

LA POUPEE

(Photo by W. & D. Downey, London.)

Father Maxime.
(Photo by W. & D. Downey, London.)

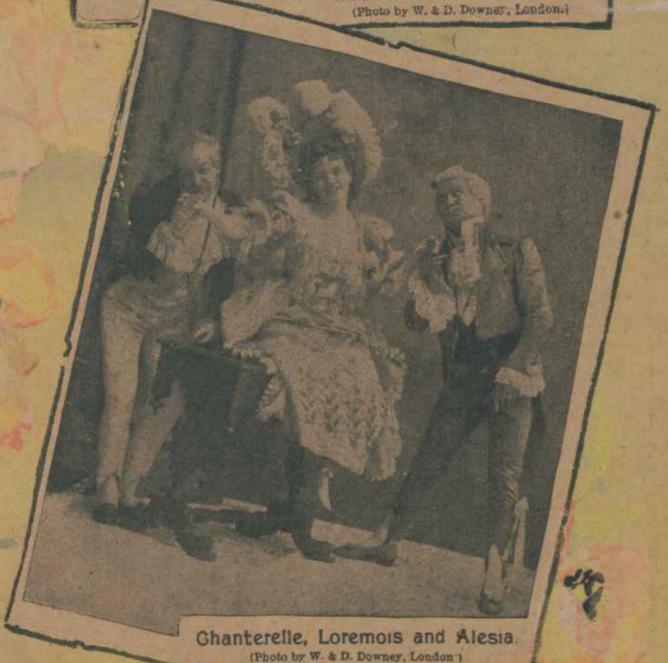

Henri.
(Photo by W. & D. Downey, London.)

Hilarius and the Doll--La Poupee.
(Photo by W. & D. Downey, London.)

Alesia in the Doll Dance.
(Photo by W. & D. Downey, London.)

Ghanterelle, Loremois and Alesia.
(Photo by W. & D. Downey, London.)

Hilarius.
(Photo by W. & D. Downey, London.)

"LA POUPEE" FROM LONDON.

WHILE "The Girl from Paris" was captivating New York last Winter, "La Poupee" was doing the same in London. People who have seen both are divided in opinion as to which is the most attractive, the doll or the girl from the French capital.

We will all, however, have a chance to judge for ourselves in a few weeks. Incidentally, Anna Held, who is cast for the title role, will be with us once more.

Now is the time, as the almanac says, to look out for something startling in the milk-bath-runaway-horse-lost-dog style of advertising.