has won innumerable races when getting off as badly as Barracane.

The attendance was fully up to the high standard that has been set, and included more representative society people and men occupying a high position in the turf world than have been seen at Saratoga in many a day. Mr. Harry K. Taylor was the prominent member of the Jockey Club, who was saying today that this, his first visit to Saratoga, is a pleasant surprise to him, and that in general he has been in particular being so pretty. He is in favor of giving the association three weeks' open dates at midsummer, believing that an increase in racing around New York is desirable. Besides Mr. Knapp, there were present at the track today R. T. Wilson, John G. Heckscher, T. Patterson, H. Hendle, Joseph E. Seagram and his son, Robert Cutting, George Henry Wheeler, president of the Washington Park Club, of Chicago, W. C. Blaxson and W. L. Lusk. It looks as if Saratoga is experiencing some social as well as sporting boom. The fact that Mr. Belmont is bringing his family with him next week is much appreciated here, and there is a further hope that old days will be revived.

Poetess's Superb Charge.

The absence in the Alabama Stakes were Cleophas, Lela Cuckoo and Courtship. Partridge was added, leaving a field of seven. Sunny Slope was made favorite, but there was no time to choose in a race between her and Royal Rose and Poetess. Everything in the field was backed, the longest price being 10 to 1. Royal Rose made all the running and seemed to be winning in a canter on the turn of the backstretch. She stopped to a walk in front, however. Poetess had gotten away fast and Thorpe had taken her very wide on the left side of the track. She was in a hard drive. The pace was very poor in the last part of the race. The third place went to Partridge, who was shut off and disappointed on the turn.

Starter Fitzpatrick was not quite so happy as usual in his starts, and was especially unfortunate in that Crochet, an odd one, favored in the field, was virtually left at the post, as well as Barracane in her race. In the maiden filly race, Kate Harcourt was scratched, which left a field of nine. Barracane was made favorite, as it was all over but the shouting, but, as already said, she took a notion into her head to bolt and played no part in the race. She bolted so fast that she got into the hands of Beauty but jumped the path into the infield, and so got out of her stride. Mr. Keene's filly was therefore obliged to beat out half a mile in a hard drive. The stewards punished White for not getting away with Crochet by fining him $50 and setting him down for two racing days. There was a very interesting story about the race, which was that Beauty ran up to her field, but was unable to get to the front. The upshot was that another two-year-old won, this being the filly Splinter, who had a very good start, three parts of a length in a driving finish. Merito made all the pace, but could not live it out.

Another Jockey Disciplined.

Another jockey incurred official displeasure in the first race, this being the Western lad, H. Shields. He rode Bernadillo and was sent down two days for fouling Halting. There was a bump to all appearances, but Lewis, who was on the Canadian horse, made very light of it, and Shields said he had got into Bernadillo's head in an effort to get him to back up. Shields, who had been rebuffed heavily, although the discipline looked rather too severe for the occasion. Bernadillo won this race in a big way, after choking off Bernadillo, who attempted to live the pace with him. Taral rode him and won the race in a big way, after choking off Bernadillo, who attempted to live the pace with him. Taral rode him and won the race in a big way, after choking off Bernadillo, who attempted to live the pace with him.

A number of cyclists have requested the Associated Cycling Clubs of New York to run Saturday's club to Philadelphia in two divisions. They have decided to do. The first division will leave Taylor's Hotel, Jersey City, at 9:30 a. m. and the second division at 2 p. m. The latter division will accommodate a large number of riders who cannot reach the ferry as early as 9:30 o'clock. Entries will be received at the start.

McLaughlin Gains on Kerkan.

McLaughlin made a considerable gain on Kerkan last night in the billiard match at Daly's. The Philadelphia player scored 937 points before the German champion had completed 350. This makes the total score for four nights play 1,200 for Kerkan and 1,188 for McLaughlin, the latter being now but 14 points behind. McLaughlin opened last night with a run of 84, and made 21 twice and 29 once. Kerkan's best runs were 50, 21, 62 and 34.

TWO RACES FOR CROKER.

Leather Stocking and Americus Win, But the Former is Claimed in a Selling Race.

London, Aug. 5.—At the third day's racing of the Brighton August Meeting today Mr. Richard Croker's brown colt, Leather Stocking, ran a dead heat with the Daily Wreath filly in the race for the Kemp Town Plate for two-year-olds. There were ten starters over the course, about five furlongs. The dead heat was run off later and Leather Stocking won, but under the rules was claimed by J. Bleaney for 310 guineas and passed into his possession. Mr. Croker's five-year-old bay horse Americus won the Southdown Plate of 200 guineas for two-year-olds and upward. There were four starters; distance about six furlongs. Summary: Mr. Richard Croker's five-year-old b. h. Americus, by Emperor of Norfolk, out of Clara D., 144 (Barnes), 5 to 1, won. Mr. Jersey's aged ch. h. Milford, by Saraband, out of G. G. B. (Barnes), 147 (Barnes), 16 to 1, second. Mr. T. Simpson Jnr.'s four-year-old ch. c. SEVENTEEN HEATS AT COLUMBUS.

Even at That the Harness Races Didn't Finish the Day's Programme.

GEERS WAS TOO SMART.

Went to Sleep and Let Hermetic Defeat Passing Belle in a Heat.

By C. A. McCully.

Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 5.—Seventeen heats is a pretty big day's work with the pacers, but even that long string did not bring the close this afternoon. It was all the fault of Mr. "Electric Flash" Geers that the card was not closed. He was having a pleasant little session away off in front of the rest of the boys in the 2:25 class. He knew that Passing Belle had young more speed than the rest of the young sand-sifters, and let the mare loaf along after she turned her shapely head toward that. That was where the usually astute Tennesseean fooled himself for once, as the hobbled horse, Hermetic, had struck a lively clip that landed him at the leader's wheel when Geers was in the midst of his slat.

"Gracious goodness! Where did you come from?" exclaimed the astonished southerner, and he kicked the whip over the Belle's ears to get her to speed up again. It was too late, for George Saunders, who had the Belle's stallion well on his mind, had put the Belle to a fatal break as she tried to shake him off. There was no fooling in the third heat, for Passing Belle was best with long legs, the daylight had vanished and the first number on the card had to be added to the one for Friday.

For the first time since the meeting began, on Monday, a favorite failed to land the money, when Luxon went down in the 2:20 trot. His success at Detroit was evidently a fluke, for when he was sent from the Blue Grass country could not trot in 2:20 today. The first heat was a lively one between Pat Wilson and Shadeland, when George H. Kitchland, the Toledo millionaire, who drives as Josh Billings used to lecture, "for fun and some money," sent his three-year-old colt Cleveland along on the outside and apparently had a neck the best of it. The judges must have overlooked the new arrival, for the decision placed Pat Wilson first. The rest of the journey was best with long legs, for the Irish trotter from Pittsburg, though he had to take a mark of 2:22 1/2 to dispose of Mr. Kitchland's best young pacer.

William Penn and Javelin were both equal to swilling the list of good things that have come off here. Kitchland best the first heat by getting tangled up in the mile. The snug sum of $5,000 awaiting the two-year-old trotters stimulated them to put up a lively bout of three rounds. The race was too heavy during this contest, or the juveniles would have got closer to the front. Kitchland, the star in the pools, proved the better actor, though Javelin had more speed when she kept level. The latter made a fatal error at the end of the third heat, so that the other filly had a more comfortable time. The winner, Lady Germaine, is a fine mare, and Kitchland's trainer, Bither and Conley, has royal blood on both sides of her pedigree. The free for all race is expected to draw the best of the country, even if Star Pointer is sure to win.

Summary: 2:28 Class—Fetting; purse $1,500. William Penn, b. g., by Shasta, 1:58 1/2, won. Clara-Lulu, h., by Danmire, 2:00, second. 2:30 Class—Fetting; purse $1,500. Pat Watson, b. g., by Silver Plate—Javelin, by Mammoth, 2:22 1/2, won. George Plangman, b. g., (Chaddock) 2:23 1/2, second. My Monday, b. g., (Chaddock) 2:24 1/2, third. Birby, b., by (Chaddock) 2:25 1/2, fourth. Rempe, b., by (Smith) 2:26 1/2, fifth. My Monday, b. g., (Chaddock) 2:27 1/2, sixth. Patricia, b., by (Chaddock) 2:28 1/2, seventh. VANDALISM CONDEMNED.

League of American Wheelmen Members Discovers the Action of Mrs. Shepard and Mr. Astor.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 5.—Men who are powers in the League of American Wheelmen attending the meet are strong in their opinion concerning the closing of the grounds of Mrs. Elliott F. Shepard and John Jacob Astor, who give us an excuse that wheelmen abused the privilege, plucked flowers and were a nuisance in a general way.

The Journal correspondent chatted with several officers of the League at the speaker this evening and they were generally in favor of the action. Secretary Bassett considered the question asked him carefully and then said: "Vandalism is not unknown in the League and if the cases of Mrs. Elliott F. Shepard and John Jacob Astor are being considered, we try to find out what sort of person he or she is, and the greatest care is taken to make the membership of the League as pure as possible. The strongest rules we have heard of directly upon this subject, and we of Massachusetts are making an active campaign to stop such actions. All that we desire is the name of the offender and the case will be settled immediately. We are completely in favor of the League's action, and if a firm hand is taken with the offenders, it will be a lesson that will be generally beneficial."

MORE RAIN ON CYCLISTS.

Second Century Run Starts Away to Philadelphia in a Downpour with Half a Hundred Wheelmen.

The celestial secretary of the rain bureau is not very warm on the question of country riding. On both mornings when the centurians of the Associated Cycling Clubs of New York have been ready to start for Philadelphia he has turned a fresh supply of water on the earth.

Yesterday morning about fifty cyclists gathered at Taylor's Hotel, in Jersey City, ready for the start of the second run. The rain fell in copious instalments. Forty-eight wheelmen decided that they would make the run, as long as pitchforks failed to descend from the clouds. They started out, paced by Tom Ward, the big century rider of the Jersey City Club. Mr. H. Patenall, of Easton, Pa., was the only lady to go. Mr. Patenall endeavored to persuade her that it wasn't a "bang up" good day for century riding, but she had "got" her mind on going, and so she did.

The party started half an hour late, with every chance of losing time on the way for the roads were heavy from the night's rains throughout the course. Captain Ward made the lead, followed by the New York wheelmen are great talkers and that every three miles with golden promises. Many Brooklyn cyclists went to Philadelphia yesterday, but a train was good enough for them.

EX-BURGLAR AS EDITOR.

"Sleepy" Burke Will Soon Publish a Weekly Newspaper to Be Devoted to Prison Reform.

Chicago, Aug. 5.—"Sleepy" Burke, the reformed safe-breaker, is about to branch out as the editor of a weekly newspaper. Since he got out of jail last March, where he was confined awaiting trial for the Schrage robbery, Burke has had a hard time of it. He has at length secured backing for the publication of a journal of prison reform. It will be called "The National X-Ray," and will be devoted to the news of prisons of all kinds, reform schools and institutions for the correction of the wayward.

ERIN'S FREEDOM IS THEIR PLEDGE.

The Orange and Green Meet Now at Peace and for One Purpose.

SENATOR MORGAN'S LETTER

Says British Oppression Would End if Ireland Could Call Her Volunteers.

The orange and green were blended at Ridgewood Park, Brooklyn, yesterday. It was the annual outdoor demonstration of the Irish Nationalists of Greater New York. The two colors, for centuries the signals of internecine war and factional bitterness, were emblematic of the union of Irishmen of every creed which the new American Alliance is striving to promote. There was no north, no south, but all met upon common ground and discussed the cause of national independence for the motherland. The British lion got a roasting at every turn.

In the afternoon there were sports on the green, and the evening was given over to speech making and dancing at the pavilion. United States Senator Morgan, of Alabama, who was announced as one of the speakers, was detained in Washington, but he addressed a letter to Patrick Egan, ex-Minister to Chile, of which the following is an extract:

If Ireland had the conceded right that we possess to appeal to her volunteer forces in British aggression would cease, and contemptuous scorn of Irish petitions would change to the pleadings for "peace on earth and good will to men" which the burden of British supplication to America, now echoed and re-echoed in the croakings of our newspapers. The British people cannot make a treaty with the American people. Such compact would be a disgrace to the British people and to our institutions. The royalty and nobility of Great Britain do not let us, and never will.

John F. McIntyre Cheered.

When the cheers that greeted the reading of Senator Morgan's letter had died away Senator Lyman introduced John F. McIntyre, who aroused his audience to a high tenor of enthusiasm by his spirited remarks. In the course of his speech he said:

Ireland in all her long history has never known a more glorious day than this. Famine, papism, robbery and murder have made her present existing condition. No hereditary aristocracy has ever existed here to throw off the yoke of brutal masters. She has suffered more than any other nation upon the face of the earth. Her people have been and are being murdered. Her people have been and are being murdered. Her people have been and are being murdered. Her people have been and are being murdered.

The suffering of her mothers have been driven from home by English marauders because they were not allowed to have their own government. Her people have been and are being murdered. Her people have been and are being murdered. Her people have been and are being murdered. Her people have been and are being murdered.

Irishmen Will Be Our Ally.

In closing Mr. McIntyre predicted that war between the United States and England was not far distant, and declared that in that event Ireland would become our sister republic.

Patrick Egan, referring to the differences between England and the Transvaal, said: "The Boers, under the leadership of that great leader, General Buller, are engaged in a struggle against their English foes in 1858. Had the cordial sympathy, aid and the very important material support of the Irish Nationalists, in the road of which I had the honor to bear a part, the Boers would have been victorious. I would tender here today our promises of cordial friendship and co-operation in all their efforts to secure their independence from England and in any other struggle in which they become interested against our common enemy, England."

Sing Sing Camp Meeting Opens.

The sixth-annual camp meeting of the Methodist was opened at Sing Sing yesterday. It will continue for ten days. No services were held, with the exception of prayer services, until the morning of the 7th. The Rev. J. H. Patenall, of Easton, Pa., was the only lady to go. Mr. Patenall endeavored to persuade her that it wasn't a "bang up" good day for century riding, but she had "got" her mind on going, and so she did.

JUBILEE BARONET HERE.

Ex-Mayor of Manchester Says Our Inventions Are Being Rapidly Adopted in England.

Standing 6 feet 2 inches in his stocky build of shouder and massive of figure, Lord Roslin, who landed from the Germanic yesterday, having received the Queen's favor upon his retirement as Mayor of the city of Manchester, has been well known in his native country through his connection with the Manchester ship canal. In his earlier life he was a prime mover and one of the first to appreciate American inventions.

A New York firm is now building up a mammoth grain elevator, he said, yesterday, "and we have utilized American brains in all our work, even in our trains. You're great people, don't you know?" The ex-Mayor is stopping at the Hotel Buckingham, in Fifth Avenue, and is accompanied by his wife and daughter. This is his second visit to the United States. He will remain here for five days, after which he will proceed to Canada, where from August 10 to 18 is the British Association for the Advancement of Science will gather in convention.

Among the companions of the new baronet on voyage were Sir James Rivitt Carnochan and Captain General, of the British Indian service; Miss Mabel Colman, a young California actress in Augustin Daly's "Circus Girl," who was ill during the entire tour; Miss Lorraine, who has been "imported" by Manager Edwin Booth to appear in "The French Maid," and the Rev. J. Lawson Foster, the predecessor of the mild-mannered Milburn, as speaker of Representatives, who now is pastor of a large London congregation.

NEGRO COLLECTOR IN.

White Revenue Deputies in Georgia Sent in Their Resignations, but They Have Not Been Accepted.

Atlanta, Aug. 5.—Henry Rucker, the colored Collector of Internal Revenue for Georgia, assumed office to-night. There were several speeches, one by ex-Collector Trammell, who was presented with a $300 silver service by his men. Rucker spoke and was well received. He said that he would treat the collectors as his equals. He would give them his support, he said, and would give them his full cooperation. He would give them his full cooperation. He would give them his full cooperation.

Rucker announced that A. J. Spence, of Nelson Ga., had been chosen to act as his chief deputy. Spence has been in the Internal Revenue Department for many years, and has served under Mr. Trammell in the capacity of deputy collector.

There has been some doubt as to whether any of the white men now in office would continue in the service under Rucker. If they should all resign it is certain that the new collector would have great difficulty in enforcing the revenue laws against the moonshiners of Northern Georgia with only negro deputies and detectives.
