CUBAN NEWS OF BEAR ASPECT. Fear of a Demand from Uncle Sam for an Answer to His Spanish Ultimatum Causes Some Depression.

Wall Street, Saturday, Oct. 9. Liquidation broke out in the stock market fresh to-day, and carried prices down 1 to 2 per cent. The depressing factors were the continuance of the drought in the West, the latest turn in the development of the municipal campaign and a less favorable bank statement than has been expected.

The new move in the Henry George campaign was regarded as favorable to the chances of George, and whatever the success, Wall Street is fearful of the effect of his success upon the stock market.

Noteworthy declines were recorded by Chicago Gas, the Grangers, notably Omaha and Burlington, the Gould stocks, Tennessee Coal and Iron and Consolidated Gas. Little if any decline in surplus reserves was expected in the weekly bank statement to-day. The movement of currency to the interior was reported to have fallen away, and the receipts of gold from abroad it was believed would fill the gap made by the interior movement.

Attention was again called to the shrinkage in the movement of grain by the receipts at Chicago on Thursday. Five leading railroads lost a loss of 244,072 bushels. The receipts of Lock Island alone were cut in half, being 58,500 bushels, against 107,750 on the corresponding day of 1896.

Important Foreclosure Sales in Which Outsiders Had Little Show to Do Any Bidding.

While October's first week presented many transactions of interest, there was not that activity in real estate that the latter part of September appeared to foreshadow.

The largest deal of the past week, in fact the largest of the present season, involved a new store and loft building in the mercantile district.
